SCRAPBOOK

The channels were not always as deep as now

By GEOFFREY D. REYNOLDS

With this year's low water levels, the effects on commercial shipping and tourism have yet to be felt. But how did Charlevoix ever get its current reputation as a water paradise? That answer lies within the village's early history and the need to bring all three lakes together, better.

Since the permanent settlement of Pine Lake — Charlevoix — by European-Americans, Mcdad and Phoebe Thompson in 1856, the need for straight and navigable waterways had been desired by commercial parties at that village and those on the body of water known also as Pine Lake. With these improvements the shallow and winding upper and lower rivers would allow water transportation and commercial activity to flourish throughout the increasingly populated Pine Lake region. But who was going to pay for these huge projects?

The first effort came in 1868 as local officials convinced the U.S. Government to send a surveyor to study the area for possible improvements to the existing rivers and harbor. After Major Wheeler's less than enthusiastic assessment of the issue, stating that "the area contained insurmountable obstacles — large stones — and was not necessary at that time due to the proximity to other good harbors," local businessmen moved forward on their own to gather money and labor for the project by creating the River Improvement Company — later the Charlevoix Harbor and River Improvement Company.

From this effort, starting in July and finishing in October 1869, both sections of waterway were constructed. The first, the direction of Pine River was moved approximately to the north, dredged to six feet and a pier made of slabs was constructed. Thus protecting the entrance from constantly encroaching sand bars from the north and northwest. This eventually washed away and was replaced with a crib pier during the early months 1873.

While Pine River was being improved another crew was working on the opening of a navigable waterway between Round Lake and Pine Lake (Lake Charlevoix). Since the only steadily flowing body of water was the shallow and meandering stream, now referred to as Old River, local townspeople decided to make a new, straighter "cut" between the two lakes. This effort was accomplished with the help of approximately 100 men as they struggled to clear the area of land south of Old River. With the 300 foot wide and 150 foot long section of land clear of trees, teams of horses pulling excavating equipment removed the ridge that remained. Next crews dug a small stream to begin the erosion process of the soft, exposed earth as others tethered the newly arrived and constructed tug "Minnie Warren" down and proceeded, in reverse, to propel the soft earth into the deeper Round Lake. Assisted with the steadily increasing flow of water from the higher Pine Lake, the 122 rod long, 22 foot wide and 6 foot deep upper cut was soon a reality.

After a more favorable review by government surveyors in 1875, professional crews with dredges widened the cut to 35 feet and 12 feet deep, with bank revetments to halt erosion of what is now known as Park Island. Further and consistent maintenance of both channels by government sponsored dredges were due in part to the confirmed commercial successes recorded by businesses located at Oyster Bay, Undine, Horton Bay, Boyne City, Advance, Ironton and East Jordan that followed the opening.

While only four of these business centers remain active today the ease of movement from one lake to another has truly made Charlevoix the "city on three lakes."

If you would like to learn more about the pioneers that have shaped Charlevoix's commercial history, please visit Charlevoix Historical Society's Harsha House Museum on Thursday nights from 5-9 p.m. at 103 State Street or contact Executive Director, Betsy Reynolds, at 231-547-0373 or P.O. Dear Readers & Fellow Businesses:

We at Grand Bay Marine, Northern Michigan's largest Four Winns dealer, are very proud to have our new location at 06798 US 31 S., Charlevoix, MI 49720. As would any other business in the area, we feel it is important to inform customers of where we are located and what services we have to offer.

We chose to place our advertisements and information columns with the Charlevoix Courier and Petoskey News-Review. To our pleasant surprise, the sales staff for both papers were more than willing to help us out with all our needs. We were also impressed to see the effect the two papers had on increasing customer volume visiting our store.

We are and will continue to do business with the Courier and News-Review to increase our business and keep our customers, existing and new, informed on the latest happenings concerning Grand Bay Marine.

We encourage any business not already advertising in these great mediums to do so and see the positive impact that doing so will have on your business venture. We would also like to extend a special thank you to Denise and Kim!

Should you be interested in a new Four Winns, Pontoon, Hoist, Dock, Outboard or Paddleboat, please give us a call and you will see firsthand how wonderful being in the Grand Bay Marine circle of friends really is!!

New coaches and new team could make season exciting

The Charlevoix Rayders track teams are not only going into a new season, they are going into a new season with some new coaches.

Long-time girls coach Ken Plude has changed positions and is now the boy's coach, while new Charlevoix High School teacher Jennifer Peters has been named the girl's track coach.

While both are new to their positions, they have plenty of experience to bring to the teams. Plude has his years of experience coaching the girl's team and Peters was an assistant track coach when she was a teacher in Grand Ledge and Ionia.

"Basically anywhere that I have worked, I've coached. I can't imagine not doing it," Peters said.

While dealing with their new positions, the two coaches are also working with a lot of new runners this year, but loving the challenge. According to Plude, only about one-third of the boy's team is composed of seniors and not all of them are seniors who were in track last year.

"I've been having a lot of fun with them. They are willing to do anything that is needed. They are progressing faster than I anticipated," said Plude. "We will be in the top three of the conference."

To get to this goal, Plude will be looking for some strong performances out of his team. He said he has already started to see some players who he believes will be a major boost towards that goal.

"They are willing to do anything that is needed. They are progressing faster than I anticipated."

Ken Plude,
Boy's track coach

He specifically pointed out distance runner Gordie Selph. In addition to his distance running, Selph will be trying the hurdles this year, an event that he has not competed in before.

Plude added he will also be watching a new addition to the team, Troy Smith, who will be competing in the long jump. Plude said Smith has never long-jumped before coming out for the team.

"He will be an all around asset," he said.

Peters said she feels her team is pretty strong as it is, with several players showing great work.

"The girls have really been putting in a lot of time. So far they seem to be working well together. What I've really noticed is our team has come together to support each other at events. That is important," she said.

Plude said she specifically has a couple of distance runners and a few sprinters who are looking pretty good this season.

"We should have a few of them that go to state. It is difficult to say who in the beginning (of the season), but we should be competitive in our league," she said.

Concentration is the key to victory for soccer team

If the players put a lot of concentration into their game, Charlevoix Soccer Coach Hagen Manker believes his team can be quite a force.

"It's just concentration. If you get (the team) to concentrate for two hours every day, then we can go a long way," Manker said. "I can only take them as far as they want to go."

He added with a short season ahead, the team needs to use its practices wisely.

"If they don't avail themselves of those two hours completely, then you don't get a lot done," Manker said.

While Manker wrestles with keeping his team concentrating during practice and in games, he will not have to worry about too many goals getting scored on his girls.

For the fourth year in a row, Kristy Shindorf will be guarding the goal. Shindorf currently holds the record for shut outs and last year she never allowed more than five goals in any game. Adding to his choices for goalie, Manker also has Jennifer Rowe, who played goalie last year for the JV squad and, according to Manker, "has done real well this year."

With his goalies already picked out, this leaves Manker with a lot of the time spent building good shooters during practices.

"Soccer in general, and girls' soccer specifically, if you can get a person or a couple of people that can shoot then you are going to score goals. If you can't,

"If you get to concentrate for two hours every day, then we can go a long way. I can take them only as far as they want to go."

Hagen Manker,

then you have to work it in. A lot of our emphasis has been developing shooters," Manker said.

From those practices, Manker said he has seen some good shooting qualities in two specific players, Erika Kammermann and Kate Madison.

He added all of his players have the ability to become decent shooters, but he stressed they have to have concentration to do it consistently.

"Doing the work is an individual thing," Manker said.

And work is something the girls will do.

Manker's team consists of only 20 players. So few that the JV Soccer team is nonexistent this year.

But, that doesn't mean Charlevoix will not take part in some JV games. Manker said the team will play a few JV games throughout the season, using some of his players who do not get very much field time in varsity games.

"Everybody that is going out for the team will get plenty of playing experience," he said.

TENNIS

Tennis team's goal: To be the best in the league

While fighting the weather for playing time and learning the ways of its new coach, the Charlevoix High School tennis team is working toward its goal of becoming one of the best teams in its league.

New Coach Garth Miller said he sees a lot of talent on the team right now, especially in its singles line-up.

"We are returning a lot of strong veterans and we are very excited about our younger prospects," he said.

Leading the singles this year is Scott Pair. Pair is a senior with four years of experience on the team. He was a state qualifier last year.

Of the team's future potentials for singles, Miller said sophomore Allen Brooks and junior Craig Siwarga are coming along very nicely in their games. This is Brooks second year on the team and Siwarga's third.

As for its doubles teams, Miller said they are evenly matched. "Time will tell who is our best doubles pairing," he said.

But, so far that award looks

"We are returning a lot of strong veterans and we are very excited about our younger prospects."

Garth Miller,
Charlevoix tennis coach

like it is going to the teaming of Molly Arnold and Lisa Miller, both juniors.

"They have great chemistry together as a team," Miller said. Both Arnold and Miller have been on the tennis team for two years.

Using these two as an example may be a trick for Miller as he works on getting everyone on the team working as one unit.

"Our main goal right now is improving team cohesiveness and making them think as a team," he said. "As the season goes on we will emerge as a very strong team. We have a lot of great players."

Pointing the players in the direction of this goal may be nothing new for Miller, considering his background in tennis.

While this is Miller's first year coaching the Charlevoix tennis team, he is not new to this type of job. Before coming to Charlevoix, he spent a year coaching tennis in Bay City and was the head coach at Pathfinder School in Traverse City.

The Charlevoix tennis team is: Lisa Miller, Carrie Van Horn, Ashley Ager, Melissa McDonough, Michelle Martin, Molly Arnold, Mimi Lopez and Lesley Polard. (Second) Dale Williams, Brad Nortley, John Hughson, Joel Trubilowicz and Andy Granath. (Third) David Drury, Matt Twining, Craig Siwarga, Russell Ward and Allen Brooks. (Fourth) Assistant Coach Cindy Brooks, Tyler Lieberman, Scott Pair, Dennis Mitchell, Bill Foster, Tara Hazelton, Krista Lisk, Erin Buckner and Coach Garth Miller were missing. Recall election fast approaching

By B. J. HETLER
Staff Writer

Both sides on the upcoming recall election of five school board members are continuing to spread information to the voters in the hopes of winning May 9.

Dr. Jeffrey Porter of the Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools (CPNS), a group that is supporting the recall, said he doesn't see the committee having any special activities prior to the election, other than giving out information.

"We hope that people realize this is not only a recall election, but also a referendum on the school site issue," Porter said.

But Josh Barnes who supports the school board disagrees.

"Everybody should know that this is strictly a recall affecting five individuals and has nothing whatsoever to do with site selection, nothing to do with taxes," Barnes said. "If the board is recalled, the site will stay the same."

The five board members up for recall are Allen Telgenhof, Ardeth Wieland, Barney Way, Scott Boss and Dennis Halverson. The remaining board members, Larry Levensgood and Michael MacMillan cannot be recalled because their board terms are up in June.

The recall election was prompted by the school board's purchase of a 74-acre site on which to build a new high school. The site is located on Marion Center Road and Veenstra Road in Marion Township. Those opposed to the site say they are concerned about moving the students out of downtown, about sprawl and about damage to the environment in a farming community.

School answers lawsuit

By B. J. HETLER
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix Public Schools' Board of Education and Superintendent John Strock have responded to a lawsuit filed by a group opposed to the site purchased by the school board for a new high school.

In a letter from the schools' attorneys, Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, they ask the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association to drop its lawsuit because it is without factual or legal merit.

The Preservation Association's complaint filed on April 20 in the 33rd Circuit Court in Charlevoix states that the schools do not intend to comply with local Marion Township ordinances and permits. The new high school site is located in a farming community on Marion Center Road.

But attorney Gordon Van Wieren Jr. who drafted the letter to the association's attorney, Jim Olson, claims that the assertion is incorrect.

"In fact, had you or your client contacted Dr. Strock before filing your complaint, you could have easily determined that the (school) district has always intended to submit the proposed construction project to Marion Township for its review and approval of matters under the township's jurisdiction," Van Wieren stated in his letter.

Long-time volunteer honored

By B. J. HETLER
Staff Writer

Volunteering comes from the heart.

That's what Earl Muma told people at the Charlevoix Senior Center's Volunteer Recognition Brunch on April 19.

In that case, Muma's heart must be big in order to hold the many volunteer activities he performs.

The senior center gave special recognition to Muma at the brunch, on the heels of him receiving a Helping Hands award from Northern Michigan Head Start in Traverse City. He was nominated by Phyllis Hess who has benefited from Muma's volunteering.

Senior center director Ginnie Schairbaum commented on Muma's contributions to the center. He is the chairman of the board, cooks the monthly beef dinners, fixes things, paints things, moves things and always has time to talk with everyone, she said.

"He's never been paid for all those hours," Schairbaum said. "He's the kindest person — he's got a really big heart."

Muma grew up in a loving home with a mother and father who were open-hearted people. He is the oldest of four boys. When he was a kid he learned to cook.

"Both Mom and Dad worked," Muma said. "So I started the evening meal. I've always liked to cook — still do."

CSC reported to Sheriff's department over weekend

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's office is investigating the report of a Criminal Sexual Contact incident that took place during the early morning hours of Saturday, April 29, 2000 in Marion Township.

A 20-year-old college student from Traverse City reported to deputies that she had attended a bonfire/camp-out with approximately 30-50 other people. She advised that she became intoxicated and while sleeping in a tent was molested by a 24-year-old man from Charlevoix who was sleeping in the same tent.

Deputies investigated the incident and have referred the matter to the Charlevoix County Prosecutor's Office for possible criminal action.

OPINIONS

Make this a happy and peaceful place

The lines have been drawn, the challenges have been made and the armies are waiting eagerly to attack. The saddest part of this battle is both sides of these armies are members of the same community.

At this point, it is useless to give yet another opinion on the recall election May 9. Everybody has an opinion on it and voters already know which way they are going to vote. At this point, the opinion of this newspaper's editor will do nothing to sway them.

So, we at the Charlevoix Courier are taking this space to appeal to both sides to come together when this is all over.

We know it will be hard for some. Name-calling, conspiracy theories and hatred have been a staple for some people on both sides of this issue since the beginning.

But, we say, "Enough!" Enough of the bickering, back-stabbing and conspiracy searching. Enough of hating your neighbor because of the way he or she feels about a school location or school board.

Once this recall vote is all over we have to go-back to living together as one community, regardless of who is on the school board and regardless of where the school is located.

We keep hearing the term, "in the best interest of the children of this community." That is a good thought to keep in mind as Charlevoix starts its healing process after this election, because this in-fighting is not in the "best interest of the children of this community."

All this does is show the youth of this community how angry their elders can get with one another, how not to work with people, how to be mean to your fellow man and the best thing to do to those who disagree with you is to run them out of town. That is a sad lesson to teach the youth of Charlevoix.

Sure, enemies have been made and feelings have been hurt by this recall issue. But, the decent thing to do is to turn the other cheek and start to forgive when the battle is over.

We urge both sides to stop this stupidity now, before it takes this community further into shame.

The canary in the mine

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

Decades ago, when coal miners ventured into their dangerous underground workplaces, they often carried with them a canary in a small cage. They were not interested in music to work by, but used the canary as a crude but effective detector for the toxic gases that were commonly found in the mines. If the canary looked distressed or died, the miners were well advised to get out of that part of the mine as quickly as possible. We don't use canaries anymore. Science has provided us with much more sensitive electronic devices for detecting those same toxic gases and miners now look at a digital readout rather than a canary.

Science has the capacity to provide us with sensitive detectors of potential problems, even if we are not in a coal mine. The results of carefully conducted research can tell us something about the future, even the future of the whole earth.

Since about the beginning of the industrial revolution and especially with the dramatic rise in the use of fossil fuels in the Twentieth Century, the amount of carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere has been increasing. The change in recent decades has been even more dramatic. Most of the concern about higher carbon dioxide levels has centered on what has come to be called global warming. It is true that periods during the past history of the earth were warmer than now and that during those periods the concentration of carbon dioxide in the air has been high. No one knows whether the earth will warm or how much. What we do know is that the amount of carbon dioxide is going up more rapidly than at any time in earth's history.

What do we know about the effect of increased carbon dioxide on the living part of the earth? Beginning about 10 years ago, laboratories all over the U.S. and much of the rest of the world have been looking at what happens to plants and animals when the carbon dioxide amounts rise. Significant research has been and is being done at the University of Michigan Field Station at Douglas Lake near Pellston. Projections are that within 50 years the amount of carbon dioxide in the air may double. Plants need carbon dioxide to grow, and not surprisingly if we increase the amount of that gas in experimental enclosures with plants, the plants grow faster. That sounds like a good thing. Nearly all plants grow faster with more carbon dioxide. More trees, more corn, more wheat, more rice.

It is a basic tenet of ecology that all living things are connected to one another, mostly on the basis of food. To an ecologist, all plants and animals are food for other animals. What happens to the animals that eat these fast growing plants is troublesome. The leaves that grew faster have less nutritional value, and any animal, from insect to sheep, has to eat more in order to have sufficient nutrition for growth. Caterpillars and sheep both grow more slowly when feeding on the leaves of plants grown with increased carbon dioxide and most kinds of animals are less healthy.

The research suggests that a world with more carbon dioxide will have less nutritious plant food altogether less animal food than the world we live in now.

The results of scientific research can be our canary in the mine if we are willing to listen and learn from them. We should worry a good deal more about global food than about global warming.

Recall them all

Editor:

Let no one be deceived, the election to recall is a vote on the Marion Center site. The Charlevoix board is not made up of bad people, just people who have made poor judgments. They should have had the site on the millage ballot as a separate proposal, they should have had hearings on any site proposed or at least had a referendum (vote) on the proposed site. Instead three board members and the superintendent decided to throw the democratic process out the window and made a choice that left out the voice of the community. I'm sure in hindsight, this board wishes they would have at least held hearings and answered the questions in a forthright manner.

Having deprived the community of a voice, recall became the only option for democratic action. Therefore, I urge a recall of all the board members.

Paul Richards

Board members are honorable

Editor:

We are coming down to the wire on the recall election. The lines are drawn, the battle fairly met. I am sure a 50 gallon drum of ink has been spread writing about the selection of the Marion Center site for the High School, pro and con.

I may have missed it, (I quit reading the editorials a couple of months ago — there are only so many ways people can say the same thing) but I believe a significant issue has been overlooked.

I am one of the most recent members of the school board and, for better or worse, unable to be recalled. However, I have met with the five school board members being recalled, often for more than once a month, for the last two years.

I have come to know these board members, not necessarily as friends, but as individuals committed and dedicated to one goal...to make Charlevoix Public Schools the best anywhere. We have not always agreed on issues. However, I have a tremendous amount of respect for their opinions because they are selflessly working toward this goal.

These five school board members have shown the commitment and dedication necessary to do, at times, a thankless job. They have shown a willingness to make tough decisions and the integrity to stand by those decisions.

I know that (almost) everyone has the best interest of our children at heart. To recall these individuals would be a huge mistake and not in the best interest of Charlevoix public schools. Success for our children takes the intelligence, common sense, foresight and leadership (I have more adjectives, and not enough space) that my fellow board members have demonstrated.

I am proud to be associated with Allen, Ardeth, Scott, Barney and Dennis. Celebrate the success of our children, embrace the future and reaffirm a commitment to strong leadership. When all is said and done, it would be difficult to find better people to shepherd Charlevoix public schools and our children into the Twenty-first Century.

Please, make the right choice for Charlevoix public schools...vote "no."

A recall will only delay high school

Editor:

The question of where to build a new high school has developed into an emotional issue, culminating in a recall vote of our school board on May 9. People on both sides of the issue have accused the other of slanting facts to bend the truth to their own arguments. While all of this is going on, what has faded into the background is the education of our children.

As you read and listen to the facts of the case, keep in mind that a recall does not change the vote. The millage did pass and a new high school will be built. A recall will simply delay the building of the high school. Once again our children will have to wait for the improvements to their schools. Waiting will also mean higher construction costs.

Regardless of how you view this issue, our children's educational opportunities are at stake. This could be one of the most important local votes that you make in your lifetime. Vote no on May 9 to support our school board. Vote no to support the children of Charlevoix.

Jay and Kris Balasz

Consider the facts

Editor,

As the recall election of our school board members draws closer, I urge you to get the facts and to vote the facts. Please think beyond yourselves to your neighbors, friends and fellow Charlevoix residents. Here are some facts for you to consider:

- Will the recall election change the vote of October, therefore you won't have to pay extra taxes? No (the bonds have been sold and your summer taxes will already reflect this increase).

- Is there any viable land within the City of Charlevoix? No (over and over again the committee to recall have been unable to come up with viable land for the future of our schools).

- Have these school board members done anything unethical, immoral, or illegal? No (In fact just the opposite, they have involved community people all along the way, they had the site posted at the election headquarters and published prior to the election in October and during this whole ordeal have taken the high road in not attacking back with the same mean spirit and vindictiveness as their attackers).

- Do these board members not care about the children and youth of Charlevoix? No (I have seen them at basketball, football, soccer, volleyball, performing arts, and other school events just to show their pride and support. And not just this year when all this has been happening, but in the past as well. They have been active in supporting our young people).

- Do these board members not see the big picture in Charlevoix? No (They are aware of the growth in the Charlevoix area and have planned for it, they have spent hours of seeking public input to discover what the Charlevoix School System needs and have proposed a plan to meet current needs and future possibilities all for the salary of $150 a year).

I see that the resounding answer to the recall is no. These are some of the brightest and most concerned people in Charlevoix who have studied, sacrificed and stood up for the children and youth of Charlevoix.

They are a healthy mix of "old" Charlevoix and "new" Charlevoix, bringing both perspectives to our area. These are men and women of integrity that I personally am proud of. These are people we pass every day in our restaurants, movie theater, churches, and stores! These are people that should be given commendations and looking up to for their dedication, insights, and integrity.

Vote the facts: Vote "no" on the recall ballot and unite again as a community of caring - supporting people.

Marion Center is part of Charlevoix

Editor:

Discussion about where the Charlevoix community should build our new high school has revolved around in-town vs. out-of-town locations. After significant study, our school board chose the Marion Center site for a variety of reasons, including size, availability, price and capacity to meet future needs.

Critics of this site have created a list of what they say to be the liabilities of this site. Look honestly at their list and only one item can be supported with fact. The site is out-of-town. It is not, however, outside of our community, which is not defined by a specific boundary.

Most new development that has occurred in our area is out-of-town, including the community swimming pool, post office and, yes, even our elementary school — built in 1967. No one would suggest that these out-of-town developments are located outside of our community.

That same holds true for the Marion Center site. It's out-of-town but solidly in our community. As part of my job, I frequently fly in and out of the Charlevoix airport. From that vantage point, in-town and out-of-town blend into community. Look at the Marion Center site from the air and you will see the school site connected to our community through the Belvedere Golf Club. It doesn't look far out-of-town from the air because it isn't. It is solidly in our community and is an excellent site for our school. Vote "no" on the recall on May 9 and let's build our "community school."

Students need the school

Editor:

Are we teaching our children that the democratic process is to be overturned by special interest groups claiming the good of the community while forgetting that a community is people?

The recall committee has expounded false truths against the school board. These accusations remind me of a story told in teaching the "false witness" concept to a group of grade school children.

"Go to the top of a bill with a feather pillow; cut it open and the feathers will fly. Now try to recapture the feathers to refill the pillow. The feathers are false truths, innuendoes etc., which are spread by anyone. The truth will stand but how difficult it is to retract the false truths."

Our children need a school. Every student in the district is affected by this campaign against the board. Nothing can be changed to help any student until a building is built.

Let's show our children we honor our country's democratic process and that we cherish them by setting our differences aside and working for our children's improved schools. Sure we have an excellent education system now but the peace and enjoyment of adequate facilities is undeniable.

Let's move forward for our children. Please vote "no" against the recall.

CANRPA ads wrong

Editor:

How desperate is Dr. Robert Mossman to keep the new Charlevoix High School from being built next door to him? I read his latest full page ad/rant in the Petoskey News-Review with amazement. And now the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association is suing the school?

I hate to bring more attention to these ads but anyone who has followed the school story knows that by putting the high school south of town, the school district will save money in bussing since that is where the majority of the students live. Also, anyone who attended the last couple of board meetings on the new high school knows that the reason there is only one exit and entrance rather than two — as the school originally proposed — is for safety of the students and at the request of the State of Michigan and the county.

Again, the ad says that the school site is wet and that Veenstra Road will need to be improved when we all know that is untrue.

Now the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association is sponsoring an "open community forum." Why wasn't Mossman at the ones the school board and citizens' committee held before the October election? He didn't even bother to vote in that election.

The speaker at the "forum" is the same attorney who the Charlevoix Area Preservation Society paid to sue the school district. Unbelievable.

I guess it goes to show you how desperate some people are. Join me in saying no to the special interest groups on May 9.

Vote no

Editor:

To the voters of the Charlevoix School District:

Both of us, having resided in Charlevoix for over 78 years, have always had the best of Charlevoix and its children at heart. We believe that the present members of the school board and appointed committees have performed their jobs well and deserve the support and good will of the voters.

Please vote "no" on the recall, as well as encourage the board to proceed with the proposed location for the new school facility at the Marion Center site.

Tie a Rayder ribbon round the oak tree. Let's show the students that our loyalty and the best interests of Charlevoix are in backing the Rayders, their teachers, their administrators and their school board. Let's also promise them that we will go to the polls on Tuesday. A Rayder ribbon will seal that promise.

That is our response to the vicious innuendoes, the misrepresentation of facts, and now, the lawyers' delaying tactics.

Board had poor communication

Editor:

It is unfortunate that we have two large groups of people in Charlevoix fighting over a school issue. But, it does indicate a definite difference of opinion which probably was brought about by poor communications from the school to the citizens.

As I read between the lines of the letters published in the Charlevoix Courier over the past 9 months it looks like not enough was explained to the public. The board knew what they wanted but only told the public part of the plan. From what I have read I am not sure if they adequately explained why they wanted such a big package. As the controversy expanded in opposite directions it sounds like the school board became arrogant and stood by their decisions which then incensed a fairly large portion of the public. It is too bad this has developed and there will be a long term hurt in the community.

It is probably too late now, but seeing that I did not get the answers I requested about school enrollment, I will state some information which I believe to be correct or very close to it as far as the school enrollment.

High school graduations comparisons are, 47 in 1948, 57 in 1952, 105 in 1971, 115 in 1976, 140 in 1986, and 99 in 1999. Surprise! The school had a huge drop so why do we all of a sudden need extra rooms for the high school? I have never seen these figures published in the media. We should keep in mind that school age population in Charlevoix may actually decline even more as the birth rate is dropping and in a few years Big Rock will close down and about 200 people will be without jobs and many will have to leave for work elsewhere. Also, the Catholic School has expanded and the private school is growing. All of the foregoing indicate a drop in enrollment for the public school.

If the middle school needed replacement, why are we building a new high school, which then requires additional expense to remodel the existing high school for the middle school?

It looks like we should build a new middle school and the logical place would have been on the Shadok property that stretches from Division to Petoskey Ave. There is plenty of room there, plus if necessary a couple of adjacent parcels could be purchased. There is also a lot of room at the elementary school for adding rooms if needed. The auditorium could have been built behind the elementary school, or even on the new middle school grounds.

Unfortunately the tax payers in Charlevoix are going to be paying for a package that is more than double what they could have had. The town is small and will have the people from the two sides at odds for years to come. In my 25 years as a management consultant to retailers on 144 assignments in 27 states, one of the major problems at all of them was the lack of, or poor, communication. I see the same problem in Charlevoix.

However the recall election turns out and wherever the unneeded high school is built there will be no real winners in Charlevoix.

Facts don't support recall

Editor:
We just don't get it. Why do some people believe the school board is incompetent, biased and not trying to do the right thing? The board members have experience on the school board ranging from a couple of years up to 27 years. The board is made up of diverse backgrounds; a lawyer, anesthesiologist, police chief, farmer-teacher, business owners and environmental health specialist. All have had, or do have, children in the Charlevoix Public School system. All have shown interest in helping the community and our schools by serving on the board. Let's look at the truth regarding this recall issue. The recall is not just about site preferences, but about removing five dedicated people from a difficult and thankless office.

There are facts we wish to clarify:

- Taxes will not be reduced if the board is recalled. In fact, delaying construction or changing the Marion Center road site will result in major cuts in facilities due to rising costs for construction. We could lose the gymnasium, auditorium or media center.

- Changing the site location to Kipke Field is not a logical choice. Space is the key issue. Space is needed for practice fields, playground, parking and greenbelts. Kids need space to grow! The cost to move Kipke Field was not budgeted in the bond proposal and would be well over 1 million dollars.

- There are safety issues by putting two schools at the current high school site. It would make it impossible to turn at Garfield and Carpenter intersections during busy school hours. It would make already dangerous intersections even more dangerous.

- The Marion Center site is close to town and chosen based on long range planning. It is big enough to allow for growth without going through this process again. The Marion Center site also offers our children a safe, quiet and serene atmosphere for learning.

- The site was announced, and information distributed, three weeks prior to the October 11 vote. The election was held, the people spoke and our board is simply following through with the democratic process. Now people want to overturn the process by any means.

Do the people who voted "no" or did not vote in October think their needs and opinions are more important than the majority who voted for the millage knowing the location? This controversy makes Charlevoix look like a community that's only for the individual. We need to come together for Charlevoix children who are the future of our community.

Vote "no" May 9 to support our school board.

Board saw the big picture

Editor:
Some people have the capacity to see the big picture. The School Board of Charlevoix, Superintendent John Sturrock and the Site Selection Committee of 26 citizens are such people. Others view events through a peephole and see only a few trees but never the forest.

I fully support the Superintendent, Board of Education and the Site Selection Committee. I place my trust in their good judgment. They have served Charlevoix well. These are visionary individuals. Beyond site selection and building a new high school there are still the ongoing needs of curriculum, staff development and the challenge to provide the best learning environment for the children of Charlevoix.

The School Board of Charlevoix deserves our respect and thanks for a job well done. I urge the citizens of Charlevoix to vote "no" on May 9 on the recall vote.

Support the children

Editor:
To all of Charlevoix's community:

I used to buy the Charlevoix Courier every Wednesday. I'd put my $.50 on the counter and before the change even stopped silent I'd have the paper open. Being a little selfish I'd go through the whole paper looking at the pictures just reading the captions hoping the elementary school had a function that was covered by the Courier and find one of my kids smiling in black and white. If not, then looking at all the kids we've come to know either by coaching, birthday or school parties, the spring musical performances or just by a chance meeting at the grocery store with their parents. No matter how I met them it would start my day off right by reading of their successes. I've learned a great deal being involved with all these kids and I truly believe they've taught me more than I've taught them.

So, as I've been sitting back silently listening to all the trash talk of why and why not the school should go out to Marion Center, I've finally lost my patience and have decided to speak out. Not for my sake or yours, but for our children.

Let me start by saying I support the Marion Center location. I know the road well because our businesses are on the curve where Marion Center meets Stover. We've all but lived at this location for almost nine years now. My kids get picked up every morning and dropped off every afternoon by the school bus on this curve. Throughout our day my wife and I watch the cars go by, raising our hands to wave to the folks we know, as well as hearing squeals from cars going around this curve way too fast. We're looking forward to this area being slowed down.

Let me also say if the school would have been voted in any other location we would have been fine with that. My kids need to get a good education and there is not a sacrifice my wife and I would not make to have them get that. We would bus or take them to any location necessary. We had our kids out of love not out of how far we have to take them to school. I think we all need to step back and see what is really happening in our little town. We are not the same town from 20-25 years ago when I went through school here. We are growing daily. Our secret is out and people from all walks of life have discovered our little "Mayberry." We have grown beyond our expectations. Condos, houses, apartments, businesses, golf courses and the list goes on. Families....kids....kids....kids.

Charlevoix's charm is contagious. It's beautiful here. I grew up here and that's why we brought our kids back here.

Surely I'm not the only one that is seeing our elementary school overcrowding. Surely I'm not the only one that is embarrassed by the Middle School, which by the way our oldest daughter will be attending next year. Surely I'm not the only one that can see the possibilities of a great high school facility. The culture, the education quality, the pride it would bring to this town. We can find all it takes to build condos, docks, businesses, etc., but we cannot find all it takes to build our kids' futures. I wish someone would've fought for me when I was a kid, but maybe at that time it wasn't necessary. Well, my friends, it is necessary now, desperately!

I love my kids more than anything but I also love yours too. I want all of them to succeed. To catch their dreams and know we want the best for them. We need to stop backstabbing each other and show our kids what it's like to be diplomatic. We need to truly look in the mirror and ask ourselves are we fighting for our kids or are we fighting for personal reasons? Is it really a bad location? It's going to be a sad day when this is all over and those who are fighting will meet in passing and have to look away from one another rather than stop and say hello. What will that teach our kids? Kids see everything. They hear everything and certainly are smarter than we give them credit for! I really feel most of what I hear is not concern for them but concern for yourselves personally. If you were a child at this day and age, where life's speed is 100 miles an hour and the pressure is on to learn more than ever, wouldn't you want the support of the adult community to help you through these times? I am here for our kids! I support the Marion Center Road location for our kids. I want the best we have to offer them because I feel they deserve the best!

Board deserves recall

Editor:
This week I went to the Charlevoix School Superintendent's Office to acquire applications for absent voter ballots. I asked for four applications but was told that I could only have two applications as per state law. Then, when I returned the applications, I was told that I had to fill out sections that clearly, as per instructions, were not required.

I called the Michigan Department of State Bureau of Elections (517-373-2540) and was informed that I was right and none of the things that I was told that I had to do were in fact state law. In my opinion this was either an attempt to deny me my right to vote in this election or school board officials did not know what their duties were. If anyone feels that you are being treated in the same way that I was, I urge you to call the Election Bureau as soon as possible. This is just one of the reasons that I have lost trust and confidence in the Charlevoix School Board and the Superintendent's Office. I feel that they no longer can carry out their duties with the full support of the voters of this school district.

Our founding fathers set forth certain truths that all men should follow when governing and being governed. One of these was that a governing institution derives its power to govern from the consent of the governed. Another was that when a governing institution loses this consent then it is the right and the duty of the people to alter or abolish it. The Charlevoix School Board has, in my view, lost that consent.

The recall election on May 9 will be about one thing and one thing only. Do you feel that this board can continue to serve this school district with the full confidence of the citizens of this district? If not, then you have a duty, as our founding fathers put forth in the Declaration of Independence, to remove this Board.

Heal with a no vote

Editor:
To all the registered voters of Charlevoix Public School District:
We believe that the healing for our community can only be reached by voting "no" at the recall election.

We elect seven school board members to do a job. They put countless hours into researching what is best for our students and community. They have or have had children in our school system and would not do anything to put them or any student at risk. They need our support by voting "no!"

Anyone who has taken the time to talk to our school board members will find out that they are open and honest and have not done anything to justify being recalled.

It is sad anytime there is a conflict. This recall is unjust, because we all know in our hearts that to recall five school board members for sticking to their moral obligation to uphold the decision of the voters in their school district is the only thing that we should accept. Votes should have been based on information that all postal patrons had prior to the election, which included the site of the new high school.

Recalling the board does not mean that we do not have to pay for the bond, it will be on the July tax bill and will not go away for twenty years.

Please vote "no" and show support for Scott Boss, Dennis Halversen, Allen Telgenhof, Barney Way and Ardeth Wieland.

Vote no

Editor:
We urge you to vote no on May 9. The Charlevoix School Board is comprised of honest, decent people who live and work in our community; they send their children to school here as we have sent ours and our grandchildren. They have represented us well and deserve a vote of confidence and our thanks for their efforts. They had foresight to buy property to build a facility to meet the needs for the future; we live in an area that continues to grow. Let's prepare for it. A simple truth is there is no place to build in town, unfortunately.

Schools around us are moving ahead as we should be, not having to spend time and money defending against self-interest groups. The die was cast in October. This recall is creating more expense and will create delay if the board is recalled and we will have more gnashing of teeth but taxes will go on and we will get less for our money. We have a competent board in place; let them do their job. Vote "no."

Recall is wrong

Editor:
As a long time summer resident and now at age 72 a permanent tax paying member of the Charlevoix community, I would like to express some reflections about the current controversy over the school location. I expressed my sincere thoughts last fall about locating the new high school in a letter to the editor. I had hoped that the location could stay in town in an expanded area of the current school.

I am sorry to see the community divided by a vote that was made by the school board elected by Charlevoix voters in a public election. I voted for the bond issue and will reluctantly support the decision though I feel the location is not the best for our community.

A recall seems to be the wrong approach to an issue that had already been decided by the voters who had elected the board. The pressure of real-estate growth and the monetary incentive for property owners to maximize the value of their property cannot be ignored in a free society. It is the responsibility of our elected officials to protect the voters from selfish excess. The real-estate industry is like logging; they need property to sell instead of forests to lumber.

It is not too late for the community to intelligently zone the county to protect the wonderful environment we all love. A new high school is needed for permanent sustainable growth. I only wish we could keep the quality of life that had sustained Charlevoix for so many years.

BEACONS

By MORRIS E. COLE

First Presbyterian Church of Bay Shore

Last night, millions of people, all over America, went to bed with heartburn.

It was not heartburn caused by spicy food. It was not caused by acid-reflux. And it is not the kind that can be cured by Tums or Maalox. This is not a mild discomfort. The heartburn of which I speak is the achy-breaky malady that is due to the absence of Christ in one's life. It is actually caused by a void in their spiritual center. That spiritual center is what the Bible calls our "heart."

One of the ancient church fathers said that every human being has been created with "a God-shaped vacuum" inside. "Restless are we Lord and restless shall we be; until we find our rest in thee." A person with this kind of empty spot is going to experience a spiritual distress deep down in their soul...in their heart of hearts. It's because he or she hasn't turned their life over to Jesus Christ. They have yet to learn the secret that Paul describes as, "Christ in you the hope of glory" (Col. 1:27).

That's it! That's the cure! That's the fast-acting relief to spiritual heartburn. When Christ is invited into our heart and life, marvelous things begin to happen. Through daily study of His Word and prayer, the Holy Spirit begins to take over and flood our "toxic" system with love and grace. If left unattended, the poison of sin can ruin a human life that is otherwise moral, well-educated and physically healthy.

But, when Christ comes into our life, he changes things. He doesn't make the outside world go away, nor does he make the events that cause us pain magically disappear.

What he does do — and he'll do this for you — is he'll fill that empty void. And he'll give you so much joy that the troubles of this world will pale in comparison to your new-found peace and fulfillment.

And that my friend, is the end of spiritual heartburn.

Vote no

Editor:
Parents, other family members and friends, please take the time on May 9 to vote "no" on the recall of our school board.

This issue goes way beyond the Marion Center property. Recalling the school board will throw our community into a tailspin that will take years to recover from. Many people have worked many hours to move forward with a plan that benefits as many children as possible. The community should be rejoicing in the many positives of Charlevoix Public Schools. Academic and extracurricular achievements are receiving recognition throughout the state. Parent and community involvement is incredible. The relationship between the board, administration and staff is the best it has been in a long time. These are all signs of a strong school.

Unfortunately, the special interests of a few individuals have tarnished the image of Charlevoix. These individuals are responsible for creating four different groups to oppose the Marion Center Road property. By creating multiple groups, they attempt to give the impression of strength in numbers. The public meetings of the so-called "Citizens Promoting Neighborhood Schools" could barely scrounge up 40 people. This is compared to the hundreds of people that come to meetings in support of the board and the property. CPNS had several meetings in December and January. It is ironic that CPNS accuses the board of not publicly answering questions, when that is exactly what CPNS does. When asked questions of fact in public meetings, they responded with anger and arrogance. They asked people with opposing viewpoints to leave one public meeting at city hall.

Three new committees were formed by Robert Mossman. Mossman owns property adjacent to the schools' Marion Center property. In a letter to the editor attempting to explain why they didn't vote on the bond issue, Mrs. Mossman did not provide any reasons for their opposition. She did validate the results of the bond election by discussion of the decision process that she would have used had she voted. "Obviously, a no vote would have meant I didn't support the schools' efforts. A yes vote meant I supported the effort and the site too?" Last fall, 2780 voters dealt with this same decision. Knowing what a yes vote meant, 1,440 people voted to approve the school board's recommendation to build a high school on Marion Center Road.

Please be responsible to our children and community, obtain the facts from reliable sources and vote "no" on May 9.

Scott Mays
Charlevoix
Editor's note: Dr. Jeffrey Porter, spokesperson for the Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools, responded: "Our meetings were certainly far more civil than school board meetings, we did allow questions to be asked and we answered them to the best of our ability throughout the meeting. And we did that for the last six months, which is more than can be said for the school board."

Vote no

To the taxpayers and citizens of Charlevoix:
Having been born and raised in Charlevoix, as well as raising our children here, you would think one might become immune to "special" interest groups interfering with the best interests of the community. But we don't, and once again we have groups of people pitted against each other for all the wrong reasons. I'm afraid the chapter in the history book on Charlevoix citizens working for the best interests of the whole, will be a sad commentary. Over, and over, and over, friendships have been forever lost, reputations have been attacked, families have been broken - for what? Personal interest group gratification?

Webster says community is "a group of people with a common characteristic or interest living together within a larger society - a group linked by a common policy - a body of persons having a common history or common social, economic and political interests." Do we see a common thread here? At this point we have become a non-community!

The several newly formed opposing committees to the land site for our new high school appear to be made up of persons who are opposed to growth (urban sprawl) in Charlevoix, but who have moved here, thereby creating growth. I'm confused!

The leaders of these opposing committees accuse the school board of having vested interest in locating the new high school at the Marion Township site when the name seen in print most often, Dr. Robert Mossman, owns and lives on the property bordering the selected site. Perhaps he should have purchased more property when he decided to retire here. I'm confused!

Further, the originator of the neighborhood school philosophy, Dr. Jeffrey Porter, questioning the issues of the City of Charlevoix sprawling out to Marion Center Road, owns and operates a business which is charging a school large sums to do a feasibility study for raise money for an auditorium outside of city limits. At present he is working on just such a project for the Concord Academy in Petoskey. Perhaps he felt left out of Charlevoix's school site selection process. I'm confused!

The school board has the facts and figures in place. Don't take someone else's word - do your own research.

If persons soliciting signatures for the recall petition knocked at your door and proceeded to tell you that a vote to recall the present school board would lower your taxes, they are misinformed! If they said a recall of the board would mean the school would not be built on the Marion Township site, they are misinformed! If they told you the acreage was "wetlands," they are misinformed! If they said you would be paying for the relocation of Clark Road, they are misinformed!

Plain and simple - do your own research.

LETTERS

The present school board and the committee who did the leg work on the site selection process — which site was known prior to the October 9, 1999 bond election — have done their homework. They have done an excellent job and have spent countless hours in the process. Check it out.

Even if you are unhappy with the site selection for the new high school, which is your privilege, that is not a reason to subject five of our upstanding, self-less, children serving citizens of a recall vote! These persons, whom we voted into office to do the best job for our kids, have done so and there is absolutely nothing on any of their records to warrant being recalled. They have been willing to serve in an attempt to give back a bit of what has been given to them and their children. This recall is an attack on their voted authority to make decisions in the best interest of your children and grandchildren, as well as an attack on their personal integrity. Vote "no" on May 9.

Vote "no," and let's become a community again. Then let everyone work very hard to give our kids what they deserve — the best education we know how to offer on a campus they deserve.

Recall the board

Editor:
As the rhetoric intensifies in anticipation of the upcoming recall election in Charlevoix, let us not lose sight of the real issue before the voters. The board chose to withhold crucial information from the voters prior to the October millage election in a misguided attempt to guarantee passage of the millage.

The fact that they divulged the location of the selected site a few days after the September school board meeting, the last opportunity for any public comment, demonstrates the boards unmitigated contempt for the citizen taxpayer. They effectively painted us into a corner. "Vote for our choice or get nothing." The end does not justify the means in this case and those five individuals should be removed from office.

R.J. O'Leary
Charlevoix

Board thought long term

Editor:
Imagine walking into work one day and the boss approaches you to say: "You have been an asset here since you started working for us. You have built very positive morale within the workplace and those around you. Because of all the hard work you have done, we were able to complete one of the toughest projects we have had in years. You have worked long hours for very little pay, if any. You have done everything that this company has asked for and more. Oh, and one more thing, you're fired!"

This is what is happening to the five members of the Charlevoix School Board. In my eyes they have done the job they were elected to do. They allowed me and other members of the community the opportunity to speak my mind concerning the new school and renovations of the other buildings within the district. I attended the first meeting, concerning what should be done with the Charlevoix Schools. Yes, I heard people say that they would like to have an in-town school, but I also heard loud and clear, LONG TERM PLANNING! They went out and answered the biggest question for many of the voters, which was - "If I vote yes for a new school, where will it be? Twenty-five days before the school election, the board made an agreement to buy a 74 acre parcel of land. They told me and everyone else, why this was a good place for a new school. With this information, I went to the polls and voted "yes" for a new school and renovations to existing buildings.

I have a very hard time getting rid of good people because some people think their voices were not heard. Those opposing the site had 25 days to tell everyone to vote "no" on the millage election. Some of those who do not like the site never used their American right to vote; that's right, they did not even vote. I voted "yes" because those seven community members that I elected to represent me in matters like this said this was good.

Good people make good decisions; they should not be fired.

Good people, who put their community's future first, should not be fired.

Good people, who do what is right for kids, should not be fired.

On May 9, vote "no" to the recall of these caring, outstanding, community-minded individuals.

John Prescott

Vote no

Editor:
The residents of Charlevoix

School District will be heading to the polls on May 9 to decide what may be the biggest issue to ever confront our voters. What began as a discussion about the location of our new high school has expanded into a recall of five dedicated members of our community who as board members have assisted our schools in becoming among the best in Michigan. Even cursory review of recent data released about statewide assessments clearly indicates that no school in northern Michigan has students that come close to the achievements that our children have attained.

To dismantle the board that has nurtured the programs leading to these successes would be a giant disservice to our children and community, which would negatively impact our school for years to come. The choice of a school site is only one of literally hundreds of decisions our board members have made during their tenure. To think that the board should be removed from office because you may not agree with one of their decisions would be a terrible injustice to our community's most prized asset, our children. Vote "no" on the recall.

Recall is sad

Editor:

As a past member of the Facilities Steering Committee, I am deeply saddened by the current attempt to recall five members of the Charlevoix Board of Education. This board listened to the recommendation of our committee and tackled the difficult issue of securing the land prior to the October election that would meet current and future facility needs of our district for the next 50 years.

Dear Readers & Fellow Businesses:

We at Grand Bay Marine, Northern Michigan's largest Four Winns dealer, are very proud to have our new location at 06798 US 31 S., Charlevoix, MI 49720. As would any other business in the area, we feel it is important to inform customers of where we are located and what services we have to offer.

We chose to place our advertisements and information columns with the Charlevoix Courier and Petoskey News-Review. To our pleasant surprise, the sales staff for both papers were more than willing to help us out with all our needs. We were also impressed to see the effect the two papers had on increasing customer volume visiting our store.

We are and will continue to do business with the Courier and News-Review to increase our business and keep our customers, existing and new, informed on the latest happenings concerning Grand Bay Marine.

We encourage any business not already advertising in these great mediums to do so and see the positive impact that doing so will have on your business venture. We would also like to extend a special thank you to Denise and Kim!

Should you be interested in a new Four Winns, Pontoon, Hoist, Dock, Outboard or Paddleboat, please give us a call and you will see firsthand how wonderful being in the Grand Bay Marine circle of friends really is!

FIVE REASONS WHY CHARLEVOIX RESIDENTS SHOULD VOTE NO ON RECALL

1. New school taxes were approved by voters on October 11, 1999 and will be levied regardless of the recall results. The only way to guarantee the most school for our money is to proceed with the current project. Delays in construction or changes in location will result in significant cuts in areas like the gymnasium, the auditorium, and the media center.
2. The current board has a proven record of fiscal responsibility. Accomplishments include building a substantial fund equity balance in excess of $3 million; completing a major asbestos abatement project under budget; negotiating lower-than-average salary increase for staff; maintaining an $800,000 contingency fund for the current facilities project; and bringing in costs at or below budget for the current facilities project to date.
3. The current board has consistently worked as a team to achieve long-term, beneficial goals. Recent unanimous acts include the hiring of a well-qualified and well-respected superintendent; the purchase of land that provided value, flexibility, and long-range accommodation; and the decision to avoid a future overlapping millage situation by pursuing the construction/renovation plan ultimately approved by voters on October 11, 1999.
4. The current board addressed the wishes of the community by publicizing the new high school site prior to the bond election. Boards of education are under no obligation to do this and in fact often do not because it results in the undesirable community division we are currently amidst. During the site selection process, the current board succeeded in balancing the community's desire to be informed with a number of business and privacy issues typical of major land purchases.
5. Working together with the public, a diverse group of elected officials and qualified professionals has designed the best possible facilities for our students and our community. Experts in the field of school business, design, and construction have spent hundreds of hours developing a facilities system that must satisfy several thousand people. Though this is no easy task, major decisions have been made unanimously. And the public was invited to at least 8 open meetings and forums over a seven-month period to provide input.

There is no in-town location that would provide opportunities for our students and community equal to those available at the Marion Center site. If one existed, certainly the Board of Education would have pursued it. Even those who still prefer an alternate location must ask themselves in good conscience if such a difference of preference is worthy of removing five dedicated people from a challenging and thankless office.

It is imperative that your vote be well-informed and based on reason. Don't be distracted by one well-financed individual with a personal interest in the school property. Don't be influenced by the propaganda of another individual whose eagerness to protect farmland disappears once it becomes profitable. Don't be intimidated by an out-of-town law firm that has much to gain by capitalizing on the situation. And don't be misled by tall tales about wetlands, future tax increases, and the lurking of a phantom land developer.

IT IS URGENT THAT ALL REGISTERED VOTERS PARTICIPATE.
CONSIDER THE FACTS. CONSIDER WHAT'S BEST FOR OUR KIDS AND OUR COMMUNITY.

Flanders returns to Citizens Bank

After a brief retirement in 1997 following his 41-year career in banking, Francis "Brownie" Flanders is back at Citizens Bank.

On April 26, the Citizens Bank Charlevoix board of directors voted unanimously to appoint Flanders as community relations officer and to the bank board.

Brownie retired as chairman, president and CEO of CB North Bank when it made a transition to Citizens Bank.

During the two-and-a-half years of his retirement, Flanders traveled the country with his wife, Susan, and he worked as a consultant for local businesses. He is also the treasurer for the Venetian Festival and has been awarded the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce President's Award in 1997 and the Ambassador Award in January.

Lighthouse Club created to raise money for Charlevoix hospital

The lighthouse is a familiar symbol of vigilance and guidance. From Charlevoix Area Hospital's location on Lake Michigan, the lighthouse marking Pine River Channel is visible day in and day out, offering to all whom seek it a safe harbor.

This symbol has now been incorporated into an organization dedicated to providing excellence in health care for all in the community who need it.

Charlevoix Area Hospital has announced the formation of the Lighthouse Committee, made up by board of directors Tom Carey and Norm Perkins, and Dave Knight, a member of the hospital's Development Council. The three men are chairing the new committee, which is part of the Development Council's Annual Support Committee.

These committee members will be contacting individuals in the community and giving them the opportunity to join the Lighthouse Club. Members of the Charlevoix Area Hospital's Lighthouse Club demonstrated their dedication to the hospital's mission by helping make possible the acquisition of new and replacement equipment, so necessary in the rapidly advancing field of modern medicine. Funds generated by the club also help assist the hospital's future expansion and development plans.

In return for an annual gift of $100 or more, Lighthouse Club members will:

*Receive a membership card that can be used for any hospital service for which payment at time of service is normally required. Charges will be billed later, but with no billing fees included.

*Be honored at an annual Lighthouse Club meeting.

*Be cited in the hospital publication To Your Health.

Eligibility for membership in the Lighthouse Club begins Jan. 1 each year and all memberships are renewable after Dec. 31. The $100 contribution can be made either in one installment or cumulatively over the year with smaller gifts.

If you are interested in joining the Lighthouse Club or would like more information about this worthwhile project, please call Charlevoix Area Hospital at 547-8502.

Road work on M-66 and US-31 started Monday

The summer construction season is upon us. MDOT began to work Monday on improvements to US-31 and M-66 in the city of Charlevoix, causing traffic delays on this busy stretch of road.

"We are making every effort to set up projects that affect travel as little as possible. On this project, we have accelerated the schedule to minimize the effect on tourism in Charlevoix County," said State Transportation Director James DeSana.

The project is in partnership with the city, which will do coordinated work on utilities and local roads in the projected area. The project will be constructed to minimize the effects on the tourist season by allowing work on all days except holidays and festival weekends.

Traffic on US-31 will be reduced at times to one lane controlled by flaggers. A temporary, two-way shift on US-31 near airport entrance will be in effect from mid-May to June. Some local streets may be closed at times during construction, with traffic rerouted. Access to all businesses and residences will be maintained at all times.

The construction is expected to be complete by the end of July, with work on US-31 to be completed by the end of June.

Our current Elementary School opened in 1969 was built in Charlevoix Township and all other school bonding elections featured a high school located south of the city. I can recall at least three such elections since 1975. Building outside the city limits has been a consideration for more than 30 years.

The Marion Center Road site will support at least one additional school in the future in addition to expanding technology, vocational education and athletic fields so badly needed by our communities' greatest asset, our children.

Vote no on May 9. Retain our current school board and support Superintendent John Sturock.

Editor:
Nearly two years ago, I purchased six copies of the book "Save Our Town, Save Our Land," which is about urban sprawl and its negative effects, especially on small communities such as Charlevoix.

I gave these to School Board members and others in the community. I still maintain that position today. I am angry at myself for not doing more to prevent the post office from moving out of our downtown area.

Based on everyone's knowledge of my stance on this issue, I was surprised to be a participant in the Charlevoix Schools Steering Committee. This in itself showed me clearly that the superintendent and school board were open minded and had no biases regarding what schools should be built and where those should be located. I came to the group with no biases myself as I had never been in the middle school or the high school at that point. However, I was adamant that our schools should be in as close a proximity to our downtown area as they are today. Like most people I talk to today, I lacked knowledge of the subject. Once I went through these countless Monday evening meetings for five hours each, my goal was to try and find a way to get all of this information to everyone that wanted it. We had numerous mailings and numerous forums. The forums were all poorly attended and we found ourselves singing to the choir. Today, many people are still basing their opinion on hearsay, innuendoes and inaccurate information or preconceived notions.

In a democracy, our obligation is more than just going to the polls. We must do it knowledgeably. In a general election, if I do not know the individuals running for the Board of Trustees of a state college, I do not vote so as to not unfairly affect the vote of those more knowledgeable than me. On May 9, I hope everyone gains the knowledge to understand what they are voting for or against.

I wish that 30 years ago we had had the foresight that this board has shown. If so, our community would not be in this fight as we would have plenty of land for expansion within the city. But, as they say, those horses are out of the corral.

If nothing else, I would hope that each of us rationally look at the motives of those directly involved in this issue on both sides. There is no pay and there are a lot of hours in being a school board member. Now they are being personally attacked. None of these people have a hidden agenda...none of these people stand to profit one way or the other, either from the Marion Center site, or the other sites that were considered.

As I am sure everyone knows by now, the bonds have been sold and our taxes will increase regardless of the recall. If successful, all these individuals will accomplish is to slow down the process and we will get less school from the dollars available. Please vote "no" on May 9.

Vote no

Editor:
Wouldn't it be ironic if a new Charlevoix school board were to be elected, replacing the current board, then, after a really, really noisy to-do, the new board, using plain old-fashioned common sense, chooses the very same Marion Center Road site?

And why? Because, one: There is no other comparable site. Two: You, the people in the school district, already own the Marion Road site and are paying taxes to pay off the bond issue used to buy it.

The recall effort, to me, is a devil's ploy to fool us into accepting a second or third class campus site for our high school and community cultural center. Why? Because, it seems, that a neighbor to the site has spent thousands of dollars trying to sell us that the site is wetlands — a veritable rice paddy and the crop is really rice — a very tall variety, "long-grain" — not corn.

But, somewhere along the way, it seems, their leader lost the play-book for what should be his main tenet event, which he advertises as, the "Committee for Sponsoring Neighborhood Schools." Where, as should be expected of such a truly public spirited, forward looking citizens group, are their dollars, words and deeds for providing and promoting their superior alternative site? Were they to cause this "in-town Camelot" to emerge from the mists tomorrow, it is very possible that the community would go along. The people of the school district would offer the Marion Road site to the highest bidder and maybe every one could live happily ever after.

On May 9 we have no other choice than to vote "no" to this devious recall attempt.

Board did nothing wrong

Editor:
I am writing to you because I believe that in all of the information that is being circulated concerning the recall of five members of the Charlevoix School Board, a fundamental principle has been overlooked. None of the school board members have done anything which is deserving of a recall.

Regardless of whether you are in favor of the location of the new high school, you cannot say that any of the school members have done anything which merits being recalled. A recall election is a very serious process which has significant consequences on the lives of the person being recalled and upon the community as a whole. It should not be taken lightly nor should this process be used to resolve differences of opinion.

A recall election should be used to remove elected officials when they have acted improperly, committed some crime or otherwise not performed the duties required of their office. This is simply not the case with our Charlevoix School Board. These people have done nothing more than make a decision after conducting an exhaustive and comprehensive study. None of the people supporting the recall effort have shown any wrong-doing on the part of any member of the school board. No school board member stands to gain financially or personally from the decision to purchase the land on Marion Center Road.

This dispute is nothing more than a difference of opinion, something which is very common here in Charlevoix. What type of message does this send to other elected officials? Will we get quality people to serve on our township boards and in our city and county government if there is fear that every decision they make could result in their being recalled? This is a decision which should not be made lightly, nor should your vote be cast because of your opinion of the new school site.

This school board has done nothing wrong and does not deserve to be recalled. Please vote "no" on May 9 and preserve our hard working, dedicated school board. Thank you.

Rayders put three losses and one win on record

The Charlevoix Rayders' baseball team had a shaky week as it lost two straight to Traverse City Central at a double header April 27 in Traverse City and lost to Kalkaska Monday night in the first game of a double header, but won the second.

Charlevoix lost 3-13 in game one against Traverse City after the Rayders were forced to take the mercy rule before going into the seventh inning. The losing pitcher was Chris Loper for three innings, with Kreg Wager in relief.

Leading the Charlevoix offense was Matt Horon who hit a homerun and a single. Jeremiah Teuscher doubled and singled and Rob Boss singled.

Charlevoix lost the second game 5-11. The losing pitcher was Shay Hutchison for five innings, with Dennis Avery and Teuscher in relief.

Leading the Rayders' offense in this game was Horon again,

"Defensively we struggled in both games."

Scott Kelly,
Baseball coach

with a double and a single, Hutchison also doubled and singled. Teuscher, Matt Kilkenny and Loper singled.

"Defensively we struggled in both games. Giving a team four and five outs per inning several times in each game really hurt us," said Coach Scott Kelly.

The Rayders were in Kalkaska Monday night for another double header. They lost the first game 5-2.

The losing pitcher for Charlevoix was Avery. Leading the offense for Charlevoix was Loper with a double, Hutchison and Horon with two singles and Jerry Zietler and Mike Kochanny with singles.

The Rayders' losing streak stopped in the second game with a 9-8 win. The winning pitcher was Loper, with Wager, Horon and Hutchison in relief.

Offensively, Teuscher had four hits with a double, Hutchison added two singles and Boss hit a homerun. Horon and Kilkenny singled.

"(Loper) threw a very good game into the fifth inning. (Hutchison) came in to get the final out with runners on first and second base to shut down the Kalkaska attack of four runs on five hits in the last inning," Kelly said.

The Rayders overall record is 5-7 and their league record is 3-1. Charlevoix will host Traverse City St. Francis at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Muma honored for his work with senior center

Maybe that's why the senior center was able to recruit him to cook the fund-raising beef dinners each month. The center has engaged Muma in other ways as well. Spotting a good person they approached him to take on leadership activities.

"I was just asked and the next thing I was a board member," Muma said. "The next thing they elected me as chairman, and that was it."

Muma's wife, Alice, spotted a good person, too. Living in Newfoundland, Alice met Muma when he was in the Air Force and stationed in the Northeast Defense Air Command. A jet fighter mechanic, Muma retired after 37 years in the service as a Senior Master Sergeant.

Muma and Alice were married in 1954. They have three children and three grandchildren.

"He's there for me," Alice said of her husband.

Muma's volunteer activities are in addition to his full-time job as deputy with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

"(Muma) is the type of person who wants to make a difference in his community and make a contribution," Sheriff George T. Lasater said.

"I've known (Muma) over 20 years. No matter what decisions he makes, he always tries to do the right thing," Lasater said.

For Muma, volunteering comes naturally.

"You've got to have love for other people," he said. "Why would I want to do it without feelings for other people?"

Muma knows first-hand that giving to others is a benefit for the volunteer.

"It gives me a good feeling, a good, warm feeling in my heart," Muma said. "I get the satisfaction of seeing it make a difference."

High schools compete for seatbelt title

Who buckles best? Elk Rapids and Charlevoix are tied in the AAA seatbelt challenge.

Charlevoix and Elk Rapids high schools have challenged each other to see which one has the greatest percentage of seatbelt use — after all, it is the law. The winning school will receive a plaque from AAA and both of the schools will receive donations for their graduation safety activities.

Earlier this week, volunteers from AAA Michigan Charlevoix and Traverse City offices and local police came to the two schools as students and faculty arrived in the morning. These volunteers documented the number of cars that arrived, counted the total front seat occupants and noted how many of those riders were buckled up. The results:

Charlevoix: 292 front seat occupants, 218 belted occupants, 75% compliance. Elk Rapids: 322 front seat occupants, 242 belted occupants, 75% compliance.

A fact not reflected in the numbers is that AAA employees noted a great many of those not buckled were adults. To a great extent, it was the parents, faculty members and pickup drivers who lowered the compliance score.

The Charlevoix police officer on the scene noted that if he had been writing tickets that morning, they would have totaled nearly $3,000.

So, here's the challenge — AAA employees — and the local police — will be back some morning in the next few weeks to see which school has the best seatbelt use. The school with the greatest percentage of usage will be declared the winner and receive the plaque.

Softball team takes two losses

The Charlevoix Rayders' softball team lost both games April 24, in a double header against Elk Rapids at home.

Charlevoix lost the first game 17-1. Dena Sheldon was the losing pitcher in the first game. She gave up six hits and three strikeouts.

Starlah Brachel lead the offense with a single.

The Rayders just couldn't muster up offensive strength to come back in the second game and lost 13-2. Sheldon took the loss in this one as well. She gave up six hits and six strikeouts.

Sarah Jones, Sheldon and Shauna Barrett all had singles.

"The girls played hard and their attitudes are still good," said Coach Phil Butler. "Their heads were held high coming in and when it was over."

School attorney claims suit is 'without merit'

LAWSUIT

For proof, Van Wieren attached a copy of a letter written to the Marion Township supervisor and board on April 6 by Superintendent Sturock.

"The Charlevoix Board of Education wants to reaffirm their commitment to work with the Marion Township Board," Sturock wrote. "We have not presented a site and building plan ... simply because the plans are still in the development stage. As soon as the plans are ready the board will request a meeting for your review."

On April 26 the school board filed an application for a special use permit with the township.

A major defense to the lawsuit by the school district is that the suit is premature. Michigan law provides that courts will not review a zoning or planning issue until the city or township makes its determination, Van Wieren stated.

"Michigan law is settled on this issue: Until the Marion Township Board passes on the proposed construction project, the matter is not ripe for judicial review," Van Wieren said.

"Since there is no dispute that the Marion Township Board will be reviewing this matter and has not yet made any determination concerning same, we are left with the inescapable conclusion that your complaint is premature and without legal merit," he concluded.

The Preservation Association's complaint alleges that the school district is in violation of the Michigan Environmental Protection Act because it hasn't conducted certain environmental studies.

While the school has completed an environmental impact study on the 74-acre site for the new high school, the complaint states that the school district is in violation for not conducting a study on surrounding land. That allegation is without factual basis and not supported by law, Van Wieren said in his letter.

The school district has and will take measures to protect the environment in and around the site, Van Wieren added.

The Preservation Association's complaint also asked the court for an injunction to prevent the school district from beginning construction.

Van Wieren responded that a request for the injunction was premature because the township has yet to decide on the school's request for a special use permit.

The school district is asking the Preservation Association to stipulate to a dismissal of its action in court.

"You have seven (7) days from the date of this letter to dismiss this case," Van Wieren said. The seven days expire on Thursday.

If the Preservation Association does not respond by that date, Van Wieren will ask the court for action on his motion for summary disposition for dismissal of the lawsuit by the court. The school district will also seek sanctions for the filing of a frivolous lawsuit.

If it is needed, the hearing on that motion is set for June 9.

Accident closes Bridge Street

Charlevoix police had to close down Bridge Street, near Antrim Street, Monday evening following a four vehicle accident that left cement all over the road. The accident occurred when a cement truck driven by Lee Allen Keck of Petoskey ran into the rear of another vehicle that had stopped for traffic. This vehicle was pushed into the vehicle in front of it and that vehicle into the one in front of it. The force of the collision caused the cement truck to spill its contents onto the road. Charlevoix Police Chief Dennis Halverson said the city will be billing the owners of the truck for the clean-up. In addition, the driver of the truck was cited for violating the basic speed laws. Get out and vote in May 9 recall election

ELECTION

Voters approved an $18,825,000 bond proposal on Oct. 11, 1999, for renovating and furnishing public school buildings and building a new high school.

The school board announced the new high school site on Sept. 17, 1999. It was also announced in the Charlevoix Courier Sept. 22 edition.

In addition to CPNS, other groups have formed against the site. One group is the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association, headed by Dr. Robert Mossman. The Preservation Association wants to prevent the sprawl it says the school will generate in the township.

Both sides of the issue are encouraging people to get out and vote. The school district has approximately 7,000 registered voters. Voting will take place at the Charlevoix Elementary School. Polls are open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

Absentee ballots may be obtained at the Charlevoix Public Schools Administrative Office on Clinton Street until 2 p.m. Saturday. Absentee ballots must be mailed in time to be received by 8 p.m. on May 9. Absentee voters who wish to vote on May 8 may do so at the school administrative office.

Be wary of phone solicitations

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater is informing area citizens who recently received phone calls from a person soliciting for the Deputy Sheriffs' Association of Michigan, this group does not give money to Charlevoix area law enforcement.

The Deputy Sheriffs' Association of Michigan is a union from downstate, Lasater said.

The Sheriff's Office receives approximately five calls a week from a business person or senior citizen in Charlevoix County who has been contacted by someone over the telephone who indicates they are soliciting for law enforcement. They usually state the proceeds will benefit local departments and the name of the sheriff.

"It is a legitimate organization, but it does nothing for us here," Lasater said.

The Charlevoix Sheriff's Department does support the Michigan Sheriffs' Association. All contacts in this group are made in person or by mail with a letter of introduction from Lasater on department letterhead.

Lasater said it is a good policy to not get involved with any law enforcement telephone solicitation.

TWO BOAT LINES FOR CHARLEVOIX

Is what present outlook would indicate

S.S. North America to make Twice a week Trips between Mackinac Island and Chicago

Without a doubt Charlevoix will be in better condition in regards to lake transportation in the coming season than in previous years. We have been assured that the S. S. South American, operated by the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co., will make twice-a-week trips between Chicago and Mackinac Island, arriving north bound at Charlevoix on Tuesdays and Saturdays, and leaving Charlevoix south bound on Sundays and Wednesdays.

In connection with the South American, her sister ship, the North American will make weekly trips from Chicago, touching Mackinac Island, from there through the Georgian Bay district to Parry Sound and Penetang and from there to Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo. The North American may not stop at Charlevoix on either trip until during the height of the season, when and if the passenger traffic requires it, she will make this port. Charles J. Bour, president and general manager of the C. D. & G. B. Transit Co., was in the city Tuesday, interviewing Charlevoix's businessmen and arranging for the season's business. Mr. Bour states the service will be as good, if not better this season than last, and the boat line will co-operate in every detail with any necessity that may arise during the season.

While the running and freight schedules are not as yet completed, it is hoped by the officials of the company to have them ready for publication and distribution within a short time. Such freight as perishable goods, meats, etc., will be given their closest attention, but the company will not make any great effort to carry the heavier and bulkier freight.

Both the North and South American are conceded to be about the best passenger boats in service on the great lakes today. Every facility for the comfort and health of the traveling public has been looked after.

Charlevoix has long known the necessity of a boat line from the east, and in past years has lost patronage by not having one. While the schedule of the North American is but one trip a week, Mr. Bour states that eastern passenger traffic will be given their closest attention.

HOSPITAL TO BE READY BY JULY 1

Work of Remodeling Building Will Start Within the Week

Work on Charlevoix's hospital and grounds will be started at once with the view of having the building ready for occupancy at the earliest date possible, probably not later than July 1. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the hospital association trustees held last week.

On account of a shortage of funds, work on the building has been delayed for some time, but this obstacle having been overcome, it is hoped the work will progress without further delay and the building will be completed and equipment installed by July first.

The undertaking will require a vast amount of work and when completed will mean a great deal to Charlevoix. As this is a community project, every citizen should lend a hand and assist in every way possible.

The members of the committee are as follows: Harry Nicholls, chairman, HGG. L. Oldham, A. F. Bridge, A. D. Crimmins, I. A. Adams, J. L. Crane, Lisle Shanahan and William Finucan. With them on associate committee are R. F. Sloan, F. M. Glassford, L. S. See, A. A. Swinton and R. C. Hammett.

PAVILION DOCK FOR PINE LAKE TRAFFIC

P. M. Plans New Structure To Replace Old Eyesore.

We are officially advised that the Pere Marquette Railroad is planning a big attractive feature for Charlevoix's resort patrons and a substantial addition to the town's equipment for their entertainment and comfort.

The present boat dock in front of the Inn on Pine Lake will be torn down, and in its place a big pavilion dock for the accommodation of all lake passenger traffic will be erected. Work on this splendid structure will be begun in the near future.

Charlevoix will have in this pavilion what she has long needed — a proper dock for the accommodation of the boat traffic both up and down Pine Lake and from one side of town to the other. The P. M. is to be congratulated on this important step in the right direction.

Tuesday's Recall Election

Fibs, Fantasy, Fiction, & Facts

You have the opportunity to vote to retain or to recall five School Board Members.

- Fact: Your votes do nothing else; they neither affect site selection nor taxes.
- Fiction: Your votes to Recall will somehow result in a change in the selected site.
- Fib: Votes to Recall will reduce the already voter approved millage increase.
- Fact: Voters have been misled to influence the outcome of an election.
- Fantasy: Belief that a vote for recall does not adversely affect the entire community.
- Fib: That the site selection was "covered up" until a few days prior to the election.
- Fact: The site selection was announced September 17, well over three weeks before the election. The News-Review ran the whole story on September 20 and the Courier complete coverage of September 22 carried a full-page headline.
- Fiction: That the School Board should have called a special referendum on the site.
- Fact: The proposed site was vital to the favorable decision made by the voters. Many would have voted NO if the proposed site meant placing the new high school on one of the existing school sites. Without just 51 of us who voted YES because of the site; the millage proposal would have failed.
- Fib: Members of the School Board had conflicts of interest in favoring the site.
- Fact: No such conflicts of interest exist or ever existed.
- Fantasy: That the leaders of the Recall movement are the ones with no conflicts.
- Finally: Put yourself in the role of a Board or Councilmember facing an unjust Recall. It's now time to "Do unto others, as you would have them do unto you!"

May 9th - Vote NO on Recall!

VOTE NO FIVE TIMES: TO RETAIN, TO NOT RECALL ...

School board beats recall

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor
and B. J. HETLER
Staff Writer

After a massive turnout at the polls Tuesday, all five member of the Charlevoix school board beat a recall.

"I thought about everything I was going to say and it all left my mind," said school board president Allen Telgenhof in a flurry of hugs and handshakes immediately after learning the results of the election. "I hope this puts it behind us. I would ask the people to let it go now."

Of the 7,077 registered voters in the Charlevoix school district, 3,113 voters turned out for the election, of which 325 were votes by absentee ballot. This is approximately 44 percent of the registered voters in the school district.

Recall supporter Steve Meissler said he thought the turnout was excellent for this election.

"I think it says both sides care passionately about the schools," he said. "I just hope that afterward when it is all said and done, we can come together peacefully. Nobody wants a community divided."

The breakdown of the election is as follows: Scott Boss received 1,169 votes for recall (39.5 percent) and 1,789 votes against recall (60.5 percent); Dennis Halverson received 1,176 votes for recall (39.7 percent) and 1,786 votes against recall (60.3 percent); Allen Telgenhof received 1,191 votes for recall (40.3 percent) and 1,765 votes against recall (59.7 percent); Ardeth Wieland received 1,150 votes for recall (38.7 percent) and 1,822 votes against recall (61.3 percent); Barney Way received 1,255 votes for recall (41.5 percent) and 1,822 votes against recall (58.5 percent).

"The most important thing here was to raise the question and I think we did that. I'm disappointed, but the voters have spoken and I'm

Former planner upset over mayor's action

A city planning commission member not re-appointed to her position believes the mayor mishandled the matter.

"It does not bother me that I am not on the planning commission," Shirley Gibson said. "It's the unprofessional way that it was handled after giving six years of service to the City of Charlevoix."

Near the first of April, Gibson received a letter stating that she was re-appointed to another three-year term. A week later she received a letter stating that the previous letter was in error. It read in part:

"This letter is to correct the information sent out on April 6. According to Mayor Russell he did not re-appoint Shirley to the Planning Commission."

Both letters were signed by the city clerk.

Gibson was surprised to learn about not being re-appointed without hearing personally from Mayor Alvin "Butch" Russell.

"He didn't even have the decency to call me after six years of me giving my time for free. This is a slap in the face," Gibson said.

Russell said he based his decision on a couple of factors. Sometimes he just doesn't re-appoint.

Lieberman remembered for her wisdom and generosity

By B. J. HETLER

Jane Lieberman lived a life filled with helping others — and it came from her heart.

"A day had no meaning unless she had done a service for others," Kit Askin said of her mother.

As recently as Easter Sunday, illness didn't keep Jane from her annual deliveries of Easter lilies. With Kit's help, they delivered more than a dozen of the plants to people in nursing homes and hospitals.

Jane died on Monday at her home with her five children, Kristin, Kit, Kraag, Kirk and Karl, with her. She was 71. Just a little over two months ago, husband and father, Bob, died. Jane took care of him for many years, following his stroke.

Jeannine Wallace and her husband, the late Larry Wallace, spent many happy times together with the Wallace and Lieberman families. Jeannine will miss Jane, her best friend for almost 50 years.

"It's family," Jeannine said. She admires the caring that Jane had for others.

"She gave of herself to everybody and so much to her church."

Jane, who was born in Charlevoix, attended the First Congregational Church and was a part of the church's activities for years.

Land use is public's decision, speakers say

By B. J. HETLER
Staff Writer

People are in control of the design of their communities.

That was the message several speakers gave to approximately 75 audience members who attended an April 26 open forum on sprawl in the Charlevoix area. The meeting took place at Charlevoix's American Legion Hall.

"The public policy process needs an open, engaged and civil discussion," said speaker Keith Schneider of the Michigan Land Use Institute, based in Benzonia.

"The public policy process produced the Charlevoix we see today," Schneider continued. "It's not an accidental landscape. People in this debate need to understand it just doesn't happen — it's decisions made."

The meeting was co-sponsored by The Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association and the Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools. The groups are fighting to keep Charlevoix Public Schools from building a new high school on the 74-acre site the schools purchased. The site is located in Marion Township on Marion Center Road, near Veenstra Road.

Petoskey attorney and environmental activist John Rohe also spoke at the meeting out of his concern for northern Michigan communities.

"I'm here because I'm interested in what's going on in our communities," Rohe said. "I have no personal ax to grind."

Sprawl is a serious issue for this community. I don't attribute any bad motives here, but it's a monumental mistake to dissect the school from the community."

Building a high school approximately three miles from downtown in farming country is a contentious issue in Charlevoix. The current high school is on East Garfield, off of Bridge Street.

But, supporters of the new school site were well-represented at the meeting. Cara Hochhalter was one of several people who voiced their opinions. She did not believe the new high school would create adverse sprawl.

"If this were a Wal-Mart going out there, I'd be right there with you," Hochhalter told the speakers. "But we're talking about an educational community."

But audience member JoAnne Beemon wondered why the schools need so much land.

"Why these huge amounts of land?" Beemon asked. "Who is coming in and telling our good school board that they have to have lots of land?"

The Charlevoix Area Natural Resources

Preservation Association and the Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools advocate renovating the current high school site or a 50-acre site on Waller Road near U.S. 31 North.

The third and final speaker was attorney for the Preservation Association, Jim Olson. He filed a lawsuit on behalf of the association on April 20 in the 33rd Circuit Court for Charlevoix county. The suit is against the Board of Education and school superintendent John Sturock.

The suit was filed on the grounds that the public schools are not abiding by Marion Township's land use and master plans that call for preservation of the rural character.

"The schools should have asked for a permit (from Marion Township) before closing on the sale," Olson said.

But school board president Allen Telgenhof and superintendent Sturock say they have kept township officials informed of their plans. In addition, the schools submitted a special use permit request for building the new high school to the township on April 26.

Sturock criticized the lawsuit and Olson's remark.

"First of all, it's (the lawsuit) totally premature," Sturock said. "You don't apply for a building permit for building a house until you have property."

The request for a special use permit was filed with the township in an appropriate and timely fashion, Sturock said.

Olson opened his speech to the audience with a plea to everyone involved in the school issue.

"If I had any message for both sides of this issue, it's to be open, to rethink what this community is and what this community should be," Olson said.

"We're faced with something bigger than Charlevoix or Traverse City, or even the state of Michigan," Olson said. "The environmental movement is not all about tree-hugging, but it's also about us. Many of the people I talk to are wondering what a community is. We have to be a part of the concern — what we can do in our own communities."

Olson said he was concerned about the segregation of today's communities. In many communities there are few sidewalks and few front porches. He attributes this to a fragmentation of the communities.

All three speakers object to the designs of new schools, saying they often look like prisons.

"Put up barbed-wire and spot lights and you'll not be able to tell the difference from a prison," Schneider stated.

All were in agreement that designing the future of communities is a daunting task.

"This is difficult stuff, and it's difficult stuff because everything is on the line," Schneider said. Building the high school on the Marion Center Road site is an investment.

"That investment will draw investment too," Schneider said. "Is Charlevoix ready for that?"

Schneider told the audience that Charlevoix's debate over land use was one of 80 debates going on in the state.

"It's the same issues, just different projects," he said. "How we design our civilization is promoting an incredibly rich public debate on where we're going as a state, as a community."

The speakers ended the evening by encouraging people to get involved with Marion Township as it works through the land use and sprawl issues.

"Marion Township takes it from here," Olson said.

OPINIONS

The trials and tribulations of taking a position

Jeremy McBain

'Just a thought'

I guess you could say it has been a trial by fire.

From the first day that I came to Charlevoix in December, I have been engulfed in the flames of this school board issue. It has been an issue that has made the pages of this paper in some form or another almost every week since.

Now that the recall portion of this issue is over, I wanted to take a little time to share with my readers a few side thoughts about what has been going on at this newspaper behind the scenes during this recall.

At first I really did not want to come out with an editorial opinion on this issue; in hindsight, sometimes I wish I never had. But, I did and I had to deal with it, both good and bad.

Upon entering my position as editor, I started looking at back issues and reading past stories about the issue of building a school on the Marion Center Road site. I also attended a school board meeting in December and listened with great interest on what was said. A majority of this was by the people opposing the site.

They made some good points at that meeting and I left agreeing with them that the school should not be built at the Marion Center site. But, the next day, I accompanied the Charlevoix Courier reporter, B. J. Hetler, to a meeting with School Board President Allen Telgenhof and School Superintendent John Sturck.

I went with a list of questions I wanted answered and to my amazement those questions were answered during this meeting. The answers gave me the impression that the Marion Center site made sense. My opinion changed and I felt I had enough for an editorial, even though it was only my second week.

Was it too soon? Maybe, but I wrote it and I can't change that. Plus, I've stuck by that editorial since the day I wrote it, no matter how many flaming arrows were shot my way because of it. And believe me, I have had to really stay on my toes to dodge those arrows.

Because I knew it was such a controversial issue and knew I would take some heat for my editorial position, I made it well known in the Courier office that my opinion has no effect on the type or angle of the news that is reported anywhere else in the paper other than the opinion page. I will continue to make sure that happens.

And I make that pledge to the readers. My opinion will not appear on the front page of this newspaper. If a story written by a Courier reporter proves my opinion wrong, so be it. That story will still run, and will probably run at the top of the front page.

Regardless, I am human and I have made mistakes. Sometimes those mistakes give the appearance that the news is biased, but really that is not my intent. My intent is to be as fair as I can.

For example, in last week's edition of the newspaper, a story covering a forum about sprawl in Charlevoix hosted by the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association and The Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools was supposed to be in the newspaper.

The story was written by the reporter and she turned it in, it was edited by me and a place in the newspaper was chosen for it. However, for some reason, when I designed the paper that week I failed to place it in the paper.

Why? I do not know. Even after I finished designing the paper, I actually thought it had been placed in the Courier that week, until I received the published edition of the paper that Wednesday. This was a big error on my part and unfortunately this gave those who think I am biased more of a reason to hate me. I apologize to all our readers for this error.

That's what happens when you make a mistake in the news business. That mistake is out there for all to see and judge. But, I did make a mistake and I admit it.

On the lighter side, I have received many compliments from people. They like the look of the paper and sometimes offer constructive criticism on future changes. I thank you. Sometimes I really need to hear a positive comment...it keeps me going.

In a nutshell, it has been very interesting behind the scenes and I really never know what is going to happen when I go into work each morning. Will the phone calls and visits be friendly or angry? I never really know.

Sometimes it really makes me wish I stayed in bed that day.

This was a May Day that will be remembered

Edith Gilbert

'Behind the News'

They say there's nothing like killing two birds with one stone, so while visiting my children in Rochester, N.Y., my publisher arranged to have an autograph session of the new edition of my book, "The Official Know It All Wedding Planner," at Barnes and Noble book-sellers. They, in turn, arranged for a TV appearance on a local ABC station. So far, so good.

What we couldn't arrange was the time of the TV program! The TV program was scheduled for 6:40 a.m. which meant getting up at 5 a.m. This created both tension and apprehension for the night person that I am.

As a visiting houseguest, one would naturally be reluctant to request transportation by dawn's early light, but knowing that my son Jay, "the great white hunter," often rises early to shoot duck, geese, pheasant, deer, bear and elk, I had no hesitation in asking him for transportation.

"Sure," he replied. "What day?"

"Monday, May 1," I answered.

"That's the opening of turkey season," he cried.

Almost relieved I thought, "No ride, no TV show, no alarm clock."

"But Vicky will be glad to take you," he added.

After some protestation on my part, my sainted daughter-in-law drove me to the TV station.

As it turned out, getting up at 5 a.m. was not nearly as bad as dreading it for the whole week. The TV producer had leaped through my book ahead of time and clued me in on the material they were going to cover. With good directions we arrived promptly at 6:20 a.m. Per instructions, we knocked on the door and a very young man let us in. He escorted us to the set and seated us comfortably on the perimeter. As many lights shone overhead as there are stars in the sky on a moonlit night. Nine monitors positioned in a semi-circle, blinked at us, each showing a different image on the screen. Center stage was on a rise and seated at a desk a couple of announcers reported the daily news. Manning the cameras were a couple of fellows who looked like high school kids. They were dressed in baggy pants, T-shirts and baseball caps worn backwards. Moving 6-foot-high cameras back and forth on the hardwood floor, they gingerly stepped over thick black electric cords coiled underfoot.

Suddenly, I was told, "We're ready for you now." The interviewer escorted me to her desk, someone attached a speaker to my jacket and we were on the air.

"When an engagement is broken," she asked, "what happens to the ring?"

Answer: "Legally the ring belongs to the woman. Still if she breaks the engagement, traditionally the ring is returned. If the man breaks the engagement, she is free to keep the ring."

More questions, more answers. In the meantime, pictures of the book's cover are flashed on the screen, as well as my web site (www.weddingdetails.com) and suddenly it is over! (Enormous relief.) The friendly producer walks up and introduces herself.

"You did a good job," she said, for which I thanked her.

You may wonder if Jay got his turkey? No, but he saw one! An enormous Tom came up from behind and startled him so that he missed the shot.

This was a May Day we will both remember for a long time!

Land Conservancy deserves coverage

Editor:

We respectfully request that the new Charlevoix Courier editor reconsider his decision to narrow the geographical range of reporting for the Courier. In the past few months, two wonderful Natural Areas have been protected in Charlevoix County, but because they lie outside the city and Charlevoix Township, they were not reported on by the Courier.

For the first time in nine years, the annual Earth Day activities were not announced in the Courier because they were held "outside of Charlevoix." Hundreds of Charlevoix residents, Boy and Girl Scouts, Youth Groups and Volunteers have worked to protect land and create Natural Areas in Charlevoix County.

Eight years ago the Charlevoix class of 2001 put on a play at the Charlevoix Elementary School to raise money to purchase the second preserve in the now 193 acre St. Clair-Six Mile Lake Natural Area in South Arm Township. Hundreds of Charlevoix school children have taken field trips to this Natural Area, and these kids know that this place is theirs to protect and enjoy.

This year's conservancy Earth Day Activities spruced up this wonderful preserve. The Charlevoix County Land Conservancy, located here in Charlevoix at 108 Park Avenue, works to set aside special places in Charlevoix County for nature and wildlife lovers to fish, hike, and enjoy the wonder of the place we call home.

These are gifts to be enjoyed by all Charlevoix residents, young and old. They add to the quality of all our lives, (as well as adding to the value of our homes!) Our newest preserve is on the Jordan River and adjoins the Jordan River Sedge Marsh Preserve.

It takes time to know and appreciate the many wonderful features of Charlevoix County. We are here because we love our city and its beaches, but also because we love the Jordan Valley for hiking and canoeing, the hills of Boyne City for mushrooming and the Chain of Lakes for lazy days of swimming and fishing.

The acquisition of a preserve in Charlevoix County is good news for all of us. This summer, we will repeat our "Beauty in our Backyards" series. We hope you will reconsider and share the events and accomplishments of the Charlevoix County Land Conservancy with our friends and neighbors in Charlevoix.

Representation was issue behind recall

Editor:

What is the question that, "Recall is not the answer?"

Perhaps a more logical question would be "why recall?" Then the answer becomes clear.

In January, a petition was submitted to the school board signed by 1,080 citizens requesting them to reconsider the Marion Center Road site for the new high school. This petition was categorically denied by our representatives.

Refusal to represent their constituents is the primary issue and is the answer to "why recall?"

Regardless of which side of the site issue you agree with, the primary issue — representation — should very much concern all of the citizens of this community. When a decision of our representatives is not allowed to be challenged by a group of citizens, regardless of their reasons, it is a failure of our representatives to honor their oath of office.

Letters to the editor

This is tyranny.
Had the school board honored the concerns of the citizens regarding the Marion Center Road site, the issue on the ballot of May 9 would not have been recall.

Thank you

Editor:

I wish to thank Rep. Andy Neumann and his staff, plus the Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan Chambers of Commerce for sponsoring and hosting our First Annual Springtime Splendor Reception Saturday afternoon at the Dilworth Inn in Boyne City.

There was a good mix of guests representing tourist businesses and sportsmen, and all agreed that Spring is a fantastic season for outdoor recreation. In fact, it was not surprising that I had several calls since Saturday from People apologizing for not attending, but they couldn't tear away from the golf course, river bank or woods. It's like I say - beautiful, sunny, comfortable weather, golf courses in good shape with reduced rates, the fish hungry and hitting, and the woods coming alive with more mushrooms, perfect for enjoying the outdoors.

All in attendance look forward to Springtime Splendor Week, April

23-29, 2001 and the Second Annual Celebration Reception on April 28. Plans call for more activities and lots of new, lucky guests from throughout the Midwest discovering Michigan's "other great season."

Charlevoix woman enters new life as an author

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Charlevoix's Jean Sayers recently experienced two firsts — writing a book and operating a computer.

And writing the book was a piece of cake next to learning the computer.

"The only thing I slaved over was the computer," Sayers said.

A portion from her book's introduction illustrates her comment:

"I have spent many extra hours trying to figure out where to click what and whether to click once or double click. I don't understand the jargon at all."

"What do you see on your desk top?" Sayers' son, Mike, asked his mother in the book. Mike was her computer instructor.

"The telephone, lamp, printer, pad for the mouse, that little round thing that is plugged into the key board, Kleenex, pens, and a junk box," she replied.

"Mom, your desk top is what you see on your monitor," Mike groaned.

"Is the monitor the T.V. screen?" Sayers asked.

"Now he is losing his patience," she wrote.

"Why don't you read that book I bought you for computer idiots?" Mike finally demanded.

Jean and her husband, Bob, moved to Charlevoix from Sturgis in approximately 1990, when they retired. They had been vacationing in Charlevoix since the late 1970s. Jean taught in the elementary school system for 25 years, before retiring.

Sayers first book, "Please, No Catheter!" took three months to write.

"I enjoyed doing it," she said. "It was fun and it was easy. It just kind of rolled out."

"People say they feel they're sitting in my living room having a conversation, that I write like I talk," Sayers said.

The book is a humorous account of Sayers' experience with hospitals and nursing homes during her knee replacement operation and rehabilitation.

"I was having surgery and everything kept going wrong," she said.

The day of surgery, the hospital postponed her operation. Once in the hospital there was a mix-up of her medications because another patient who was unrelated had the same name.

"My medication went to him before it went to me," Sayers laughed. When she was ready for discharge from the hospital, her discharge papers couldn't be found because the hospital had the wrong discharge date on its schedule.

After arriving at the nursing home, Sayers was awoken in the middle of the night by a nurse announcing that it was time for a catheter. Not needing one, Sayers protested and won.

"That's when I decided to write the book," she said.

Sayers will likely write another book and says she is being encouraged to do so by others.

"Please, No Catheter!" was illustrated by her brother, Jim Huffman. It is published by Dry Bones Press, Inc. of Roseville, Calif. The book is being sold in area bookstores and is available on Amazon.com and Barnes & Noble.com.

Lessons of love left by former board president

LIEBERMAN

"She practically ran the place," Kit laughed.

"The family has a long, long history with that church, 100 years or better," she said.

Jane didn't sit still for long. Some of her activities included Band Booster, Charlevoix Public School board president from 1972-1974, chairwoman of the Republican Party in the 1960s, and a church deaconess. She helped Bob run Lieberman's Department Store.

Jane was greatly admired for her seamstress skills. She designed and created gowns that were worn at U.S. Presidential Inaugurations, and created her own clothing line.

"She made my daughter's wedding dress," Jeannine said. "It is to this day one of the most beautiful gowns I've ever seen. Embroidered on the slip are the names of my daughter and her husband."

Jane would see someone she knew on the street whose pants were too long and would tell them to come by the house so she could alter them, Kit said. They did and she would make them right.

Jane's family and friends will remember her for her energy, her caring about others and her humor. Jane was a practical joker, as was Bob.

The Lieberman house was full of laughter and friends. She never knew when someone would drop in, but Jane always had something ready for them to eat, Kit said. Kids were always around.

"She was a fabulous Mom," Kit said. "She was one of my best friends. I admire the sense of grace she brought to life."

Many who knew Jane admired her wisdom.

"Go with the flow and you'll find it works out how it's supposed to," Mom would say. She had great faith that way," Kit said.

Jeannine sums up what the many people who loved Jane know.

"She was an amazing person," Jeannine said. "This town has lost a great citizen."

Northwest Academy band does well at state festival

The Northwest Academy Advanced Band performed at the State Band and Orchestra Festival in Gaylord on April 28 and received a first division rating for Class D bands.

What makes this rating so great is the program is in only its fourth year of existence and the band has only 29 members.

The band is made up of two seventh grade students and five eighth grade students, with the rest of the band from the ninth through twelfth grades.

Gary Stuzman, director of Bands at Northwest Academy said, "With the young group that we have and the fact that we have been working together for only four years makes this a very special award."

There are many school bands that are members of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra and have been in existence for 40 to 50 years, but have never made it through the district qualifying festivals to get to the state level.

"My hat goes off to the strong leadership that we have in the group and the selfishness of the role players that help to make this band great," Stuzman said.

High School band takes superior rating at festival

The Charlevoix High School Concert Band earned a superior rating at the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Festival April 29 at the Gaylord High School auditorium.

The group garnered straight "one" ratings from three concert judges and one sight reading adjudicator. The band performed "Bandology" by Eric Osterling, "Nemu-Susato" by Jay VanDer-Roost and Gathering of the Yeoman" by Robert W. Smith.

Many parents attended the event and were commended by Al Johnston, the sight reading adjudicator, for supporting such a fine ensemble.

The conductor of the group, Raphael Rittenhouse, said besides earning straight "ones," the band was awarded an "A" grade in all categories by each judge, which is a rare occurrence.

The Charlevoix High School Concert Band is also inviting the public to attend its spring concert at 7 p.m., May 25 in the Charlevoix High School gymnasium. They will feature their award winning state performance along with special appearances by the Rayder Jazz Band and a ragtime brass ensemble that will perform "The Entertainer" by Scott Joplin.

Southdown, MDEQ want to cap hazardous piles

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Following the discovery of heavy metals and trace amounts of mercury possibly coming from some kiln dust piles on property owned by Southdown cement, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and Southdown are looking at remedial action strategies.

At a public hearing May 4 in the Charlevoix City Hall, MDEQ and Southdown proposed covering three offending kiln piles — called kiln piles 4, 5 and 8 — with a clay liner designed to keep water from getting into the material and they want to construct trenches that divert any groundwater under the piles into a quarry on Southdown property.

Southdown has agreed to this plan.

"There is a commitment from the company to do this summer. We won't do full kick-off until we get the ok," said Michele Buckler, environmental manager for Southdown.

That ok will not come until at least June, which is after two more public meetings with the MDEQ.

Southdown hopes to have the piles capped by next fall.

There are nine kiln dust piles on Southdown and a estimated 2,000,000 tons of the material that make up the piles around the plant. The dust is the waste product of mixing clinker, limestone, sand and oil in a kiln to make cement said Andrew Stempky, geologist for the MDEQ.

Of the three piles, 4 and 5 line Lake Michigan. Pile 4 is partially sitting in water, while pile 5 is dry, but both may have groundwater under them.

"Prior to the 1990s the state had little knowledge of what (the material) was and simply considered it a by-product of natural material," Stempky said. In the 1990s, the material was reclassified as a hazardous material that must be contained in a type III landfill. But by that time, Southdown already had several piles of the material around its Charlevoix plant.

In 1994 the MDEQ noticed groundwater with a very high pH level was seeping into Lake Michigan from some of these kiln dust

"We came to the conclusion that capping was the best solution."

Andrew Stempky,
MDEQ Geologist

piles and elevated levels of heavy metals were found in the seep water, Stempky said. Heavy metals include; arsenic, lead, copper.

Further studies in 1998 also indicated a trace amount of mercury that may have been coming from pile 5.

"We came to the conclusion the capping was the best solution," Stempky said.

Under this plan, Southdown would cap piles 4 and 8 with a clay-like liner. Pile 5 will be capped with a similar but more flexible liner due to grade issues. These liners have proven their effectiveness through their past use in landfills throughout the state.

"We are using material we have no doubt in our minds will do the job of preventing water from getting in (the piles)," said MDEQ Environmental Manager Robert Wagner.

Buckler added, "We feel that this remedy is the best we can offer and is what the department prefers."

Jerry Puhl, president of the Water and Air Team of Charlevoix (WATCH), said overall he agrees with the proposals from the MDEQ and Southdown, and added he was very happy there was public meeting to discuss this.

"The public gets a chance to voice an opinion in as far as what they are regulating and planning with Southdown," he said. There have been times in the past where the MDEQ had its mind made up before a public hearing, Puhl said. Puhl was at the May 4 meeting.

While he states the MDEQ's plan is "state-of-the-art," Puhl said he sees a potential problem with using trenches to divert groundwater from the piles into Southdown's quarry.

If the water is not treated in the quarry, then it could just be pumped from there into Lake Michigan, he said.

"The big problem is the intake system for Charlevoix's water is relatively close to this. Even if this stuff is diluted by the time it gets to the intake pipe, it is still mercury. The City of Charlevoix needs to keep up-to-date as far as what is going on with city water," Puhl said.

He added The MDEQ has assured WATCH that it will test the lake water near Southdown.

Watershed Ramble to take place Saturday

On May 13, the Charlevoix County Land Conservancy and Friends of the Boyne River will host the second annual spring Lake Charlevoix Watershed Ramble.

The theme of this year's Watershed Ramble is "The Changing State of Michigan's Natural Resources."

At 9:30 a.m. participants will gather at the Dilworth Hotel in Boyne City for doughnuts and coffee and for an overview of current conservation activities in the watershed.

A presentation on the environmental impacts of the changing water levels of Lake Charlevoix will be given by Larry Levensgood of the Charlevoix Health Department and an overview of "The State of Michigan's State Forests," will be presented by the Mackinac Forest Council.

At 10:30 a.m., participants will board the Charlevoix County Trolley for a tour of the Lake Charlevoix Watershed, with stops at Boyne River Project sites, natural areas, the Friends of the Jordan's new Watershed Center and Lake Charlevoix properties that demonstrate the impact of low water levels.

Participants will learn how activities in the watershed affect the whole watershed community. Anyone having an interest in conservation is invited to attend.

Call 237-9335 or 582-5824 for information and to make reservations.

Make your home elegant while using rustic items

Artistic handmade furniture and a large line of herbs are just some items you can use to add a touch of the natural grace to your home at Rustic Elegance.

The new store located at 1516 S. Bridge Street in the Port Air Plaza specializes in herbs and interior decoration with original handmade works of art. Rustic Elegance has natural furnishings, stained glass, pottery, rugs from Mexico, forged iron works, native American jewelry, handmade soaps, baskets and hand-dipped candles, among many others. All of the pieces are signed by their respective artist.

"I feel that what I have to offer serves both the year-round folks and those who pass through seasonally. I offer a wide variety of items that no one carries," said Faith S. Worthley, owner of the store.

For an added uniqueness, Worthley said most of the items in the store are handmade by women. Currently, she has work from 12 different artists and is looking into featuring more local artists in the store.

While offering unique items to her customers, Worthley said she sticks to her store's motto of "keep it simple, yet elegant."

"If you are looking to create a warm, natural environment that is both functional and beautiful, come see me," she said.

Rustic Elegance has been open since April 18.

The store is open from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and Monday by appointment. For more information contact Worthley at (231) 237-9733.

Employees of Big Rock donate to food pantry

Consumers Energy employees celebrated National Volunteer Week by donating more than six tons of food to community food banks and pantries across Michigan.

The company-wide food drive last week at 62 facilities in 46 cities brought in 11,992 pounds of food and $752 to buy food. Each employee group - ranging from 10 people to several hundred - chose the local food recipient.

Big Rock Point employees chose the Manna Project in Petoskey to receive its 287 pounds of food and $677 to enable the pantry to buy food for 6 cents a pound. Because the food pantry can buy food at such a discounted rate, Big Rock Point's financial contribution is equivalent to donating 11,570 pounds of food.

The food drive was from April 10 to 13. The event culminated at Big Rock Point with acting site general manager Greg Withrow recognizing employees' long-time commitment to their neighbors.

Charlevoix Area Hospital to offer yoga workshop

Do you have back problems? Learn how to reduce pain and increase mobility by attending a Yoga workshop tailored for those individuals with chronic neck and back problems at Charlevoix Area Hospital Saturday, May 20 from 9 a.m. to noon.

"Yoga for Your Back" is an easy and gentle series of postures that will help to release the entire spinal column from sacrum to cranium, resulting in increased range of motion and muscle strength, integrity of the body in motion and reduction of pain. Other postures include abdominal strengthening and chest expansion.

Many postures presented are suitable for practice in a public setting, as in an office, and are taught from a seated position in a chair.

Participants will find many ways to incorporate the techniques of better alignment and breathing in daily life.

Although the postures are suitable for most, participants must be mobile enough to get from chair to the floor and back. Yoga for Your Back is an augmentation to other efforts and presents methods of back.

The program is presented by Sandra Carden, who is the director of Union Yoga in Traverse City and Leelanau County. She teaches yoga classes at Munson Medical Center and for group-specific workshops, retreats and yoga vacations.

Cost of the workshop is $25 per person. Register for the Yoga workshop by mailing your check to Connie Roland, Education Coordinator for Charlevoix Area Hospital, 14700 Lakeshore Drive, Charlevoix, MI 49720. For more information call 547-8570.

Charlevoix tennis team on comeback after shaky start

"The team has really shown a lot of tenacity and determination."

Garth Miller,
Charlevoix tennis coach

After a shaky start, Charlevoix High School's Varsity Tennis team is back on track and ready to make a bid for the Lake Michigan Conference Championship.

The Rayders started their season with losses to Petoskey's J.V. team (4-3), Traverse City East's ninth grade team (4-3) and Harbor Springs (7-0).

According to Coach Garth Miller, the early-season losses were not surprising.

"Any time you have a new coach running a program, there will be an adjustment period," said Miller. "But, I am really impressed with the way that they have bounced back mentally. The team has really shown a lot of tenacity and determination."

Since their 0-3 start, the Rayders have won four of their last five contests, evening their record at 4-4. Charlevoix avenged a narrow season-opening loss by defeating the Northern's J.V. at Petoskey's courts (4-3) and continued their winning ways with victories over Traverse City St. Francis (5-2), Grayling (5-2) and Boyne City (5-2).

Standing in the Rayders' way to an LMC Championship is league-favorite Harbor Springs, who defeated Charlevoix for a second time this season (7-0). "Harbor Springs is definitely the team to beat this year," said Miller. "They have the league's top-ranked player and a very strong doubles contingent."

Despite the Rams' dominance over his squad, Miller is optimistic about his team's prospects at the LMC Championships, which will be at Boyne Mountain this Friday.

"We have a very strong singles line-up and we feel that we can go head-to-head with them at several flights," said Miller.

"In order to win the league title, we will need an inspired, total team effort," Miller concluded. "We will have to remain focused and play consistently through all flights. If we can do that, we will make this a very

Rayders lose two, win two while at home last week

The Charlevoix Rayders baseball team added two wins and two losses to its record following double-header play in the past week.

The team started out its week by winning one and losing one to Traverse City St. Francis, May 4 at home.

The Rayders won the first game 8-0. Chris Loper was the winning pitcher with three hits, three strike outs and no walks.

"(Loper) pitched very well. Traverse City's pitcher struggled in the third inning by walking three runs, followed by (Teuscher's) bases loaded double which opened the game up. Defensively we played very well without an error in either game," said Coach Scott Kelly.

Leading the offense were: Jeremiah Teuscher with two singles, Nate Teuscher with a three RBI double and Matt Kilkenny, Shay Hutchison and Chris Loper with singles.

Traverse City St. Francis came back from this loss in the second game to beat the Rayders 9-7. The losing pitcher was Dennis Avery in relief over the last two innings. Hutchison started the game with Matt Horon in relief prior to Avery. Regardless of the loss, Kelly praised his team.

"The team did well overcoming a very slow start with the bats and mounted a great comeback," he said.

Leading the offense for the Rayders were: Hutchison with three hits, Kilkenny with two doubles, Horon with a double and a home run and Jeremiah Teuscher, Rob Boss and Nick Cole with singles.

The Rayders were back on the field Monday hosting Boyne City in another double-header. They lost the first game 10-0.

The losing pitcher in the first game was Loper, with Jeremiah Teuscher in relief. Horon led the Rayders' offense with a single in the first inning.

The Rayder shook this loss off in the second game by squeezing past Boyne City 6-5. The winning pitcher was Hutchison.

In the bottom of the sixth inning, Boyne City was ahead 5-3, until Charlevoix came on strong with its bats. Zeitler, Cole, Nate Teuscher, Jeremiah Teuscher and Kilkenny all had consecutive hits to bring Charlevoix back and win the game.

Leading the offense were: Hutchison with three singles, Jeremiah Teuscher and Horon with two hits. Loper, Jerry Zeitler, Cole and Nate Teuscher added singles.

"The team did a great job to come back from a very disappointing first game," said Kelly.

The Rayders' overall record is 7-9. Their league record is 5-3.

Golf scholarship offered to association's participants

Several lucky youngsters that participated in the Charlevoix County Junior Golf Association's 1999 summer program will be awarded scholarships to attend the prestigious golf camp at Ferris State University this summer.

Dean Davenport, executive director of the popular summer program, announced that the association's board members recently approved renewing the scholarship program with FSU and also establishing criteria for selecting the recipients. Applicants must have participated in more than half of the 1999 sessions and be at least 12 years of age to be eligible for consideration.

Dennis LaCroix, board president pointed out, "Ferris was the first and one of the only three universities that offer a professional golf management curriculum, our golfers enjoy a great student-teacher ratio. It has been a wonderful experience for our young golfers through the years."

Applicants will be judged on criterion that include: Golf skills and potential, citizenship, enthusiasm for golf, attitude and maturity.

Applications were mailed to last year's golfers that were eligible and additional copies are also available at the City Recreation Office and the Municipal Golf course.

The filing deadline is May 25. Camp sessions at FSU are June 18-23, June 25-30, July 9-14, July 16-21, July 23-28 and July 30-Aug. 4.

Ordinance No. 662 was adopted by the Charlevoix City Council on May 1st, 2000.

Charlevoix school board members remain in office willing to go along with what the voters said," said Dr. Jeffrey Porter of the Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools. The group was pushing for the recall of the board members.

Porter would not comment at this time as to what the group's next move was going to be.

Dr. Robert Mossman, recall supporter and president of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association, could not be reached for comment before press time.

While rejoicing in their victory Tuesday, many of the school board members stressed the need for the community to heal in the wake of this issue.

"The people in this community, their job is not finished. Their continued responsibility has to be to put the community back together," said Wieland. "It makes you sad so many people got hurt in the process."

She added, "I think I'm just pleased that the community gave us the same direction they gave us last October when they voted."

Charlevoix School Superintendent John Sturock also said he was very pleased for the board and urged the community to come back together.

This recall election was prompted by the school board's purchase of a 74-acre site on which to build a new high school. The site is located near the intersection of Marion Center Road and Veenstra Road in Marion Township.

Those opposed to the site say they are concerned about moving the students out of downtown, about sprawl and about damage to the environment in a farming community.

Because the groups did not feel the school board was listening to their concerns, a recall petition drive was formed in January and February.

This drive collected more than the necessary 891 signatures needed for each board member facing recall in order to place the issue before the voters.

Contribution to help with cost of recall election made

Contributor urges opposition to match funds

A supporter of the school board members who were up for recall on Tuesday has contributed $1,000 to the Charlevoix Public Schools to cover the cost of the election and asks the groups opposing the board to match the contribution.

Josh Barnes sent a letter to the school district with the check for $1,000 on behalf of all the people who fought against a recall. In the letter Barnes stated:

"The costs of the Recall Election, ... should not be paid by, or affect, the students of your schools. On behalf of all of us who have fought that recall effort, a donation in the amount of $1,000 is enclosed. Its purpose is to pay about half of those costs."

... I am urging that the other side match this contribution so that none of those costs are a burden on your students."

The recall drive of five school board members, Allen Telgenhof, Ardeth Wieland, Barney Way, Scott Boss and Dennis Halverson, was brought by residents dissatisfied with the board's choice of a site for the new high school.

Barnes went on to address the issue of costs to the school district necessitated by the lawsuit filed against it on April 20 in the 33rd Circuit Court. The suit was filed by the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association in an attempt to keep the schools from building a new high school on Marion Center Road.

Barnes stated:

"Should the existing legal action be dropped or lost, it is to be hoped that those seeking such action will donate to the School System an amount equal to the reasonable costs of the defense. Should it be won, it is to be hoped that those same costs would be donated as a cost of success: evidence of good faith and that their effort was indeed worth the money."

"None of these costs should adversely affect your present or future students," Barnes concluded.

Dr. Jeffrey Porter of the Committee Promoting Neighborhood Schools said he would comment on the proposal after seeing it in print. The committee is one of the groups opposed to the site.

Gibson upset over mayor's decision not to reappoint

"I change staff now and then," Russell said.

Russell also said he had heard Gibson did not want re-appointment.

"From the staff level they told me she didn't want to be re-appointed," Russell said.

Gibson denied this. She said she called the mayor upon receiving the second letter and at no time during their conversation did he give her a reason for not re-appointing her. In fact, he told her she did a good job, Gibson said.

Planning commission chairman, Dennis Kusina, appreciates the work Gibson has done on the commission.

"She's done a good job," Kusina said. "I enjoyed working with Shirley, but that is the mayor's decision."

Planning commissioners are appointed by the mayor. A replacement for the planning commission seat has not yet been appointed.

Russell said he has a candidate and is expecting his acceptance or rejection of the position this week.

It's time to give your pets a 'Spring Tune-up'

Springtime is the perfect time to give a pet the gift of health — a "tune-up" at a veterinarian's office, says the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

For dogs, that should include an annual heartworm examination.

A heartworm examination consists of a blood test performed by a veterinarian. Dogs should be placed on heartworm preventive medicine on a schedule prescribed by a vet. Heartworm preventive medication should not be given until the dog has been tested.

Heartworm is a widespread and serious canine disease in Michigan, said Dr. Michael Chaddock, a state veterinarian.

"The disease is so easy to prevent but difficult to treat if it is advanced. Undiagnosed or untreated, heartworm can be fatal to dogs," Chaddock said.

Signs of serious infection include lethargy, coughing, sometimes with blood, and a history of not receiving heartworm preventative medicine. Most cases are detected early in a routine examination and can be treated successfully.

Fleas are another concern. They increase during the spring and reach their peak in late summer. Several remedies are available to fight flea problems. Some medications prevent flea reproduction, while others medications actually kill fleas. Some medications need to be started before the flea season gets into full swing. Consult your veterinarian for a customized flea control plan that best fits your needs and the needs of your pet.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) advises that vaccinations be kept up-to-date, particularly if the pet is taken to public places, such as beaches and parks.

For more information about pet care, contact your veterinarian.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX Ordinance No. 661 of 2000

AN ORDINANCE TO ADD A NEW CHAPTER 77 TO TITLE VII OF THE CHARLEVOIX CITY CODE TO ESTABLISH PROCEDURES AND STANDARDS FOR REVIEW OF APPLICATIONS FOR A NEW LICENSE TO SELL BEER, WINE OR SPIRITS AS WELL AS THE RENEWAL AND REVOCATION OF SUCH A LICENSE.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. A new Chapter 77 is added to Title VII and shall read in its entirety as follows:

Chapter 77 LIQUOR LICENSES

For purposes of this chapter, the following words shall be defined to include:

- "License" means a liquor license issued by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and for which city approval is required. It does not apply to off premises licenses for which city input is requested and for which city approval is not required.
- "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, limited liability partnership or any other business entity.
- "Public Nudity" means knowingly or intentionally displaying in a public place, or for payment or promise of payment by a person including, but not limited to, payment or promise of payment of an admission fee, any individual's genitals or anus with less than a fully opaque covering, or a female individual's breast with less than a fully opaque covering of the nipple and areola. Public nudity does not include any of the following:
 - A woman's breastfeeding of a baby whether or not the nipple or areola is exposed during or incidental to the feeding.
 - Material as defined in section 2 of Act No. 343 of the Public Acts of 1984, being section 752.362 of the Michigan Compiled Laws.
 - Sexually explicit visual material as defined in section 3 of Act No. 33 of the Public Acts of 1973, being section 722.673 of the Michigan Compiled Laws.
- "Public Place" means any real property or an appurtenance to the real property which is owned by this state, any municipality of this state, a public agency, or by a college or university in this state and may include a structure, enclosure, facility, or complex, including a court, mall, park, or other area, feature, or element; a public place shall also mean a business or an educational, refreshment, entertainment, recreation, health, or transportation facility, or institution of any kind, whether licensed or not, whose goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations are extended, offered, sold, or otherwise made available to the public.

7.302. Legislative Intent

The city council acknowledges the difference which the law recognizes between applications for new licenses and the transfer, renewal or revocation of existing licenses. As to new licenses, this Ordinance is designed to provide a framework in which the city council can decide whether to approve or deny an application for a new license. This framework, when followed, will show a reviewing court that the city council's discretion was not exercised arbitrarily or capriciously. The city council recognizes that the issuance or denial of a license can be controversial and that litigation over the city council's decision can easily result.

The regulation of licenses and their impact on the land use goals of the city are legislative decisions. The voters and legislative process are the methods which should be used to alter legislative decisions as long as the legislative decisions are not made in an arbitrary and capricious manner. It is hoped that a reviewing court will respect the function of the city council as well as the electoral process in evaluating the actions of the city council.

Sections of this ordinance dealing with Public Nudity are intended to address the city's recognition that Public Nudity in areas in which alcohol is being consumed can create significant negative secondary effects. Such sections are intended to regulate and minimize those negative secondary effects and to effectuate the city's definition of Public Nudity, and are not intended to specifically regulate or inhibit any activity protected by the First Amendment.

The city acknowledges that existing licensees have property rights in those licenses. Thus, for the transfer of existing licenses the city has adopted with modification certain requirements recommended by the Michigan Townships Association. For the renewal or revocation of existing licenses, the city has adopted a system in this ordinance to meet procedural due process requirements.

7.303. Application for License - New and Transfer

- A person whose licensing activity will expand or intensify a non-conforming use under the city zoning ordinance.

D. Term of License

Approval of a license shall continue for as long as the Michigan Liquor Control Commission license continues subject to periodic review by the city council regarding continued compliance with the regulations of this ordinance and any conditions of approval. Approval of a license shall be on the condition that any necessary remodeling or new construction for the use of the license shall be commenced within six (6) months of the action of the city council or the Michigan Liquor Control Commission approving such license, whichever last occurs. Any delay in the completion of such remodeling or construction may subject the licensee to revocation.

E. Reservation of Authority.

F. License Hearing

The city council may act on an application for a new license or the transfer of an existing license at any regular or special meeting. The city council may hold a public hearing on any application when it is determined to be in the public interest. - Date, time and place of the hearing.
- A statement that the licensee may present evidence and testimony and question adverse witnesses.

Following the hearing, the city council shall submit to the license holder and the Commission, a written statement of its findings and determination.

- Violation of any of the requirements on licenses set forth in Section IV, Paragraph C, 1 through 8 above, or,
- Maintenance of a nuisance upon the premises.

SECTION 2. Severability

Local Kiwanis Club raises money through rose sale

All's coming up roses for the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix. Club members recently sold roses by the dozen as their annual fund-raiser. Red, pink and yellow roses were delivered to people who placed their orders for the affordable rate of $20 a dozen. The club sold 127 dozen for a net profit of $1,280, which will benefit the Kiwanis Youth Foundation, a fund that supports local programs for children. Each year, Pat and Lori Mitchell, owners of Charlevoix Floral, provide the roses to the club at a lower cost. The club members take orders and distribute the roses at a time that does not conflict with any major flower-giving holiday, so as to not compete with other floral shops. For more information on Kiwanis, contact the club president, Jeff Rogers at 544-6613.

Anne Harsha's poems show mood over city's past events

Marilyn Boss
'Days Gone By'

Through the years, I have kept scrapbooks of newspaper clippings. Several of the articles I enjoyed most were poems written by Anne Harsha, who gave her family home to the Charlevoix Historical Society when she passed away in 1978. The society made it into the museum it is today, with priceless memorabilia of Charlevoix displayed there.

Anne was concerned about some of the new things that were going on in town at the time. She spent the winter months at her home in Detroit and the rest of the year in Charlevoix. In 1967, when Charlevoix replaced the quaint lights on Bridge Street with the tall mercury vapor pole lights, she was quite upset and wrote the poem below.

The second poem was written in 1970, concerning the building of the city sewer plant near her summer home on Lakeshore Drive. She also wrote a poem about the sunset at the dump, but space doesn't permit me to use more than two.

De-LIGHT-ful Charlevoix

Little city on the lake,
How I wonder what's at stake,
That you should ponder vapor light
To make your city oh so bright!

It must be the violent crime you fear,
Or are the lights so very dear,
To city fathers, who forswear
Beauty — be it anywhere!

Little city four block long,
I think I know just what is wrong,
The council sits and figures how
To spend your money here and now!

What nicer thing than vapor light
So folks on Bridge can read at night,
How nice they'll look up in the sky
How fine for planes just passing by!

Oh, little city way up north,
What next will council men bring forth,
What are you setting out to be
A monumental Christmas tree?

Written April 19, 1967

An Outhouse to Boot!

The city needs a sewage plant,
And find a place for it they can't

Without stepping on some mighty toes,
But near Boulder Park — anything goes.

So on the land that was Birch Hill,
They want open holding tanks to fill,
To pour that water in the lake
To add pollution and algae make.

They plan this all when no one's here,
To save the land and water clear,
They manage somehow to obtain
Land that should be State's domain.

One councilman was heard to

say,
"Why protect this, anyway?
You have Medusa in your view,
Why not an outhouse too?"

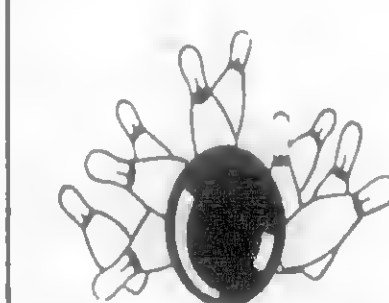

Written July 15, 1970

Anne really loved Charlevoix, as do we all, and contributed much to our town.

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The Charlevoix Area Hospital has officially kicked off a fundraising campaign to raise an estimated $6 million for an expansion on its facility.

The expansion will include new additions for the emergency room, intensive care unit and OB unit. It will also include the renovations of several patient areas of the hospital, the construction of a third floor over the ICU and a helicopter pad on the roof above the emergency room.

Charlevoix Area Hospital President Bill Jackson said the facility will "ideally" be put out for bid this fall. Construction could begin as early as next spring.

"In terms of raising the money, we may or may not have the $6 million when we send it out to bid," he added.

The project could be built in phases if the hospital does not raise enough money Jackson said. But, he added, because the project is so ambitious, it is better to start and complete construction all at once, rather than stretch it out over a number of years. "People have already started donating to this project. We have had both year-round and seasonal residents (donating)," said Jackson. "Donations to the hospital have gone up. Of course, they do go up when we are doing a major project."

City clerk position may change to appointment

The city council is wrestling with the future of the city clerk position.

The position is currently an elected post. Council and city manager Michael Wiesner are considering whether to change the position to an appointment by the city manager, with confirmation by council.

Other ideas bantered about run from one end of the spectrum to the other, ranging from eliminating the clerk's position and divvying up the duties to other employees, to making the position full-time, up from approximately 20 hours per week.

Following several lengthy discussions at council meetings, some members were tiring of the matter.

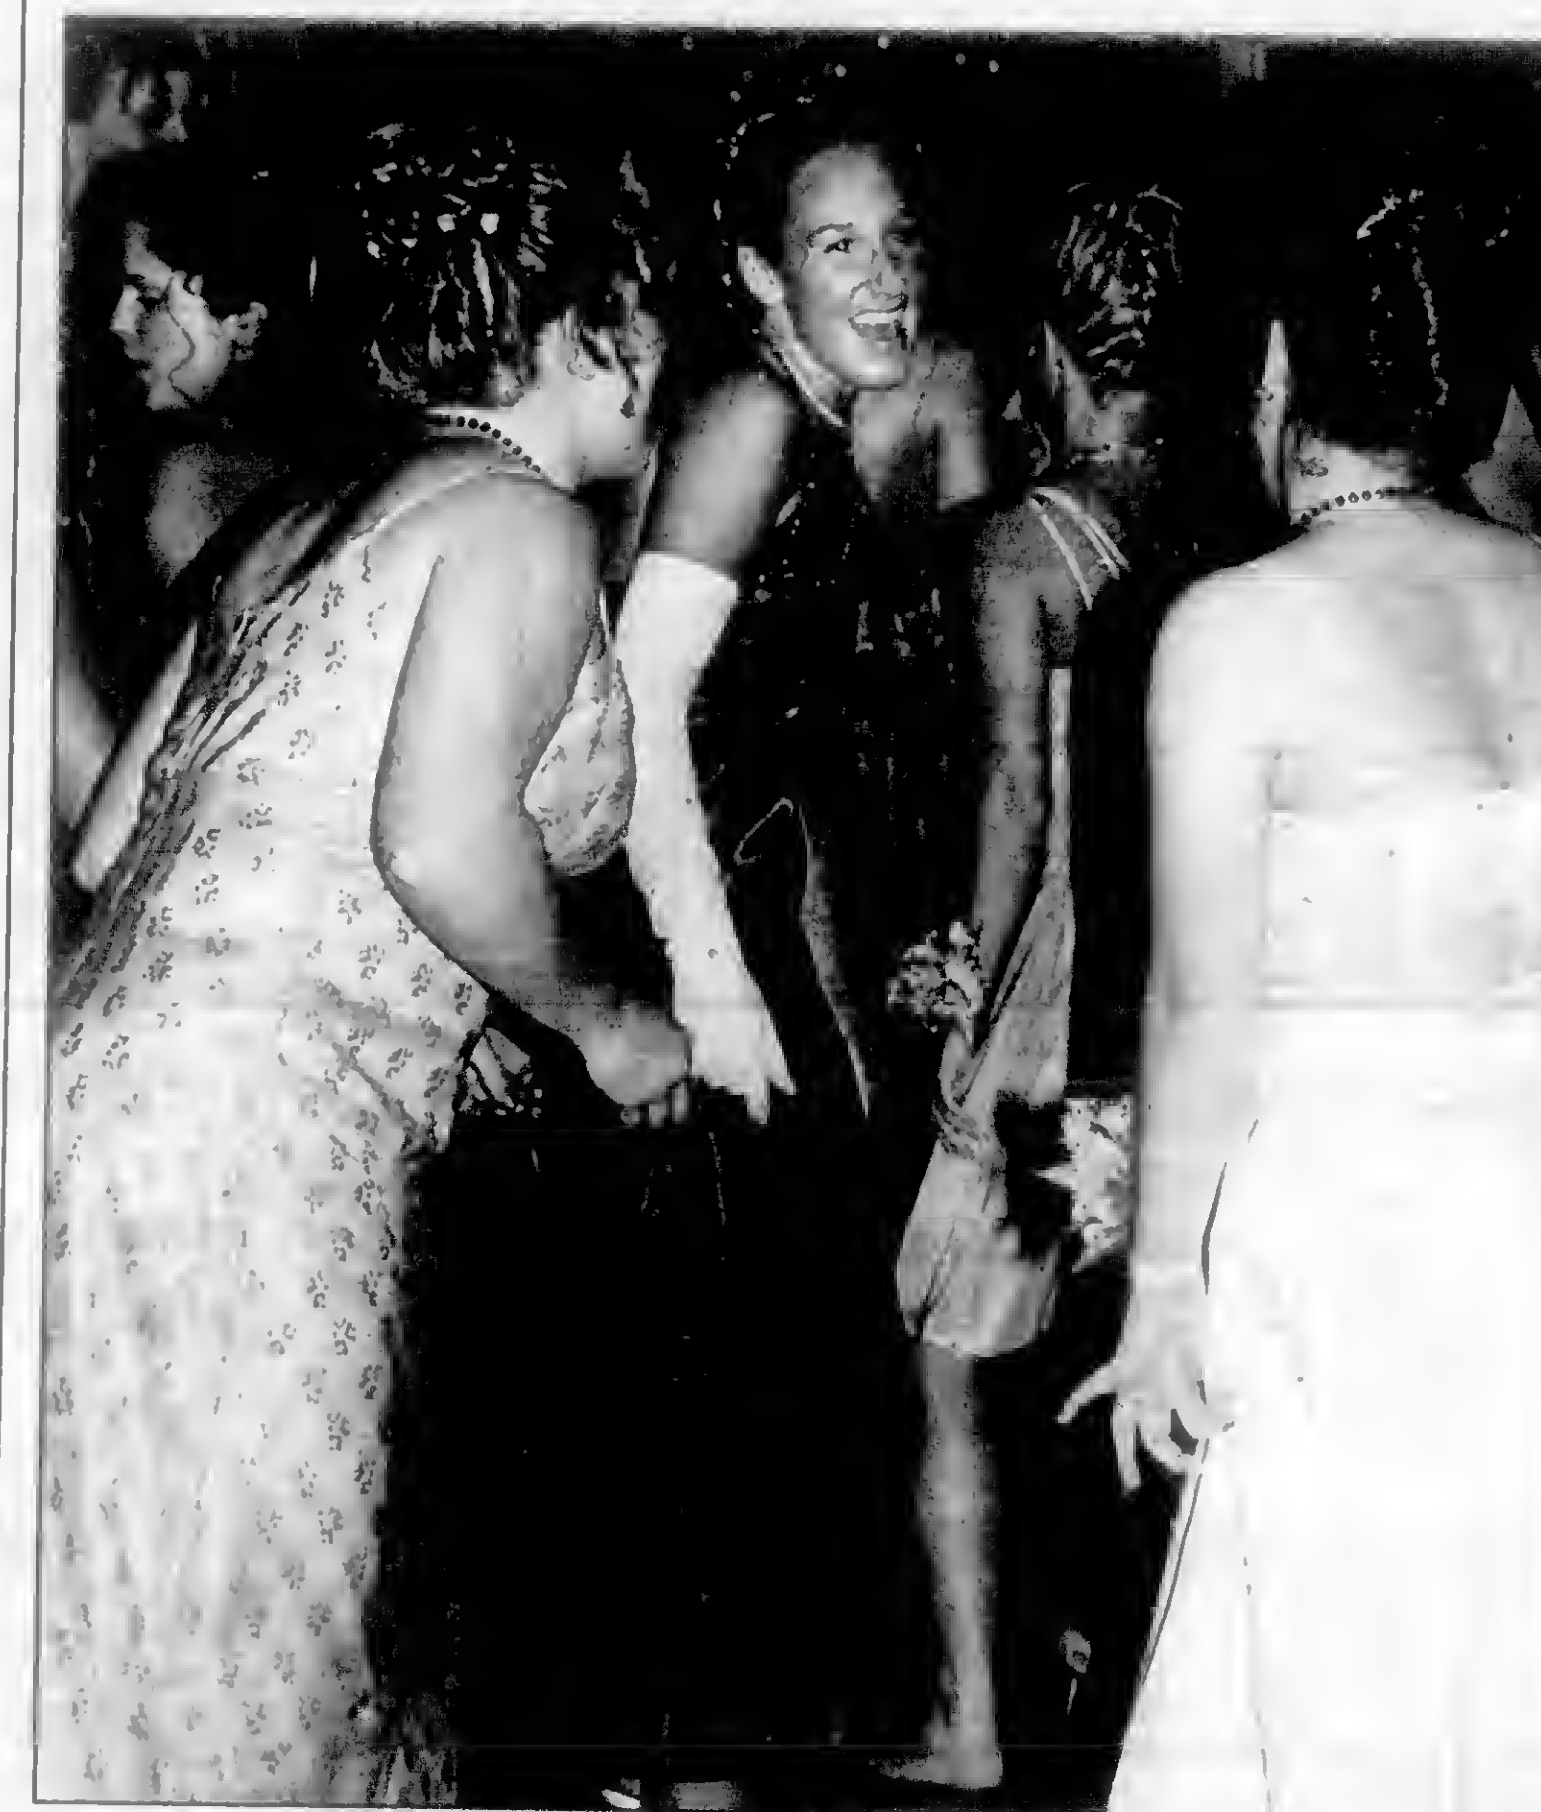

"Frankly, I don't know why we're spending so much time on this," Council Member Valerie Barnes said.

Council acknowledged that the job has been difficult to fill, partly because most prospective employees want a full-time job.

The city clerk's position has been open since February when Jo Anne Patrick left after eight years to take a full-time job at the county offices. Former city clerk Arlene Staley has been filling in.

Council is considering advertising to fill the position by appointment. If it decides to make the appointment permanent, the city charter will need revision for the city clerk's position.

Duties include publishing and posting notices of city council meetings and hearings, attendance at council meetings, maintenance of city records and performance of all functions pertaining to elections and voter registration.

School seeks dismissal of Marion Center lawsuit

By B. J. HETTLER
Staff writer

Charlevoix Public Schools have filed an answer with the circuit court to a complaint filed against it for the schools' purchase of a site on which to build a new high school, and have asked the court to dismiss the case.

A hearing on its motion for summary disposition is set for 1:45 p.m. on June 9. The schools had requested that the plaintiff in the case respond within seven days to a letter from its attorney stipulating to the dismissal of the case.

The seven days expired on May 4, without a response from plaintiff's attorneys.

In its answer, the defendants, Board of Education, Charlevoix Public Schools and school Superintendent John J. Sturock, state there is no cause for action and no merit to the case.

The law firm of Sullivan, Ward, Bone, Tyler & Asher of Grand Rapids is one of the law firms defending the schools.

A lawsuit was filed by the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association on April 20, in the Charlevoix County Circuit Court. The preservation association is fighting the building of a new high school on a 74-acre site on Marion Center and Veenstra roads in Marion Township.

The plaintiff preservation association alleges that the schools are engaging in "inappropriate development and/or sprawl" by choosing the site which is in a farming community.

But, in the answer William J. Ewald of the defendants' law firm states:

"To the extent such answer is required, it is specifically denied that the actions and/or inactions of these defendants will or is likely to degrade the environment or that it will cause unnecessary natural destruction of natural resources and/or harm or interfere with adjacent property interests."

Other allegations that the schools must adhere to township zoning and land use ordinances is not disputed by the schools, because it is following township rules, Sturock said.

The schools are accused of Michigan Environmental Protection Act violations, and the preservation association is asking the court for injunctive relief to keep the schools from building on the site. It claims there will be irreparable harm to the environment.

But the schools state that the plaintiff is merely speculating on damages and has no facts to support its allegation.

"... Plaintiff's litigation is simply 'anticipatory' which is contrary to law. Plaintiff, therefore, is not entitled to injunctive relief," attorney Ewald stated.

The schools' motion for summary disposition asking the court to dismiss the case was filed for no cause of action and it claims that the suit was wrongfully brought. The hearing on June 9 is scheduled in Judge Richard Pajtas' courtroom.

No violation of meetings act found on part of board

By B. J. HETTLER
Staff writer

A charge that the Charlevoix Public School district violated the Open Meetings Act was investigated by the state attorney general's office — no violation was found.

"In the absence of any evidence that a decision was made at the non-public meeting, the act was not violated," Robert Ianni of the attorney general's office stated in an April 18 letter.

"The School Board should be cautioned against such meetings in the future," Ianni continued.

The charges were made by Dr. Jeffrey Porter following Jan. 12 meetings or a series of appointments that school board members and school superintendent John J. Sturock had with its architects BETA Design Group. The purpose of meeting with the schools' architects was to view the conceptual design of the new high school.

School board members met with BETA Design Group one or two at a time, according to the investigative report. Any more than that could have constituted a quorum. If a quorum had been present, the meetings would have to be public.

OPINIONS

Pitch in to help build a great area hospital

It's time for us all to pitch in and help build a bigger, better hospital for Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Area Hospital's recent official announcement of a $6 million expansion comes with a great deal of hope on the part of hospital officials that the community — and their pocketbooks — will rise to the challenge.

In the past, the people of this community have given generously to the hospital and almost every other charity that enriches life in the Charlevoix community. Now it is time for the community to reach further into its pockets and give a little more.

The Charlevoix hospital is due for an expansion. The Charlevoix area is growing and this means more people needing primary health care services only a hospital can offer.

Hospital officials have said the facility has seen a 30 percent increase in patients in just the last few years and the number of births taking place at the hospital has doubled.

Added to this are the space constraints hospital employees are already dealing with: there is not enough room in the ICU, ambulances already face a navigation nightmare when pulling up to the hospital emergency room and any helicopter that is called in to the facility to pick up a patient must land in the employees' parking lot.

To relieve some of these problems, the expansion will create more patient rooms — especially for mothers-to-be — a bigger ICU, a more efficient drop-off point for ambulances and a helicopter pad on the roof of the hospital. These changes are just a fraction of the services that will be improved with this expansion.

Overall, this expansion will ultimately create a stronger hospital the community can continue to be proud of. But to get to this goal, the project will need the monetary support of the community.

So, it is time for the community to show just how charitable its people are and can be. It is in the best interest of the community and in the best interest of your community health care.

For further information on how you can give to this project, contact Kathy Johnson at 547-8502.

Ban the noisy leaf blowers and long live the quiet rakes

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

When future historians enumerate the small things that brought about the decline and eventual fall of our civilization, those gasoline powered blowers that are used for yard work will serve a fine common example.

They make a lot of noise; enough so that operators of them often wear ear protectors, but do not provide them to the rest of us. They are portable, which means that they don't belong anywhere. They are inexpensive enough to make them commonly available. They use gasoline, and while they don't use much, more than half of the fuel passes through them not as work, but as noise and as poisonous air pollutants. Finally and most disastrously for our world, they do not actually accomplish anything; they simply move yard waste from one place to another without altering it or even concentrating it. Leaf blowers accomplish with dry leaves and loose grass, what leveraged corporate takeovers accomplish in the financial world. Both move what might be viewed as assets from one place to another without adding value or organization.

I'm sure the blower operators feel a certain sense of accomplishment and of work well done as they watch the hectic red leaves of autumn or the soggy brown leaves of spring scurrying before their self-generated wild west wind. They leave behind them a clean sidewalk and a dirty lawn, or alternatively a clean lawn and a dirty street. Once those pesky leaves and twigs have been moved beyond whatever pale the operator is charged with, they must seem to have disappeared, much like the sanitary land fill operator feels when the garbage is covered for the day. It is as though the world stopped at the edge of everyone's own claimed piece of earth and what happens beyond that edge is of no interest. We are, of course, lucky that in Charlevoix once the leaves have been relegated to the street, our city picks them up and transports them.

I once lived for a few weeks in beautiful, serene Selby Botanical Garden in Sarasota, Fla., where I was awakened every morning by the blower that was cleaning the sidewalk of whatever leaves had fallen the day and night before, and I confess that much of my concern with the relationship between leaf blowers and the decline of western civilization dates from that time.

Nonetheless, symbols are important. Leaf blowers could become a symbol around which understanding of our impersonal distance from the natural world can coalesce. I have been told that they are banned in at least parts of California, something I hope is the beginning of a trend.

They are among the least useful of many modern tools we often see as helping to more efficiently clean up the world, when in fact they often accomplish the opposite. Rakes clean up the world and organize its chaos, blowers only rearrange that chaos. It is almost impossible to make a pile of leaves deep enough to jump in with a blower; at best the leaves can be concentrated a bit more in some places than in others. Blowers cannot build or feed compost piles without the help of other gasoline powered equipment for further necessary transport. Blowers cannot make the world a better place. They can make it noisier; they can make it smell worse; they can make your leaves and twigs into your neighbor's or your city's problems, but they cannot make the world a better place.

We need machines that are at least capable of making the world better. Even nuclear power plants and some automobiles have that capability. Blowers do not. Nuke the blowers. Buy a rake and make sure that everyone uses it. Better yet, buy a rake for each person in the family and let them consider it an important part of your legacy to them. Let no one be awakened by the angry buzz of a blower. Let them be lulled to sleep by the sweet "shhhh" of a rake. Let the leaf piles grow. Let the compost molder. Let the air be clean and the hands be calloused.

Thanks for the help

Editor:

Well, another Spring Carnival is under our belts and what beautiful weather we had for it! For those of you who do not know, the Charlevoix Elementary Parent-Teacher Organization sponsors a Spring Carnival each year. The money that we raise goes to pay for all sorts of projects around the school, books for students and things to improve the over-all school experience for our children.

We were blessed with a sunny evening so that more games could be held outside. Many parents and their children attended the event to enjoy the activities, food and fun.

I just wanted to take this opportunity to say this event could not be possible if we did not have a lot of parent participation. I wish that I could personally thank each parent who took time out of their busy schedules to work games, blow up balloons, call businesses, set up and take down, work in the kitchen, work the prize table — and the list goes on. Unfortunately, I cannot, so I hope that this letter reaches all those parents. Thank you for your help.

We also have great teachers and staff who were much help. A large number of our school board members even helped this year as well. Do I see "dunk tank" volunteers for next year? We'll see...

This year was also unique because we had a great turn out of junior and senior high students who helped work games, give out prizes and do our popular face painting. Many, many thanks to you for showing an interest in the young people of our community!

Last, but by no means least, our local businesses contributed super items again this year for our raffle. Without their generous contributions, we would have no raffle. A big, big thanks to all of you!

If you would like to thank some of the people who made your carnival a big success, they are as follows: Mary Kushner, Carrie Jelinck, Sue Goss, Brenda Bryan, Pam Shepard, Sherry McCary, Diana Shull, Heather Kage, Shawn Trudeau, Gaye Schroeder and Cindy Themm. Your contribution is applauded and it was a pleasure to work with you!

Thanks to the election workers

Editor:

This letter is to publicly thank all the election workers who did such an excellent job at the school election Tuesday. It would not have been possible for voters to be finished with the voting process within 15 minutes without their efforts.

I would also like to thank the several challengers at the election for their helpfulness and their courtesy, not only to all the election workers, but to all the voters coming in. And a special thank you to Carol Havens who made my job so much easier.

Charlevoix teen on her way to being crowned Miss USA

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix High School Junior Tanya Wyniawskij is working hard towards having a Miss USA crown placed on her head.

Currently, she is the Miss Northwest Michigan, having previously been the Miss Teen Northwest Michigan and on April 22, Wyniawskij was the third runner up in the Miss Michigan Teen USA.

But, this is not enough for the teen and she is planning on competing for the title of Venetian Festival Queen this summer and Miss Greater Northern Michigan in October — which is a preliminary to the Miss Michigan pageant.

"I have traveled all over the state for parades and festivals. Any place I can go out there and meet people. I love it," she said. "Getting out there in front of people is one of the most incredible feelings I have ever had."

Wyniawskij said she participates in these pageants partly because she likes the thought that she can reach out and represent the girls of today, not only in Michigan, but in the United States.

"To have girls look up to me and say, 'Wow, not only does she have confidence and intelligence to make it, maybe I can,'" Wyniawskij said. She added pageants also give her a chance to campaign against child abuse.

"Pageants really open the door to getting your voice in. When you have a crown on I think it gives you power. People listen to you more," she said.

Wyniawskij said she wants to take her desire to reach out to people into her adult life as a secondary English teacher with a minor in psychology. She is currently considering Central Michigan University or Eastern Michigan University to accomplish this goal after graduation from high school.

While giving her a chance to help people, taking part in these pageants also gives Wyniawskij a chance to sing in front of an audience. It was this singing that got her into the pageant life in the first place.

Wyniawskij said when she was 14 years old, she was asked to sing during intermission at a pageant. Being around the excitement of a pageant ignited a spark in her and she returned to the same pageant the following year, but this time she was on stage as a

BEACONS

By CARA B. HOCHHALTER
Christian Education Director
First Congregational United Church of Christ

You don't see too many bumper stickers anymore.

I have to admit that I rather enjoyed reading what people felt so strongly about, that they wanted it plastered on the outside of their car. I'm not sure if bumper stickers cause more accidents, but I for one have been known to drive up really close to the car ahead, just to read their bumper stickers.

Let's think for a minute what you would put on a sticker. Since this article has a religious theme, what phrase from your faith would you want the world to see, "Jesus Saves? God so loved the world, that He gave His only son? God loves you?" How about just, "I love you?"

Isn't "love" the central theme to the whole Bible? We have grown up hearing that "God is love," and it seems simple enough, but it is a powerful statement! Christ preached about how we can love God and be loved by God in fuller ways. His life showed us a way to love others, all others. Not just people of our own religion, race or nationality. Christ taught love.

The Good Samaritan, Luke 10:25-37, is a good example of a story which Christ shared to emphasize that regardless of differences, we are called to care for each other in respect and love.

This doesn't mean that we agree with every other person or that we have the same beliefs, but we are called to love each other. How would each of us stand in our ability to love others? It is probably the most exciting and also the most challenging of commandments.

In light of our recent community conflict over the new school location, how can we start right now healing relationships with friends, family and community members? The word "community" means: With unity.

Let us show the surrounding area that Charlevoix can reconcile our differences as quickly as we were able to let them erupt. Let us drop any reference to "this side" or "that side" and move on as one. Yes, we will have disagreements at times, but let us learn that we must seek open, honest communication at all times. We must seek to rebuild our respect for one another. Christ did not say to love only those you agree with.

With the coming of summer and the influx of more people from a wider background of religions, races and nationalities, let us remember and seek to live more fully Christ's commandment: "Love your neighbor as you love yourself."

Matthew 22:39. Now there's a great bumper sticker!

May God guide us as we live it.

Turnout expected to be good for walk against breast cancer

Charlevoix residents will be walking in defiance of breast cancer this weekend.

Registration for the Sue DeYoung / Judy Edger Memorial Breast Cancer walk will begin at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, in East Park.

With any kind of cooperation from the weather, the number of walkers this year should easily top the 200 plus walkers that participated in the event last year. That's in part because about 40 members from the elementary school's Kiwanis K-Club will be participating.

This year walkers will be walking north to the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course and back to East Park where refreshments will be served and teams and individuals will be honored for their efforts.

Last year's walk raised over $18,000. All proceeds go toward breast cancer research and to provide support and services for people in the local area dealing with the challenges of cancer.

These services include: Information, Reach for Recovery, Road to Recovery, Home Care Supplies and Equipment, Look Good...Feel Better, Wig Bank, support groups and Camp Catch-A-Rainbow.

The walk was originally named after Sue DeYoung, a young mother who died of breast cancer in January of 1992. Judy Edger's name was added to the title following her death from the disease in March of last year.

Judy was instrumental in gaining support for the event during the last several years of her life. She was a member of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority Beta Mu and Beta Xi which has organized the event for the past 4 years.

Team members were to report their pledge amounts on Tuesday, however last minute donations will be accepted in East Park on Saturday. Others wishing to contribute may visit the website www.judyedger.com to make a pledge. Contributions over the internet have been received from California to New York and Florida to Washington State.

Teen honored to represent the community at pageants participant.

And as a participant, Wyniawskij discovered the stresses of this new passion. Like most people would be, she said she was very nervous about wearing a swimsuit in front of a group of strangers when she first started out.

"When I grew up I was really self conscious about my body in a swimsuit. But, it hit me, you don't have to be a perfect 10 in a swimsuit to win," she said. "I thought, 'If I am confident in every other aspect, then why can't I pull this off.'"

So far the only pageant Wyniawskij has had to stand on stage in a swimsuit was in the Miss Michigan Teen USA contest. Most of the other pageants just had categories for modeling, talent, evening gown and the dreaded final question.

"The final question is when I am the most nervous. That's the only time when my nerves really kick in," she said.

But Wyniawskij has a lot of support from her family to help her through the anxiety filled portions of the events. She is the daughter of Richard and Donna Wyniawskij and has a 14-year-old sister, Rachel, and a 12-year-old brother, Christopher.

She said her entire family loves the idea of her participating in these pageants, especially her brother.

"My brother is so confident, he loves bragging about me. He is proud of me. He loves saying, 'My sister is a beauty queen,'"

It's time to plant the petunias

Bridge Street will once again be lined with petunias following the annual planting May 25.

The event, sponsored by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, is being dubbed "Operation Petunia." It is a community-wide planting party that lines nearly five miles of Bridge Street with the flowers.

The planting starts at 5 p.m. and concludes about an hour later when everyone will gather for a picnic at East Park in downtown Charlevoix.

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful is currently looking for volunteers to serve as block captains for the event. Block captains will help recruit planters, oversee planting on their designated block and distribute tickets for the complimentary picnic.

A brief meeting for block captains will be at 5 p.m. May 23 in the lower level of the Charlevoix Public Library. If you're interested in serving as a block captain, call Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Board Member Judy Corley at 547-1945.

Winn plan sent back to planning commission

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

A development plan amendment described as "minor" drew protests from city council members and members of the audience at Monday's council meeting.

The amendment sought by resident John Winn is to his site plan originally introduced to city council in 1994. The approved site plan for 125 Belvedere Ave. included a residence, boathouse and garage. The amendment changes the position of the house from parallel to Belvedere Avenue to the west side of the boathouse on Round Lake.

In the process, the size of the house will increase.

Council questioned city planner Gerry Harsch's description of such changes as minor changes.

"From a 4,000-square-foot house to a 7,000-square-foot house, I believe is a major change and it should have gone to the planning commission," council member Gabe Campbell said.

"Right at this point we know nothing," he continued. "I think that it's insulting to council to call this a minor development change when it's major. We don't have an on-site plan for the house."

"We don't know what's going on. I think it's in the best interest of the city that it should go to the planning commission," Campbell said. "You said it would be a two-story house and there's three stories on your plan."

Harsch explained that it's looked at as a minor change if there are no zoning changes or changes in purpose. The city has no guidance or specific direction in the zoning ordinance for amendments, he said, and he pointed out that the change does not request a zoning change, variances or a change in use.

Council member Valerie Barnes agreed that there is no guidance for amendments.

"We don't have a procedure to recommend an amendment," Barnes said. "We have to appreciate both sides."

But Barnes recognized that with the amendment the city would be obliterating a view corridor. She also recommended sending the amendment to the planning commission.

"The neighbors need the opportunity to review this," Barnes said. "I don't agree with this being a minor change."

Council member A J Witthoef agreed.

"In all fairness, give the residents some time," he said. "It should go back to the planning commission."

Mayor Alvin Russell opened up the discussion to the public. Resident Leonard Zender of 124 Belvedere Ave. said he has no personal animosity towards Winn, but he was protesting the development amendment.

"A change from a 4,000-square-foot house to a 7,000-square-foot house is a major change," Zender said. "I'm offended by this approach because it's been used before. Maybe the city needs to determine with the city attorney what constitutes a major change."

Zender complained that none of the residents had a chance to review the change. It wasn't noticed out to the public because no zoning changes or variances were requested.

"I'm interested in how much of my view will be cut off by the boathouse," Zender said. "Residents should be given the opportunity to study and find out how their community is changing. I'm upset by the manner in which it was handled and the procedure."

Residents John and Jill Picha who live above Winn also protested. They asked council to reconsider the matter and request that better plans be submitted.

"We strongly recommend that council have the plans resubmitted through the planning commission, through the proper channels," John Picha said. "There's a lot of residents living above the property and behind the property that should be able to review [the proposal]."

Winn's builder Andre Poineau responded saying the proposal meets criteria.

"It does meet all of the zoning criteria set forth by the planning commission and by yourselves," Poineau told council.

"We're not asking for any variances, nothing other than what is completely allowed by your zoning," he said.

In the end, city council voted to send the amendment requested to the planning commission for a review and recommendation. Campbell, Barnes, Bill Bellows and Witthoef voted yes, with Norm Carlson and Sherm Chamberlain voting no.

Sheriff's 1999 Annual Report issued

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department recently issued its 1999 Annual Report.

The report lists all activities, complaints and programs responded to by the sheriff's department. It contains information on areas of responsibility and duties of the sheriff's office and county jail.

Out of approximately 170 categories of jail bookings, driving while under the influence of alcohol was the most numerous with 270 people jailed for that crime.

Driving on a suspended or restricted license was the next most numerous crime at 108 bookings.

Assault and battery bookings numbered 87, minors possessing alcohol were 79 and marijuana possession bookings numbered 72.

Four fatal car crashes occurred in the county in 1999. One crash involved the use of alcohol. Two of the crashes involved senior citizens pulling out into the path of oncoming traffic, one involved an uncontrolled snowmobile and one involved a driver losing control approaching a curve.

Snowmobiles being operated on the roadway drew the largest number of complaints concerning the off-road machines at 29 complaints. Trespassing was next highest at 24. Personal injury accidents involving snowmobiles numbered 15.

Boyer Valley Township had the most snowmobile complaints at 229, followed by Marion Township at 16. The sheriff's department received no complaints about snowmobiles from Bay, Peaine and Wilson townships.

The sheriff's marine division issued 77 citations, 651 warnings, handled 104 complaints and 26 reported boating accidents.

The department's use of the tracking and drug dog resulted in nine arrests for marijuana possession during 1999. Four arrests took place in Boyer Valley Township, two in East Jordan, two in Charlevoix Township and one arrest in South Arm Township.

The department also received five state and federal grants in 1999. A $336,000 grant went towards the jail expansion. Another $16,000 grant was designated to a snowmobile officer, snowmobile and trailer.

The annual report is available at the sheriff's office. Inquiries may be directed to Sheriff George T. Lasater.

Arbor Day Foundation planting trees in memory

The National Arbor Day Foundation's Trees in Memory program is making it possible for people to help replant America's national forests while also honoring deceased family and friends.

For every $10 donated through Trees in Memory, the Arbor Day Foundation plants 10 trees in national forests that have been damaged by fire, disease or insects. The foundation also sends a card to those making such a gift, which they can present to the family of the person they have chosen to honor.

Through Trees in Memory, the Foundation is making trees as a lasting, living tribute available to more Americans than ever before, and is increasing the benefits of trees. As well as adding beauty, trees have been proven to clean out water and air, prevent soil erosion and reduce heating and cooling costs. Trees commonly planted in our national parks are lodgepole pines and Douglas firs.

Additional information is available by writing the National Arbor Day Foundation, Attn.: Trees in Memory, 211 N. 12th Street, Lincoln, NE 68508, or by calling the foundation at (402) 474-5655. The foundation is a nonprofit education organization dedicated to tree planting and environmental stewardship.

Firefighters complete certification testing

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Seven months of intensive training culminated in a show of skills during final firefighter testing at the Charlevoix Fire Department on Saturday.

With an extensive written test and a driving skills test behind them, 13 firefighters participated in a variety of practical tests. Two attempts were allowed for each test.

The 12 who successfully completed the courses will now receive certification at the Firefighter 1 level.

"They did very well," Charlevoix Fire Chief Doug Carver said. "It's a lot of work. They're dedicated people."

Firefighters participated from Charlevoix, Charlevoix Township, Boyne City, East Jordan, Boyne Valley, Banks Township, Central Lake and Eastport. Three of the firefighters, Chad Collins, Louis Kline and Russ McCraney, are volunteers with the City of Charlevoix and one, Jeff Buckner, is a volunteer with Charlevoix Township.

The testing stations set up on Saturday included tests for knowledge and skills with ladders, searching for people during a fire, self-contained breathing apparatus, ropes and knots, hoses, and tools for forcible entry.

The firefighters must be accomplished in ladder maneuverability and set-up. While participating in the search test, they are blindfolded so that it simulates a room that would be full of smoke where sight is greatly diminished. The group had to show how to inspect the self-contained breathing apparatus and then how to put it on.

Instructors required knowledge of ropes and knots, where the firefighters demonstrated several different knots and showed how to lift items with ropes.

The firefighters demonstrated attaching hoses to a fire truck and operating them.

The forcible entry test required firefighters to choose the proper tool, such as a chainsaw or an ax, to ventilate a roof or to gain entry into a building.

The Firefighter 1 certification testing is given once a year.

Hospital trying to raise $6 million for expansion

Construction may start next spring

HOSPITAL

The employees at the hospital have already started raising money and some of the cost will be raised from this year's Symphony on the Green on July 14. The entire $6 million will be raised through donations and grants. Jackson stressed that no part of the expansion's cost will be tacked onto patient's bills.

He added, in order to pay for the project, the hospital could finance the project. "But, we don't want to put ourselves in a position where debt can affect our performance," Jackson said.

Currently, the hospital has $1 million in funds for the project. The rest of the money will be raised by hospital volunteers. Since the hospital is not-for-profit, donations are tax deductible.

Jackson said the plans for this expansion "sort of evolved" out of a needs analysis done a year ago on the emergency department, which showed the volume of patients had gone up quite a bit.

"During the course of conversation, it became apparent that this (emergency room) wasn't the only area that needed renovation. For example, since the (OB unit) was done, our births have about doubled," Jackson said.

"Overall, we have seen a 30 percent increase in patients in the last 3 to 4 years. We had to really work hard to prepare for that and patient surveys say they have been happy with the care," Jackson added.

This patient satisfaction may be just what the hospital needs as it undertakes such a large fundraising campaign.

"You have a strong hospital facility if the community is proud of its hospital," said Marge McGoff, co-chair of the hospital's Development Council. "We want to be the best facility we can offer for the community."

The Charlevoix Area Hospital serves Charlevoix County and northern Antrim County.

AAA and Charlevoix police to teach tips to older drivers

AAA Michigan will attempt to teach some new tricks to some older Charlevoix drivers.

The insurance company will present a program on how to keep driving safely regardless of your age at an Older/Wiser Driver Forum sponsored by the Charlevoix Police Department at 10 a.m. May 17 at City Hall.

"Driving issues pertinent to the maturing driver, such as visual acuity, physical limitations and things that can be done to offset these limitations, will be addressed," says AAA Michigan Traffic Safety Consultant Len Price.

Older drivers are more at risk of having a collision than any other age group, with the exception of drivers 25 and under. Repeat fender-benders, getting honked at constantly and getting lost on familiar routes are signs of deteriorating drivers, AAA stated in a press release about the forum.

According to research, driver's eyes at 60 need three times as much light as they did when they were 20. Their peripheral vision, their pupils' ability to contract and depth perception have decreased. Traveling in well-lighted areas and car-pooling at night are ways to accommodate this, as well as using mirrors more to compensate for the peripheral vision.

Next to alcohol, prescribed medications are responsible for many crashes. People taking medication should discuss side-effects with their doctor. Within the first few days of taking a new medication, people should avoid driving because their bodies need a chance to adjust to it.

These are just some of the problems older drivers face on the road, AAA stated. AAA Michigan's Older/Wiser Driver forum seeks to increase knowledge and accommodate these problems.

If interested in attending this free 90-minute seminar, call Charlevoix Police Chief Dennis Halverson at (231) 547-3258 for further information.

Elections for Great Lakes Energy board in August

Nominating petitions are available for customer-owners who wish to seek election Aug. 23 to the Great Lakes Energy Cooperative Board of Directors.

The terms of Paul Byl of Shelby, Carl Fortelka of Hoxeyville, Fred Vermeersch of Central Lake and Richard Walsworth of Mears expire this year. All are three year terms.

Great Lakes Energy is a customer-owned electric company governed by a board of directors elected at large from its more than 100,000 rural electric customers who live on the state's west side from the Mackinac Bridge to Kalamazoo.

To seek a board seat, qualified customers who are member-owners of the electric cooperative and maintain a primary residence within the cooperative's service area must file a nominating petition with the co-op secretary.

Petitions must be signed by not less than 100 active member-owners of the electric cooperative.

Signed petitions can be returned by mail or in person, but must be received in the co-op's Boyne City office no earlier than May 25 and no later than June 9.

Nominating petition forms are available by contacting the secretary of the cooperative at the GLE office in Boyne City or by calling (888) 485-2537, ext. 1331 or 1214.

Historical Society gets $10,000 grant for roof

The Charlevoix Historical Society has announced it will soon be placing a new roof on the Depot Museum at Depot Beach on Lake Charlevoix, following a $10,000 donation from the Alden and Vada Dow Family Foundations.

"We feel fortunate to receive this generous grant from the Alden and Vada Dow Family Foundations. The Historical Society has generated funds for this project through grants from various foundations and donations from local civic clubs and fund-raisers. We have been successful in raising 100 percent of the cost for this project," said Bob Heath, chairman of the finance committee for the historical society board of directors.

The Alden and Vada Dow Family Foundations is located in Midland with a stated purpose to enhance the quality of life, primarily in the state of Michigan, through the funding of programs in the areas of education, science, the arts, the environment, social services and youth projects and services.

The Depot Museum is designated as both a Michigan and a National Historic Site. It is the only designated National Historic Site in the city of Charlevoix.

The total project cost to replace the roof and restore the building is estimated at $560,080. It is slated for completion on or before July 1.

Bo Boss and Son Construction of Charlevoix have been awarded the contract to roof the Depot and restore the original dormer on the lakeside. Stevens Concrete of Charlevoix has been awarded the contract to restore the chimney caps.

County commissioners approve senior millage

Senior citizens will have a millage on the August primary ballot. If approved by voters, it will help to fund services and programs.

Charlevoix County Commissioners approved the Senior Service Coalition's request to place a .4 mill, equaling $467,000 a year over four years, on the ballot.

The millage will help the Commission on Aging improve and expand current services and to add new programs for seniors.

The area senior centers will receive operational funds from the millage. Other services the millage could help are meal preparation and delivery, home health care and transportation.

Local girl named delegate to Michigan 4-H Awards

The North Region 4-H selection committee has recently named Gina Attee of Charlevoix as a delegate to the Michigan 4-H Awards program.

Attee was selected as one of the only 10 individuals from the North Region 20 county area.

Participants in the process commit to developing a portfolio of their accomplishments. Those portfolios are then evaluated by a selection panel at the Michigan 4-H Awards program in June. Attee will compete for the state award in the area of rabbits, which she has been actively involved in for over seven years.

Attee began in the 4-H program when she was only 5 years old when she received an American Fuzzy Lop as a birthday present. During her involvement in 4-H she has developed her skills and knowledge in such areas as: The proper care of rabbits, meat and fur judging, diseases, genetic problems, as well as traits of a rabbit herd. Attee has been involved in showing rabbits for a majority of the time that she has been enrolled in 4-H. She has traveled to shows all over Michigan and even had great success at shows in Indiana and Ohio.

Other 4-H activities that Attee has been involved in include sewing and leadership. She has proven to be a teen leader by helping younger members of her 4-H club become knowledgeable in the area of rabbits.

It's time to plant the petunias

Put on your gardening gloves, don your grubby clothes and grab your trowel, it's time for Charlevoix's annual Operation Petunia.

Operation Petunia is a community-wide planting party that lines the city's main thoroughfare with colorful petunias each summer.

Sponsored by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, the event begins at 5 p.m. Thursday when hundreds of volunteers — young and old alike — will join in to plant both sides of US-31, from the M-66 intersection north to Mercer Boulevard. Prior to the plant-in, soil is prepared and petunias delivered, so volunteers need only show up ready to dig in.

"Block Captains" dressed in orange vests will help direct planters and the Charlevoix trolley will shuttle volunteers along 31.

"Everybody's welcome," said Joanne Curtis, KCB president. "Volunteer planters are always appreciated on every block. It's such a fun, festive event — and you don't have to be a master gardener to join in."

If tradition holds true, planting the five-mile stretch of road will take only an hour or so. At 6 p.m., volunteers are invited to gather for a complimentary picnic at East

Park to celebrate their efforts. The Charlevoix High School Marching band and Northwest Academy's jazz ensemble will entertain picnickers.

Thanks to a number of community businesses that support the event, volunteer planters will be treated to hot dogs, fruit punch and cookies.

Student pays tribute to his uncle at memorial

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

For 14-year-old Jordan Plumm the highlight of a recent class trip to Washington, D.C. was the Vietnam Memorial and for a special reason — his uncle's name is one of the more than 58,000 names on the wall.

"It was big," Jordan said of the memorial. "There's every single name of the people that died."

Jordan also said he liked the design of the shiny black granite memorial.

"It was pretty cool," he said. "There were lots of roses and gifts." Families and friends often leave mementos at the wall.

Dennis Van Guilder, Jordan's principal at the Charlevoix Middle School, helped him find his uncle's name on the wall.

Panel 03W, Line 50 bears the name of his dad's brother who died in the Vietnam War before Jordan was born. PFC E3 Richard Dale Plumm, 5th Infantry Division, was from Charlevoix, where his family still lives. Born on Dec. 28, 1950, his young life ended at the age of 20 in Quang Tri, South Vietnam.

Richard's tour of duty began on April 4, 1971. Just over a month later, on May 22, 1971, he was one of the casualties. "Hostile, ground casualty, other explosive device," military information about his death reads.

Sheriff's department recovers headstones

After being tipped off by a local citizen, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department recently recovered two old headstones that were stolen from a local cemetery in the early 1990s.

According to Det./Sgt. Mike Wheat, the headstones were found in some brush in northern Charlevoix Township. They were stolen from the Antrim City Cemetery on Old Dixie Highway near Norwood.

"We have a couple of suspects," said Wheat. "But the statute of limitations may have passed."

He said the headstones may have been stolen as part of a crime spree in the early 1990s. The information on the head-stones is as follows:

•Sara Jane, wife of Charles E. Bruch, died Feb. 5 1883, age 24 yrs., 5 mo. 6 days.

•Wilbur M., son of W. M. & M. A. Beyers, died Sept. 11, 1886, aged 1 yr., 8 mo., 25 days.

Upon finding the stones, Wheat said the Sheriff's Department placed an advertisement in some local newspapers asking for information on them. Within a day, the department had three phone calls from local genealogists stating the headstones came from the "Old Antrim City Cemetery."

The headstones were returned to the graveyard Monday morning by Sheriff George Lasater and Wheat.

Veteran Affairs counselor Sloan to retire from post

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The county Veterans Affairs counselor is retiring after seven years in the office and already has a list of things to do upon retirement — play golf, take naps, eat the grass and visit friends.

"I'm ready, definitely," the 61-year-old Emory Sloan said. His last day is May 25. Robert Drebenstedt from Marion Township will take his place.

Sloan advises approximately 1,000 or more veterans a year in his county position. There are 2,780 veterans in Charlevoix county.

"I help the veterans any way I can," Sloan said. "A lot of low-income veterans need help with prescriptions. We've been able to save them $400 to $500 a month in prescriptions."

Widows often need assistance with death benefits and many veterans or families need help with composing letters and filling out forms.

Sloan assisted with claim filings, ordered burial flags and grave markers, helped veterans with VA loans and personally visited homes, VA hospitals and nursing homes.

One of Sloan's last duties is to hand over a 103-year-old Soldier's Relief Book to the Charlevoix Historical Society. The book is an accounting of government aid given to soldiers and their families. The first entry is October 13, 1896.

"I found it in my desk drawer," Sloan said.

The historical society will have the book available for people researching their family history.

Sloan served for 22 years in the Army. He was a paratrooper in the 101st Airborne Division and is a Vietnam Veteran.

"I graduated from high school in 1957 and joined the Army the next day to get it over with. Twenty-two years later I got it over with," Sloan laughed.

He then served for 18 years in the US Coast Guard aboard the "Sundew" and was based in Charlevoix. It was here that he met his wife, Wendy (Knudsen), a Charlevoix native.

The country loses 3,000 World War II veterans a day, Sloan said. He is concerned that as they die of old age, the country is likely to ignore the veterans still alive.

"We're losing patriotism, definitely. It was a bad thing to do away with the draft," he said. "Every young man and young woman should put in a couple of years [in the service]. The kids aren't being taught in school about World War II and about veterans."

Sloan relates that when a fellow veteran asked a young boy if he knew anything about World War II, the boy asked "What movie is that?"

Sloan's replacement, Robert Drebenstedt, will feel comfortable in his new job.

"I've done this type of work all my life," Drebenstedt said of counseling and administrative work. He holds a master's degree in health administration and has taught and counseled with ROTC. He is currently the Marion Township's zoning administrator.

"I'm very honored and pleased to have this job," he said. The position is an appointment by county commissioners. The appointment is effective May 30.

Drebenstedt served for 22 years in the Army and Air Force and obtained the rank of captain. His service took him to many parts of the world where he picked up servicemen to take them to treatment centers when they were ill with anything from eye problems to malaria.

Drebenstedt's special interest is substance abuse among veterans.

"I have a compassion towards helping substance abuse veterans," he said. "Alcohol is the number one problem in our VA hospitals and VA nursing homes."

Both Sloan and Drebenstedt appreciate the memorial holiday set aside to remember veterans.

City should change to a full-time clerk

It's time to make a few changes to meet today's job market.

Employers across the state are searching desperately for good employees, thus creating a situation where employers are adding higher salaries and better benefits to their job descriptions. Part-time positions are changing to full-time, more health benefits are being added, stock options, comp-time, you name it and the benefit is being added in order to fill a vacant position.

Thanks to low unemployment, this is all being done to woo people from other jobs in order for companies to fill their open jobs.

On top of all this, studies on land use and population trends are showing more people are moving out of the "big" cities and into the countryside and suburbs. Plus, a growing retirement community of "baby-boomers" are looking favorably to northern Michigan as their new home.

This means more work for local government employees as they watch new businesses and new homes popping up around them.

With just these two factors in mind it is baffling that the City of Charlevoix continues to operate with a city clerk who is only on duty 20 hours a week.

Actually, the City of Charlevoix is not operating with a city clerk right now. The city hasn't been able to fill the position since it was vacated in February, partly because—as was stated in an article on the front page of last week's Charlevoix Courier—"most prospective employees want a full-time job."

And these potential employees should want a full time job. The city is competing with private companies who offer full-time work with benefits to people with the skills to be good city clerks. If a private company offers them these benefits, why would they want to take a part-time job with the City of Charlevoix?

The Charlevoix City Council should stop spending its time trying to figure out why it can't fill the clerk position. The answer they are trying to determine is: Potential employees want more. This means full-time, not part-time.

To get a good person in the clerk position, city council must understand today's job market favors potential employees.

Use new high school site to teach environmental lesson

By DAVID L. KNIGHT

As a member of the "greater Charlevoix" community, though outside the school district by a few feet, I've been thinking a lot about the Marion Center site and have some thoughts I'd like to share.

There were many aspects of the site that drew opposition, but one that seemed to resonate with many people was the prospect of "urbanizing" a beautiful portion of Charlevoix County countryside. From a strict land use point of view, it is a shame that property fitting all the criteria could not have been found in town. But the site decision involved many factors, and, anyway, it has been made.

In the interest of moving onward in a positive way, I suggest that the school board, staff and community members work together to develop a sub-project devoted to incorporating the site's rural environment into both the physical plant and curriculum.

The Charlevoix City Council should stop spending its time trying to figure out why it can't fill the clerk position. The answer they are trying to determine is: Potential employees want more. This means full-time, not part-time.

In other words, identify and capitalize on the unique value of the setting, but respect it, learn from it and do as little as possible to change it. In short, "de-urbanize" the project.

Such an approach would have multiple benefits. It would:

- Help the healing process by acknowledging and addressing one of the primary concerns of the opposition.
- Develop a working, experimental farm, a living forest and a wetland laboratory. There appears to be sufficient acreage on-site or nearby. The working farm, in particular, could open up huge new opportunities for summer school credit hours to some students who might need the credits but who would otherwise never consider summer school.
- Take advantage of some curricular opportunities that would never have been possible at an in-town site.

Perhaps most importantly, this approach would also be the best possible lesson the community could give its children about respect for the land and the importance of stewardship.

your arm and he is pleased that the club's restaurant, Mahogany, was listed this year in the Food & Wine Magazine as one of the 10 best restaurants in Michigan.

His achievement did not come easily. Born in Dublin, Ireland, Garrett hung around his father's hotel and restaurant kitchen since he was 10 years old and learned the art of cooking at his father's knee. At age 14, his father enrolled him in a special culinary program that started at 5:30 a.m. and ended at dark—before and after a full day of school. Laughingly, Garrett says this grueling schedule would be illegal in today's society. At 17 he went to work in London at the fashionable Grosvenor Hotel, where he prepared a luncheon for none other than Margaret Thatcher. Subsequently, he was loaned out to work in France and Switzerland. He was twice recognized by the Irish Culinary Association to attend the Culinary Olympics held every other year. The second time, at age 20, Garrett won a Garde Manger or silver medal for his incredible cold lobster presentation. Picture a full orchestra of lobsters including the conductor in tuxes and tails!

People from the Hilton Hotel chain discovered him at the Culinary Olympics and invited him to become the Executive Sous Chef at the Conrad Hilton in downtown Chicago. He was 21 and recalls this experience with amusement. On his first day at work, he was asked to serve a Swiss steak luncheon—a dish the Swiss never heard of—to 400 people, in an unfamiliar kitchen and with a crew that didn't speak English.

Site can be a living lesson for community

- Use the site to offer some valuable educational opportunities that no in-town site could ever offer. These might include units on agronomy, animal husbandry, genetics, organic farming, veterinary science, sustainable farming, horticulture, forestry, wildlife ecology, orchard management, soils and a host of related disciplines.
- Take advantage of the rural, non-light-polluted setting to initiate an astronomy program.
- Integrate the space for physical education. Get kids outside, hiking, biking, running and walking. Start a cross-country ski team at the club level and I'll bet there will be other districts following suit within a couple years to form a league.
- Experiment with solar and wind power energy sources.
- Start an equestrian program.
- "Hide" the brick and mortar with profuse landscaping: architecturally, do whatever it takes to make it not look like a school.

I am sure there are many more ideas that could emerge after a little brainstorming. The main thing now is to refocus on the education function, knowing that every aspect of a curriculum designed for an in-town site can be transposed to Marion Center, plus a whole lot more.

Rules should be followed

Editor:

It is my understanding that all students are to be treated the same. That is what we are brought up to believe, right? Recently an incident has occurred at the Charlevoix High School, where a female athlete received a minor in possession of alcohol by the police and her consequences were bent just because of who she is.

In the Student Handbook, it says, and I quote, "An athlete will be suspended from all remaining competition during the season in which the violation occurs." That rule was not followed through in this case. The female was only forced to sit out 20 percent of the season (a couple of games), since it is half over and no other punishment was given. Also, in the Student Handbook it states that, "if the violation occurs out of season, the athlete will lose eligibility for 20 percent of the regularly scheduled events." Someone seemed to have over looked the "out of season" part and just gave her the 20 percent.

Another student-athlete, who was with the young lady who did receive the MIP, was given a breathalyzer and blew a .0137; however, she did not receive a MIP. What happened to Zero Tolerance? I guess it didn't apply to this person. Many other students, including myself, have received MIPs in and out of season and have paid the "rightful" consequences. So why didn't these individuals? Was it because their parents came in and talked to the athletic director or just because of who their parents are? Is this a good example our school wants to make?

Karianne Miller
Student-athlete
Charlevoix

The message I got from this, along with many other students, is that it's okay to drink, just make sure your parents are high up on the social ladder so they can get you out of your own mess.

It seems to me that if you have a last name that is known, you get away with your mistakes. On the other hand, if you don't, you have to suffer with the consequences that you bring upon yourself. This is an issue that needs to be addressed promptly or it'll never be resolved. Rules are made to be followed, so why even have rules if they are going to be bent for those fortunate enough?

Truscott claims incorrect

Editor:

Some recent claims by John Truscott of Governor John Engler's office that were reported in the media regarding Medicaid funding were incorrect. Medicaid underfunding is a significant component of the financial distress facing our 13 hospitals and health systems in northern Lower Michigan.

Truscott alleged that "hospitals are making a tremendous amount of money." In reality, most hospitals in northern lower Michigan are losing money on patient care. Our nonprofit hospitals absorbed $8.2 million in losses from providing care for Medicaid patients last year. Outpatient Medicaid payment rates have not increased since 1991. The state reduced Medicaid hospital inpatient rates by 2 percent in 1998, reduced by 2 percent in 1999, and there was no increase in 2000. Additionally, hospitals provided $16.8 million in uncompensated care for the uninsured.

The move from Medicaid fee-for-service to managed care has resulted in increased administrative costs. In northern Michigan, $1.2 million was spent annually to administer the Medicaid program before managed care. Since then, administrative costs have soared to $7.5 million—that's $6.3 million that is no longer spent on patient care for the poor.

Nonprofit hospitals are not asking the state of Michigan to make up for the shortfalls in the federal Medicare program; we are working with our congressional delegation to increase Medicare funding. We ask only that the state of Michigan adequately fund the Medicaid program to fulfill its responsibilities under law to provide health care services for the state's poor, disabled and blind.

Venetian Festival wants to spread around the fun

Can there be such a thing as having too much fun?

That's a question the board members of the Venetian Festival asked themselves at a recent board meeting.

Truth is, they're having so much fun planning this year's festival that they decided they were being a tad selfish, keeping the fun all to themselves.

The board's decision was unanimous - share the fun with everyone.

To that end, the festival directors are happy to announce that they will be hosting a "Spirit of Venetian" party at 7 p.m. June 2 at the Belvedere Casino. The community of Charlevoix is invited to attend.

"We want everyone in Charlevoix who loves the Venetian Festival, or would like to learn more about the festival, to join us at the party," said board president Dan Barron.

The band Shaboom, comprised of Ray Collins and Roger Harcourt will be performing at the party. The group, which performed regularly in Charlevoix many years ago, recently got back together.

"We're really excited to be coming back to Charlevoix," said Harcourt. "We have great memories of the people in this town."

Remember your loved ones with a garden club donation

Spring is a good time of the year to visit the Charlevoix Area Garden Club's Memorial Garden, located on Mercer Boulevard at the end of East Dixon Avenue.

The garden is part of the city's park system, but has been maintained by the garden club since its inception in 1977.

During the spring, the garden is in the process of being thoroughly cleaned and professionally pruned.

This is also a good time to remember loved ones with a contribution to this living memorial garden. It is not necessary to be a garden club member to contribute to the memorial garden.

Anyone interested in contributing, can send donations to Nancy Fowler, 409 East Dixon, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Garden club plant sale

Alice Irving (left) and Lois Lewis are seen here potting plants for the Charlevoix Area Garden Club plant sale. The club will host its annual garden sale from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at 807 E. Dixon Ave. A nice selection of annuals, perennials, house plants and related garden items will be offered. (Courtesy photo)

Keep an eye out for rabies when outside this spring

Each year many Americans have to undergo anti-rabies treatment as a result of exposure to potentially rabid animals.

Other major problems associated with animal bites include cost of treatment, disfigurement, infection, fear and worry, and death. Since 1990, about three cases of human rabies have been reported each year in the United States. However, about 4.7 million people are bitten each year by a dog in the United States. During 1995 and 1996, 25 people died after being bitten by a dog. In 1997, 11 people died, most of the deaths were in children.

In 1999, 92 animals tested positive for rabies in Michigan. There were 67 bats, 21 skunks, 3 horses and 1 elk. In 1998, 35 bats and 2 skunks tested positive in Michigan. In 1997, 28 bats and 1 raccoon tested positive in Michigan. Wild animals (such as bats, coyotes, skunks, raccoons, foxes, woodchucks, bobcats, and other, carnivores), and domestic animals (livestock, dogs, ferrets, and cats) are also capable of transmitting rabies. Rodents (except woodchuck and beaver) and lagomorphs (rabbits and hares) almost never call for anti-rabies treatment. The last two reported cases of human rabies in Michigan occurred in 1948 and 1983.

Rabies is a virus found in saliva of rabies infected animals. If an infect animal bites your pet or you, the infection is transmitted and affects the nervous system. Nonbite methods of exposure may include scratches, abrasions, open wounds or mucous membranes (mouth and eyes) contaminated with saliva or infectious material from a rabid animal. Bats are of special concern and waking up in a room with a bat in it is an exposure. Rabies is a fatal disease, but can be prevented.

If you are bitten or scratched by an animal, or exposed to a bat, please contact a physician for guidance, and notify the county animal officer. The essential measures in preventing problems following a bite or scratch includes:

1) Local treatment of the wound. Immediate and thorough washing of all wounds with soap and water is perhaps the most effective measure in preventing infection. After washing the wound, rinse with water and cleanse it with a topical antiseptic.

2) Evaluation and treatment of the wound. A physician should be contacted immediately. Evaluation and prompt treatment of bites and scratches will prevent future problems. Treatment may include further wound cleaning and care, tetanus (Td/DTP) vaccine, antibiotics to prevent infection, and anti-rabies treatment may also be indicated.

3) Animal confinement or testing. All bites should be reported to the county animal control officer. Healthy dogs, cats, and ferrets can be confined or observed for ten days as directed by the animal control officer. Sick dogs, cats, or ferrets and wild animals should be destroyed and tested for rabies. Rodents (i.e. chipmunks, mice), and lagomorphs (rabbits and hares), rarely call for anti-rabies treatment and testing, unless the bite history is very unusual or by a woodchuck or beaver. Please contact the county animal control officer, local environmental sanitarian, or a veterinarian. Do not destroy the animal by shooting it in the head. If animals must be handled, use heavy gloves, tongs, or similar tools; do not pick up the animal with bare hands. Dead animals should be placed in double plastic bags and refrigerated not frozen.

According to Youngs, the essential measures to follow in preventing serious consequences through an animal bite are to avoid strange animals, vaccinate domestic animals, keep pets under control, notify the animal control officer when exposure occurs, cleanse all wounds thoroughly, seek prompt medical attention, confine or test animals for rabies, and contact the local environmental sanitarian if you have questions.

Enforcement on seatbelt use to increase by Sheriff Lasater

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater announced increased enforcement of seatbelt use in Charlevoix County as part of the America Buckles Campaign that started May 22.

Lasater said the message of this campaign is "Click it or Ticket" for adults and children.

This is the first enforcement wave of Michigan's new safety belt law since the new law took effect March 10. Its goal is to increase belt use among motorists and their passengers, specifically children, Lasater said.

The new safety belt law requires that all children under the age of 4 be in a child safety seat in all seating positions.

Lasater said during his tenure as sheriff of Charlevoix County, he has investigated over 70 traffic fatalities. Several of these people would be alive today if they had worn their seat belt, he said.

A new Venetian Queen to be crowned at festival

The Charlevoix Venetian Festival Board has confirmed that the Miss Charlevoix Venetian Scholarship Competition will once again be at this year's Seventieth Annual Venetian Festival.

"The committee is very excited with the prospects for this year's competition, as the Venetian board has once again increased the scholarship fund," said Dianna Phillips, chair of the Queen's Scholarship Committee for the sixth consecutive year.

This year's winning candidate will be awarded a $2,500 scholarship, the first runner-up will receive a $1,200 scholarship, the second runner-up will receive a $600 scholarship and an additional $200 scholarship will be awarded for academic and extracurricular excellence.

Candidates must be between the ages of 16 and 22 as of the date of the competition and must either have a primary residence in the Charlevoix area or be a graduate of a Charlevoix area school. Entry forms will list other qualifications and entry requirements.

Following the format established during the past few years, candidates will participate in interviews and perform speeches in front of a panel of judges from outside the Charlevoix area. The decision of the judges will be based upon the candidate's knowledge of Charlevoix and the Venetian Festival, poise and ability of candidates to express themselves and general presentation.

The coronation ceremony is tentatively scheduled for 7:30 p.m. July 21 at the Odmark Pavilion in downtown Charlevoix. The Venetian crown will be passed on by the reigning 1999 festival queen, Kelli Skiba.

The committee is also seeking confirmation of the identity and whereabouts of past Venetian queens. Please provide such information to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce office at (231) 547-2101.

Use caution when applying insect repellent

Sometimes keeping bugs away just isn't worth the risk.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) Director Dan Wyant reminds consumers to exercise care when applying insect repellent. Insect repellents are most often used to deter mosquitoes, biting flies and ticks that are annoying and can pose a serious health risk. However, excessive use of products containing diethyltoluamide (DEET) can result in adverse health effects, particularly in children.

Although reactions to repellents are rare, exposure to excessive levels of DEET may cause headaches, restlessness, crying spells, mania, staggering, rapid breathing, convulsions and possibly coma, according to Dr. Brian Hughes, MDA toxicologist.

Before applying repellents to children consider the following advice:

1) Read all the label directions before using the product and follow them carefully. Not all repellents are intended to be applied to the skin.

2) Use repellents sparingly. Low concentrations (10% or below) are effective and may be preferred in most situations. Start with a low-concentration product and reapply if necessary.

3) If repellents are applied over a long period of time, alternate the repellent with one having another active ingredient.

4) Once the child is back indoors and/or the repellent is no longer necessary, wash the treated skin with soap and water.

5) Do not use repellents on broken or irritated skin or apply to eyes and mouth. Do not apply to a child's hands that often end up in their mouth. Avoid breathing sprays and do not use near food.

6) Consider the use of non-chemical means to prevent biting - screens, netting, long sleeves, closed shoes and slacks.

7) Practice prevention by elimininating breeding grounds for mosquitoes. Eliminate any standing water near the home if possible. For permanent water basins like birdbaths or ornamental ponds use mosquito fish to control breeding. Use biological controls for small lakes and ponds such as Bacillus thuringiensis israelensis, commercially available at many retail stores.

8) Use only products that are registered with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) or the Michigan Department of Agriculture. If you need assistance in determining if a repellent is registered, please call the MDA at (517)373-9750.

The US EPA warns consumers to immediately stop using a repellent if they experience any of the above symptoms. If the product is swallowed, consumers should immediately contact a poison control center or the emergency room of a hospital.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is the official state agency charged with the serving, promoting and protecting the food, agriculture and agricultural economic interests of the people of the State of Michigan. MDA programs serve all sectors of agriculture, which is Michigan's second-largest industry.

Boy rescued after riding his bike into Round Lake

An 8-year-old Charlevoix resident was pulled from the chilly waters of Round Lake around 11:30 a.m. Saturday by Charlevoix marina dock attendants after the boy drove his bicycle into the water.

The boy, Christopher Osawabine, said he was riding his bicycle by the city municipal marina docks on Round Lake and he was looking at the boats. He said he did not see a turn in the sidewalk and subsequently went into the water on his bike.

The boy had just learned to swim about six months ago and was treading water when he was found.

Marina employees walking the docks heard the Osawabine yelling for help. They were able to reach the boy by climbing down a nearby dock section.

Osawabine was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital and treated for possible hypothermia. He was released about an hour-and-a-half later.

Donations being sought for pool auction in Aug.

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool is seeking donations for the pool auction Aug. 6 at the Charlevoix Country Club.

According to Auction Coordinator Scott MacKenzie, this event raises about 25 to 30 percent of the operating budget for the pool. Last year it raised about $70,000 for the pool.

"Anyone that cares about the pool can donate," MacKenzie said. All donations are tax deductible.

MacKenzie added donating to the pool auction can be great advertising for a business. Not only does the donation bring a potential customer that bids on the item into the store, it also lets people know what kinds of services the business can offer, he said.

To donate to the pool auction contact the Charlevoix pool at 547-0982 or MacKenzie at (231) 582-0486.

Garrett brings tasteful treats to Charlevoix area

The windy city's chilly climate did not appeal to Garrett and he asked to be transferred to Dallas where he stayed for eight years with his wife and two daughters. Tired of preparing frozen food menus, he yearned for more professional challenges and returned to England where he became a corporate chef overseeing 12 restaurants, two of which featured Michelin Stars.

Eventually he returned to Michigan where Charlie Winn, founder of the Charlevoix Country Club, discovered Garrett and coaxed him to come "up north" with his family and four boxer dogs. His wife, Stella, is now happily working at the Bahnhof in Charlevoix and youngest daughter Dawn, is a theater major at Western Michigan University. She will be working in the main dining room this summer. He is optimistic regarding food service at the club this season for he lured three culinary graduates to work as interns in his kitchen by offering on-premises housing.

One of Garrett's innovations at Mahogany's is his Sunday Night Spectacular, which is open to the public. For those who haven't tried it yet, believe me, it's the biggest bargain in the north! For the modest price of $15.95, you get a four course meal, including soup, sorbet, a choice of four substantial entrees and dessert, all made from scratch with fresh ingredients.

His goal is to attract more local people to enjoy a comfortable dining experience, "without la-de-da." Just good food consisting of moderate, yet elegant portions and unassuming attractive presentation. The result, he is happy to say, is that Mahogany's has become more profitable and "is running well on all cylinders."

Edith Gilbert is a Charlevoix resident and columnist for the Charlevoix Courier. Her columns appear every two weeks in the Charlevoix Courier. She can be reached by calling the Courier at (231) 547-6558 or by e-mailing her at egilbert@freeway.net.

Student finds his uncle's name on Vietnam Memorial

VIETNAM

Jordan brought a tracing of his uncle's name back to his dad, Carl Plumm.

Carl and his wife, Shelley, are happy that Jordan had the opportunity to take the trip.

"I'm really excited to see Jordan get to see his uncle's name," Carl said. "It helps to bring some type of closure to our family."

Carl has not been to the memorial.

"I'm just hoping some day that I can get there to see it," he said. "That's my goal."

Richard had another brother, James, who lives in Charlevoix and is active in the affairs of Vietnam veterans.

Jordan was one of 95 eighth-grade students who traveled to the nation's capital from May 2-6. Other sites visited were the National Zoo, Ford's Theatre, the White House, museums and Arlington Cemetery.

"It was fun," Jordan commented. "But I got tired of walking."

The sites will stick with him for a lifetime, especially the Vietnam Memorial wall. Jordan believes it's important to remember the veterans.

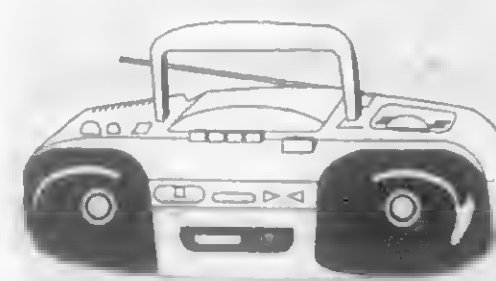

"They gave their lives to fight for our country," he said.

Beaver Island has a new reading program

Read to Succeed, a program designed to help children stay healthy and form healthy habits through reading, was recently adopted at Beaver Island Rural Health Center on Beaver Island.

Kids who are seeing the doctor for a check-up or a "well baby" visit are given a "prescription" by the physician to take a book home from the office. Parents are encouraged to help choose a book and also to sit down with the child and read to them once they are home.

Books are given to children two months old through age five and are free-of-charge. Children will be given the opportunity to take a different book each time they visit. "The growth in this program and the willingness of these health care providers to work with us to better the health of the kids in our community has been great," said Jean Hayner, Education Specialist for the Dean C. Burns Community Health Education Center in Petoskey. The center is an outreach program of the Northern Michigan Hospital Foundation.

"Read to Succeed has been met with enthusiasm and true dedication on the part of office staffs and physicians who believe that reading is one of the keys to better health," Hayner said.

The program is funded by the Northern Michigan Hospital Foundation. For more information about Read to Succeed, call Jean Hayner at 231-487-4988.

Boys' track to send one to state, girls' track sends five

While the Charlevoix girls' track team will be sending five of its members to state competition following Saturday's regional track meet, the boys' team didn't fair as well and will only be sending one.

"It's a tough regional. Our relays are mainly made up of youngsters. They didn't handle the pressure that well," said Coach Ken Plude. Of the relay teams, Plude said their best chance was in the 800 meter, but the team dropped the baton during the race and was disqualified.

He added since the team was very young, he expects many of them to return for next year's season with a little more experience under their belts.

Rory Gnatkowski was the only Charlevoix boys' track team member to qualify for state. He placed second in the pole vault with a height of 11 feet, 7 inches.

Plude said Gnatkowski usually breaks the 12 foot mark on his pole vaults. If he does this at the state meet, Plude said he believes Gnatkowski will receive a

On the girls' team, Jenny Miller, Liz Ulrich, Laura Schairbaum, Katie Swenor and Natasha Kleiber will be headed to state.

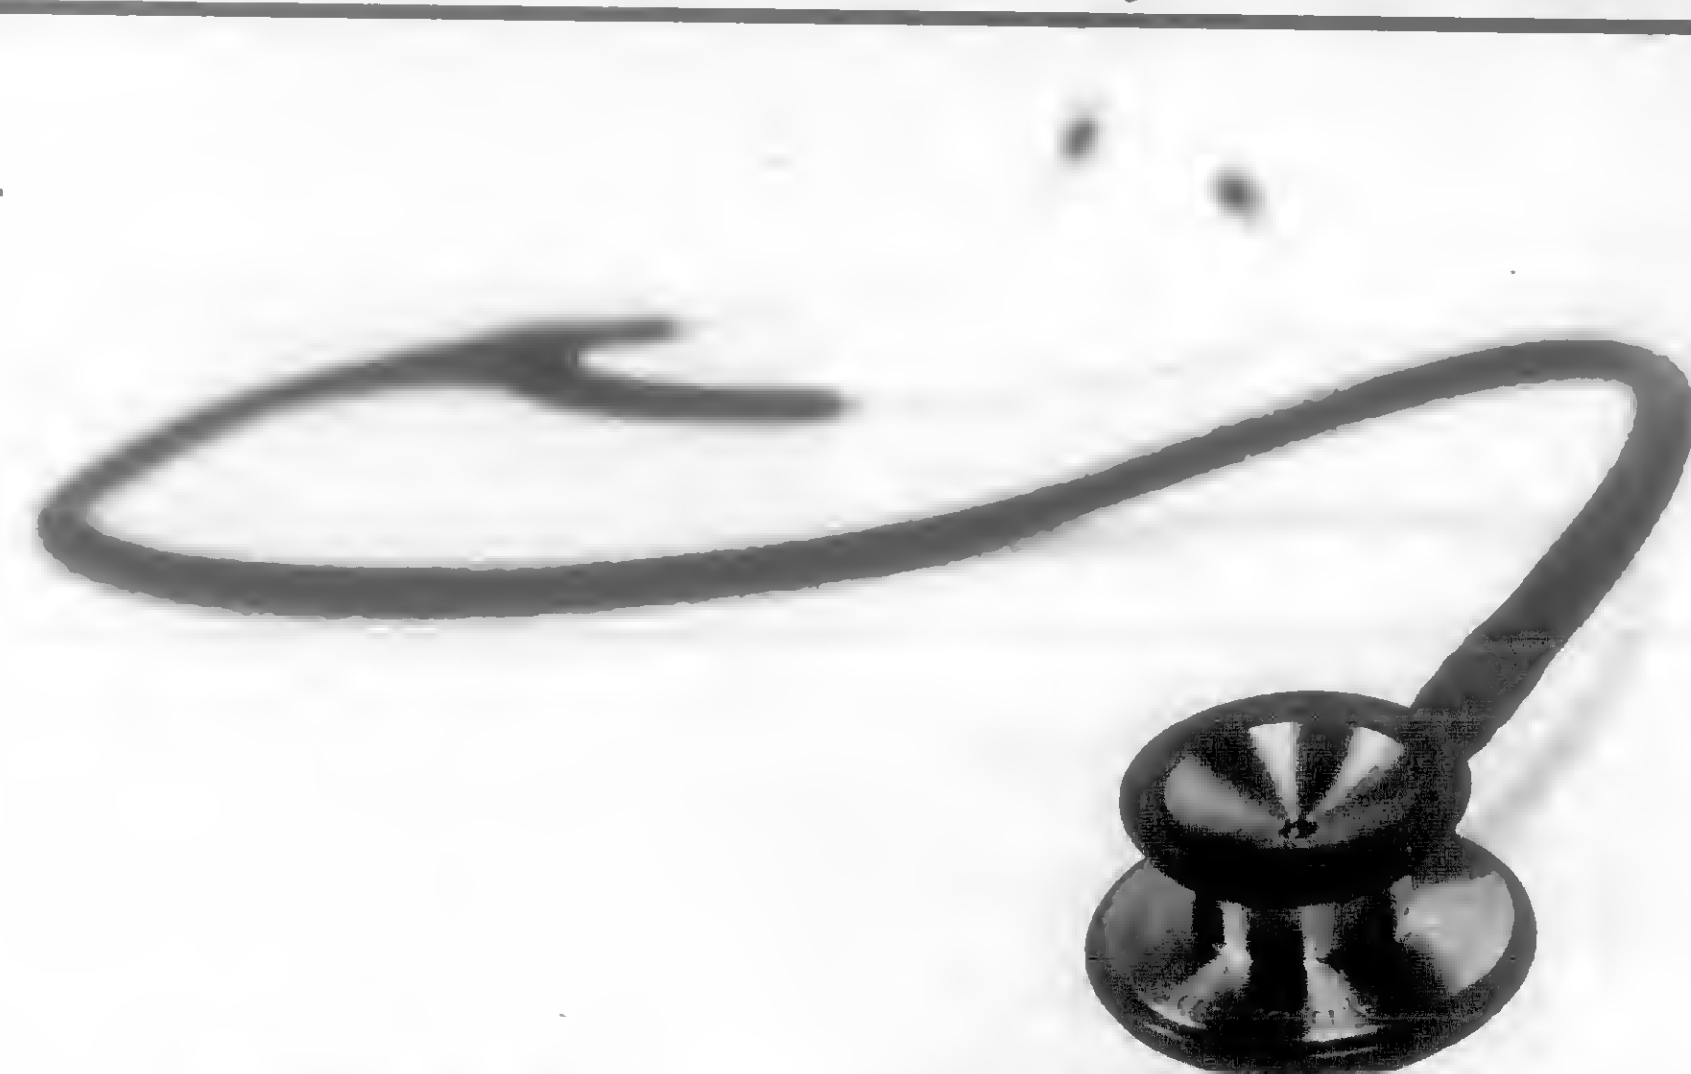

Miller placed second in the long jump with a distance of 15 feet, 6 inches. Ulrich, Schairbaum, Swenor and Kleiber came in fourth in the two mile relay, but qualified with their time of 10 minutes, 11 seconds.

Swenor also took second place in the 3,200 meter run with her time of 12 minutes, 19 seconds.

The state meet will be at Comstock Park in Grand Rapids. Both track teams will be on the athletic field one more time this year at 3 p.m. Thursday for the conference meet in East Jordan.

Baseball team chalks up two wins May 20

Charlevoix varsity baseball picked up two more wins May 20 at a double header in Grand Rapids Northview.

The Rayders beat Zeeland in the first game 6-4. Jeremiah Teuscher was the winning pitcher with Chris Loper in relief.

Leading the offense was Dennis Avery and Jerry Zeitler each with two hits. Jeremiah Teuscher, Matt Kilkenny, Matt Horon and Nick Cole added singles.

Staying in stride with this win, the Rayders went on to beat Grand Rapids Northview in the second game 6-5.

Shay Hutchison was the winning pitcher, with Loper in relief.

"(Hutchison) pitched a very nice game before tiring in the fourth. (Loper) came on and earned his second save of the day," Coach Scott Kelly said.

Leading the Charlevoix offense was Kilkenny, Horon and Nate Teuscher each with two hits, while Jeremiah Teuscher, Hutchison, Rob Boss and Avery added singles.

"This day was a fantastic day for our team, as they played very well and executed offensively and defensively in both games," Kelly said.

The Rayders' overall record is 10-12. Their next game was last night at Petoskey.

The results of that game were unavailable before press time.

The Beaver Island Historical Society is going to the birds to help fund its projects.

The society recently received a $3,000 grant to build birdhouses the group will sell in order to raise money. The birdhouses are being made by Islecraft of Beaver Island with the assistance of the Beaver Island school's seventh grade class. Most of the grant money will be used to purchase building materials, said Islecraft Co-owner Rich Gillespie. Some of the money will also be used to make historic location signs for the island, he added.

Gillespie said the birdhouses will serve three purposes; to provide a habitat for birds, to give the children hands-on training by building the houses and to raise money for the historical society.

Islecraft and the seventh graders will make about 150 birdhouses. Gillespie said about 80 have been made so far.

The birdhouses are being sold through the historical society for $19.95. To receive a birdhouse, send a check or money order to the Beaver Island Historical Society on Beaver Island or call (231) 448-2254.

Hundreds View Dedication of Plaque

Pausing to pay tribute to the memory of the men who lost their lives in World War 1 and 11, Charlevoix residents witnessed the rededication of the park on Bridge Street at Belvedere on Memorial Day.

Several hundred persons heard Oscar North, former principal and superintendent of schools here, urge his listeners to dedicate themselves toward preventing any further wasting of lives through armed conflict.

As the trees in this memorial spot have been cut back, so it has been with the lives of the lads who died for their community and country. It is fitting, he said, that these trees planted for each of the seven local men who died in World War I should be red in the springtime and green in the fall of the year.

Mr. North, superintendent of schools at Newaygo, unveiled the plaque marking the spot as a memorial to the men of Charlevoix and vicinity who gave their lives in the last two wars. He was introduced by Probate Judge Floyd Supp. Rev. W. D. Wood closed the brief ceremony with a prayer.

The Charlevoix high school band, directed by C. A. Odmak, opened the program with "God Bless America." A wreath was placed at the foot of the rock.

The traditional ceremony at the waterfront honoring the sailor dead followed with members of the women's auxiliaries casting flowers upon the water. Taps were sounded.

The parade of the band, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts continued to the cemetery where the annual Memorial Day program was held. Rev. L. L. Lewis gave the memorial address.

Rev. G.D. Howell gave the invocation. Beverly Stroud delivered the Gettysburg Address. Rev. Joseph Bekkering gave the benediction. Veterans organizations met at St. Mary's and Brookside cemeteries to place flags on veterans' graves.

BEAUTIFUL CITY OF THE DEAD

BROOKSIDE CEMETERY AN ASSET TO CHARLEVOIX

Converted From a Brush Lot to a Place of Real Beauty--Other Improvements Needed

The coming of Decoration Day brings to many a picture of battlefields and Old Glory waving in the breeze. To others it stirs tender memories of loved ones who have been laid to rest. People who have no reason to visit cemeteries where they happen to be temporarily located, usually join the Decoration Day throng and thus receive impressions of the community.

In Brookside Cemetery the City of Charlevoix has an asset of incalculable value. Under the management of the Board of Cemetery Trustees, composed of John M. Ackert, A.L. Fitch, Frank G. Hines, R. A. Emrey and J.B. Parsons, and Sexton Charles Hyers, it has been transformed from a brush lot to a splendid burying ground. Mr. Hyers is completing his eighth year as sexton, and is now building stone roads through the cemetery, which comprises a tract of sixteen acres at the end of State Street on Stove Road, an ideal location.

The plateau level is broken by the banks of Wakefield creek, which winds about and crosses the cemetery obliquely. This is a beautiful little stream which "bickers" down the valley o'er a bed of pebbles and between banks lined with elms and cedars.

At the main entrance are two beautiful white birches of the cut-leaf variety, which, with hard and weeping maples, with long slender pendant boughs, border the roads. A few scattering balsams, a lone-some pine and some splendid red birches, a Carolina maple or two and the usual shrubbery add greatly to the beauty of the spot.

The G.A.R. plat is nicely decorated with a six-inch mounted cannon that saw actual service in the Civil War, and a white pine flag-staff that was found on the Nicholls farm south of Charlevoix.

The sexton said that while the large field stones occasionally placed as monuments undoubtedly added to the artistic effect of the cemetery, they nearly always crack after a few years. The magnificent stones marking the Meech-Nash-Harris plat are good examples of this style.

The Baker monument recently completed stands close to the brook. It was designed by Mrs. Martha R. Baker, who died last winter, and is heavily walled on three sides, thus giving the effect of a terrace.

As the writer stood looking up at the lone Lombardy poplar, a silent sentinel, the murmur of the brook came to him. The sexton pointed to Mrs. Bakers' grave and indicated the complete work with a gesture of his hand. "This is just how Mrs. Baker wanted it," he said.

The visitor was then taken across the bridge to the Potter's Field on the hill above. The turf is kept cut and the field given the same care as the other plats receive. Here are buried the fifteen victims of the steamer Champlain that burned and was beached on south point years ago.

When asked what he considered the most needed improvement at the present time, Mr. Hyers replied that a good iron fence set in concrete posts would be most welcome. And if efficiency and enthusiasm count for anything, Sexton Hyers ought to have it.

S.S. BRUCE HITS SWING BRIDGE

Both Boat and Bridge Slightly Damaged and Tender Shook Up

The S.S. Bruce, on her return trip from St. James about 5:00 o'clock Tuesday night, collided with the bridge as it was being swung, slightly injuring the bow of the boat, and damaging some of the bridge equipment. The bridge was being swung by hand, owing to the electric current being shut off due to an accident at the electric light plant.

Bridge tender Elmer Johnson says he would like to have some wise guy tell him just what to do, as when he swings the bridge some auto is bound to run into the river and when he has it shut or partly closed, he is likely to be bumped by a boat going up or down the river.

Commission gives approval to Winn site plan

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

At a special city planning commission meeting on Monday, commission members recommended approval of an amendment to a site plan for a residence, marine facility and garage on Round Lake.

By a vote of five to two, the planning commission decided that resident John Winn was entitled to the amendment that changes the placement and size of his residence from 4,000-square-feet to 7,000-square-feet, narrows the view corridor from 60 feet to 20 feet and allows the height of his marine facility.

In the amendment Winn was not requesting any variances and complied with zoning ordinances. He received city council approval on his original site plan for 125 Belvedere Ave. in 1994.

Winn's neighbors protested the amendment because their views of Round Lake will be impacted. They also objected to the amendment being referred to as "minor" because they believed it to be a major change.

City council agreed with the neighbors and on May 15 it sent the matter back to the planning commission for more review.

At the Monday planning commission's meeting, city planner Gerry Harsch said it was a mistake for him to refer to the change as "minor" and that city attorney Jim Young designated it as a major change.

Planning commissioners Barb Fels and Bernie DeVries voted against recommending approval of the amendment, saying they didn't have enough information in front of them to properly make a decision. The plans given to the commissioners were not to scale.

The 40-foot reduction in the view corridor was another factor in their vote not to recommend approval of the amendment.

"I didn't feel we had enough information on their (Winn's) proposal," DeVries said. "We didn't have a print to scale so I couldn't actually tell if it was bigger than before."

Fels wasn't satisfied with answers to some of the questions asked about the amendment to the site plan.

"There were too many questions that weren't answered," she said. "I heard some really good questions that didn't get good answers."

Charlevoix marinas profit from water levels

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Marinas around Charlevoix have pretty much the same comment — the low water levels downstate are increasing business in northern Michigan where levels aren't as low.

"Business is insane," said Jack Hodge, general manager at Irish Boat Shop. "With the lower water levels downstate, there's increased demand to go in the water up here. We've been inundated."

Normally, Irish is 94-96 percent full by this time of the year, Hodge said. This season the marina's 185 slips are 100 percent full. It has some transient slips available.

Northwest Marine has a waiting list for the first time. There were 48 anxious boaters on the list as of last week.

"We're having a tremendous spring with the water depth downstate," said owner Eric Kammermann. "It's really made us more desirable because we don't have the depth problem."

People are looking ahead to next season.

"People are frustrated because they can't find dockage," Kammermann said. "They're buying slips for next year."

Sewage block causes mess

A blocked sewer line near the intersection of Belvedere Ave. and Bridge Street caused a sewage backup Thursday night and Friday morning that left a few residents with a mess to clean up.

According to John Martin of the city sewer department, the back up caused a minor leak of sewage that got into some resident's home through drains, while a small amount of it flowed into Round Lake.

"It is not what I would consider a big spill," he said. To fix the problem, city employees cleaned out the sewer line Friday.

"This is something we do on a regular basis anyway," Martin said. Residents in the area affected by the sewage back up would not publicly comment on the incident.

New business group to promote Charlevoix

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

In an effort to encourage more people shop in Charlevoix before going to other cities, a new group has formed to provide further support to Charlevoix businesses.

The group will be having a formation meeting at 6 p.m. Thursday in the lower level of VIP Pizza in downtown Charlevoix.

According to Bob Hoffman, a certified public accountant in Charlevoix and one of the organizers for this group, the goal of the group is to provide a cooperative business environment in Charlevoix.

"We feel the business people need to start promoting Charlevoix. We need to get people to shop in Charlevoix," he said.

He stressed this organization is not just for downtown retailers, but for all businesses in Charlevoix.

"All businesses can benefit from people using services and businesses in Charlevoix," he said.

Hoffman said to start promoting businesses, the group will be raising money to purchase promotional advertising for Charlevoix. He added the group will be looking at other types of retail activities to further promote downtown, such as expanding sidewalk sales and the Christmas open house.

"We are just in the formation stage, so it is up to the members to decide what type of activities to do. We are open to all suggestions," Hoffman said.

Hoffman added the group does not want to replace the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and wants to work with the Chamber.

Jacqueline Merta, director of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, said it was premature at this time for her to make comments about this new organization. She said representatives from the Chamber will be meeting at a later date with members of this new organization.

"I will say the Chamber of Commerce is willing to work with all groups in the community," she said.

OPINIONS

The lessons live on even after graduation

Start playing "pomp and circumstances" it's time for graduation.

Each year many high school students walk that final walk of their high school career while their proud parents look on. Graduation is a happy time of the year for many people throughout the country as students take that first step from teenager to adult and many parents tearfully find themselves being forced to release their children into the world.

It seems just yesterday to a parent that their child was just learning to walk, ride a bike or bugging them to use the family car. Now, they watch as their children go through the ceremony that ends childhood and points the way to adulthood.

The day of graduation will go by quickly for the student. Later in life it will all seem like high school and childhood was just a dream for them as friendships made during this time of the year fade when schoolmates move to various parts of the country. Thoughts of the prom, homecoming or teachers will be pushed aside by new experiences, like college orientation, marriage or their first home.

EDITORIAL

Yet the lessons being taught to these new graduates do not stop. As they go out into the real world, they will be watching those of us already out there for examples on how to act and live.

So here is the mission for the adults already out there: Remember you are being watched and make every action count. Teach these new adults how to live with respect and love, not with hate. Teach them how to work with each other and not against.

And these new adults have a mission: Use your mind while watching these lessons. Know which lesson is teaching you how to act and which lesson is teaching how not to act, all the while keeping your mind open to learn more.

And both the adults and new adults must remember: During this hectic life filled with lessons, don't forget to stop and smell the petunias.

The pace of change

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

We are reminded almost constantly that change is the only constant, that change is natural and that we should expect a rapidly accelerating pace of change; a gift of living in these times.

It might be well to recall just what the natural pace of change is. A recent debate in evolutionary thinking involves the contrast between what is called "punctuated equilibrium" and "gradualism."

The punctuated equilibriumists believe, based on fossil record, that evolution occurred in rapid bursts of change with long periods in between of little or no change. The gradualists believe, based on fossil record, that change of organisms has been by small and steady increments over the long reach of earth's past. Those outside the debate may be confused by what the punctuated equilibriumists believe to be a short period of time. In evolutionary terms a short time is a few hundred thousand years. Dramatic change can occur in as little as 300,000 years. To most of us that doesn't sound like overnight. Except for organisms that reproduce very rapidly, evolutionary change is slow indeed by any of our modern yardsticks.

If I could take you on a field trip 10 million years into the past right here in what is now Michigan, the animals would be different enough to startle us, but we would be able to recognize and identify many of the plants we encountered. Going even farther back, the yellow pine or spruce pollen covering your car, boat and house in late spring and early summer settled on the backs of dinosaurs more than 100 million years ago. It was produced at that time by trees on which you would find cones much like those of our own pines or spruces.

Why are plants so slow to change compared to many animals? As little as 12,000 years ago, mastodons and giant ground sloths cruised this peninsula, but the trees they ate were what we have here now. Even a large animal like the mastodon that reproduces very slowly has a generation time of only a few decades at most. The generation time for many sorts of forest trees is in the range of centuries. Once a tree is established, it will likely occupy that place for longer than any of us can note. An oak may be in its prime when 400 years old and each of the giant white pines that made huge fortunes for the early logging companies in Michigan were at least a few hundred years old. Even a Jack-in-the-pulpit plant can live in the same forest spot for a hundred years and that lowly Skunk Cabbage plant along the stream south of Charlevoix, may have been in that same spot when Leif Erickson first located North America.

With great age for any organism comes very slow change, because the new generation has to wait until the older one is gone before there is room to grow, expand and occupy its own space.

What we might identify as natural change is conservative indeed compared to the pace of change we are expected to accept in our current world. "Consider the lilies of the field" was good advice when first given and it hasn't lost any of its value in just a couple of thousand years.

Thoughts of Marion Center site

Editor: Here are some observations regarding the Marion Center Site at the new Charlevoix High School location.

The urban sprawl cry is unfounded. Sprawl is unplanned development of open land or to spread out in a disorderly way. To have a spacious, modern new high school with grounds for athletic fields, a closed campus and additional buildings in an area that's prime for development is practical long term planning. To address sewers, utilities, road projects and budgets before construction is more that has been occurring in our nation's metropolises. Let us hope nobody forgets about adequate fire hydrants to protect all residential developments. A fine example of sprawl is the Walgreens and Rite Aid at the intersection of US 31 and I-31.

Fighting this public development will only encourage mavericks to build impractical, monstrous homes in an area ill-prepared for increased traffic and overabundant septic fields. The curvy Marion Center Road along the Belvedere Golf Course and new school site is in need of a lower speed limit. Besides, any school will have a posted 25 mph speed limit during first and last bells.

Resistance to change is a common reaction. Residents should take pride in our growing community's planned development and foresight. Not only is the population of Charlevoix growing, so are the populations of the state, the nation and the world. Providing a safe, well-planned, practical community with a world class, modern high school are sure ingredients to maintaining a proud and envied community.

Thank you

Editor: Charlevoix Postal Employees would like to thank all patrons who participated in the NALC food drive May 13. Letter carriers picked up food at mail boxes for donation to local food pantries and our trucks and cars were loaded. Many of you also dropped off food items in the main lobby of the post office. Mental health matters

Editor: Mental health matters to every individual in every community. Charlevoix is no different. Mental health and mental illness matter to our healthcare system, our businesses and our families.

From children to grandparents, one in five Americans' experiences a serious emotional disturbance or mental illness each year. Charlevoix cannot afford to ignore illnesses more prevalent than cancer, lung disease and heart disease combined — leading the US Surgeon General to declare mental illness one of our nation's leading public health issues.

Mental health matters to overall health and is key in maintaining good physical health. Research shows that depression is common in individuals who suffer from heart disease, diabetes and other chronic illnesses. Although the physical illnesses are generally treated, too often the mental illnesses are not. In addition, great disparity exists between mental health and physical health. Individuals may not prioritize their own mental health needs.

Many health insurance companies do not offer comparable coverage and healthcare providers often do not recognize the symptoms of mental health problems — even though nearly half of all visits to primary care doctors are related to psychological disorders such as anxiety and depression.

Mental health also matters to our business community. Absenteeism, employee turnover and lost productivity are just a few of the economic costs associated with untreated mental illness in the workplace. Stress and depression rank as the second and third largest issues facing employees, according to a survey by the Employee Assistance Professional Association. All told, mental health problems cost the economy billions of dollars each year. The cost to individuals can be even greater as workers experience mental health problems that affect their health, satisfaction, productivity and wages.

In truth, mental health matters most to individuals and families even though many believe mental illnesses and their symptoms are just natural life stages. For example, many people still believe that depression and increased anxiety are just normal signs of aging, when in fact, mental illness is as treatable for seniors as for any other age group. Left untreated, mental illnesses are 20 percent more likely to lead to suicide in seniors than in any other age group. Overall, 25 percent of families participating in a National Mental Health Association survey reported that mental illness has impacted their family.

May is Mental Health Month, a time for our community to acknowledge the importance of mental health and take action to ensure that individuals with mental illnesses have access to care, treatment and prevention services they need. Senseless barriers, such as stigma, misunderstanding and discrimination can be torn down by recognizing that mental illnesses are real, common and treatable.

In December, the Surgeon General declared that mental health matters. Now it's time we let our policy makers and community leaders know that mental health matters to Charlevoix as well.

Remove politicians who spoke out against guns

Editor: I attended the Million-Mom-March in Lansing on Mother's Day.

However, I was with the demonstrators on the pro-gun, pro-American side.

I was taken by complete surprise when three of Michigan's elected officials took the platform! When these women assumed office they were sworn in to uphold the Constitution. I was under the impression the oath of office was intended to publicly state, in front of God, family and the citizens, the elected public servants desire to serve in that position. A solemn, declaration, which binds individuals to perform acts faithfully and truthfully. To defend the Constitution of the United States, meaning the principles plainly defined in the natural charter and State Constitution, without compromise and to the best of their ability!

The oath of office in their case binds them to abide by and enforce the Constitution of Michigan. Under Article 1, section 6, it states, clearly, "Bearing of Arms." Every person has a right to keep and bear arms for the defense of himself and the state. The Constitution of the United States of America also does not need interpretation! Article 11 reads, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

These elected officials, Attorney

General Jennifer Granholm (D-Northville), a member of our 106th Congress and a United States Representative, Debbie Stabenow (D-Lansing) and Michigan State Representative, Laura L. Baird, (D-District 70) should resign from office immediately, be impeached or tried for treason! To my knowledge, so swearing in formality in the State of Michigan has ever been forced upon anyone! To blatantly and publicly use their positions of office to even suggest to further deny the law abiding citizens of this great state and country the right to defend themselves or their property, is a violation of their oath of office! To be responsible citizens takes more than casting a vote periodically. Can any government exist without fidelity in its officers or without the faithful discharge of their trust? Every single citizen, without exception has a grave duty to hold our elected officials accountable!

CHS teen shows honesty still exists

By JEREMY MCBAIN

Dan Mattson probably would have not even realized he was missing almost $400 until he was far away from Charlevoix, if it wasn't for a youthful good Samaritan.

Mattson, a trombone player with the Grand Rapids Symphony, did not know his wallet — containing $375 cash — was missing until Charlevoix High School junior Laura Borths approached him after the band's concert at the school Tuesday night.

Borths had found Mattson's wallet in the school parking lot and returned it to its owner, complete with all of the in cash that was inside the wallet when Mattson lost it.

"I thought that was commendable and honorable. She could have just given me my license and kept the cash and I wouldn't have known," Mattson said.

Mattson said the wallet must have fallen out of his car sometime before the concert. The money was from a pay check

"She could have just given me my license and kept the cash and I wouldn't have known."

Dan Mattson, on the return of his wallet

Mattson had cashed earlier in the day.

He added he was surprised Borths knew where to even look for him to give the wallet back. While he said his driver's license has a Grand Rapids address, he was impressed that she figured out that he was with the Grand Rapids Symphony.

Borths said when she found Mattson's wallet, she simply used his driver's license to track him down.

"I just looked for the guy whose face matched the picture," she said.

While friends joked with her that they would have kept the money, Borths said she had no intention of doing such a thing.

"It never even crossed my mind to keep it," she said.

Conference set between school and Marion Township planners

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The site plans for the new Charlevoix High School are in the hands of the Marion Township Planning Commission and school officials and commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. on June 6 for a preapplication conference.

The planning commission asked for the conference allowed by its ordinance prior to a hearing on the special use permit requested by the school.

"In the ordinance covering site plan review there's a provision for preapplication conferences with the zoning administrator and/or the planning commission," planning chairman Tim Matchett said.

The conference is recommended for large projects several months in advance of the desired start of construction, the ordinance reads. The advance conference allows the school time to prepare information needed for the planning commission to make a proper review.

At the conference the school will present all information it has to meet the criteria of the site plan review process, Matchett said.

"Supposedly at this meeting the school will have the paperwork we need," Matchett said. "Once we have the information, we'll digest it and then have a public hearing."

The school has submitted some of the required information and wants to send additional information to the commission.

"We have the site plan and we have copies of the work done with the road commission, entrances and exits onto a public road," Matchett said. "They (the school) want to provide more information to us. They've responded to all of our requests so far.

If planning commission questions are answered at the conference, a public hearing on the site plan for the school will be held at 7 p.m. on June 14 in the township hall.

"There's one hearing with the planning commission and one with the township board," Matchett said. "Our meeting will focus on site plan review."

Marion Township is reviewing the plans of Charlevoix Public Schools to build a new high school in its township on Marion Center and Veenstra roads. The schools purchased 74 acres for a new high school through a successful $18.8 million bond election in October 1999. The bonds will pay for the renovation of the elementary school and of the current high school for the middle school, as well.

Charlevoix graduate takes first in flight competition

Michael Cherry, a member of Western Michigan University's flight team the Sky Broncos, earned top honors in the nation in the National Intercollegiate Flying Association championship which concluded May 20 in Grenada, Miss.

The 14-member team, which represents WMU's College of Aviation, turned in outstanding performances in the navigation and aircraft recognition events and took second in both the overall flight and ground portions of the competition. This makes the ninth consecutive year the team has earned a top three national ranking.

Cherry, the son of Eric and Gail Cherry and grandson of Robert and MacZella Porter and Rebecca Cherry, is a 1998 graduate of Charlevoix High School. He is currently on the dean's list at WMU and is entering his junior year at the college.

Michael captured the national championship in the aircraft recognition event. He and his partner, Jesse Coeling, a WMU senior, also took first place in the navigation competition in the nationwide competition. In addition, Cherry placed third in the nation in the message drop event and acquired points for the team competition.

At the NIFA championship, team members compete in six ground events and four flight events for a total of 10 opportunities to earn points.

Team points are earned by competitors who place in the top 10 in each of the judged events. More than 150 pilots from 31 teams took part in this year's event. These teams qualified for the national competition by doing well in their regional competitions. WMU won their regional competition in Ohio earlier in the school year.

Vals. and sal. named for Class of 2000

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Charlevoix High School announces two valedictorians and a salutatorian for the Class of 2000.

Tiffany Sloan Fisher, 17, and Kirsten Senger Brendtro, 18, with 4.0 grade points are valedictorians and Jonathan D. Tebeau, 18, with a 3.9 grade point is salutatorian.

All three say they will miss Charlevoix and small town life when they venture out to universities.

Tiffany is the daughter of Tim and Tori Fisher. She will study architecture at Princeton University. She remembers receiving her acceptance to the prestigious learning institution.

"I was very happy, jumping up and down," Tiffany said.

But having lived in Charlevoix her entire life, she will miss home.

"I will miss the comforts of a small town," she said. "Lots of people are attending in-state schools."

Tiffany holds a high regard for her high school.

"A small school is really personal, it's a nice learning environment," she said.

Some of her school and community activities include the National Honors Society, Odyssey of the Mind and Adopt-A-Highway.

Tiffany participates in alpine skiing, cross-country, track and softball. She has earned individual academic all-state in both skiing and cross-country, as well as honors in other sports activities.

She has earned numerous academic honors and awards, including team silver award at the SME robotics competition, an outstanding performance recognition in the visual arts, and state third place in Odyssey of the Mind.

Kirsten is the daughter of Paul Brendtro and Mary Senger. She initially plans to study biology at Michigan State University's Honors College. But that may change to the teaching program — she has time to decide.

Kirsten has always lived in Charlevoix and she likes the small town atmosphere. Although she may try living in a large city some day, she will return to live in a small town.

"Everyone can pull together to get things done," Kirsten said. "Mostly, we know each other, it's more personal."

Some of her school and community activities include Student Council Representative, National Honors Society and yearbook editor.

Kirsten enjoys alpine skiing and soccer and was on the varsity Alpine Ski Team and the varsity soccer team.

She has earned Charlevoix High School's Excellence in English and Excellence in Biology awards, a Michigan Competitive Scholarship and was selected for TV 9 & 10's "Best of the Class."

Jon is the son of Bob and Nu Tebeau and Pram and Sue Acharya. He is on his way to the Illinois Institute of Technology to study aerospace engineering, with an ultimate goal to work for NASA. He has a full-ride scholarship through the Air Force ROTC.

"After college, I'll serve in the Air Force for a minimum of four years," Jon said.

Attending the institute in downtown Chicago won't be too much of a shock for Jon who moved to Charlevoix five years ago from Dearborn. He estimates that there were at least 800 students in his middle school.

"You never knew who anybody was," he said.

Some of Jon's school and community activities include marching and concert band, the French Club, student government and six years in the Boy Scouts.

Jon has participated in cross-country, track and cross-country skiing. He was cross-country captain for four years.

He has earned six varsity letters, an academic letter, excellence in English, literature and math, Eagle Scout rank and superior rating at a solo-ensemble festival.

Jon has enjoyed Charlevoix and his school, but he is anxious to begin a new adventure after graduation.

"I'll miss everyone, but I'm excited to start a whole new chapter in my life," Jon said. He gives credit to others.

"I want to thank all of my family members, my teachers and coaches that supported and encouraged me along the way," Jon said.

Northwest Academy gets ready to graduate nine Northwest Academy will be graduating nine students at this year's ceremony at 2 p.m. Saturday at the United Methodist Church on State Street.

The graduating seniors for Northwest are: Anora Ruehle, Mathew Barnadyn, Michael Muniak, Preston Parish, Nicole Whitley, Jerrud Grubb, Melissa Maurer, Tiffany Himebaugh and Chad Kurburski.

Muniak is this year's valedictorian, while Barnadyn is the salutatorian.

According to Northwest Administrator Steven Bennett, Muniak, a Boyne City native, has been at the academy since its inception four years ago. He has also been dually enrolled at North Central Michigan College for the past two years.

During his time at Northwest,

"They are a great bunch of kids."

Steven Bennett,
Northwest Academy Administrator

Muniak pioneered the school's music program by developing and raising money for a digital electronic recording studio. Muniak also taught other students at the school how to use this equipment after he graduated.

Muniak has a 3.996 grade point average.

Barnadyn has also been at the academy since its inception and has been dual enrolled at NCMC for the last two years.

He has indicated he is planning on going into electronic engineering in college. Barnadyn already has a very high skill level with computers and has taken every computer class offered at Northwest, Bennett said.

Barnadyn has a 3.432 grade point average.

Overall, Bennett said Northwest's class of 2000 thinks on a high level and is very independent. Many of the students also showed their interest in higher education and have already started taking some college classes, he said.

Seven out of the nine students graduating are dually enrolled at NCMC.

"They are a great bunch of kids," Bennett added.

Area marinas see business jump thanks to water level

Bergmann Marine's Douglas Bergmann sees increased business from area residents because they are unable to use their own docks.

"There's a lot of marina use from residents with docks that are no good until they're extended," Bergmann said.

The drop in water levels in northern Michigan have left many private docks unusable because they don't extend into deep enough water.

Don Ward, part owner of Ward Bros. Charter Boats, Inc., sees the same situation.

"There's a problem with some docking where people can't get into it," Ward said. "It's a real big problem if they don't have dredging permits. People will have to lengthen their docks."

Charlevoix man runs for state seat

Francis "Brownie" Flanders (R) announced on May 17 that he will seek the seat of Rep. Andy Neumann (D) for the 106th District in the Michigan House of Representatives.

Flanders has worked in the banking industry for most of his life.

"I have been involved in helping small businesses for many years and I understand the concerns of local businesses," he said. "Many people in northern Michigan derive their livelihood from small businesses. That entrepreneurship is what makes America great."

The district covers Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Alpena and Presque Isle counties.

Flanders is a father of four and grandfather of six. He is active with the Boy Scouts of America, the Charlevoix Venetian Festival, Inc., the Charlevoix Planning Commission and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Isle Crafts offers a taste of the island when away

You can get more than just plain candles at Isle Crafts.

The new candle manufacturing company on Beaver Island designs a variety of candles for its customers.
The new company can make scented candles embedded with all sorts of wildflowers and plants native to Beaver Island. Irish themed candles and even candles carved in the shape of the Charlevoix Lighthouse.

"We can also make custom order for people," said co-owner Laura Gillespie. "If they have a particular design, our artists can cast the design and we can mold the candles."

Isle Crafts has been in business since December. It is already proving to be a success with orders from not only on Beaver Island, but across the United States.

"We have been contacted from as far as Washington state and Maine," said Gillespie.

But, candles is just one of the many crafts customers of Isle Crafts can get. The company also makes a wide variety of hand-made wooden products from birdhouses to benches.

"I just like doing crafty kinds of stuff," said Gillespie. "It looked like a fun job. It gives me some peace and quiet."

In addition to giving her something to do with her creativity, Gillespie is also providing her customers with an "authentic souvenir of the is-

The need for speed

With a first place win at the Lake Charles Contraband Festival on May 5 and 6, followed by a second place at the Brunswick Georgia Harborfest, Charlevoix native Vince Voisin is leading the points chase for the APR Super League Championship.

Voisin won the extremely rough water race in Louisiana after setting the fastest qualifying times in his elimination heats. More than 10,000 fans packed the grandstands, plus 300 boats were moored around the course. Second place went to Bill May of Tallahassee, Fla.

On May 12 and 13, Voisin again was top qualifier, winning both of his elimination heats at the Brunswick Georgia Harborfest. He finished second.

Voisin, driving the Traverse Bay Casino Resorts sponsored Formula Two boat, is proving to be one of the most consistent drivers on the circuit.

Both races were taped for broadcast by Speed Vision, for airing at a later date. (Courtesy photo)

Rayders end the week with a series of wins

After starting off the week with a couple of rough losses, the Charlevoix Rayders baseball team ended up finishing off last week's series of double-headers on a high note.

The Charlevoix varsity baseball team started its week with two straight losses in Petoskey May 23 at a double-header. However, the team came back from those losses to beat Harbor Springs in both games of a double-header May 25.

The team stayed with a winning streak into May 26 and beat St. Ignace in both games of a double-header.

In the first game against Petoskey, Charlevoix lost 7-2. The losing pitcher was Jeremiah Teuscher with Chris Loper in relief.

Leading Charlevoix's offense was Nick Cole with a double and a single, Dennis Avery and Shay Hutchison with doubles and Matt Horon, Matt Kilkenny and Jeremiah Teuscher with singles.

Charlevoix couldn't get it together for the next game against Petoskey and lost 5-0.

The losing pitcher was Hutchison with Horon in relief.

While the Rayders didn't put a score on the board in this game, Mike Kochanny hit a double in the fifth inning during a pinch-hit.

"Our defense struggled in the second game giving up three unearned runs. (Hutchison) pitched a solid game but we couldn't provide much offensive support against (Petoskey's pitcher)," Coach Scott Kelly said. "Petoskey is having a terrific year and we were pleased to be in both of these games with our very young team."

Six of Kelly's starters are in the ninth and tenth grade.

Charlevoix fared better against Harbor Springs, beating them in the first game 7-1. Avery was the winning pitcher.

Leading Charlevoix's offense was Hutchison and Avery both with two singles, Boss with a double and Cole, Kochanny and Nate Teuscher with singles.

Charlevoix continued to dominate Harbor Springs in the second game in an 8-7 win. Kilkenny was the winning pitcher in relief of Kreg Wager and Horon.

The Rayders offense was alive in this game as Horon hit a home run and two singles. Jeremiah Teuscher added two more singles, while Avery, Loper and Hutchison hit doubles. Horon and Boss each rounded off the offense with singles.

First race of the season

A. Nony Mouse

'Yachting notes'

One year ago, we wrote, "Just another perfect day in paradise! Oh sure, some would argue that the breezes were too flunky and too light, the temperature was too low, the buoys were not in the right place or the ratings were all wrong. But, it was a fine first race of the fall series of 1999."

The first race of the first series of 2000 was sailed in weather that one might expect...in the last race of the fall series.

Blowing like stink, cold as a wet dog's nose, nasty clouds scudding in from the northwest, the gray leaning lines of driving rain on all sides, your own nervous stomach, the panic of new crews in their first races... OH! What FUN!

Twenty starters — sailed by over four score of your possibly slightly less than sane friends and neighbors — ventured forth to the season.

The J-22s had an outstanding turnout with 13 boats at the starting line — that includes two who started the season just a few seconds early and failed to return to restart.

"Hussy" crossed the finish line 39 seconds before "Gecko," just over an hour after starting. "Swine Flew" was close behind to earn third place honors. After that, "First Date," "Paleface Light," "Rock Steady," "High Maintenance," "Superfluus," "HS Moisture Missile" and "Jubbies" all crossed within seconds of each other. "Thunderstruck" captured cheap seat honors but still did better than either "Habanero" or "Reckless," both of which had PMS. Oops, I mean both were scored PMS, that's P for Pre, M for Mature (argumentative) and S for Starter.

Unlike the J-22s, where your final position is the same as the order in which you cross the finish line, the other fleets have their finish times corrected (also argumentative) to reflect the theoretical differences between different boats. For example, in the Jib & Main Fleet — no spinnakers allowed —, first to finish was "Flash" but "Mi Joy," crossing the finish line just over two minutes later, took first place honors. "Bald Eagle" crossed the finish line and corrected in third. Interesting, same order of finish and same corrected positions as for the first race of '99.

In Spinnaker Fleet A — the bigger of the big boats — "Gotcha" crossed nearly three minutes ahead of "Mint Julep." Unlike last year, "Mint J" nosed her out by 21 seconds on corrected time. Fleet B must still be down south.

Finally, the smaller Fleet C, that night just two P-26s, ended up with "Jesse" significantly ahead of "Cygnus." Jesse had a lower corrected time than Mint Julep or Gotcha, but the J-22s, Mi Joy and Flash were even faster.

Yachting Notes is submitted each week during the "warm" months by the Charlevoix Yacht Club. To contact the club, see its website at www.charlevoixyachtclub.org or call 547-9170.

Charlevoix is host to the oldest ship of the lakes

By GEOFFREY D. REYNOLDS
Charlevoix Historical Society

The Great Lakes water levels may be low this year, but the boats will keep coming as the need for bulk raw and processed materials, such as cement, continues.

But what boats frequent the Charlevoix area you ask? Many, but the oldest also serves one of Charlevoix's oldest industries: Cement.

The current Southdown Challenger began its career as the William P. Snyder. This steel, propeller driven vessel slipped into the water as a 530 foot bulk ore carrier in 1906 after being constructed by the Great Lakes Engineering Works of Ecorse. She was equipped with 31 hatches for ease in moving cargo in and out of her hold and was originally owned by the Shenango Furnace Company of Cleveland, Ohio.

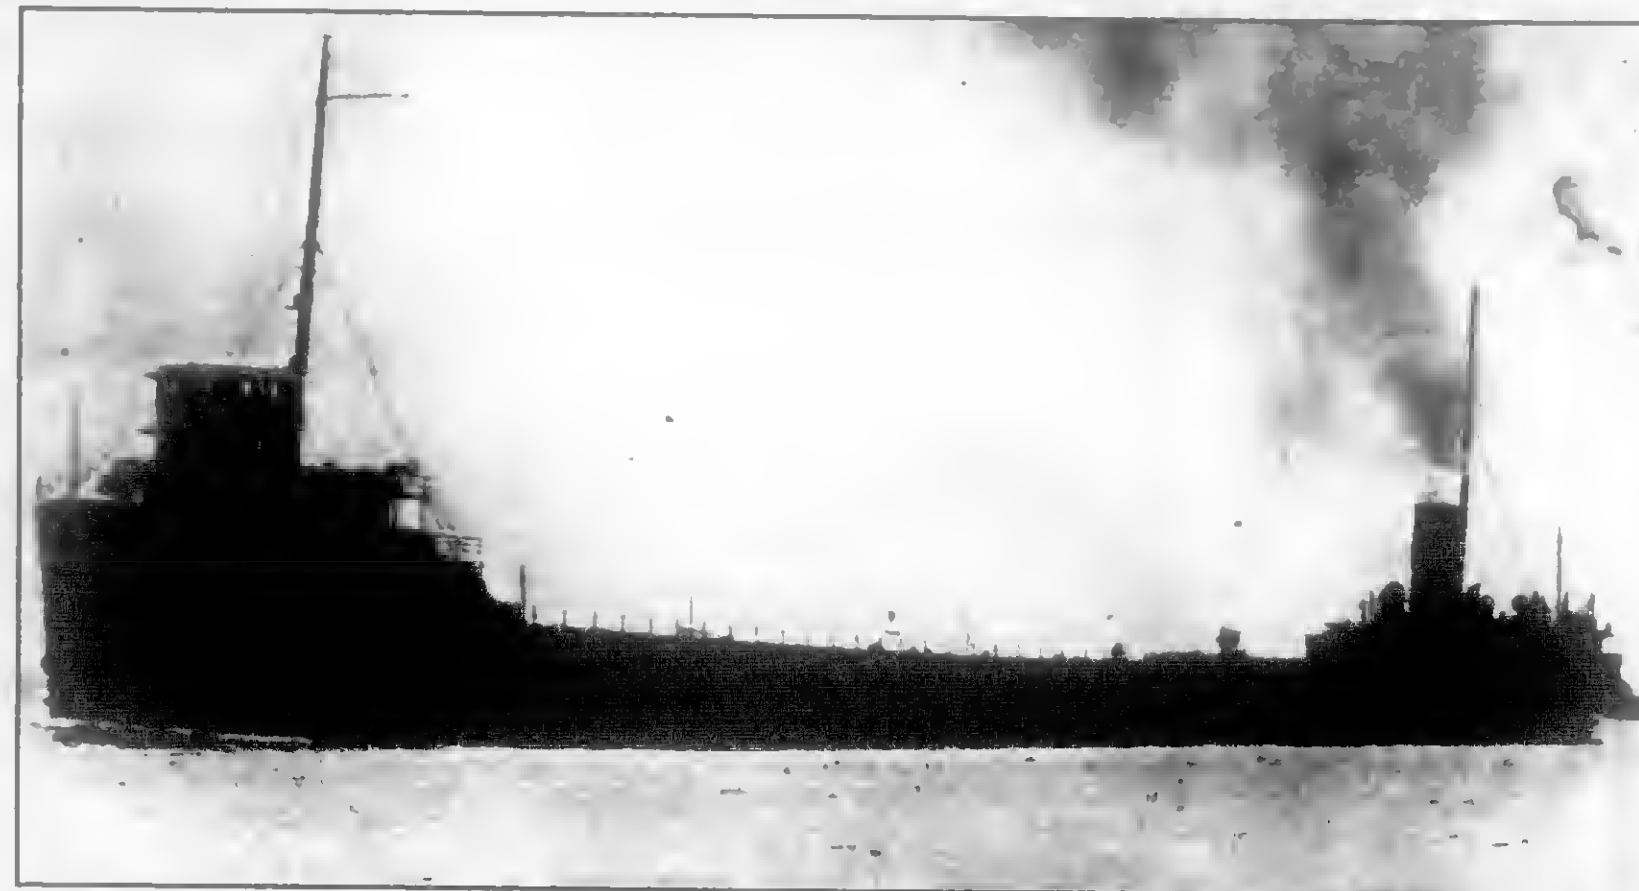

The vessel's first name change, but not the last, came in 1926 when it became the Elton M. Hoyt II. Under that name she was also owned by the Youngstown Steamship Company, a division of Picklands, Mather Company. In 1931 the vessel changed ownership again when it was purchased by the Interlake Steamship Company, also a division of Picklands, Mather Company. Under this ownership the vessel was renamed again, this time as the Alex D. Chisholm, in 1956. Under this name she received a new power plant, oil burning boilers and electric-driven bow thrusters.

After ten years under the flag of Interlake, the Chisholm was sold to the Cement Transit Company, a subsidiary of the Medusa Portland Cement Company and taken to Manitowoc to be revitalized by Manitowoc Shipbuilding, Incorporated of Manitowoc, Wis. There it was repowered with a new engine and boiler and self-unloading equipment to speed up the processes of discharging its cargo at the many docks it called on. After being refitted she was christened again, this time as the Medusa Challenger, by Miss Irene Segewich on June 27, 1967. With her new equipment the exclusive cement-carrying Challenger was able to unload her 11,600 ton capacity at the rate of 1,500 tons per hour. This technological improvement enabled her to move twice as much cement than any other boat on the Lakes at that time.

Coupled with its 14 mph speed she sometimes had to wait up to three days to unload her latest cargo at the terminal it had visited just days before, because they were still trying to distribute the last load to land based vehicles. Her improvements in turn forced the terminals to update their equipment to accommodate this new presence. Estimates are that one load of cement hauled would equal 500 tractor trailer loads, build 10 miles of a two-lane highway or make 6,700,000 concrete blocks.

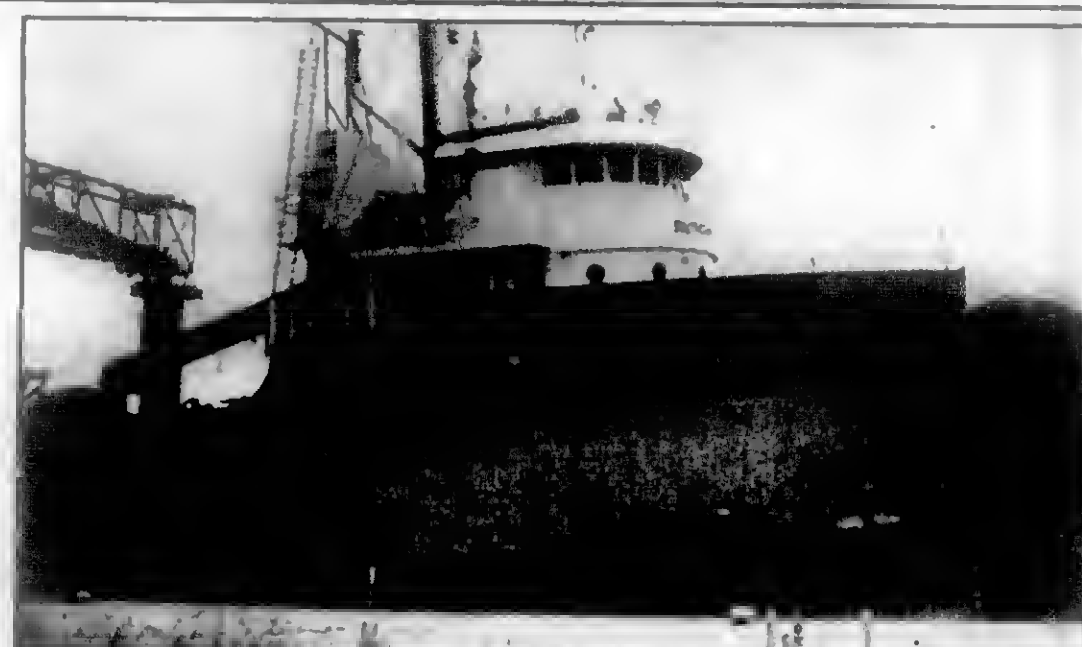

Its first name was chosen to symbolize, like the Greek mythological gorgon, how the cement company's product, Portland cements, mixed with sand, crushed stone and water, are used in construction to produce concrete with the strength of native rock.

The second part of the name came from the company's need to assert its new presence on the lakes and aspire to a place of prominence in the Great Lakes cement business through its first and only ship, as well as its then new plant, here in Charlevoix and its many distribution terminals at Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Chicago, Ferrysburg, and sometimes hauled for the old Penn-Dixie plant at Petoskey.

The vessel's latest change to the Southdown Challenger, but maybe not the last, came in 1999 when she was purchased by Southdown, Inc. along with the Charlevoix plant in 1998.

Now considered the largest and oldest sailing cement carrier operating on the Great Lakes, two others, the E.M. Ford (1898) and the John R. Emery (1905) are currently used for storage only. The Challenger is poised to continue on far into this new century.

Baseball team recovers after loss to Petoskey last week

After these two wins against Harbor Springs, Charlevoix seemed in high spirits. St. Ignace was not going to dampen the Rayders' mood this week.

In the first game against St. Ignace, Charlevoix won 6-2. Loper was the winning pitcher.

For the offense, Horon had a double and two singles, Jeremiah Teuscher had two hits, while Hutchison, Avery, Boss and Nate Teuscher each added singles.

Charlevoix went on to win the second game 11-2. Hutchison was the winning pitcher.

Leading the offense in this game was Kilkenny with a triple and a single, Jeremiah Teuscher and Hutchison with two hits each and singles by Boss, Cole, Jerry Zeitler and Nate Teuscher.

The Rayders overall record is 14-14. They faced Glen Lake in another double-header last night at home, however the results of that game were not available before press time.

Candidates prepare for election

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Voters in the Charlevoix school district will be making their picks for two open school board seats June 12, out of a field of four candidates.

Running for the two open seats are incumbents Larry Levensgood and Mike MacMillan and challengers David Smith and Tamar Whitley. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and voting will take place at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

All four of these people sat down with the Charlevoix Courier recently to answer five questions. Those questions tested the candidates' knowledge of current issues facing the school district, both local and statewide, determined what problems they think students are facing today and assessed how they would make tough decisions as board members.

Those questions and the answers given are as follows — some answers have been edited for length, but do contain a majority of the candidate's statement:

What do you think about the decision to build a new high school on Marion Center Road now that the recall election has failed?

Larry Levensgood — Well, I think the decision was the decision that was made by the community. The decision went through a thorough process and the decision had been made by the community. The community can go forward with the project and the community can support it. Even those that had some concerns about it and didn't necessarily 100 percent agree with it, need to support it at this stage. This is a community decision and a community project and I think that hopefully any concerns that can be raised can be addressed. For example, Dave Knight's (guest column in the May 24 edition of the Charlevoix Courier).

Dave raised some issues that were well worth thinking about. We thought about those issues too but we were so distracted by everything that went on in the process that we are not at the stage of planning for implementing. Obviously if there is anything that we can do to make that school fit as well as possible out there and be part of the community I think we should do it.

Mike MacMillan — Being on the board I thought it was a good idea before the recall initiative and I still think it is a good idea. I think it is a great site. I think that 20 years from now, there won't be a person in town who wasn't for it. It will be everybody who says, "I thought that was a great site all along." It gives us a lot of options for expansion, a lot of stuff for the ball fields and it is a great site.

Eighty-nine graduate from Charlevoix High

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Eighty-nine Charlevoix students sat for the last time in the Charlevoix High School gym as students at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The students received their high school certificates of graduation at the Charlevoix High School graduation commencement ceremonies for the Class of 2000, hereby ending their lessons in the Charlevoix public school system.

"All of us have earned the right to close this chapter in our lives," said Salutatorian Jonathan D. Tebeau to his fellow graduates. "It is your life and make it everything you want it to be."

The guest speaker at the event was Charlevoix graduate and now Sergeant at Arms for the Michigan State Senate Kit Lieberman. Lieberman also encouraged the graduates to go out and make their lives great.

The rest of your life will be based on your choices, she told the graduates. "Recognize what thrills you and seek it out," she said.

Lieberman urged the graduates to discover what it is that "makes their heart sing."

If you are unhappy with your life, it is up to you to determine what to do to change that situation, she said.

Most of the time, the unhappiness is because the person's perception of the situation has changed from being positive to negative.

"When you close off your heart, the music can't get in and the song can't get out," she added.

"Remember, life is suppose to be fun...Enjoy the party."

The sun shone on Northwest Academy's commencement ceremony on Saturday for the nine graduates in the Class of 2000.

Pastor Neil Turner gave the invocation for the graduation given at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church.

The Honor Guard for Boy Scout

Troop Six escorted the graduates to their seats while a room full of proud families and friends looked on.

Michael Muniak was the academy's valedictorian and Matthew Barnadyn was the salutatorian. Special songs and performances were given by students Melissa Maurer, Anora Ruehle, Michael Muniak and Preston Parish.

Student constructed house put up for bid

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

A brand new house built by Charlevoix High School students with construction technology teacher Brian Certa, is finished and up for bids.

The 1,344-square-foot house is the fifth house constructed by Certa's students in his classes. It has three bedrooms and two bathrooms.

Two classes and 35 students were involved in every phase of construction. The students rotated during the building of the house so that they could learn each skill, from roofing to putting up the dry wall.

"We did everything," student Christy Williams said. "We built the walls, put up siding, we built the whole house."

Williams liked putting up the dry wall best and seeing everything finished.

Student Jon Boss liked the framing and putting up the walls and said he enjoyed the hands-on experience.

Student Pat Kilkenny also enjoyed the framing and he thinks the skills he's learned will help him in the future.

"Framing is cool," Kilkenny said. "It's the best class in school. I'll probably use the skills to get through college."

Certa is proud of the work the students have accomplished.

"It's a good group, they did good quality work," Certa said.

Bidding for the house opened on June 2 at $47,000 and continues until June 12. Anyone interested in bidding may call Joe Vogelheim at 547-9980 or the Charlevoix Public Schools.

Trout tournament this weekend

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Beginning at daylight on Friday anglers will hit the lakes as the Sixteenth Annual Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament gets underway.

"It's a family-oriented tournament," Dave Juilleret, a director of the tournament, said. He noted that in past years several young people have come in with the largest fish.

The June 9, 10 and 11 event will award trophies and cash for the largest fish caught in each of four divisions — Brown Trout, Lake Trout, Steelhead and Salmon. The registration deadline is 8 p.m. on June 8. The entry fee is $25.

The awards ceremony begins at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 11 in East Park.

Other activities are the kids fish pond from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday in East Park, a grand prize drawing, food booths and sponsor displays.

Lake Charlevoix and Little Traverse Bay are the areas designated for fishing.

"People won't be able to fish south of Norwood or north of Seven Mile Point," Juilleret said.

Launching will be free of charge at Ferry Beach, East Jordan, Boyne City and Ironton.

The first year of the tournament had approximately 400 entries. That has grown to more than 1,000.

Editor's note: Due to a high volume of letters on the school election and a limited space in this paper, we were not able to publish a letter by Diane Kilkenny supporting Mike MacMillan and Larry Levengood. We apologize.

Since the State of Michigan licensed Reus in 1983, we have remained a pleasant, affordable community caring for ambulatory seniors. By providing more than an assisted living facility does and by avoiding the expense and environment that usually is associated with nursing homes and hospitals, Reus with its wealth of experience is still the choice of discriminating families.

For more information on our private rooms and other amenities please call weekdays, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. or visit Reus anytime.

GRADUATION

Retired teacher speaks at Northwest graduation

Each year the graduates choose their commencement speaker and this year Barry Anderson talked to the students.

Anderson, a teacher for more than 32 years, 29 of them with the Charlevoix Public Schools, had advice and a plea for the graduates.

The years will bring many changes and choices, Anderson said. He encouraged the students to talk with others when they felt the need.

"Please don't hesitate to call me, Bill (Bennett), Gary (Stutzman) Scott (Hankins) or any one of your teachers or the staff if you want to talk or if you need something," Anderson said. "Keep some lifelines and be sure and talk with parents, teachers, elders and friends and keep communicating. You're not alone."

Don't be afraid to fail, Anderson told the graduates and pointed out the many famous people who had failed more than once before they succeeded.

"Don't be afraid to try anything and if you fail, try again," he advised.

Charlevoix Area Hospital BIRTHING CENTER

"Our friends can't believe that we went so far to have all three of our babies. I grew up in the Jordan Valley, and Dennis Joy is my family's doctor. He's taken care of all of us. So when it came time to have children, I just naturally thought of him. It's not the distance. It's the doctors and staff at Charlevoix Area Hospital. They are more personable."

YOUR HEALTH

Gratitude creates health and abundance

Erik Larson
'To your health'

Editor's note: The following column kicks off a new section in the Charlevoix Courier called "Your Health." This is a bi-monthly segment that features columns from local health care professionals on matters that affect your health today.

"Wealthily is he who enjoys what he has." - Lama Surya Das, Awakening the Buddha Within seems to be the battle cry of our times. We see this message on our television screens, web page banners, hear it in conversations at dinner tables and in coffee shops.

More is defined differently by all of us. It may mean more money, more love, a bigger car, a bigger house, more hobbies or more channels to flip through on the satellite dish. Our urge for more is a natural response to a culture that thrives on creating and selling new and improved stuff — faster computers, bigger boats and jazzier coffee grinders. The urge is natural, but somehow acquiring that new thing — be it material or personal does not create contentment for long. There are always bigger houses and new hobbies and even new lovers or spouses to try out. The urge indicates a hunger. A hunger that does not remain satiated for long.

So, if the urge for more is natural and new stuff or new people are not the cure, what is? The cure may be as simple and as difficult as changing your view. Changing your view from noticing what is missing from your life to noticing what is already present and good in your life. In other words, being grateful for what you already have in your life — whether it is just one thing, such as a loving friend, or many things, such as your health, spouse, house, job and community.

Simple, right? This is not a new idea. Such an attitude of gratitude is expressed in worn-out clichés such as, "A bird in the hand is better than two in the bush" or "The grass always looks greener on the other side of the fence."

Simple idea, but does it work — does it really satisfy the urge for more? These are the questions a couple of psychologists from University of California at Davis asked when they recently set up a study to look at the role of gratitude in our lives. The psychologists looked at three different groups over the course of a 10 week study. During the study, all participants noted how optimistic they felt about their lives, recorded any illnesses that occurred and recorded progress toward goals they had made for themselves at the beginning of the study.

The only variable in the study is what members of each group were asked to write about in their weekly journals. Each week, group number one journaled five hassles they had experienced. Group number two journaled five random events for the week. Group number three journaled five things they were grateful for during the week.

At the end of the study, the psychologists found that group number three — the gratitude group — by far, experienced the most satisfying life during the ten weeks of the study. Members of the gratitude group achieved more progress toward their personal goals, were healthier and reported a higher level of satisfaction and optimism.

What is important to remember is that the only thing these people did differently was pay attention to what was already good in their lives. The paradox of the study reveals that by simply paying attention to what is already positive in your life, you actually create a mind-set that allows you to attract more positives into your life. In such a simple way, gratefulness can create better health, happier attitudes and more success in your life. Why not give it a try today? All it may cost you is your hunger for more.

Life on an island in Lake Michigan

"What do you do if it rains?" Now this particular question caused a lot of laughter and the first instinct was to say, "We get wet" however, we do what anyone else would do, we grab an umbrella.

There are those who say that living in the middle of northern Lake Michigan means you have no access to culture. They are wrong. The island has many, many talented artists whose works are displayed, not only here, but in galleries on the mainland. We have published writers who live here year 'round and some that summer here. Great music isn't lost to us either, through grants and cooperation between the school and other organizations we've had jazz groups, opera performances and soloists perform to appreciated crowds.

One comment that is heard quite often is, "I wouldn't want to live here year 'round, what if you got really sick? There's no hospital." True we have no hospital, but we do have a rural health center with a nurse practitioner on 24 hours and we have a full EMT crew including four paramedics. In an emergency a person can be flown to Traverse City, Charlevoix or Petoskey about as fast as someone who lived in a small town downstate could be transferred to a hospital.

So who lives on Beaver Island? Those who enjoy the simpler things in life, people who enjoy solitude and who are comfortable with themselves. The residents can mingle or not, the decision is theirs and respected by the other inhabitants. One thing Islanders have in common is the ability to entertain themselves, to be able to "make do" or do without, to improvise when something needed isn't available.

Beaver Island isn't a place; it's a way of life and one we treasure. Phyllis Moore is a Beaver Island resident who contributes island news to the Charlevoix Courier. She can be reached through her website at www.beaverislandtour.com.

Hospice to raise funds with auction

It's time for another Hospice auction.

As in Hospice's other past auctions, hundreds of items will be available for both silent and live auctions. Items include: an Amish chair, evening cruises on Lake Charlevoix, a five day golf vacation in Florida, gift certificates for local golf courses and restaurants, household items such as ceramics and candles and art.

The auction will start at 5 p.m. Friday at the Boyne Mountain Convention Center. A $20 donation provides entry to the auction's hors d'oeuvres, a $500 grand prize and the music of Margaret Thomson. The auctioneers are Jeff Macfarlane and Jim White.

Additionally, some $100 tickets are still available for the drawing for the 1930 Model A Ford Sedan that was donated by Reginald Bird of Eastport. The Ford accounts for this year's auction theme, "Travel Down Memory Lane." Tickets for the car are available from Don's IGA in Charlevoix and attending the auction is not necessary to win the Model A.

Auction tickets are available at the Clothing Company in downtown Charlevoix. The auction time specified on the tickets should be disregarded.

This auction provides important funding for hospice, so services can be provided to Charlevoix County as well as parts of Emmet and Antrim counties.

New business association seeks promotional ideas

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The Charlevoix Business Association, a new organization formed to promote shopping in Charlevoix, met with several business owners last week to get ideas for promotions.

"We want to get more people to start shopping in Charlevoix," organizer Bob Hoffman said. "We're an outgrowth of the Merchants Association. That association was never very well defined. This is more of a community-wide promotion and advertisement group."

The Charlevoix Business Association (CBA) is for all area businesses, not just the downtown retailers, Hoffman said.

Hoffman, a Charlevoix CPA, is the principal spokesperson of the CBA.

Promotional ideas the group discussed include a larger sidewalk sales event.

"We need ideas to improve (the event) and on how best to spend ad money," Hoffman said. "Sidewalk sales used to be more crowded."

Another idea the CBA is considering for promotion is a restaurant guide. The group proposes sending flyers to Charlevoix area restaurants and asking for their menus. The menus would be put in binders and given to area hotels and motels for placement in their guest rooms.

The CBA is working with the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Mark Greyerbiehl, owner of Ace Hardware said. With recent staff changes, the chamber hasn't had enough time to fully promote businesses, he said.

"We've met with the Chamber of Commerce a couple of times to get ideas and make plans for melding the two (organizations) together," Greyerbiehl said. "We're working in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce."

The CBA will be raising money for advertising and hopes to receive funds from the Visitors and Convention Bureau and the Downtown Development Authority, as well.

"All money received goes directly into public relations," Hoffman said.

School board candidates views on the issues

Larry Levensgood

should preface it, if I may, since I have a Ph.D. in education and I have taught in every state in the U.S. in some capacity, except for North Carolina. I also have some concepts I try to bring to people relative to education and communication. In the educational field, communication is paramount and understanding exactly what communication means is paramount. The best example I can give is; the expert is not the person that knows what they are talking about, rather the expert ensures that you know what they are talking about. Essentially communication means that we both have the same idea in our minds at the same time and that I have done everything that I can to ensure that you understand exactly what I am saying and what I mean. I think that what's happened in this present situation with the location of the school, not withstanding the fact there are a heck of a lot of good people involved with this thing, I believe that this communication really has not been paramount.

Tamar Whitley — I think that the people of Charlevoix obviously want a new facility. I think also the school board has to work out all the final details and I am sure they are working with those zoning board people until the process is done. We have to work toward a good facility.

What is your opinion on voucher legislation?

Levensgood — I'm opposed to the voucher legislation. I see the voucher legislation as an attack on the public school system. I'm a believer in the public school system and it's prohibited in the constitution. I think we should support the Michigan constitution and oppose the voucher. My opinion on a tax on public schools is that any criticism of public schools, they should be addressed and make corrections and improvements as needed and as able in the current system.

MacMillan — I think that the voucher legislation probably will hurt public education. I'm opposed to it. I see what people are trying to do, but I don't think it will help the people they are targeting. I think the people they are targeting are the lower income people, so that they can send their children to better schools and voucher is not going to cover tuition to private schools that people are going to want to send their kids to, so they are still not making it fair. It is not going to even things out. I think we are lucky here. I don't think we will probably see some impact that some of the bigger city schools will see. There aren't so many options in a close area in this part of the state.

Smith — It needs to be analyzed, discussed and debated and congenially argued. Emphasis on congenial.

Whitley — I think it could be a very good thing. I don't think the traditional public school should be worried about the voucher legislation. If you have a good product you will have many children to fill your schools and I think people need to work for their children, take care of their children and the money they intend to spend for their children needs to be spent toward the children to go to school.

What is the biggest problem facing students today and how would you address it?

Levensgood — I think that the biggest problem facing our students today is school buildings that are not adequate facilities. That's been our attempt to address that through improved facilities and the facilities plan that we have done. There is a real crowding problem at the elementary school. The elementary is a good school, a good school building, it's well built, it should be adequate to house our students, but we have too many in there for the facility that we have. That's how we're attempting to address it, is by implementation of the facilities plan. Which, again, includes providing adequate technology and all the necessary educational features and opportunities for our kids, so I think we have done a good job of doing that with our facilities plan. See QUESTIONS, page 15 ilities plan. It is going to take a couple of years to get it implemented. That's the biggest challenges facing our students that there is enough facilities for our students.

MacMillan — I think that there are so many influences pulling them in so many directions it is tough for them to concentrate on the school portion of it. Addressing it is even tougher because I don't see the influences as decreasing, they are only going to increase. I think that doing some of the things we are doing right now, like keeping the kids involved with stuff in the school with sports and stuff like that and not letting them be pulled outside the school for any activities that aren't school related (will address it). I think that the staff of teachers we have can motivate the kids to be interested in their studies to value the education. We are lucky because we have a great staff of teachers doing that.

Smith — It's the perennial problem that educators always face; How to best prepare the students for the future. The future of the society we live in is so dynamic, so pluralistic that it takes a great deal of wisdom to look forward to where our society may be going. The basic job in education is to prepare people for the future. I should say adequately prepare young people for the future. Education needs a preeminent goal, need, vision and focus.

Whitley — I think the constant fight is to continue their education and still stay socially inept in their school system. There is a tremendous pressure on our students to go and do different things. We have lots of children going through probate court, what is really hard to do is keep their focus in school, on the job at hand, which is their education. My idea of solving that problem is trying to get parents actively involved in their student's education and helping their school. I have been a part of lots of programs, there are many kinds of solutions. I don't think our legislature allows us to say, 'If your child is in my school you need to put in x amount of hours,' but it is a pretty decent attitude. If your child is going to be in my school, you need to come and help us. You need to volunteer or bring us something to help your child continue to be there. We need a very large support system.

What is the condition of the Charlevoix school district and how would you improve it? (Condition could mean either academic or physical)

Levensgood — I think the condition of the school district is good. I think the overall condition and academic opportunities for our students is good. Obviously there is always room for improvement. You should not sit back and say everything is fine because obviously everything is not. We need opportunities for all students. We need all students to achieve as much as their potential will allow them to. I think there is al-

Baseball team loses 8-6 in district play Saturday

The Charlevoix High School baseball team ended its season Saturday with a tough loss to East Jordan 8-6 in district play at Boyne City.

East Jordan went on to take the district title that day. "It was disappointing. The kids tried hard but we had five errors. Things we normally don't do," said Coach Scott Kelly.

Chris Loper was the starting pitcher, with Jeremiah Teuscher in relief.

Offensive strides were made by:

Nate Teuscher with two hits, Dennis Avery with two hits, Matt Kilkenny with two hits, Jeremiah Teuscher with a hit, Loper with a double, Shay Hutchison with a single and Nick Cole with a single.

Several times throughout the game Charlevoix ended its turn at bat with players in scoring positions on second and third, but without capitalizing on it.

Added to this was the fact that East Jordan is a tough team full of "scrappers," Kelly said.

This final loss comes bitter-sweet for Kelly as this is his last year as varsity baseball coach. He said he will be turning in his letter of resignation sometime this week.

"Business is having more demands for me. It has been harder to take time out," he said.

Kelly has been a baseball coach for four years.

The Rayders are ending their season with a 16-17 overall record. This includes the district loss to East Jordan.

Softball team loses 14-0 at districts

The Charlevoix Varsity Softball team closed out its season Saturday with a 14-0 loss to East Jordan in the districts at Boyne City.

Dena Sheldon was the losing pitcher. Leading the offense was Sheldon with a hit, Starlah Brachel with two singles and Krista Swenor with a "suitcase" bunt.

"The girls played their hearts out. It was a good game for us, but unfortunately we ended up on the short end," said Coach Phil Butler. He said East Jordan didn't have any more enthusiasm for winning than Charlevoix, but they were "just a little bit more seasoned."

"Our girls played the best they could. I was very proud of them," Butler said.

He added he wanted to thank all of his players for a great year and he would like to thank all of the parents for supporting the team and coming out for all of the games.

Boys' and girls' track teams represented at state meet

Members of the Charlevoix high school track teams took impressive finishes at the state meet Saturday.

Most notably was Rory Gnatkowski, who placed eleventh in the state for the pole vault with a height of 12 feet, 3 inches. Gnatkowski was originally ranked 26 out of the 27 vaulters from throughout the state.

"We thought he had a good day. I know it motivated him to come back and try again next year," said boys' track coach Ken Plude. "We had a great time and it was good experience."

Gnatkowski started on the track team halfway through the season after his family moved to Charlevoix from Roscommon.

Plude said he had Gnatkowski vaulting 13 feet during practices before the state event, but an accident right before his attempt at state shook him up a little too much. During a practice vault, Gnatkowski fell 13 feet to the ground when his pole slipped.

"He couldn't concentrate after that. I think it rattled him a little," Plude said.

In addition to Gnatkowski's strong showing, Kati Swenor of the girls' track team also had an impressive run.

Swenor placed eleventh in the two mile run and her time of 12 minutes, 9 seconds beat the school record that was previously 12 minutes, 12 seconds.

The girls' team of Swenor, Liz Ulrich, Laura Schairbaum and Natasha Kleiber also finished sixteenth in the state for the two mile relay with their time of 10 minutes, 14 seconds.

Youngsters 12 years and older are to register at 8:45 a.m. and those 8-11 years old are signing up at 10 a.m. There is a per-lesson fee of $4 or a $35 season plan option that also pays for 12 scheduled lessons and includes accident insurance.

Additional adult volunteers are needed to work in the mentoring program.

Those interested should call 547-6433 or the Charlevoix Recreation Department at 547-3253.

Know the wind before you raise your sails on the lake

A. Nony Mouse
'Yachting notes'

The smart skipper tries to never be surprised by the weather.

A little homework changes the guess at the direction of the next wind shift from "wild" to "educated." Non-sailors who have an interest in the near term local weather will also enjoy some of these tips. Just don't get so entertained that you almost miss the start! (Marty — Is that you?)

typically sees our weather a couple hours before we do. It's complete with wind direction, average speed and others at www.ndbc.noaa.gov/station_page.php?station=45002.

Quit looking at Traverse City or Alpena for local weather. Instead try www.weather.yahoo.com/forecast/Lake_Charlevoix_MI_US_f.html. It always has the Charlevoix forecasts, the other two may or may not.

For in-depth predictions, the best data source is Intellicast. Start at www.intellicast.com/LocalWeather/World/UnitedStates/Midwest/Michigan/Alpena/Radar. Review the radar and radar loops for severe weather, radar reflectivity for precipitation and sail weather for wind data. Alpena radar is at Gaylord, not Alpena. Try the Java loop.

Now for the race results:
The second race of this season — May 31 — brought out more competition with the J22's, now up to 15 starters. "Superfluus" (1:17:32) and "Swine Flew" (1:19:22) took advantage of the spooky air and led the way. Some 15 minutes later along came "First Date," then it was "Jubbies," "Habanero," "Gegko," "Thunderstruck," "Rock Steady (the graduate)," "Crazy Horse," "Reckless," "HS Moisture Missile," "Hussy" and "Paleface Lite." "High Maintenance" did not finish. "Bald Eagle" (1:57:23) and "MI Joy" corrected ahead of "Flash" who was first to finish in the Jib and Main Fleet. Both "Apothecary" and "Cheemunn" were DNF in the light and flunky air.

Those same weird winds — or lack of — got the best of "Gotcha!" and "Mint Julep" in the big boat fleet; only "Kamikaze" crossed the finish line.

Once again, only two P-26 lead sleds were out in the smaller spinnaker fleet as "Jesse" made it two in a row over "Cygnus."

In answer to a reader's question — if you are not a CYC member but think you would like to crew, get a member to post your name and telephone number on the board at the club. Include a brief statement like, "no experience, but eager and reliable," "Lightweight, but strong," "Lousy sailor, but great looking," or whatever and also state when you're available.

If you don't know anyone at the club, call the Charlevoix Courier and try to impose on Kim Taylor or Valerie Pedersen — both are members — to post it for you. For Wednesday races, you typically need to be at a dock by 5 p.m.

The lies and alibis at the club start right after the race and last until after the finishes are posted. If you enjoy it, and if the others enjoy you, expect to become a regular — but you will then have to fork over $15 to be a "crew" member of the CYC. Hope to see you there!

MacMillan — I think we are pretty lucky, because I think we are in pretty good shape. We have an excellent teaching staff, our administrator is as good as any in the state, probably the country, he is top notch. Financially we are pretty stable, that is pretty amazing when you look at school districts around us, like Traverse City and Gaylord, that are really struggling with finances. I think that we have safe facilities, the middle school is kind of outdated, but we are going to improve on that pretty soon. I think that the biggest thing that is going to improve the district is the new high school with a new auditorium for performances. When we lose teaching staff, we have to keep replacing them with quality people, which we have certainly have been able to do. We have to keep an eye on the finances, the economy is good now and the foundation grant is pretty good, but that may stop and our expenses are not likely to go down. They are likely to increase, so I think that careful financial management is important so we don't have to dip into our fund equity for operation.

Smith — I think you have dedicated, skillful, caring teachers and administrators and I believe that they are producing an above-average product. And the challenge that I see is to make the best better. Again I am an educator, I am a philosopher of education, so I believe that in education all things spring from and are based in an understanding of both the philosophy and the psychology of education. And I think too often rather than understanding and dealing with it from principles, we get caught up in day-by-day techniques. First off you must understand the principles of education to maintain a successful trend, one of them being communication as I described previously.

Whitley — I think we should always stay positive in our ideas of the condition of our schools. Like anything, there are improvements to be made everywhere. I guess if you pinpointed the word condition, I might think about it longer. If you are talking about the physical condition of the building, I think obviously the need is there. The middle school is a little old and the high school is obviously in need of repairs. The student body, I think we need to find a way to keep all of our children in the traditional public schools. We need a way to keep every child there, not just the high academics or the special need child, but that middle ground. There is a lot of middle ground kids that need to be kept in our school system and not felt like they are not wanted there.

If Charlevoix ever faced budget problems and had to cut some student programs (extra-curricular or academic) which would you pick and why?

Levengood — That really is a tough question because you would have to assess where your students and your community are getting the least benefit for the dollar. If we had some athletic programs with low student participation, those would have to be looked at very seriously. Charlevoix has always been it the mode of adding those programs. We're in a position for the size of school district that we are that we offer an awful lot for the number of students that we have. Obviously that comes down to individual student attention and individual student achievement that we want to be able to maintain. If we face that crunch, if you have an athletic program out there that had very low student participation and very high costs, you'd have to seriously look at eliminating that. I personally would rather do that than eliminate any academic programs. Don't get me wrong I'm a supporter of the extra-curricular and athletic programs but if you had some that had very low participation at that particular time, you'd have to take a look at cutting those. Of course you'd have to consider that in terms of academics. If you had an academic program that kids were participating in that didn't have much in the way of enrollment you'd have to take a look at that too. Obviously you'd have to assess more than just numbers. In other words student participation may be a little lower than some other classes, but if the benefit of that were significant for those particular students it would be hard to cut it just based on numbers. Obviously you want to make your cuts in a way that would impact the people you serve in the least harmful way.

MacMillan — I don't think that is my job to cut programs. My job as a board member is to let administration make recommendations on what should be cut. Those guys are the professionals, they are the educators and they can come and say, "This program you will have to do without and this program you will have to do without," and then I think the board can look at it and say, "yes" or "no." And I think some of the yes or no comes from some of the feedback the board members get from the community. But, realistically, recommendations should come from the administrators, they are the pros.

Smith — You're talking to a 25 year veteran of the US Coast Guard. The motto of the Coast Guard basically is to do more and more, with less and less, until you end up doing everything with nothing. Essentially what is happening right now with the military in the US is not that far from that. So, first of all that is part of my background, so I'm familiar with doing that. Secondly, academics is the process of education, so academics is the last thing that takes the whack. Also with community based education many of the influences in such things as sports, extra curricular activities such as theater, drama which are big items in this community and I am not underrating their importance, but there are so many wonderful resources in this community on a volunteer basis, that if there were slack, that would be something that could be reduced, I believe we have the capacity in this community to provide, through volunteers, a large part of what might be reduced in a normal school budget and I speak that way because I'm president of the pool and I'm pretty familiar of what we can generate in this community through the good will and contributions of the citizens of this community.

Whitley — That is a totally impossible question to ask, because just like you run your household, I don't run a budget at my household until I get to that point. I can't tell you this is exactly the program I am going to cut, but I will tell you I will overlook the whole area and there is fat in every program we have. If it is just a matter of trimming those programs and making them work more efficiently that would be my first solution before I decided to cut programs.

For more information on the candidates, there is a "Meet the Candidates" public forum at 7 p.m. tonight at the Charlevoix library.

MacMillan, Levensgood reelected

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix school district voters reelected Larry Levensgood and Michael MacMillan to another term on the school board Monday night.

Levensgood had the most votes with 631 votes in favor of him (35.7 percent). MacMillan was second with 583 votes (33 percent). Challenger David Smith received 306 votes (17.3 percent) and challenger Tamar Whitley received 246 votes

"Obviously the community is in support of the (school) board...."

John Sturock,
Charlevoix school superintendent

(13.9 percent).

"Obviously the community is in support of the (school) board by re-electing the incumbents," said Charlevoix Superintendent John Sturock. "They put the incumbents back in office by a 2-1 margin."

A total of 906 votes were cast in the election, which is about 13 percent of the total voting population in the Charlevoix school district.

According to Election Chairperson Doris Pearl this is normal for a school board election.

"There is 600 to 800 votes in every election that I have ever done," she said. Pearl added voting was steady all day and there were no problems.

"I guess a majority of the electorate are happy with the way the school board runs," said Smith after his loss.

Smith added he was very happy with the way people in this election treated each other.

Charlevoix school site under the gun...again

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Monday's Marion Township Planning Commission meeting drew a standing-room-only crowd as the commissioners reviewed the Charlevoix High School site plan.

A public hearing was part of the meeting. Interest was high and almost no one moved during the meeting that lasted well over three hours.

A decision on the site plan was not made at the meeting. Another meeting is set for 7 p.m. June 26 at the Marion Township Hall. Planning Commission Chairman Tim Matchett said.

The commissioners' job is to determine whether the 76-acre site on which the new school will sit meets the standards of township ordinances. They are not charged with decisions on the new school buildings.

Some members of the audience urged the planning commissioners to take their time with their decision to approve or disapprove the school's site plan.

"You set the wheels in motion with this decision," Ken Staley said. "This whole thing cannot be limited to just the 76 acres. It's a ripple effect."

Everything back to normal at hospital

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Employees at Charlevoix Area Hospital are back into their regular work routine, following last week's disruption when a car crashed into a hospital wall next to the front entrance.

"Everyone's just getting on with their work," hospital spokeswoman Tamara Stevens said. "It hasn't interfered with patient care."

No one was injured when the 1987 Oldsmobile Delta 88 driven by Olive Louisa VerWys, 88, of Charlevoix, ended up with its hood inside a hospital employee's office June 6.

Sandra Bennett, R.N., a nursing housing supervisor, had left her office just moments before the car came crashing into the room. Although shaken, she went outside to check on the driver of the car.

VerWys was examined in the hospital's emergency room and then released.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is investigating the cause for the loss of VerWys' control of her car. Preliminary reports state that the floor mat became bundled up and jammed under the gas pedal.

The hospital does not yet have a damage estimate from its insurance company.

Students create poetry books

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Jasmine Emerald Withoefst wrote about love, she wrote about hate, and, for the sixth-grade student's favorite poem in her book, she wrote about what her life would be like as a bird.

"If I were a bird
"I would soar through the air.
"I would always go
"Everywhere on a dare," Jasmine's poem says in part.

Ryan Graham, Jasmine's classmate, chose his poem "Over the Edge," as his favorite:

"Over the Edge,
"It's what lies behind the hedge.
"Don't crawl over the hedge
"or you'll fall over the edge.
"I once hit the hedge with a "sledge
"And it fell over the edge.
"You don't believe me about the edge.

"Oops, I hope you find a ledge," Ryan's poem reads.

The students were part of four Charlevoix Public School sixth-grade classes that formed their own publishing firms, designed, wrote and illustrated their own books, and wrote a sample application for a job as an editor and art director.

Teacher Kathy Gowell assigns the unique project for the students' final class work. To receive an "A" from her on the assignment, students must create a book with 14 poems, eight illustrations and include two illustrated poems from two other authors.

"It's really a project not just for a grade, but a real-life project," Gowell said. "It applies to their lives in the future."

The students are probably letting people like teachers and parents think about the "lives in the future" part. For them the project was mostly just fun.

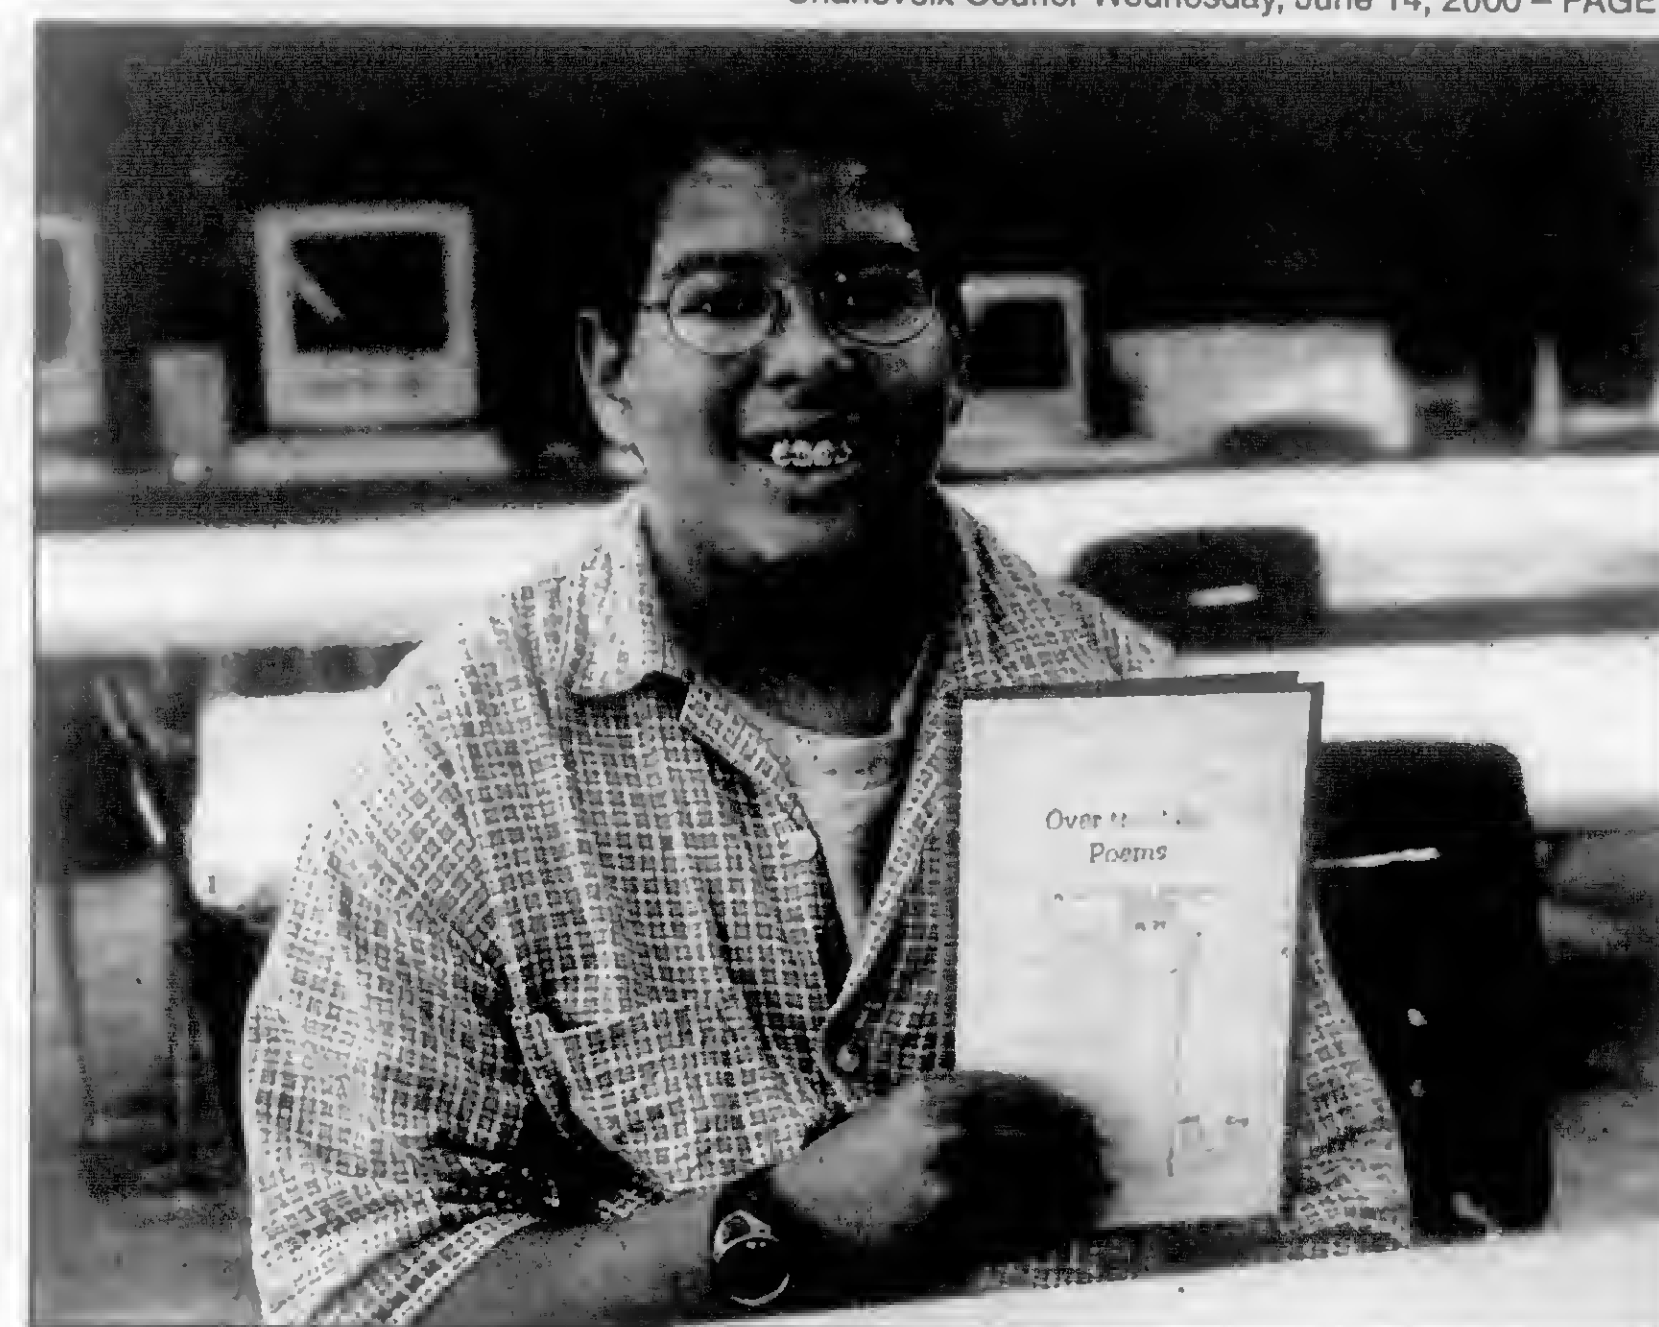

"I really liked finding creativeness in myself," Jasmine said. She enjoys poetry and has previously written several poems.

Ryan liked the project because he wasn't told what to write.

"It was like free writing, saying what you wanted," Ryan said. "You could write on any subject or anything."

Student Jarod Kirby appreciated that idea, too.

"It was pretty fun," he said. "We got to make up our own poems." Jarod preferred the drawing he did for the project a little more than the writing, but enjoyed both.

Ryan Graham liked the freedom to choose the subjects he wrote about in his poetry book. (Photo by B. J. Hetler)

Parents joined the students to review the books and partake of refreshments on June 6. The books were passed around for written comments from the class.

Glen's fire sprinklers work

At 2:10 p.m., June 4, the Charlevoix Fire Department responded to a report of fire sprinklers operating at the Glen's Market on M-66 in Charlevoix.

On their arrival, firefighters found that there had been a fire in a trash container adjacent to the can and bottle return machines and one sprinkler head had activated, extinguishing the fire. There was no other property damage, but there was smoke damage in the area of the fire.

The store was evacuated when the alarm sounded, with no injuries to the public. One store employee was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital for smoke inhalation.

The fire department was on the scene for approximately an hour, assisting store employees in clean up and placing the sprinkler system back in service.

OPINIONS

Are these the signs of a turning economy?

Jeremy McBain
'Just a thought'

Maybe things just aren't as great in the American economy as it seems?

I found myself asking that question Monday after reading a couple of national newspapers. While glowing stories of rising stocks, great high-tech companies and increasing pay filled the pages, I still found a few items that were a little disconcerting to me.

These articles informed me about the ever increasing gasoline prices, how home prices and rental prices are going through the roof and how there was a slight increase in the unemployment numbers in May. I wonder if we can really say the economy is great for Americans? Factor in the higher cost of getting to work and the higher cost of having a roof over your head and it seems the economy may not be that great for average Americans.

For example, there is already a shortage of affordable housing in Charlevoix — ask any business person trying to find homes for their new employees. Because of this, many people that work here are living outside of town. To get to work, these people have to get into gas-eating vehicles and drive to work, thus consuming more of their paychecks.

Plus, think about these hardships if you were unemployed. Yes, you may argue, "But unemployment is low." You must still realize there are people out there who do not have a job and are desperately trying to find one.

With already low cash reserves, these people must also try and find affordable housing. This at a time when housing costs have soared 1.5 times the inflation rate, according to HUD Secretary Andrew Cuomo in Monday's Detroit Free Press. And, like all of us, these folks must also pay outlandish amounts for gasoline as they drive around town looking for a new job and a place to live, adding more to their money woes.

Pretty soon, we will probably see an above-average increase in items needed for living. I am already seeing a slightly higher cost in food. How soon before I have to start looking at taking out a bank loan to buy a month's supply of groceries?

The process to answer the question about whether the economy is good or bad and why housing and gas costs are going up almost always touches on the subject of inflation. Inflation is an interesting subject to me. When you really look at it, you can see the greediness that sometimes pervades our society.

Think about it. When workers start making more money, inflation usually takes place. What is inflation? It is the raising of prices.

One time I asked a person I know who is skilled in economics and math why prices go up like this. She said they go up because the cost of production goes up.

"So why does the cost of production go up?" I asked. "Because the cost of the materials and labor goes up, was the answer. My temporary economics instructor gave me a strange look after saying this — possibly realizing what I was going to say next.

"So, let me see if I understand this. The people gathering the materials for production see that workers have more money, so they want their piece of the pie and raise their prices to get more of the workers' dough. Plus, the workers' bosses see that they are paying their employees more, and these bosses also want more money. To get more money, they raise the price of the product they are selling. Therefore the entire system is based on greed," I concluded.

With a red-face and a frustrated shake of her hands, my instructor walked away. My economics lesson was over for that day.

So, is the economy really great or are signs of greediness starting to show — the greediness from oil companies and housing developers wanting more of the working American's paycheck? And, if the economy is so good, why does it seem that more and more of my paycheck is being spent on essential items?

I don't really know the answer, I'm just asking questions. And these are interesting questions to ask this summer as you fill up your gas-tank or try and find affordable housing for yourself or your employees.

Walking offers exercise and peace

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

I like to walk. I do not hike much. Hiking implies specialized shoes, a carefully balanced backpack and at least some food and thorough planning. Walking requires almost no preparation, needs only shoes that fit reasonably well and can be done without carrying anything, although small packages are allowed. Hiking could be an Olympic sport; walking is just how people have historically gotten from place to place.

Walking brings the world to us at a pace that our ordinary senses can appreciate. Running also provides an appropriate pace, but after a few blocks, all the concentration is on what is happening inside the runner and little attention can be paid to the externals. The heart, the lungs and the knees all cry out for attention and the world around cannot compete. Walking allows us to see individual plants and trees, not just the green blur of mile a minute auto travel. It is even possible to note the day-to-day changes in those growing things while walking. Yesterday the oak leaves were the size of squirrel's ears and today they are more like those of the cat next door.

For most of my working life, I was fortunate enough to have lived where I could walk from home to office or laboratory. For nearly 30 years, I walked two miles to Luther College across a town almost as lovely as Charlevoix. The walk home at the end of the day was especially wonderful. The phone never rang and I had almost half-an-hour to come down from the day and start smiling. At other times, I walked through three miles of Seattle daily for a few months and later did the same thing in Miami. I have now walked over most of Charlevoix and I can personally recommend walking as the best way to see our town. You get to know every tree and most of the dandelions in just a few trips. I don't walk to the post office much anymore, but almost anywhere else is available. Summer or winter, walking gets you in touch with the ground or the sidewalk or the puddles or the deep snow. It's good to have an errand to accomplish, but that's not essential. Walking can be its own reason for being. And, yes, you do have time for it.

I am pleased to note in the newsletters from medical stations that walking is commonly given place as one of the finest and least damaging approaches to keeping fit. Walking doesn't do permanent damage to your knees. It doesn't usually cause your feet to cry out for relief and it certainly does provide the sort of cardiac and respiratory workout that those of us not aspiring to marathon glory need.

According to a bumper sticker I read once, time spent walking, like time spent fishing, is not generally subtracted from your allotted years on earth. Just remember not to take your cell phone and keep your eyes open. You might see a wonder as well as become one.

Teacher receives thanks

Editor:
We would like to extend our gratitude and sincere "thanks" to Lori Bolt, who has been teaching art the past five years at St. Mary's School of Charlevoix.

During this time, Lori inspired not only our daughter's desire and curiosity, but countless other students that took the opportunity to learn, create and explore art as a process.

To understand and enable her students to work, Lori always and unconditionally, provided the tools, the medium and perhaps most importantly, the language of art. She relinquished praise graciously, but would challenge one to strive for identity and individual style. At times she would make requests, for better or worse (depending if it was your work in question) to start over!

Not only are we fortunate for Lori's teaching but for her commitment and involvement in the community. She utilized her resources and brought them in the classroom. To name just a few: Susan Bolt, Russ Bolt, Jave Diller and the Jordan River Arts Council, Frank Has-seld.

Lori provided our kids with the opportunity to participate each year in the China International Children's Painting Exhibition and each year one of our student's work was selected!

Also, each year one student's work is chosen as part of the permanent collection of St. Mary's school. This student is the recipient of the Monica McHugh Miller Award.

This past Christmas season Lori had all of the students draw their favorite local businesses. These selected drawings became the visual of the Charlevoix Courier Christmas Songbook!

Lori, you've done more than teach art, you've made art essential to our lives.

Pool auction needs donations

Editor:
Over 40 years ago the late Ralph Hamilton, a member of the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix, promoted a community indoor swimming pool for the Charlevoix County area. After years of dedicated service from a great number of volunteers, that vision became a reality a few short years ago.

The greater Charlevoix Area Community Pool in its three short years of service has now served over 80,000 individuals, groups, children, teens and seniors, with affordable opportunities to use the pool's service. Some of the services provided at the pool are water safety, therapeutic hydro therapy, boating safety, Red Cross lifesaving, Aqua aerobics, swim team competitions and good old recreation.

Not only do these users come to this beautiful indoor year around pool from the immediate surroundings, but as far away as Harbor Springs, Beaver Island, Ellsworth, Petoskey, East Jordan, Boyne City and Central Lake.

What makes this community pool unique from others? The Charlevoix Community Pool is one of only a small handful of its kind in the country, a true community pool in every sense of the word. What most people may not realize is that there is no public funding for this facility; every penny for the operations comes from gifts, user fees, private donations, endowments and fund-raisers.

Without the generosity of the greater community this pool cannot exist.

The largest public fund-raiser for the pool is the annual pool auction in early August. The pool is presently seeking tax deductible items and services for this event. This auction is a wonderful opportunity for persons who appreciate what the pool means to northwest Michigan and to participate in its future welfare. The auction is also a great public relations and advertising venue, which many businesses take advantage of through tax deductible donations of products and services.

The gourmet dinner and auction will be hosted again this year at 6 p.m. Aug. 6 at the beautiful Charlevoix Country Club. This exciting event has always sold out in advance, so get your tickets as soon as possible or if you wish to make a tax-deductible gift for the auction, call the pool at (231) 547-0982 or Scott MacKenzie at 582-0486.

You can help to continue to make this a community-wide valued legacy of Ralph Hamilton. Thank you for your support.

Library announces summer reading program

The Charlevoix Public Library summer reading program, "Score Big With Books" begins at 1 p.m. June 22 in the lower level of the library.

The Time-Step Players of Chicago will be back again this year to present the program, "Readers! The Winning Team." This is the program that they developed to go with the state-wide summer reading program theme for this year.

The reading program is for all elementary school age kids. Kids can sign-up at the program and they will be given a book log to keep track of the books that they read over the summer. In August, the library will be having an end of the summer party and the kids can bring the book log back listing everything that they have read over the summer.

The program is not a contest, but rather it is meant to encourage reading just for fun during the student's summer vacation.

The library also offers a story for 3 to 5-year-olds at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesdays.

For further information call the library at 547-2651.

Historical society receives grant from Frey Foundation

The Charlevoix Historical Society Board of Directors recently announced it has received a grant of $10,000 from the Frey Foundation for the purpose of restoration of the Depot Museum at Depot Beach on Lake Charlevoix.

The Depot roof has been in a state of failure for some time. The project includes replacement of the entire roof, restoration of all chimney caps and restoring the original lakeside dormer.

"We are extremely grateful to the Frey Foundation for their generous award of this grant. This grant along with money donated from other foundations, local civic organizations and the society's fund raisers will provide for 100 percent funding of this project," said Bob Heath, chairman of the Finance Committee for the historical society.

The society maintains both the Harsha House Museum on State Street and the Depot Museum. The Depot Museum is designated as both a Michigan and National Historic Site.

It is the only designated National Historic Site in the city of Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Historical Society was first organized in November of 1879. It was inactive from 1893-1903.

The society reorganized on May 11, 1972 with 17 charter members. Today the membership numbers 378 and growing.

The Frey Foundation in Grand Rapids is one of Michigan's largest family foundations. Grants are provided primarily to nonprofit organizations in western Michigan, for projects that enhance children's development, protect natural resources, promote the arts and expand philanthropic and civic action.

Winn site plan amendment approved amid controversy

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The quest for city council approval of an amendment to a site plan to allow changes in the height and location of a residence and boathouse on Round Lake met with success, despite continued protests by neighbors.

After lengthy discussion, council voted five to one at its meeting on June 5 to approve resident John Winn's amendment to a site plan for property at 125 Belvedere Ave.

But not before Winn's neighbor Leonard Zender spoke during a public hearing.

"It's good to see you again," Zender told council. "Although I didn't think I'd be seeing you so soon. Somebody has a lot of clout. Never have I seen something go from city council to planning commission and back to city council so fast."

Winn came before city council with his request on May 15. Council felt at that time the amendment request should go to the planning commission for review. The planning commission reviewed the matter on May 22, and by a five to two vote recommended approval to city council. It was then taken up by council on June 5.

Zender questioned whether the changes to the site plan by Winn should even be designated an amendment or whether the changes called for a new site plan.

"Should it have been a new proposal, rather than an amendment at all?" Zender asked.

The city has no clear-cut direction on amendments to site plans, but uses a set of loosely formulated standards to make decisions.

"I think our standards are very subjective," council member Valerie Barnes said.

City attorney Jim Young agreed, saying the standards need better definition.

"It's not fair to you (council) to have to go by these standards," Young said.

Resident Jill Picha asked for council denial of the plan amendment saying the information from Winn's architect, Andy Poineau was flawed.

She said she checked with a large, well-known architectural firm and no one she talked with had heard of the height measurement used by Poineau.

"This was a certified, registered architect who was totally bewildered with the definition of mean roof height," Picha said.

The mean roof height was used by Poineau on the amendment to the site plan. It takes the drip line of the eaves to the roof's ridge and figures a mean line in between.

BY PHILIP G. SCHAIRBAUM
First Congregational United Church of Christ

I was so pleased to hear what the motto is for the Charlevoix High School Class of 2000. It says, "What lies behind you, and what lies ahead of you is a tiny matter compared to what lies within you." (Ralph Waldo Emerson)

That motto is really very much related to the Christian faith which recognizes that God has given us His Spirit in the inner person and calls us to let His power be at work in us, even as God was present and at work in Jesus Christ. When we live like that, we are filled with the fullness of God. Or put another way, to live with Christ in our heart is to live life to its fullness.

When I graduated from high school back in 1964, the first unmanned rocket was on its way to the moon to take pictures of the moon's surface in preparation for future manned landings. I, and millions of others, watched TV as it neared its goal. The cameras on the spacecraft were turned on and across the vast distances of space came images of high resolution far superior to any we had ever seen before.

Several days later there appeared in the newspaper an interesting story about something that happened in the aftermath of that noteworthy event. An official in California took the pictures from the space mission that very night and flew them across the United States to show them to the president at the White House the next morning. The people had all come into the screening room and when the president entered the lights were turned out. Then guess what happened? The projector failed. People had transmitted images from the moon's surface to earth, had taken the pictures across the continent in one night in a jet plane, but they could not get them the last few critical feet from the projector to the screen.

That's kind of a parable about our life. God has given us a definitive revelation of himself in Jesus Christ. People who have followed him through the centuries have borne witness to this good news across the barriers of time and culture. Why is it so difficult, I wonder, for us to get that revelation the last few feet from us to others? Why is it so difficult to project that saving image of the living Christ to those nearest and dearest to us?

This is the challenge I would place before you: To renew your commitment, or if you have never made one to make it now, to be the image, the face, the voice, the hands, the feet, the instrument, however you want to talk about it, through whom God in Christ Jesus will be reflected in the world, where God will come alive both for you and for those who are with you, whether at home, or school, or work, or in military service, wherever the road of life leads. In the days that lie ahead, may your achievements be many and your honors great; but most of all, may you ever and always keep God at the center of your life, so that others through you may come to experience the goodness and gladness of knowing Christ and walking the Christian way.

The volunteers reported that many unbuckled adults brought the average down for both schools. Also parents were spotted transporting unbuckled students.

Elk Rapids will be awarded the Seatbelt Challenge trophy.

Michigan law requires that the driver and all front seat passengers be buckled and that all children up to age 16 be restrained no matter where they are riding.

Charlevoix loses AAA seatbelt challenge to Elk Rapids

Elk Rapids High School has beaten Charlevoix High School in the AAA Seatbelt Challenge.

Definition of minor, major changes debated

But Winn's lawyer, Dan Barron, argued that the mean height measurement has been in effect for some time.

"If city council were to change the measurement, half of the existing structures (in the city) would be non-conforming," Barron said. "Winn is in full compliance of the zoning laws."

Barron pointed out that the development is in keeping with the architectural design of the city and is not a condominium development.

"Mr. Winn is asking you to acknowledge his rights as a property owner and approve his site plan amendment," Barron concluded.

In the end, council approved the amendment to the development plan stating that it complied with the zoning ordinance and that it does not have a negative effect on the view because of height.

But council asked city attorney Young to confer with city planner Gerry Harsch on the standards used for amendments to site plans, including defining what constitutes minor and major changes.

Beaver Island honors its graduates

BY PHYLLIS MOORE
Special to the Courier

June 10 marked the graduation of the Class of 2000 from the Beaver Island Community School.

Family, friends, and community members filled every seat and some stood at the back and they applauded the accomplishments of the six graduates. Due to the winds, the graduation was given at the Holy Cross Parish Hall instead of outside the school, as was originally planned.

Ryan Wojan delivered the Valedictorian Address incorporating into it little quips about all the teachers they have had over the years and how each one helped them to reach this point in their lives.

Wojan used humor at its best... poking fun at himself, the graduating class and his teachers... all in good clean fun.

Trina Martin, attorney and 1991 graduate of the Beaver Island Community School, was the guest speaker. Martin, the sister of graduate Travis Martin, stressed how hard work and living up to your potential is.

"Be proud of that person you see in the mirror" she said. Martin added the most important thing to remember is to do the very best they are able, that things don't always work out the way you plan, and to learn to adjust.

New equipment installed at city municipal airport

Charlevoix Municipal Airport Manager, Loraine Luepnitz, announced recently that a Ground Communication Outlet (GCO) has been installed at Charlevoix Airport.

This Airport Remote Radio Access System (ARRAS) is primarily for use on the ground at non-tower controlled airports to provide the pilot with convenient access to Flight Service, to receive flight clearances and close flight plans. By keying the microphone a prescribed number of times the pilot in the cockpit can conduct their business. One of the advantages of the system is the ability of the pilot to close a flight plan while still taxiing which releases the airspace for use by other aircraft. Otherwise he would have to be passed through several people, increasing the possibility of error and tying up phone lines for several minutes.

The following items were discussed at the meeting:

Amended the Hayes Township sewer agreement to include the future site of the Bethany Lutheran Church.

Cottage croquet to be new game for Venetian

Cottage croquet will debut as a new activity in the array of sports that are now a permanent part of the Charlevoix Venetian Festival. Games Commissioner, Dean Davenport announced the approval of the new event at the Spirit of Venetian Party recently.

"Everyone can play croquet and our version will make it even easier for anyone to try their skill and participate," said Davenport. Cottage croquet joins basketball, golf, soccer, co-ed softball, co-ed volleyball, tennis, bingo, sailing regatta, swimming and the road race events that make up the 2000 Venetian Games.

Cottage Croquet is basically a Charlevoix version of the game made popular in England where manicured grass courts lined many of the tennis and country clubs. The Charlevoix version was popularized by the late Howard Messmore in the early 1960s.

Anyone that rented any of his Lake Charlevoix cottages or visited him were soon playing the game and often fell prey to the sly Messmore and his talented mallet. Event Manager Dave Frowler and Davenport often battled him and have hosted several local tournaments on their Lake Charlevoix cottage lawns.

The Venetian Games version will be limited to team croquet with two players of either gender making up the team. Bridge Park will be the site with play scheduled for July 18 and will open with a short clinic at 1 p.m. with instruction, followed by several rounds of tournament competition.

Both Frowler and Davenport are claiming the winner of the competition will be crowned Cottage Croquet Champion. And, because no one else plays the game the way Venetian participants will, perhaps winners appropriately can be considered world champions.

"Compared to the prelude to all of this, everyone was nice to each other. Perhaps we are standing on the threshold of amiability," he said. "I hate to see people mad at each other."

MacMillan said he feels good about the election results.

"We have a good team and it's good to see we'll be working together for a second term. I think we work well as a group," he said.

Levegood added he doesn't plan on doing anything different during his next term on the board. He said he just wants to "continue the healing process with this community and get everybody in the same direction."

Whitley could not be reached for comment by press time.

Adopt a painting program

The Charlevoix Historical Society has recently developed an Adopt a Painting Program.

The society has over 50 original works of art which were painted between 1880 and 1976. These depict Charlevoix heritage and were done by local artists. Thirty-nine of these paintings have been evaluated by specialists and will need to be preserved or restored.

The artists represented include: Rosa Nettleton, Raymond Knight, Manie Fessenden, Irene Harsha Young and Martha Goodell.

The society is inviting individuals, businesses and organizations to assume the cost of this restoration and preservation project by adopting one or more paintings. The society also has a list of the paintings and the cost of restoring each art work.

Art and Sol offers treats for customers' taste buds, body

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

"I want people to feel that everything they are getting is a special treat."

Liz Wittenberg,
Owner of Art and Sol

With its new location and expanded offerings, Liz's Art and Sol is finding success in Charlevoix.

While the coffee shop/bakery/bath and body business has only been open at its Bridge Street location next to the bridge for a short time, Owner Liz Wittenberg said business has already been great.

"Clearly there is a need for sweets and desserts. I sell out of everything every day," she said.

Liz's Art and Sol offers its customers a variety of coffee, sweets and body treats. Customers can get a frozen coffee, order a slice of pie and shop for some bath oil for their loved one.

Wittenberg said the pies seem to be a really big draw to her business. She carries Grand Traverse Pies and Elzinga's pies, in addition to a variety of scones, cinnamon rolls and other sweets baked in-house.

"I want people to feel that everything they are getting is a special treat," Wittenberg said.

The treats can be enjoyed at Art and Sol while watching boats cruising down the channel at the outdoor seating. And starting July 1, visitors can be entertained by local jazz musicians on select evenings.

As for her retail selection, Wittenberg has a variety of sensual bath and body products that can be made into romantic gift baskets for couples or birthday baskets for a loved one.

But, satisfaction for your sense of taste and touch are not Art and Sol's only offerings. Kids will find the store is also a place to practice their artistic talents.

Wittenberg said she will be having a Kids' Art Program at Art and Sol starting in July. The program will give kids a chance to try out a variety of artistic crafts, like bead-making, tie-dyeing t-shirts and painting. The programs will run from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Parents can come to Art and Sol to pick up a calendar that will list the daily projects.

Art and Sol is currently open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day. Those hours will increase July 1 to 1 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day.

"We want people to think of us for dessert at night," Wittenberg said.

For more information about Art and Sol, call 237-7000.

County-wide land plan under discussion

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

A county land use plan that would provide a general framework for planning and zoning in the county's 15 townships is being considered by planning commissioners.

"It would provide more orderly development within the county," planning member Larry Levegood said.

Townships would still have their own land use plans, but could rely on a county-wide plan for uniformity in making planning and zoning decisions.

Most townships now follow the recommendations of the commission for planning issues about 75 percent of the time, planning director Larry Sullivan said. But the county has no jurisdiction over township land use plans.

Land use issues include agriculture, open space, environmental protection, tourism, economic analysis and roads and traffic.

The county does have an old plan that has fallen into disuse.

"Our current plan was done in the early 1970s," Sullivan said.

That plan is obviously outdated commissioners say.

"We've seen quite a few changes, especially in housing," planning chairman Tom Wieland said. "We used to have more farm land and orchards, which we try to preserve."

Commissioners met with Mark Wyckoff, a leading planner in the state, on June 6 in Charlevoix.

"Planning starts with a common vision of the future from the public to reach agreement on a common set of goals and policies," Wyckoff told commissioners. He stressed that townships should be brought in on discussions from the very beginning.

"Ask the townships for input into the process before the planning commission decides what it wants," he said. "If you don't have the support of the townships, the (land use) plan will sit on a shelf. You must involve the townships in a meaningful way."

Wyckoff added that the timing of a county-wide plan was advantageous.

"It's a good time to get a county plan in place when the townships will soon be looking at their land use plans," Wyckoff said.

While some township officials see benefits to a county-wide plan, they are also cautious about it.

"As a guidance document I don't see any problem with that," Hayes Township Supervisor Tim Boyko said.

But Boyko would not want to lose the township's zoning administrator, Ethel Knepp.

"We have a very experienced zoning administrator," he said. "I'd have a big problem losing that kind of expertise and experience."

But Sullivan does not see that as a problem.

"Our intention is not to develop county-wide zoning," he said. "Our intention is to develop a land use plan for the county to use for guidance in making our recommendations to the townships. We also want to heavily involve the townships in the planning process."

Boyko noted that townships need people from the communities to work in zoning and planning and feels that is the key to township control.

"If there's civic interest in the townships, planning and zoning will stay in the townships," Boyko said.

Charlevoix Township's Zoning Administrator Bob Rajewski sees some benefits to a county-wide plan.

"Uniformity is good to a certain degree, as long as townships keep some control," Rajewski said. "I don't think county-wide zoning is a good idea, but a county-wide land use plan would save builders and landowners some confusion."

Sullivan wants to see more people serve on the county planning commission and said Chandler and Hudson townships need representatives.

"We need to make sure all areas of the county are represented," Sullivan said. "Without sufficient representation we can't be successful."

After reviewing the information from the June 6 meeting, planning commissioners will decide whether or not to take further steps toward a land use plan. They agree the process should be taken slowly.

"We recognize that this would be a lengthy process," Sullivan said. "But if it's done right I think it has a real good chance of succeeding."

Last week's races had a charged atmosphere

A. Nony Mouse
'Yachting Notes'

Taking a J-22 out of the water after a race is not too difficult but one must follow a well-defined procedure, or — as in last week's case — it can be a shocking event.

The trailer, already attached to the vehicle, is backed down the ramp, the J-22 is placed on the trailer and the vehicle, trailer and J-22 are removed from the water. The mast is then lowered and secured on deck. The vehicle, trailer, J-22 and secured (horizontal) mast are then driven away from the launching area.

But, when the next to last step is omitted the results can be electrifying! This was the cause of the shocking event that followed last Wednesday's race and de-lighted everyone in the neighborhood. Still, the subsequent candlelight vigil at the Club was different and reasonably pleasant.

Race 3 of the 6 race Spring Series: The new RECKLESS, a J-22 that had just arrived from South Africa, set the pace for the evening's competition and finished in 1:26:53. Looked sharp with its all black 'chute.

Just seconds behind were SUPERFLUOUS (1:27:12) and GECKO (1:27:47). HABANERO, HUSSY, THUNDERSTRUCK, SWINE FLEW, ROCK STEADY, HIGH MAINTENANCE, H S MOISTURE MISSILE, CRAZY HORSE, PALEFACE LITE and JUBBLIES all crossed the line in the next few minutes. WHAT'S HER NAME was a good bit further back. FIRST DATE did not start.

The JAM (Jib & Main — no spinaker allowed) Fleet had a much improved turnout. As usual FLASH crossed the line first but, for a change, saved her time over MI JOY, by 4 seconds! APOTHECARY, CHEEMAUN and BALD EAGLE were trailed by BLASEN IV — note the IV!

GOTCHA! had a big lead (10 minutes actual but still 5 minutes plus on corrected time) over KAMIKAZE in the big boats of Spinnaker Fleet A. MINT JULEP held on for third place.

The P-26 Fleet doubled in size with four participants crossing the line. LOST VERMONTNER (1:33:49) lead the way over JESSE (1:34:25).

ORIGINAL SIN was a couple minutes behind, CYGNUS trailed.

A quick recap of the mid-series standings shows GOTCHA! and KAMIKAZE each with 7 and MINT JULEP 8 in Spinnaker A. In B (P-26) it's JESSE 4, LOST VERMONTNER 7, CYGNUS 8 and ORIGINAL SIN 9. The JAM Fleet has MI JOY 5, FLASH 6, BALD EAGLE 9, APOTHECARY 15, CHEEMAUN 16 and BLASEN IV 18.

SUPERFLUOUS and GECKO are tied at 11 in the J-22 Fleet, trailed by SWINE FLEW 12, HUSSY 18, FIRST DATE & ROCK STEADY each have 22. HABANERO, THUNDERSTRUCK and RECKLESS have 23, 24 and 25, respectively. JUBBLIES 27, H S MOISTURE MISSILE & PALEFACE LITE 30, HIGH MAINTENANCE 31, CRAZY HORSE 35 and WHAT'S HER NAME at 44, bring up the rear.

At CYC, points are positions, so the lowest point total wins. The Spring Series provides for the best 5 of six races to be scored — i.e. one drop is allowed.

That can make a big difference when a boat has just one bad finish among several great races. So don't place your bets just yet! It is often the last race of a series that determines the winner!

Yachting Notes is submitted each week during the "warm" months by the Charlevoix Yacht Club. To contact the club, see its website at www.charlevoixyachtclub.org or call 547-9170.

Throughout the years many people in need have been helped in the community through the efforts of the Rainbow Shoppe.

1970: The year of the Charlevoix hippie fight

Marilyn Boss
'Days gone by'

In reminiscing the other day, Dale and I were talking about some of the controversies Charlevoix has had in past years. It was 30 years ago, almost to the day that we had a meeting of over 250 parents and their offspring, concerning the confrontations between the local citizens and the hippie movement affecting Charlevoix.

A meeting was called by Charlevoix township supervisor Oscar Stroud and was in the VFW hall. There was standing room only. People were outside, peering in the windows as there was no room inside. Oscar believed that the local law enforcement agencies needed the backing of a citizen's group, who were referred to as "vigilantes." They banded together to help take care of the problem and patrol hot spots at night. The Bell's Bay township park and Mt. McSaubia beach were a couple of places that were noisy and rowdy into the wee hours of the morning. Shortly after, Oscar gave the Bell's Bay Park to the state so they could patrol it and have the responsibility.

Those at the speaker's table were prosecutor Harvey Varnum, Sgt. Vaughn Blake of the Petoskey State Police, Sheriff Philo Sumner and Deputy Byron Stockwell, as well as Oscar Stroud.

Although the names of some of those on the hippie's side who were present are listed in the June 17, 1970 Charlevoix Courier, I will refrain from using them, as these people are now grown and might not want their kids to know who they were.

This was the beginning of the drug culture in Charlevoix. In the course of the talk at the meeting, it was suggested that the young people caucus to present their views of the problem. One of them pointed out that some adults set a poor example for children, "with their extramarital affairs and teachers smoking pot. Is this supposed to be a good example?" Another adult took exception to her comments, "Don't blame all of us for what some dirty adults do."

Andy Essenburg Jr., owner of Andy's Party Store, was asked by a hippie who wore his hair to his shoulders, if he would give him a job in his grocery store. Andy replied, "People wouldn't come into my store if I did! I'm in business for profit, not love and affection." Dale remembers Andy's comment and has laughed about it many times.

The young people chose three of their number to move to the speaker's table as the discussion went on. Varnum said that law enforcement officers will be almost ready to make arrests. "When something comes up, sometimes the newspapers blow the case." The meeting dispersed early because of another use at the hall that night. People stood outside discussing the topic for an hour.

Several days after the meeting, Dale went down to Staley Hardware and bought a shotgun, as we had been threatened. A few nights later, guys on motorcycles came down in North Point, revving up their motorcycles as they circled our house. We had heard they were coming, so Dale, his dad and our oldest boy filled five 10 gallon milk cans with water. We called the Michigan State Police in Petoskey and an officer told us, "This is off the record, but if it was me, I would protect my property." Dale's dad had his 30-06 deer rifle and we had our shotgun.

As we waited and the cycles roared by, the phone rang at 11 p.m. I answered it and a man said, "You're gonna burn, baby, you're gonna burn." I hung up the phone quickly and we waited. Oscar was sitting outside his motel on the US-31 corner, which is now the Sleep Inn. He watched the cycles go down into North Point and said he had men there to help us if needed. As it turned out, the cyclists roared by again at high speed, but didn't stop and the threat was ended.

Fifteen years later, the fellow that made the call confessed to me. He had changed his life and decided to confess.

As I was writing this on the front porch on Memorial Day, who should come by, but one of the boys mentioned on the feature page of the Courier. He is now 50 years old. What a coincidence!

During all this controversy, an older man parked his 68 Oldsmobile right under the stop light on Bridge Street. A hippie had crossed in front of him and he, being of short temper, took his tire iron out and chased him down into the park. Just an example of how some towns people were upset.

As I reminisce about the many confrontations we have had in our little town, I am very glad that we can do what we feel is right and confront the things we feel are wrong and still live together to better Charlevoix.

Car Raffle

Just what is that car, anyway? And how can I win it? If you've wanted to ask these questions, you're in luck. The car being raffled by the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce is a 2000 Ford Explorer XLS Sport 4 X 4 from Pat McKeown Ford and the color is Treador Red. This is the world's only five star crash tested sport utility vehicle.

Tickets are $100 each and are limited to a total of 400. In addition to the Ford Explorer, there will be three cash prizes totaling $1,000. The lucky tickets will be drawn on Tuesday, September 5, 2000, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. aboard the Emerald Isle. You need not be present to win.

As of press time, 100 tickets were sold. Tickets may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office on Bridge Street.

Chamber Scores High with Members

From Cheri Hoffman, Chairman

We asked, and here's what you told us - Results of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce 2000 Membership Survey.

The Chamber Board was pleased that 120 members responded to the first annual survey. The object of the survey was not to get pats on the back (and we got plenty), but to get input on how YOUR chamber is doing when it comes to serving YOUR needs. Your responses told us a lot!

Based on 5 possible points, overall satisfaction with the Chamber (4.0) Chamber staff (4.2) and our website (4.0) were high. Members' favorite chamber sponsored programs were festivals (3.8), listings in Visitors Guide (3.7), listing on the website (3.7), and our auto/health insurance programs (3.7).

More important, you gave us ideas about what we can do to help YOU in YOUR business. Based on your responses, the Board will be looking at developing programs relating to employee recruitment, training and retention, maximizing off season potential; making the directory more "user-friendly"; improving our physical facility; chamber discount cards/programs; website availability, access and training; and adding chamber benefits.

As I said at the Annual meeting in January, the Chamber serves a diverse population, each with their own unique needs and expectations. Our retail members have different expectations than our industrial members. Our professional members have different expectations than do our service related members, and so on.... If there is something that YOUR chamber can be doing, or should be doing better, for YOUR segment of the community, please call any Board member, or the Chamber office, with your requests and suggestions.

If you didn't have the opportunity to attend the chamber sponsored Disney Keys to Excellence program in May, you missed an excellent presentation. If you did attend you will remember that the key message was "design your program to meet your customer's needs, not your own." YOU are our customer!

I've said it before, but it bears repeating - The Chamber of Commerce exists for one reason and one reason only - to serve our members. We are only doing a good job if YOU think we are doing a good job. Your feedback is the only way we know what you want and how we are doing at delivering it. Keep those cards and letters (and future surveys) coming.

AND HAVE THE BEST SUMMER EVER!!!!!!

Festival gets fireworks permit

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

No muss, no fuss as city council approved Venetian Festival fireworks displays for July 21 in Lake Charlevoix and July 22 in Round Lake at its meeting on Monday.

The action was in stark contrast to last year when a skittish city council made festival organizers jump through a string of hoops in order to allow festival fireworks. Permission was eventually granted, but nervous authorities stopped the display almost immediately when officials reported embers falling near onlookers.

Those fireworks were set off in Round Lake near the downtown harbor and although rather small shells were used, it was too much for those who remembered the tragedy in 1997.

That year the popular fireworks display in Round Lake turned into mass confusion when a 12-inch firework exploded in its casing, sending shrapnel into a crowd of families and visitors, estimated between 15,000 - 20,000, gathered on the waterfront lawn. One person died and numerous people were injured. Local police and emergency personnel worked frantically to find and treat the victims. The following year a laser light show took the place of fireworks.

The 70th Annual Charlevoix Venetian Festival runs from July 16 to July 28. Each day is "filled with activities, including eight days of music, a special Coast Guard Appreciation Day honoring its 100th anniversary, puppet shows, pony rides and many children's games, a rock climb, a boat parade, food concessions and athletic games.

This year festival organizers met with council several times to receive direction and answer questions.

Balanced budget for schools presented

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The Charlevoix Public Schools' projected budget for the 2000-2001 academic school year stays on course from previous years and shows the school's finances in a healthy state.

"We're going into the year without a deficit," Superintendent John Sturrock said. "In fact, we have a surplus. We feel we're in a good financial position."

Total expenditures are projected at $10,936,690, with total revenues at $10,956,090.

The July 1 beginning fund balance is projected at $3,078,683, said Judy Boss, Coordinator of Business.

"The budget is in the black," Boss said. "We have a balanced budget."

The lion's share of revenue for schools are property taxes. The 2000-2001 budget projects $4,850,300 in taxes. Other major sources of revenue are interest on investments at $220,000, state aid at $5,060,790 and grants, such as a manufacturing technology grant, at $30,000.

The public school district enrollment is expected to number 1,397, up by nine students from last year, with the state per pupil funding at $7,283.

School's strength can be seen in its budget

While several schools in northern Michigan are facing budget problems for the next school year, people in the Charlevoix school district can breathe a sigh of relief.

Unlike these other schools, Charlevoix's school budget is balanced.

Every time we open other newspapers we see stories about local school districts facing budget problems. The stories contain school officials screaming about not having enough money to operate for the next year and teachers worrying if they will be laid off.

In the meantime, parents and students of these school districts are wondering if their favorite school programs will be cut so the school district can save money.

But, this problem seems to have missed Charlevoix — for the time being. This means no school program in Charlevoix will be cut, no teachers will be laid off and no stressed out school officials will be screaming, "Money, we need money."

Some people deserve a pat on the back for this.

While he faced strong criticism lately, Charlevoix Superintendent John Sturock gave the community another year with a financially strong school district.

A financially stable school is great for the parents, students and the rest of the community. In a financially stable school district, students are given the tools they need to learn, parents are getting smart kids to send out into the world and the community is getting great recognition.

The strength of Charlevoix's schools is easily seen in this year's graduating class and in this newspaper's recent "Oh Boix" section. Students from Charlevoix are getting great scholarships, being placed on several college dean's lists and receiving many types of other academic honors.

While one cannot say this is all because Charlevoix has a fiscally strong school, financial strength does help by providing funding to purchase proper teaching tools for students.

Now, let's just hope the Charlevoix school board and Sturock can continue to give the community these balanced budgets. It seems this is becoming rare for schools in northern Michigan.

New 'Charley's' chef brings his unique history to town

Edith Gilbert

'Behind the news'

Charley's Restaurant is being managed by a new chef named Carl Johnson. He has an interesting and varied background. Presently, he is the owner of two successful seafood restaurants called "Fisherman's Kettle" located in Atlanta, Ga. and Kalamazoo.

Nevertheless, northern Michigan is not new to him. Johnson tells me he has canoed every river between Muskegon and Whitefish Bay since he was 10 years old. He still finds canoeing down the Au Sable and the Jordan River very relaxing after the heavy pace of running a restaurant. He has bow hunted in the area in the fall and fished the Great Lakes in the spring. In the winter, he played ice hockey with a group of friends and has a broken nose to prove it. Now he is looking forward to settling down in a familiar part of the state that he loves.

Johnson was born downstate in Lawton, home of Welsh's Grape Fruit Plant where his father had a small winery and sold grapes and cherries to the fruit juice company. He worked in restaurants during his high school and college years and grew to love the business. He trained as an apprentice at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island and became executive chef in a resort in the Florida Keys. Subsequently, he opened his own popular restaurants and from time-to-time gave cooking classes at Georgia Tech and seminars at Michigan State.

In between, he served a three-year stint as a career naval officer and was trained as a diver performing dangerous underwater demolition and salvage duties. All this without ever stepping a foot on a ship! Before leaving the navy he taught Greek and Roman Naval Warfare at the Naval College — ancient history being his college major and a subject dear to his heart.

This summer, his oldest daughter Misty will be waitressing in the restaurant. She has earned an American Dramatic Arts Scholarship in New York City and will attend there in the fall.

I asked Johnson what dishes he likes to brag about and the first item he mentioned was his key lime pie. Having tasted it, I must agree it is delicious. He is proud of the two medals he won for his cheesecake. He highly recommends his stuffed baked whitefish, which he fills with — believe it or not — crab meat, fresh tomatoes, avocados and three kinds of cheese. Another unusual dish is his Shrimp Aztec, made with sautéed shrimp, mushrooms, red pepper and garlic, then flambéed in rum over angel hair pasta. Johnson will use our local lake fish as well as having all his fresh ocean fish flown in three times a week.

He plans to be open for lunch and dinner every day, including serving Sunday brunch. Just don't try to make a reservation on Aug. 26 or Oct. 7, because two private weddings have already booked these dates.

Bon Appetit!

Gertz's letter was wrong

Editor:
In a recent letter to the editor, Elizabeth Gertz from the Michigan Health and Hospital Association claims that hospitals in northern lower Michigan are losing money on in-patient care for Medicaid beneficiaries and absorbing these losses to the tune of $8.2 million.

The facts paint quite a different picture.

Audited cost reports filed with the federal government by these same hospitals for fiscal year 1998 indicate that hospitals in northern lower Michigan had a net income of $53 million with Medicaid making up 7.91 percent of their revenue.

Garden Club remains busy preparing for Garden Walk

Spring and summer mean plenty to do in the yard, but for more than 80 Charlevoix Garden Club members, there is plenty of "extra duty," as they prepare to sponsor a number of community events and activities this summer.

Recently, 17 members attended a workshop to assemble the garden fairies, which define the theme of this year's second Charlevoix Garden Walk, Fairies in the Garden. The sprites will appear on July 27 when five local private gardens will be open for touring from 10 to 4 p.m. for a donation of $10.

In conjunction with the walk, a Small Standard Flower Show, Fairytale Flora, will be available for viewing at the Charlevoix Depot from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission to the flower show is free. Also during these events, a Secret Garden fund-raising luncheon is being planned with a few seats still available beginning in July at the Appletree, A Touch of Spring or Quiet Moose. For information on the garden walk or luncheon contact (231) 582-2715.

If you cannot wait for the garden walk, committee members encourage you to visit one of the several civic gardens that members design and maintain around Charlevoix. Color greets you at the Pere Charlevoix garden at the west end of Dixon, the Petoskey Triangle, at the Depot and in the Charlevoix High School Courtyard.

Landscaping and displays are also cared for at the Meditation Garden at the Charlevoix Area Hospital and the Memorial Garden on Mercer Street at East Dixon, as well as the post office and the Bergmann Center.

What Ms. Gertz fails to mention in her letter is that bed occupancy for these same hospitals was only 45 percent. Medicaid in-patient rates were rebated in 1998 and 1999 to reflect actual costs as reported by each hospital.

Each year, hospitals statewide are given $465 million to care for the uninsured of which over $10 million was reserved specifically for rural hospitals.

Administrative costs have not increased, in fact they have remained stable since the inception of managed care for Medicaid beneficiaries, between 4 and 5 percent of program costs. Payments to qualified health plans are for managing patient care, assuring that all Medicaid beneficiaries receive exactly the right care at the right time and place.

One of the important goals behind the move to a managed care system for Medicaid is to make sure that people are receiving preventative care so they can avoid serious medical emergencies. The data shows us that by moving to managed care we are moving in the right direction.

For Medicaid beneficiaries, we now know that 75 percent of two-year-olds were fully immunized in 1998, compared to only 56 percent nationwide. We have been able to develop benchmark standards for diabetes care and treatment to build upon in future years. We know that 91 percent of women receiving Medicaid received prenatal care during pregnancy in 1998 and that 93 percent of children had at least one complete physical exam in 1998. Before moving to managed care, it was not possible to measure for these crucial health indicators. Consumers were more likely to wait to receive treatment in the emergency room than build a relationship with their personal physician.

I am proud of our efforts to increase prevention and wellness and would hope that Ms. Gertz and the Michigan Health and Hospital Association would join us in these efforts.

BEACONS

By LOWELL ANDERSON
Pastor, Charlevoix Assembly of God

A successful young business executive was driving his shiny new Jaguar down a neighborhood street, keeping a watchful eye for children who might unexpectedly run out from between the parked cars. No children appeared, but suddenly a brick smashed into the side door of the Jag!

The angry driver slammed on the brakes and quickly backed up to where the brick had been thrown. He jumped out of the car, grabbed the nearest kid and pushed him up against a parked car shouting, "What was that all about, and who are you? What do you think you're doing?! That's a very expensive car and that brick you threw is going to cost you a lot of money. Why did you do that?"

The boy replied apologetically, "Please mister...please, I'm sorry...I didn't know what else to do. I threw the brick because I couldn't get anybody else to stop." With tears in his eyes the boy pointed to a spot just beyond a parked car. "It's my brother," he said. "He rolled off the curb and fell out of his wheelchair and I can't pick him up." Now sobbing, the boy asked the stunned executive, "Would you please help me get him back into his wheelchair? He's hurt and he's too heavy for me."

Moved beyond words, the driver tried to swallow the rapidly swelling lump in his throat. He carefully lifted the handicapped boy back into the wheelchair, then took his fancy handkerchief and dabbed the blood from the fresh cuts and scrapes. A quick look told him that the injuries were only surface and everything would be okay. "Thank you and may God bless you," the grateful child told the stranger.

Too shook up for words, the man simply stood and watched as the little boy pushed his wheelchair-bound brother down the sidewalk toward home. It was a long slow walk back to the Jaguar. The damage was very noticeable, but the driver never bothered to repair the dent. It served to remind him of this message: Don't go through life so fast that someone has to throw a brick at you to get your attention and help.

In Matthew 25, Jesus gives an account of judgment day. He says, "Come, you who are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me."

The righteous respond by asking how and when they did these things to Him. He replied, "Whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me."

What have we done for our "brothers" (and for Christ Himself) today? May we not go through life so fast that someone has to throw a brick to get our attention.

TO YOUR HEALTH

Relieve aches and pains with therapy

Nina Leib
'To your Health'

The dull, nagging pain focused just below her right ear. Sometimes it radiated all the way down the right side of her neck to her shoulder. When the hurt was at its worst, she could barely concentrate on anything else. Medicine didn't help and specialists couldn't make it go away.

Then she tried a physical therapist, a woman operating a nearby therapy clinic. There, she received not only health treatment and massage, which helped to decrease the pain, but also education in how postural habits and her daily activities may be contributing to the problem. And although the hurt returns occasionally, the exercises taught by the therapist help keep it in check.

More than 350,000 men, women and children suffering a wide variety of ailments work with physical therapists in the United States each day, many with experiences similar to that described above. Those experiences attest to the fact that private practice physical therapists have carved out their own niche in the ranks of medical professionals.

Seventy years ago, physical therapists were found mainly in hospitals, working to restore function to traumatized victims of war. Today, less than 45 percent of therapists are employed in hospital settings.

Many physical therapists have struck out on their own, working in private practice. They have developed specialties, focusing, for instance, on sports medicine, neurological problems, geriatrics, orthopedics, women's health issues and oncology. They use an array of high tech equipment such as ultrasound, electrotherapy and computerized isokinetic muscle testing and exercise equipment. Physical therapists are also professionals with expertise in exercises and manual therapy utilized to alleviate pain caused by muscle or joint dysfunction.

Considered to be on the cutting edge of the profession, private practice therapists also work to prevent injuries from happening. In business settings, for example, they work to reduce physical stress of certain job functions such as computer data entry or manual lifting.

In the mid-50s, they formed their branch of the American Physical Therapy Association, called the Private Practice Section. The section helps promote standards, represents its members before federal government agencies and provides continuing education.

In order to become a physical therapist, an individual must have obtained a bachelors, masters or doctoral degree in physical therapy from an accredited college or university, or earned a certificate in physical therapy if his or her college degree is in another field.

Besides formal physical therapy education, practicing therapists must pass state licensing exams and comply with legal requirements of the areas in which they practice.

If you are considering using a physical therapist to help you with your health care needs the following can be helpful:

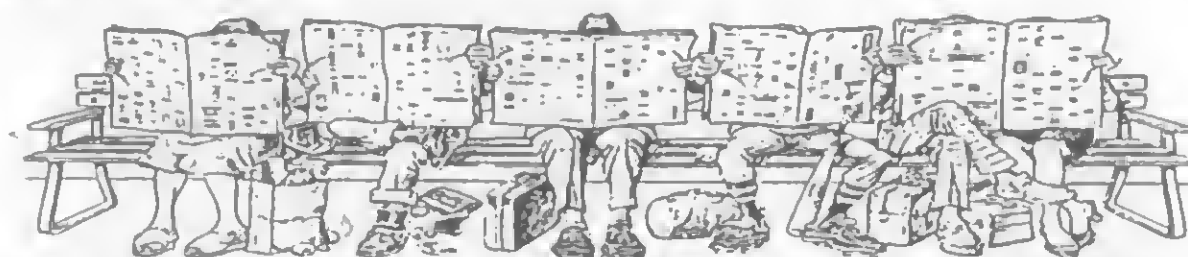

- You need to have a prescription from a physician to receive treatment.
- Contact your insurance company to verify your physical therapy benefits.

- Contact the clinic where you wish to receive therapy. As a patient, you have the right to choose where you wish to go. To help you with your choice, ask your physician, friends and co-workers. If you are still not sure, visit the clinic that you are considering.
- Talk with the physical therapist and find out what they are specializing in.
- If you wish to have preventive help it is generally not covered by the insurance companies. Contact your physical therapy clinic of choice and ask about their rates.

Nina Leib is a physical therapist at On-Site Physical Therapy located at 324 Meech in Charlevoix. She can be contacted by calling (231) 237-7840 or e-mailing onsitept@freeway.net.

ISLAND NOTES

Foundation gives Island health center $10,000 grant

BY PHYLLIS MOORE
Special to the Courier

The Beaver Island Rural Health Center recently received notice that it is the recipient of three different grants.

The Charlevoix Community Foundation granted $10,000 in two dispersals to help fund the BIRHC Strategic Task Force Planning Process which is still ongoing with the plan to have a set of recommendations presented to the BIRHC in early summer.

The Northern Michigan Hospital Foundation presented the BIRHC with $21,250 to help develop and support a Community Visioning Project for Beaver Island. This grant application was spearheaded by the strategic planning process of the BIRHC which focused not only on the future of the health center but of the community of Beaver Island. It is the plan to create a vision so that the community can better plan for the future and be healthier in the long term.

"The BIRHC Board is delighted to play a role in facilitating a vision for Beaver Island. We are very pleased that the Foundation has made these funds available for this purpose. In the past it has often proven difficult for communities to arrive at a shared vision of the future, but we believe that this can be done for the island with diverse interests coming together to produce a vision that is mutually beneficial," said Joe Latoff, president of the BIRHC Board of Directors.

The Area on Aging granted $6,000 to initiate and coordinate some senior services for residents of the island including assistance with purchase of medications, assistance with lengthy insurance forms, housekeeping, custodial work and personal care.

The BIRHC has also applied, but won't know until mid-June, for a grant to bring telemedicine to the island. It is for $103,000 and is focused to improve access to health care and health education for the island population winter and summer.

Parks being built with the help of donations

BY PHYLLIS MOORE
Special to the Courier

Parks are popping up on Beaver Island.

The area across the street from the Shamrock has been known for many years as simply "the green" and included what is now the parking and unloading area for the Beaver Island Boat Company. There was a small lot owned by St. James Township between the Boat Company property and Albins LakeSports that was bare. Last summer the HarborScapers (E. B. Lange, President; Marilyn Damstra, Susie Bonadeo, Lillian Gregg, Barbara Murphy and Carol Wierenga) had a brick walkway made.

On June 13 Pine Hill Nursery and Landscaping of Elk Rapids arrived on the 10:30 a.m. ferry with a crew of nine. Thanks to donations from the Beaver Island Boat Company and St. James Township, the HarborScapers hired Pine Hill to landscape the park area.

Work began as soon as the three trucks were off-loaded from the "Emerald Isle." One carried the plants, another the mulch and the last truck was filled with compost and soil. Although the HarborScapers were on hand, they had nothing to do as the Pine Hill crew was so organized. Sod was removed, the ground was raked, and prepared. Plants were those which are native to Michigan and will be able to survive our climate such as: Red Twig Dogwood, Blue Stem Grasses; Feather Reed Grasses, Silver Artemisia; Purple Cone Flower; Miss Kim Lilacs, Potentilla, Current, Nest Spruce and St. John's Wort to list a few.

New events highlighted for 2000 Venetian Games

The Venetian Games feature an array of team and individual events. This week's focus is on individual events. Two popular events from last year, golf and tennis have both been expanded to allow for more participation.

There is golf for all ages with the Keith Carey Cup the prize. Keith Carey was a popular long-time manager of the Municipal Golf Course who recently passed away. Adults and junior golfers will vie for the championship trophies.

Co-managers of the golf tournament, Tom Dorsek and Scott Blechel, have designed a somewhat different format with top scorers from the qualifying rounds being placed in either the championship, first, second, or third flight. Entrees must register and play qualifying rounds on either July 5 or 6. Match play will take place July 7-16 with each flight's championship scheduled for Venetian Week, July 18. Defending champions will automatically qualify for match play. The Junior golfers will have their tournament on July 20. Those desiring additional information may call the Municipal Golf Course 547-3268.

The tennis tournament has also taken on a new format. It will take place during the entire Venetian week starting on July 17 and climaxing with the finals on July 23. The tournament will be hosted by the Charlevoix Historical Society under the co-management of Bob Heath and Roger Postmus.

Registration is through the Recreation Department at City Hall (547-3253) with a July 14 deadline. There's a small entry fee except for those 11 years or younger. The tournament is open to all ages and abilities including seniors. There will be singles, doubles, and mixed doubles.

The popular Jeff Drenth Road Race, a memorial to Charlevoix's distance runner, will again feature 10K, 5K and one mile race. Registration is again through the Charlevoix Recreation Department. Ken and Sue Plude will serve as co-managers.

Swimming for all ages will again be hosted by the Charlevoix Area Community Pool with Al Gooch serving as event manager. Participants need only to show up and register at 4 p.m. on July 20 to compete. Races include freestyle, backstroke, butterfly, butterfly, breaststroke and IM events. For more information call the Community Pool at 547-0982.

A new event, Cottage croquet, will be scheduled for July 18 in Bridge Park in downtown Charlevoix. A 1 p.m. clinic will kick off the event with two person teams making up the field with a single elimination tournament following the clinic. Dave Fowler will serve as event manager and interested participants can register at the clinic site. For additional information or to volunteer as an event helper call 547-9314.

Sun-lovers

Charlevoix beach-goers know that all has not been just rain and clouds, as these sun-worshippers can attest recently. Brad Marthens and Merrie Marthens of Kentwood and Roberta Scholey of Charlevoix took in a few rays recently at Michigan Beach. (Photo by Jeremy McBain)

Special funds available through foundation

In her 30-year career as a physical therapist in the US Army, Ethel Coeling has traveled throughout the world and lived in many exotic places — from the European continent to the South Pacific's Marshall Islands.

Now that she's come home to Norwood, her interests are taking a decidedly local turn.

Two grants from a donor-advised fund Coeling established with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation will assist area programs and carry out the charitable ideals of this woman.

A $2,500 grant to the Charlevoix District Library will be used to purchase two computer work stations for public use. The computers will expand access to the internet, giving library patrons instant information, help with research projects and connection to e-mail.

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool was awarded a $3,000 grant from the Ethel Coeling Fund to purchase and install two starting platforms for use in competitive swim programs.

"These are important community assets that serve so many people in our area," said Coeling, herself a library board member and dedicated lap swimmer. "I'm pleased to be able to support them."

The Ethel Coeling Fund is one of several donor-advised funds offered by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. For people like Coeling, who have a variety of charitable interests and want to take an active role in deciding what kinds of projects and programs to support, this special type of fund is ideal.

A couple of times a year, Coeling will meet with foundation staff to discuss community needs, review grant requests and make recommendations for how her fund will be used.

"If you want to give to charity, this is a good way to do it," she said. "There are lots of programs worthy of your support. A donor-advised fund allows you to choose each year, in accordance with your changing interests."

For more information about the foundation call (231) 536-2440.

Park projects in need of more hands PARKS

Work began at 10:30 a.m. and by 2:30 p.m. the Paradise Bay Park was completely finished and already being used by people enjoying the view from the benches. All the plants are low-growing and will not block the view of the harbor in any way.

However, the work isn't completed. The HarborScapers are looking for right volunteers to adopt the park and help with watering it. If you are interested in lending a hand, contact E. B. Lange at 231-448-2586 and have her put you on the schedule.

You'll meet lots of people and will be able to show your children and grandchildren a beautiful area that you helped build.

Before you think that this was a one-time project, the HarborScapers are already making plans for other undertakings such as a park planned for the property where the old power plant was and two more for Whiskey Point Lighthouse and the Gull Harbor area.

The first upcoming project will be the Gull Harbor Preservation Area where, along with assistance from Dr. Jim Gillingham, Dr. Gill Starks and their Central Michigan students, walkways and benches will be made.

Retired Charlevoix school teachers restoring school

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

Two retired Charlevoix Public School teachers are working to restore the 100-year-old Horton Bay School.

Doris and Gordon Robinson taught for more than 28 years in Charlevoix. Doris taught high school accounting and business classes and worked on the yearbook and the school newspaper. Gordon taught English and speech at the high school and later at the middle school.

Together with Horton Bay resident and Red Fox Inn owner Jim Hartwell, they hope to raise the funds necessary for renovations. They have formed the Horton Bay Schoolhouse Restoration Committee.

"Things are going well, better than we anticipated," Doris said.

As the years have passed, time has taken its toll on the one-room schoolhouse. The old roof needs repair and the classroom and tiny cloak rooms are receiving a fresh look. A septic tank and drain lines will be installed.

"We also are still trying to find the old school desks, hopefully the ones with ink wells," Doris said. The committee is collecting photographs and memorabilia to hang on the walls.

The Robinsons and Hartwell plan to develop the school into an area community center for social events.

The Horton Bay School is owned by the Horton Bay United Methodist Church, which bought it from the Boyne City School District in 1961. It's been used infrequently and the church decided to give the school away.

That's when the Robinsons and Hartwell stepped in. They convinced the church to keep it if the committee could get it restored and make it a functioning building.

The church has given the committee until Nov. 15 to raise the restoration funds and present a plan for the school's use.

Events include visits by area school children to the schoolhouse to experience a taste of what it was like for their grandparents to attend school.

The committee estimates that it will take approximately $30,000 for the immediate repair needs and restoring the one-room schoolhouse to an earlier time.

Hartwell remembers the way it was because he attended the school in his grade school years.

"It was K through seven so there were so many subjects to teach, so we'd teach each other," Hartwell said.

The teacher would choose four students and two each would go into the two cloak rooms and read or count to each other, while the teacher taught the remaining students another subject.

Hartwell recently walked into the vestibule and pulled on a rope to ring the school bell. He stopped and paused as the sound took him back.

"One boy was assigned to ring the bell every day," he said with a trace of melancholy.

Many of the students walked across a large field full of leeks, the pungent onion-type vegetable, to get to school.

"Students got in trouble for eating leeks because the whole building would wreak from the smell," Hartwell said wrinkling his nose as the memory came flooding back.

A favorite game that Hartwell demonstrated from those days was Eeny-Iny-Over. Standing outside in the school yard, it's easy to imagine children at recess singing out "eeny iny over" as they attempt to throw a ball over the school's high roof. The phrase was hollered from the kids on one side of the schoolhouse to let the kids on the other side know the ball was being thrown over.

Fluky winds created a stressful race for sailors

A. Nony
Mouse 'Yachting
Notes'

Fluky breezes are the great wild card that mother nature sometimes slips in just to tease both skippers and crews.

Last Wednesday, before and just after the start, the light air came from all points of the compass plus, one unusual direction - straight down. Oh, yeah, and she timed it perfectly so the spinnaker was just stowed or rigged on the port side of the boat when it was needed NOW and on the other side.

Right about at that moment, she decided to test the emotional stability of all by simply canceling all breezes, zephyrs and other air movements. After a while, the sight of tears on the cheeks of frustrated sailors melted her heart and she relented with a sweet early summer breeze from exactly where nobody thought possible. Turns out, it was just 180 degrees from the forecast evening breeze direction.

In that fluky air, the J-22s were finally bested on elapsed time as KAMIKAZE, in the big boats of Spinnaker Fleet A, corrected out at only 0:58:59.

GOTCHA! crossed the line first but lost out by 26 seconds at 0:59:25 as corrected. MINT JULEP lagged by a couple minutes to finish third.

The P-26s also move up in the reporting sequence as ORIGINAL SIN and LOST VERMONTNER both corrected ahead of the first J-22 at 1:03:52 and 1:04:54, respectively. Two minutes later 'twas JESSE, another two 'til CYGNUS.

A 15 boat J-22 Fleet put on a great show as they scattered all over the lake in the patient pursuit of promising puffs. As they again merged nearing the finish line, the apparent wide separations proved to be illusions with each finisher breathing down the neck of the one just finished. From SUPERFLUOUS in first at 1:05:26 it was less than 5 minutes to CRAZY HORSE in tenth place. GECKO was second, a minute behind and only 10 seconds ahead of RECKLESS in third. HUSSY, ROCK STEADY, THUNDERSTRUCK, HABANERO, PALEFACE LITE and SWINE FLEW were fourth through ninth. The second decade saw H S MOISTURE MISSILE, FIRST DATE, HIGH MAINTENANCE and JUBBLIES all well ahead of HOG-TIDE. WHAT'S HER NAME was DNS.

In the Jib & Main Fleet, FLASH again crossed the line first but first went to MI JOY, by over 2 minutes on corrected time at 1:06:46. Then it was APOTHECARY, BALD EAGLE and BLASEN IV. CHEEMAUN was nowhere in sight.

We'll wait and recap the standings after the next race (Race 5 of 6) using the one race drop allowed in this series.

Want a great, very reasonable, solution to that urge to get out on the water, beach partying, fun sailing - maybe even a little racing? Dust off that old Sunfish out in the garage, borrow one or, better yet - buy a new one (or two). Step two, call Dick Crandall (231-547-2999) or Tom Barnes (231-547-5137) and join the new Sunfish Fleet - they can give you all the details. Alternately, join the Fleet at Ferry Beach on Sundays about 2 p.m., again, get details from Dick or Tom.

We've had a couple complaints about the phone at the CYC (which is almost never attended). My suggestion is to call Josh Barnes (547-2000) about membership matters or the Commodore, Val Barnes (547-8990) for all other questions or information.

Junior Golf numbers higher than last year

The Charlevoix County Junior golf program again racked up new records, both in number of youngsters enrolled in the early orientation program and the number of advanced players awarded scholarships to attend Ferris State University's popular week-long summer golf camp.

Initial enrollment during the first days of registration numbers 150 with limited space left for those still seeking enrollment in the popular summer program.

After being named one of the top 16 Junior programs in the country by the National Junior Golfers Association, program Director Dean Davenport expects even more young golfers from the Charlevoix area registering in the next few sessions.

"We are seeing youngsters coming from Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Boyne City, East Jordan, and Ellsworth as well as summer visitors from other areas downstate. We hope to accommodate them but at some point we will have to freeze enrollment," he said.

There were eight junior golfers awarded full scholarships to Ferris State University camp. They included Travis Glowney, Kevin Kusina, Philip Mayes, Kreg Wager, Nicholas Cole, Jamin Waha, Tyler Way and Brian Douglas.

Board Member and Scholarship committee member Nancy LaCroix said, "We decided to send eight, the most we have ever selected. We'll have to work harder at our fund-raising tournament, 'The Supe,' to balance our budget, which will be a challenge, but we can do it."

A new feature from last year will be repeated again this year and is a Sunday evening league for the advanced players that takes place at the Belvedere Golf Club with juniors having to pass a written test on etiquette and the playing rules as well as receive the pro's recommendation.

This is the fifth year for the program which last year had 209 enrollees.

Teachers trying to restore one-room schoolhouse

SCHOOL

In the 1961-1962 school year, teacher Laura Foley conducted the last class at the Horton Bay School.

"It's the last one-room schoolhouse in the township," Hartwell said. "One burned, and one was made into a house."

Doris Robinson and the others are hoping the state will give the schoolhouse a national historical designation.

"Horton Bay has so much history," Doris said. "The township hall is over 100 years old, along with the Red Fox Inn and the General Store. There's a national historic plaque for the whole village."

The Horton Bay Schoolhouse

Restoration Committee is seeking donations and volunteers. Thus far, approximately $5,000 in cash and donated materials has been received.

A donation box and historical information is located at the schoolhouse. Donations may also be mailed to Doris Robinson at 5991 West Road, Boyne City, Mich. 49712. For more information, call Doris Robinson at 582-9818.

LEGAL NOTICE 210

NEWSPAPER NOTICE
The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is proposing to designate nesting critical habitat for the piping plover (Charadrius melodus) along portions of the U.S. Great Lakes shoreline and islands to increase the species' protection under the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended. This proposed action, to be published in the Federal Register on or about June 30, 2000, follows a review of the available scientific and commercial information on the species. A separate proposal, also to be published on or about June 30, 2000, identifies areas for proposed critical habitat designation where the species winters along the Atlantic Coast from North Carolina to Florida and the Gulf of Mexico. The survival of the species is believed to be threatened by predation and disturbance of nests and young plovers and by habitat degradation due to shoreline development and modification. An analysis of the economic effects of a critical habitat designation, beyond any existing economic effects resulting from the 1986 listing of piping plovers as threatened and endangered, will be published shortly and will also be available for review and comment.

To obtain a copy of one or both Federal Register notices and other information regarding this proposed action, write: Piping Plover Comments, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Whipple Federal Building, 1 Federal Drive, Fort Snelling, Minnesota, 55111; phone: (612) 713-5350, contact us by facsimile: (612) 713-5292; or view the documents on the World Wide Web at: <http://midwest.fws.gov/>. SCRAPBOOK

Swimmer's safety the result of local committee's work

BY GEOFFREY D. REYNOLDS
Special to the Courier

As the unseasonably warm weather warms the nearby waters of Lakes Charlevoix and Michigan so will come the men and women who will protect the bathers of our beautiful beaches. For a resort community formed in the last part of the 19th century it is hard to believe that it wasn't until the middle of the 20th century before this type of recreational rescue was made available to local residents and resorters alike.

"Life Guards Wanted Here" headlined a small story on the front page of the April 7, 1948 Charlevoix Courier. The first recorded attempt by the Community Life Guard Committee to offer such a service to our local bathers through paid and well-trained swimmers of either sex. That first year of complete service to Ferry and Lake Michigan beaches was funded completely from donations.

Through the efforts of its chairperson, Ann Higman, and her committee made up of Grover Geneit, Jr., Versal Seymour, George Roff, J.R. Williams, donors, like the well-known Julius Gilbert, soon came forth with a donation of $25 or more. Other fund-raising activities included gifts from clubs and organizations and benefits such as bridge tournaments at local churches.

As the deadline of June 1 approached the collected money continued to be handled by Charlevoix Courier employee and committee treasurer, L.E. Towe.

Of the $1,000 they hoped to raise, $900 was to be used for wages of three lifeguards and the remainder for the purchase of elevated chairs, first aid equipment and other necessary equipment. Unfortunately only two lifeguards were hired that first season, Bill Lusk at Lake Michigan beach and Don Burke at Ferry Avenue. The city's other public, but privately owned park, Depot Beach, was left unattended due to a shortfall in funds. Each lifeguard served from noon to 6 p.m. Private swimming lessons were offered during the mornings as long-time instructor and summer resident Lloyd E. Olmstead decided to discontinue teaching lessons after 12 years. She thought it was only proper to let the two young men make some money.

After only one week the services of both lifeguards was recorded as Lusk pulled a weary swimmer from the waves of Lake Michigan just as his shift began on July 4. Burke also came to the rescue the next day, this time as a young girl swam out too far at the Ferry Avenue park.

The next season saw two new faces in the elevated chairs as Gene Bridge and Don Brown stood watch over the ever increasing number of bathers flocking to Charlevoix from near and far. And by 1952 all three beaches enjoyed the safety offered by the men in the elevated chairs. One sentinel, Bill Denemy, was accredited by the American Red Cross aquatic school and conducted the swimming classes only given at Lake Michigan beach that year. Carl Foster watched over the now city leased Depot Beach and Ivan Whitley, the Ferry Avenue site. After the swimming pier was added at the Ferry Avenue site a second chair and lifeguard were added. This year's squad of ten is employed by the city of Charlevoix and is comprised of six women and four men from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Today many charitable citizens now support the Charlevoix Pool in an attempt to instruct the young in learning to swim, but we will always need the ever-observant men and women in the elevated chairs to be there for the unexpected.

School budget for next year to be in the black

BUDGET

Expenditures include salaries and benefits, administrative costs, programs and supplies.

The following shows estimated salaries for the next academic year:

- Superintendent John Sturrock - $93,060
- Charlevoix High School principal Gary Grundman - $80,400
- Charlevoix High School assistant principal Dick Swenor - $74,660
- The seven board members are paid $150 each per year.

The high school has 423 students and employs a little more than 19 teachers. The budgeted salaries total $982,000.

The middle school has 308 students and employs a little more than 17 teachers. The salaries total $781,000.

The elementary school has 620 students and employs a little more than 29 teachers. The salaries total $1,382,000.

Some of the programs in the school district are special education, At-Risk, vocational education and technology. The budget expenditures include salaries, benefits and teaching supplies.

The special education programs in the district's schools are budgeted at $564,600, while the At-Risk program calls for $103,720. These programs are funded in large part by the state.

Vocational education totals $534,210 in expenditures, which includes salaries and benefits, teaching supplies, career development supplies, technology education supplies and work-based learning programs.

Technology expenditures for 2000-2001 are projected at $80,800 which will be spent mostly on computers. In addition, Boss said, each school has its own capital outlay.

The school district's fiscal year runs from July 1 - June 30.

Fireworks to be a part of this year's Venetian Fest.

FIREWORKS

"We've had a couple of meetings with city department staff," said Venetian Festival president Dan Barron. "Since last year we've done our homework. We brought in national experts on fireworks displays. We've had demonstrations to see the difference in fireworks."

Festival organizers have gone the extra mile for safety by adding more than 350 feet of clear zone above the minimum standard of 840 feet around the display in Lake Charlevoix. The Round Lake display will use low-level three inch shells and the clear zone radius will be 350 feet, up from the standard of 210 feet.

"Probably in overall promotion to the city, there is probably no higher visibility promotion in the city. It hits to the central core and spirit of this town..."

Dan Barron, Venetian president on the festival

Council's approval of the fireworks' permit is contingent upon the pyrotechnic company, Zambelli Internationale, signing a hold harmless agreement with the city. In addition, the festival committee has purchased insurance exceeding the minimum requirements.

Festival organizers asked city council for $15,000, up from last year by $3,000, to help with the festival costs.

Barron explained the need for more funds.

"There's an extended amount of offerings to our community that are free of charge," he said. "We'll have 28 bands, expanded kids' activities, senior bingo, a croquet tournament - all without charge to the community."

Barron pointed out the promotion benefits to the city. "Probably in overall promotion to the city, there is probably no higher visibility promotion in the city. It hits to the central core and spirit of this town ... it's a time for the community to come together in a positive way," Barron said.

Council agreed to check into the community funds budget and consider the request.

July 4 parade

A Fourth of July parade is planned for Tuesday in Charlevoix. It will feature the color guard and rifle squads of the American Legion Post 226 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1153.

The parade will start at 10 a.m. at Garfield street and will proceed north on Bridge Street to East Park.

No decision made on school site

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The Marion Township Planning Commissioners are reviewing the site plan for Charlevoix's new high school with a fine-toothed comb.

No decision was made on the site plan by commissioners at Monday's meeting and will be set in the future.

Commissioners did set a July 5 meeting to determine whether the school project is consistent with the township's master plan. Public comments will be accepted at that meeting.

At the Monday night meeting, planners were cued in to be thorough with the site plan at a recent public hearing when many of the township residents packed the hall and voiced concerns about losing farm land, traffic problems, neighbors' rights and environmental changes. Residents' interest remains high and the hall was once again filled at Monday's special planning commission meeting.

The meeting was off to a rocky start when planning chairman Tim Matchett announced that school designers and engineers had submitted a revised plan. The school asked to have it made part of the record.

But before anything was decided, Marion Township attorney, Jim

Young, saw a red flag. "A judge will say that any type of significant changes to a plan means it's going to have to be open for public hearing," Young said.

Architects and engineers for the school argued that the drawings were not changed, but were submitted with more detail.

But Young was cautious.

Area water levels on the rise thanks to rain, warmth

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Thanks to a combination of rain and warm weather, the waters of Lake Charlevoix and Round Lake have come up a few inches since this spring.

According to Charlevoix Harbor Master Hal Evans, the lake levels have pretty much leveled off now, but they have risen about 3 inches since mid-May.

Evans said the combination of the recent wet weather and the water getting warmer are causing some of the rising water levels. Plus, since the air temperature has been cooler than usual, the water already in the lake is not evaporating as much, he said.

While the water levels may be rising, the low levels in the lakes are still presenting some challenges.

Evans said he has seen a slight increase in the harbor usage this year, perhaps due to low water levels in Lake Charlevoix.

"People that normally kept their boats on the lake are keeping them here (Charlevoix marina) because of dredging," he said.

Low water levels in the harbor this year have also presented a few challenges for Evans this spring, such as passengers on smaller boats being able to reach the docks — which stand much higher above the water than last year.

To alleviate some problem, Evans said lower ladders have been installed to help with access to the docks.

OPINIONS

The fourth is not about fireworks

Freedom is not free.

This statement should be kept close to our hearts this July 4 as we light off our fireworks and lounge on the beaches.

This statement is saying, "We should not forget the men and women who gave this gift to us." We should remember for every day we live in a free world, someone in our past has died to preserve it.

They were our fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, grandparents and great-grandparents.

They are the people who huddled together on cramped ships desperately trying to reach a freedom and prosperity they previously only dreamed about.

They are the patriots who faced the British — the most feared army in the world at the time — on the field of battle.

They are the people to whom we owe everything.

July 4 is not meant to be about "blowout" sales, a used car peddling "Uncle Sam," boat races, cookouts, suntans, fireworks or some festival sponsored by a business or charity. July 4 is a celebration of our freedom and a remembrance of those who gave us this gift.

We should remember this. Without the sacrifice made by the people in our past, we would not have the freedoms we have now.

This newspaper would not be able to take a stand on issues, you would not be able to elect your leaders, you would not be able to gather in protest, you would not have the freedom to choose what you want to do with your life and you would not have the freedom to worship or not worship a higher power.

While we are not saying everyone should spend the day in sorrowful mourning, we are asking everyone to take just a moment this July 4 to remember the heroes who gave us freedom and the heroes ready to give their lives for our freedom.

And while doing this, remember to celebrate your freedom by speaking out against or for something, registering to vote and then actually voting in an election and going — or even not going — to a religious ceremony.

The bottom line is don't let those who gave their lives for freedom be forgotten and don't allow their deaths to be in vain this July 4.

Staff writer says goodbye, while welcoming new job

B. J. Hetler

'Goodbye and hello'

Good-byes have never been easy for me, until this one.

This issue is my last as the Charlevoix Courier's reporter. An article or two of mine may pop up for a week or two, but basically I won't be working for Charlevoix's weekly paper.

Recently, I was offered a position as a reporter at the Petoskey News-Review. I think the experience of working on a daily paper will be a good one, so I'm off. Maybe the daily morning deadlines will help to thwart my penchant for procrastination.

The reason this good-bye to Charlevoix is easy is because my beat at the News-Review includes Charlevoix, so it's not really a good-bye. I'll also cover Boyne City and Boyne Falls.

The Charlevoix Courier was my first reporting job after graduating with a B.A. from Michigan State University's School of Journalism in 1996. After working for 20-some years in law offices and in public relations in Grand Rapids and then Washington, D.C., I had been determined to return to school full-time. It stands as one of the best decisions I ever made.

Our family moved to this area in the early 1960s. My interest in journalism began years ago when I worked for the News-Review in paste-up (ancient method of putting the paper together). The controlled anxiety of deadlines, reporters on the telephones, the NEWS, even the scent of the pressroom kindled an interest that never left me.

I've met and talked with many helpful and congenial Charlevoix area people during the time that I've worked for the paper. Thank you all for your patience, your accessibility and your help. It will make an easy transition since my new job comes with established contacts and sources.

If the change is difficult for anyone it will be for the contacts and sources because, in answer to County Planning Director Larry Sullivan's plaintive cry: "Yes, Larry, you will have to train someone new."

I've enjoyed the staff at the Courier. There have been many times of laughter.

Thanks, Valerie, for your ever-patient ear and your readiness to laugh at the absurd. Thanks, Kim, for being the answer lady and for compromising on the office temperature. Thanks, Jeremy, for your vibrant, play-by-play descriptions of the mundane in life and for other hilarity. You are, without a doubt, "Mr. Entertainment" of the Charlevoix Courier office.

Thanks again to the Charlevoix community. I will still be working on many of the same issues and welcome your calls at the Petoskey News-Review.

Fourth of July parade

Editor:

This letter is twofold.

First, I want to thank all those participants in the Memorial Day parade, and the public at large who attended our ceremonies.

Second, the combined Color Guard and Rifle Squads of American Legion Post 226 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1153 invite you to attend our Fourth of July parade on July 4. Step-off is at 10 a.m. from the American Legion Post on East Garfield Street and will proceed north on Bridge Street to East Park. Ceremonies will be held at the Submarine Memorial. The parade will be led by the U.S. Coast Guard Color Guard. The grand marshals are Chet Otmanowski representing the VFW and Clinton Walker representing the American Legion. We will be joined by the Vietnam Vets from Saginaw, Michigan and the combined Auxiliaries of the VFW and American Legion Posts. Any veterans and Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations are welcome. Gary Stutzman and his band will provide appropriate musical selections.

Support the seniors

Editor:

On behalf of all Senior Citizens of Charlevoix County, I would like to advocate for the Commission on Aging for a millage for senior services. We are a local non-profit agency formed in 1974 in response to the Older Americans Act amendments to help fund services under Charlevoix County as our employer.

Presently, the Commission on Aging is funded by County Allocations of $111,000, and grants from Area Agency on Aging for all of our meal programs, Home-Delivered and Senior Center Meals, Homemaking, Respite and Personal Care and Community Mental Health for our Dementia Respite Program. The Grants total $104,400, including a grant from the Charlevoix Community Foundation for the Personal Care Program. We then collect voluntary donations from all of our eligible clients. This is not a requirement to receive our services. They donate if they can afford to.

A Community Assessment conducted recently by the Community Service Network of Michigan revealed the following: 1) Charlevoix County is demographically comparable to the surrounding counties in the District, the 65+ consists of 17% compared to 11% statewide; 2) Charlevoix County has a slightly higher proportion of elderly in poverty; 3) the growing proportion of Charlevoix County seniors citizen population and baby boomer population need to be noted in the strategic plan for housing and services; 4) Charlevoix County is identified as a Health Professional Shortage Area designation and, 5) the Charlevoix Commission on Aging is the only COA in the district that does not have a millage for support of Senior services.

With the booming elderly population, more assistance and services are needed requiring more money. Millage would help expand existing services such as increased caregiver respite or homemaking weekly instead of every other week and eliminate current waiting lists. Millage would also help support Adult Day Care at the East Jordan site, training for Nurse's Aides to provide in-home care, in-home Medication Management by an RN (a skill no longer covered by Medicare) and in-home foot care for those that cannot get to a foot clinic.

Chore service, lawn care, snow removal and minor repairs is another service frequently requested that there is no funding for.

A millage would also help operational costs of all our local senior centers so that they may provide nutritional meals on a daily basis at low cost to seniors at the centers or in their homes. Money is needed to train staff and support services in the far reaches of our county including Beaver Island, which is a part of Charlevoix County.

So yes, Charlevoix County, we need all your support for senior citizen neighbors, parents and friends in need of a little extra help and support by the Commission on Aging in your county so that they may maintain their dignity and independence in their homes for as long as possible. Only 4/10 of a mil will provide $467,000. This is just enough to support services that our seniors are entitled to.

Please vote Yes for the Commission on Aging when you go to the polls August 8. Any questions or to inquire about services please call 582-7301.

Trial of the Century II

Editor:

It was as if the "Trial of the Century" were taking place again, only this time in our own backyard in front of the Marion Township planning commission last Monday evening.

"The People" had just methodically presented their case when the gentleman from Kentucky took the floor and introduced his "Dream Team."

His lead attorney, to whom I'll refer to as Robert Shapiro, immediately began to attack the plan. Shapiro brought forth experts who disputed the developers opinion on drainage and erosion. The first hired gun, who actually bore a slight resemblance to the real F. Lee Bailey, took center stage. "The acreage is wrong. The soil type is different," he claimed. Hmmm.... "Garbage in, garbage out" strategy. Yeah, right. And that wasn't O. J.'s blood on the gate. Outwardly, soil erosion was their argument, but clearly, the "Dream Team" was doing whatever they could to muddy the waters.

The next expert, who I'll respectfully call the Johnny Cochran of the group, gave her plea to the township citing the possibility of equine abortions should a noisy high school be allowed to be built on this site. I wondered if the gentleman from Kentucky could explain the success of all those horse farms in his native state that lie within earshot of noisy I-75. But, like O. J., he'd never take the stand.

Another expert, call him Barry Scheck, took the floor and explained that the oil and other automotive by-products from the parking lot could run off, causing damage to the surrounding agriculture. He was playing the fear card to honest, hard-working farmers in the area just as the real "Dream Team" played to its jury who felt the justice system owed them one from the Rodney King case.

Could there be some run off despite the planning for such provided by the developers? I suppose. Could a future Charlevoix High School graduate develop a biodegradable automotive lubricant? Just as likely. Could a mare have difficulty producing a healthy foal? Possibly, but the odds of a Charlevoix High School grad becoming a veterinarian are better. Problem solving beats stonewalling every time.

Back to the "trial." The burden of proof, as it were, was on "The People" to show that their plan is in compliance with the county and township, which they did by presenting a plan with minimum negative impact. But, the "Dream Team" was using a utopian yardstick to which the plan should be compared. No noise, zero pollution and never a bulldozer a horse could see. Why, I nearly laughed when Barry Scheck went so far as to calculate the amount of pollutants that would be released in that area due to the popularity of sport utility vehicles and the number of trips per student per day. If you embrace that argument, all the more reason to build on 74 acres than in the more densely populated city.

Notice I said I nearly laughed, nearly because in Judge Ito's court, I remembered who'd won.

Here's hoping the Marion Township planning commission and township board won't allow this "Dream Team" to ruin the dreams of this community.

Horton Bay parade theme to be election year politics

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The July 4 Horton Bay Parade is expected to have no shortage of material for this year's theme "Election year politics."

As stated in a flyer about unique parade, "We invite you to join us for the Independence Day celebration 2000 by exploring the curious, the peculiar, the legendary, the storybook, the chivalrous, the courtly, the elegant, the elusive, the eternal, the poetic and the curious elections in Horton Bay."

It further stated entries to the parade are invited. "You can either join in, or just stand by and watch our society suffer a slow decline," the flyer states.

According to Horton Bay Parade Committee Member John Rohe, the event traces back to well over 100 years ago in Horton Bay. There was a brief period it was stopped, but it rose up again in the early 1970s.

"This is a parade of people truly out to celebrate this holiday," said Rohe.

"As off-beat as this parade is, something serious is happening here. We rely on people who are really out there to celebrate the holiday rather than those who participate in our all year commercialization," he said.

While there is no cost to participate in the parade, Rohe stressed serious commercial and political entries are not accepted.

The length of the parade will depend on the number of participants.

Rohe added due to this year's election theme, participants and spectators would not be surprised to see Janet Reno and Elian Gonzalez collaborating on something and the appearance of a few of the presidential candidates.

The parade will be at 1 p.m. on July 4 through Horton Bay, regardless of any "mudslinging."

To take part in the parade or for more information, contact Rohe or his wife, Debbie, at (231) 347-7327 or (231) 348-3395.

BY MORRIS COLE

First Presbyterian Church of Bay Shore

Have it your way.

I say, "I want to talk to you about the church."

You say, "Don't talk to me about the church. Just talk to me about 'Jesus and me.' I don't want to hear about all that 'going to worship with others' stuff, and 'sharing with others' stuff, and 'being part of the fellowship with others' stuff. My religion is a very private thing and I don't want to make a big 'display' of what I feel about God, in the privacy of my own heart and mind."

I say, "Okay. Let me tell you a story."

"When Joshua, who is a professional artist, paints a picture, he really puts an incredible amount of himself in his painting. 'Josh,' as his friends call him, has studied and practiced for years...and the sacrifice of many other things that he might have done. Josh saved up money for art materials. He spent time working on his craft — time that might have been spent on other past-times. And then, when Josh produced a finished piece of art, it was like he had poured himself into that painting. It was an extension of himself. Even though the painting was not a self-portrait, it was almost as if you could see Josh in that painting. Others — even those not skilled in art evaluation — could see Josh in his work.

But no one brush stroke was sufficient to appreciate the full breadth of his skill. Really, not even one complete painting. You had to see a gallery of his work. When you were privileged to be in a room full of his paintings, it was almost as if the artist himself were there. A single painting was hardly sufficient to grasp the breadth of the man's talent. But a collection of paintings brought out the full range of who he was and what he was...as an artist. As a creative energy."

You say, "I thought you were going to talk to me about 'Jesus and Me.'"

I say, "Yup."

Charlevoix airport picked for national weather system

By B. J. HETLER
Staff writer

The windsock at Charlevoix Municipal Airport will still be watched by some people to check wind direction, but a new, sophisticated weather system is slated for the airport.

Charlevoix was chosen by the Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics as one of the state's cities to receive the weather system, if it decided to participate. City council approved the participation on June 19.

"The Bureau of Aeronautics came to us and offered the equipment," said Loraine Luepnitz, Charlevoix Municipal Airport Manager. "They pick so many airports in different cities and choose airports they feel will benefit from it."

The state looks at the number of passengers and the location of the city when deciding what airports are candidates for the weather system. The water surrounding Charlevoix was a deciding factor for the state, Luepnitz believes.

The Weather Observation and Data Dissemination system consists of an automated weather observation system and a pilot information system.

With automated weather observation, readings are taken at the airport and the information is sent by satellite to the national weather network and to a pilot weather briefing system. National and local computer weather information is available to pilots at the airport.

A second computer system gives weather information at the airport that may be accessed locally, such as wind direction, temperature, dew point, ceiling heights and precipitation type.

The weather system costs $110,000 for the equipment and installation. The city pays 10 percent, or $11,000. Michigan Department of Transportation funds the remaining $99,000.

The city is obligated to pay $4,000 each year, after the first year, for the operational costs, and to insure the equipment.

"It is an obligation for the city to continue with the system," Luepnitz said. "But it is very helpful to pilots because of our changing (weather) conditions."

Installation of the weather system near the runway is expected to begin in September. The state is currently in the bidding process.

John Andrew Gallagher, 90, formerly of Beaver Island and Charlevoix, died June 16 at Robinswood Assisted Living Center in Grand Haven, where he resided for the last two years.

A Mass of the Resurrection was June 22 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Thomas Neis officiated. A visitation was also offered at the Holy Cross Church on Beaver Island June 22, with a wake service followed by a committal at Holy Cross Cemetery. The Rev. Frank Partridge from Boyne City officiated on the island.

John was born on Beaver Island Dec. 21, 1909, the son of Andrew and Elizabeth Gallagher. He left high school to join his father as a commercial fisherman.

In 1934 he enlisted as a surfman at the Beaver Island Lifeboat Station. In 1941 he served as an instructor with the amphibious command at Norfolk, Va. aboard the USS Alcayone before returning to Beaver Island as an officer in charge and instructor. Superior officers were not about to transfer the native son who had a sound knowledge of the many moods of Lake Michigan and was an expert in handling boats in stormy and threatening waters.

In 1946, he was assigned to the Beaver Island Light Station where he served 23 years. He received many letters of commendation for outstanding rescue operations, but his greatest satisfaction was being able to assist those in need.

His Irish sense of humor and love of adventure served him well on many occasions in his career.

Following his retirement in 1957, he began a second career, of more than 15 years as an engineer and relief captain aboard the motor ship Emerald Isle.

John was a devoted Catholic and devoted husband. He and his wife, Lillian, were members of Holy Cross, St. Mary's and St. Patrick's in Grand Haven. Throughout his life, he was a dedicated citizen always willing to serve his community and his God.

He was a passionate man who stood up for what he believed. He was a man of great faith and was an example of honesty, integrity, courage, intelligence and humor.

John worked at one level, his best. He was a friend to be trusted, his word was genuine and so was his love for people. His 90 years of life were rich and filled with love for his God, his family and friends.

Survivors include three sons, Ronald (Linda Roath) of Beaver Island, Daniel (Mary) of Sault Ste. Marie, Arthur (Patti) of Milford; one daughter, Mary (Donald) Heilig of Grand Haven; 14 grandchildren, 16 great grandchildren; daughters-in-law, Kris Gallagher of Detroit, Patricia Gallagher of Freeport, Fla.; one brother, Daniel (Shirley) Gallagher of Cocoa Beach; one sister, Elizabeth Wilmet of Westminister, Calif.; sister-in-law, Stella Brown, many nieces, nephews, great nieces and nephews and countless friends.

He was preceded in death by his wife of 63 years, Lillian; a son, A.J.; two sisters, Mary McDonald and Marguerite Smith; three brothers-in-law, J.C. "Mac" McDonald, Gregg Smith and Warren "Chub" Wilmet.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Holy Cross Cemetery Fund and Hospice of North Ottawa County.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report
City of Charlevoix Water Supply

Here is this year's Annual Quality Water Report. This report is designed to inform you about the quality drinking water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water. The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

This report is a snapshot of the quality of the water we provided to you in 1999. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and State of Michigan standards.

We are pleased to report that your drinking water is safe and meets all State and Federal requirements...

Our water comes from Lake Michigan, a surface water source. The State will be performing an assessment of our source water by the year 2003; we will inform you on how to get a copy when it is available.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Sam Creswell at the Charlevoix Water Treatment Plant, (231) 547-3256, or Ed Whitley at the Charlevoix Water Department, (231) 547-3278. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. The City of Charlevoix Water Supply routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State Laws. This report shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1 thru December 31, 1999. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It's important to remember that the presence of these constituents does not necessarily pose a health risk.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater run-off, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.

Radioactive contaminants, which are naturally occurring.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

The State of Michigan and Environmental Protection Agency require us to test our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety. We met all the monitoring and reporting requirements for 1999.

In the following tables you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - is level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

N/A: not applicable N/D: not detectable at testing limit

Charlevoix Water System personnel sampled and tested for over a hundred contaminants that were NOT detected in our water supply. The constituents on the next page were detected at low but safe levels, well below the MCL (Maximum Contaminant Level)

TEST RESULTS

Contaminant (units)	Violation Y/N	Charlevoix water	MCLG	MCL	Likely Source of Contamination

(Total Trihalomethanes)

NOTES:

*Turbidity - turbidity is a measure of the cloudiness of the water. We monitor it because it is an indicator of our filtration system.

Lead and Copper - Lead and copper testing is on a three (3) year schedule, test results reported here are from the 1997 year; next round of testing is year 2000. (No lead was detected).

Unregulated contaminants are those for which the EPA has not established drinking water standards. The purpose of unregulated contaminant monitoring is to assist EPA in determining the occurrence of unregulated contaminants in drinking water and whether future regulation is warranted.

Contaminant (units)	Charlevoix Water	MCLG	MCL	Likely source of contamination
Unregulated Contaminants
Sodium (ppm)	6	n/a	n/a	Erosion of natural deposits
Sulfate (ppm)	28	n/a	n/a	Erosion of natural deposits
Chloroform (ppb)	4.0	n/a	n/a	By-product of drinking water chlorination
Bromoform (ppb)	0.25	n/a	n/a	By-product of drinking water chlorination
Chlorodibromomethane (ppb)	2.9	n/a	n/a	By-product of drinking water chlorination
Dichlorobromomethane (ppb)	3.9	n/a	n/a	By-product of drinking water chlorination

As you can see by the tables, our system had no violations. We're proud that your drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some contaminants have been detected. The EPA has determined that your water IS SAFE at these levels.

All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Please, call us if you have any questions.

Help us protect our water resources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life, and our children's future.

About our system ... The City of Charlevoix operates a Direct Filtration Water Treatment Facility which uses water from Lake Michigan. With a capacity of approximately 3 million gallons per day, water enters the plant through a submerged intake structure. Storage includes a one million gallon above ground reservoir at the plant, and a 300,000 gallon elevated tank (water tower) on Charlevoix's north side. The City has approximately 32 miles of distribution lines serving about 5,000 permanent customers in the City of Charlevoix and areas adjoining Charlevoix Township, as well as the influx of summer visitors to the area. Present flow rates vary from around 400,000 gallons per day in the winter to as much as 2.5 million gallons per day in the summer. In service since 1987, it is a modern, efficient facility staffed by licensed, well trained operators. Charlevoix is continually improving its distribution system, and is close to achieving its goal of a totally "looped" system, assuring fresh water and adequate pressure throughout our entire service area. An electrical generator at the Water Plant assures normal operation at full capacity in the event of loss of electrical power.

The City of Charlevoix Water Treatment Plant and Distribution System staff work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap.

The 1998 Michigan Safe Drinking Water Act, (1976 PS 399, as amended) requires all Community Water Supplies to provide to its customers Consumer Confidence Reports as required by title XIV of the Public Health Service Act, chapter 373, 88 Stat. 1660, popularly known as the Safe Drinking Water Act.

This report is provided to the customers of the City of Charlevoix Water Supply, and covers the reporting period of calendar year 1999. It is not being mailed to individual mailing addresses. The report is available at the following locations: City of Charlevoix City Hall, Charlevoix Public Library, Water Treatment Plant at 97 Grant Street, Charlevoix Electric & Water Department at 401 Carpenter Ave. Copies are available by mail from the City Manager's Office, 210 State Street, Box 550, Charlevoix, MI 49720. This report will also be available on the City's internet web page at www.ci.charlevoix.mi.us

Hospital guild raises more than $1,000 at fashion show

The United Methodist Church in Charlevoix was the setting for the tenth annual Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild Fashion Show and Luncheon June 14.

With the theme, "A Garden of Fashions," models for 20 stores — the most ever for this fashion show — entertained more than 100 patrons, also the most ever. This year's benefit raised more than $1,000 for the hospital guild, again, the most ever. The luncheon was served by the ladies of the Methodist church.

Fashions from stores in Charlevoix, Petoskey, Boyne City, East Jordan and Walloon Lake were modeled.

Low water levels create problems

WATER

This is in sharp contrast to the water levels in the early 1990s, which sometimes ran over the top of the sidewalk and onto the sidewalk.

Because of contrasting water levels such as this, Evans said city officials are in the "talking" stages of redoing the entire harbor and adding floating docks. Floating docks will do away with any water level problems in the future, he said.

Low water levels are also causing problems for swimmers at Lake Charlevoix's Ferry Beach.

Charlevoix Recreation Department Director Ike Boss said the water off Ferry Beach is about two feet lower than last year, making it only six feet deep at the end of the pier at the beach.

Boss said he has closed down the pier so someone doesn't get hurt jumping off of it. The recreation department will also not be putting out its swimming raft.

"In order to have the raft out far enough, we would have to put it 300 yards out," he said.

Low water levels also created a potential problem this spring for the Beaver Island ferry.

According to Lynn DeGrow, president of the Beaver Island Boat Company, the ramp for the ferry had to be lowered to its maximum position. Any lower would create loading and unloading problems.

Now that the water is up DeGrow said he doesn't expect any problems.

Have your stress massaged away at Waterfront Salon

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix resident Cheryl Warren is getting the feel for her new career.

Soon her job as a security guard at the Big Rock Point will be ending, but Warren is ready with new plans. Instead of guarding the nuclear facility, she will be helping people relieve their aches, pains and stress with her touch as a massage therapist at the Waterfront Salon in the Portair Plaza across from the Charlevoix airport.

"Touch is an important thing that people need to survive. When you think about elderly people, they are basically poked and prodded all day, they are rarely given a therapeutic touch," Warren said of her new career. "I like working with people. It has changed my life. I am more open minded."

Warren, a recent graduate of the Institute of Natural Therapies, started offering her massage service at the Waterfront Salon, owned by Vicki Seymour, June 10. She offers two types of massage; traditional Swedish massage and — her favorite — raindrop therapy.

Swedish massage utilizes classical massage techniques, such as mio-facial release and deep tissue work combined with accupressure reflexology, Warren said.

"It gets things working pretty well in the body. It is good for the circulatory and respiratory systems. It is great for the skin and it is relaxing," she said.

Raindrop therapy utilizes aromatherapy during the session. Aromatherapy is the ancient art of healing the mind and body through the application of essential oils.

"Essential oils are a God-given treasure made from the blood or life force of plants that create an environment which parasites, viruses and bacteria can't live," Warren said. She added, many of the oils used by others in aromatherapy are tainted or diluted, but she uses oils that are tested for their quality and as powerful antioxidants that help support the immune system.

"The medicinal properties of the oils and a nurturing touch combine to form a wonderful healing treatment," Warren said.

Warren also offers aromatherapy facials using herbal steams and relaxing masks made with all natural ingredients, such as French clay.

To provide further information about aromatherapy, Warren said she will be offering aromatherapy classes this fall teaching all natural beauty treatments and home remedies.

She added, "A common mistake about aromatherapy is that it is only of interest to women. But, the uses for men are just as great."

Each session with Warren currently runs from about an hour to an hour-and-a-half. But, half-hour and 15 minute sessions are available. Evening and weekend sessions are also available.

The cost for a one hour session is

The extreme sport of sailing

A. Nony
Mouse 'Yachting
notes'

From one extreme to another! Last week light and fluky, this week almost qualified as gale force with over 30 knots measured out on the lake.

This was the kind of sailing evening that can be simulated right in your own home, on any cold evening. Window wide open, big fan blowing ice cold air on you as you sit in the shower (fully dressed), tearing up $100 bills.

And the bills were torn up on the course — ripped sails, spinnaker pole wrapped around the hull, blown 'chutes and so on. It was ladies night in the water as Anne Grimmer left MOISTURE MISSILE for real water and floated around for a while. Val Barnes took her second dip of the young season but Jennifer Jensen leaned over the side, reached a yard or two down to the water, grabbed and flipped her right back on deck. Some of the broaches (a sailor's term for a rather fast, unintentional and undesired turn to windward) were truly spectacular. My favorite, as long as I'm just watching, are the death rolls on the spinnaker run — roll to the left, then right, getting bigger with each cycle. HUSSY was best; when done, her Windex was measuring water flow direction while her keel checked wind strength.

In the near gale, the J-22s were back to best on elapsed time as SWINE FLEW at 1:21:21 nosed out HABANERO by just 3 seconds. PALEFACE LITE was close but the others were back a bit. RECKLESS, HUSSY, JUBBLIES, SUPERFLUOUS, GECKO and THUNDERSTRUCK were all within 5 minutes of the gun. ROCK STEADY, CRAZY HORSE, HOGTIDE and HIGH MAINTENANCE trailed. H S MOISTURE MISSILE retired, FIRST DATE and WHAT'S HER NAME were DNS. GOTCHA! lead Spinnaker Fleet A across with 1:27:06 corrected elapsed time, well ahead of KAMIKAZE, MINT JULEP retired.

In the Jib and Main Fleet, FLASH again crossed the line first and saved her time (1:27:39) by 14 seconds over MINT JOY. Third was BALD EAGLE, just 28 seconds behind! Trailing were BLASEN IV and APOTHECARY.

In the P-26 Fleet, JESSE got back her winning ways at 1:28:46. Then, in real short order it was: LOST VERMONT, CYGNUS and ORIGINAL SIN.

The Standings, with one race to go — Big Boats: GOTCHA and KAMIKAZE 6, MINT J 11, P-26: JESSE 5, LOST VERMONT 10, CYGNUS 11 and ORIGINAL SIN 13. JAM: MINT JOY and FLASH 6, BALD EAGLE 11, APOTHECARY 17 and BLASEN 21. J-22: SUPERFLUOUS 11, SWINE FLEW and GECKO 13, HUSSY

15, RECKLESS and HABANERO 18. (The others are way back at 27 to 42.)

The CYC Pine Lake Overnight on June 25 started with a sleigh ride down to Horse Point but it was downhill (the other way) from there. Little to no wind, fog, secondhand smoke from cigar smoking wind searchers all were course hazards. Don't have corrected results, only written finish times. They show the beautiful SURPRISE in at 3:35:42 (that is a.m.), HUSSY 4:35:29, MOISTURE MISSILE 4:33:18, SWINE FLEW 4:41:08, PALEFACE LITE 5:36:00 and BLASEN IV 8:47:58. No reports on the other starters.

The Fabulous Steak and Shrimp Feast before the Overnight was simply delightful. If you missed it, you missed a fun evening, fantastic food prepared by Charlevoix's Great Gourmet Chefs, served by a few of Michigan's (and CYC's) Finest Feminine Features. Special thanks to those who worked so hard and made it such a great success.

Girls' soccer team scores several awards for skills

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Several members of the Charlevoix High School girls' soccer team were honored recently with a host of awards.

Most notably was the naming of the All-Conference Team and the All-District Team. Players named to All-Conference first team were: Danielle Vogelheim as a forward, Taya Drost as a mid-fielder and Erika Kammermann as a mid-fielder. Named to the All-Conference second team were: Lindsey Carland as a defenseman and Kristy Shindorf as a goalie. Jayme Murray was named as honorable mention as a defenseman.

Players named to the All-District team were: Vogelheim, Kammermann, Carland and Shindorf as a goalie.

Coach Hagen Manker said it is quite an honor for the players to be named to these teams, considering the strong talent at other schools in the conference and district.

In addition to these awards, several players were also awarded team honors.

Drost was named as the most valuable player of the season and Kelly Zimmerman was named as the most improved player of the season. Carland took home the Luther Award as the best defenseman for the season.

The team also gave Kammermann, Shindorf, Carland and Drost the Captains Award. Winning the Coaches' Award was Kammermann, Kirsten Brendtro, Abby Schaperkott and Shindorf.

Schaperkott has also been named as next year's captain.

While watching many of his players win awards for their skills on the field, Manker also watched many of his star players graduate this year.

Of the six named to the first and second All-Conference teams, four of them have graduated. They are Drost, Kammermann, Carland and Shindorf. And of the four named to the All-District team, three of them — Kammermann, Carland and Shindorf — have graduated.

"We are going to miss that senior leadership (next year)," Manker said. However, he said he has managed to give some of his potential returning players good field experience.

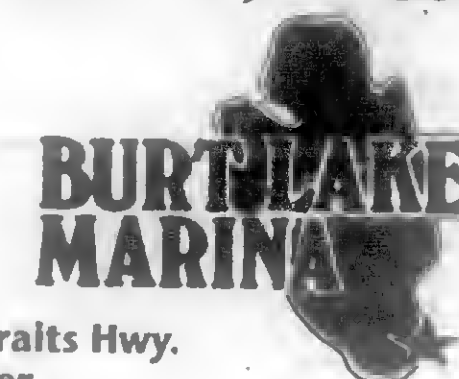

"We should be OK," he added. "We have a core. It depends on who shows up."

High Voltage takes third

Charlevoix's "High Voltage" took third place in the Gaylord Gus Macker which took place June 17 and 18.

The girls battled their way back through the loser's bracket, playing five games on Sunday, to claim third place out of the 19 teams in their division of 9 and 10-year-olds.

Commissioners study school site in detail

"I'm really concerned," he said. "If it (the changes) could affect any expert opinion at all, it must have a public hearing."

The school settled the matter by asking commissioners to use their original site plan in their review.

Marion Township is the location chosen by the Charlevoix Public Schools' Board of Education to build a new 122,000-square-foot high school on 74 acres at a cost of $15,310,197. The site is on Marion Center and Veenstra roads. The township planners are reviewing the school's site plan before recommending approval or disapproval to the township board.

Some of the issues the commissioners said need further study are the location of the athletic fields to neighboring property lines and parking for events, water run-off and retention ponds and environmental impacts.

Planning commissioner John Ochs voiced concern about the location of the athletic fields.

"The athletic fields are too close to a horse-raising farm," Ochs said. "If the fields were moved farther away (from property lines) it wouldn't be a problem."

Commissioner Walter Rosenthal did not have a problem with the location.

"I feel the athletic fields are harmonious with the land," he said. "Soccer fields are there and they're just grass. There are no lights on the soccer field."

But other fields located in the area are softball and baseball fields and Ochs was still concerned.

"I think the athletic fields are harmonious if they're never used, but when you think about the crowds, the noise, whistles going off, it's not harmonious," Ochs said.

Planning chairman Tim Matchett agreed that the ball fields were very close to property lines. He addressed the need for screening with trees along the lines.

"Plantings would help with the noise," Matchett said. "It's one of the things lacking in the plan. There should be more vegetation planted along the property, especially if they're placing the ball field that close to a farm."

Questions about parking along Veenstra Road during athletic events were brought up. But school engineering consultant Tom Metzendorf didn't see any problem.

"We have no intention of anyone parking there," Metzendorf said. A grassy area on the site can be used for overflow parking, he said.

Matchett asked county drain commissioner Dave Stolt to comment on water run-off.

"No retention pond in the southeast corner bothered me," Stolt said. The southeast corner of the school site runs next to a farm and borders Veenstra Road.

Resident Joe Martinehek was asked about the potential for water run-off on his farm land.

"Water goes across our field and it's going to flood our field," Martinehek said. "Once it floods out, I can't get on it."

Stolt said the major retention pond designed on the site seemed adequate unless more buildings were constructed on the site.

"There's a whale of a lot of water going through there," Stolt said. "We need to rethink it if something else will be built on the property."

School consultant Metzendorf said they have no plans for additional buildings on the site.

The school experts addressed the issue of an environmental impact study and said the school is exempt from any requirement to perform a study.

But environmental expert Chris Grobbel disagreed and said the state's Environmental Protection Act was at issue, not the federal environmental act. Grobbel asserted that the school should adhere to the state act.

Township attorney Young advised commissioners to consider environmental matters.

"You should look at the environmental impacts, and I strongly recommend that you do," Young told commissioners.

Factors to consider include looking at any significant environmental impact, considering preservation of natural features and the impact on adjoining properties.

"Courts would hold that you should consider these," Young said.

High school suit dismissed

By B. J. HETLER
of the Petoskey News-Review

A lawsuit brought against the Charlevoix Public Schools' Board of Education and its superintendent was dismissed in the 33rd Circuit Court in Charlevoix on June 29.

"In looking at the complaint, the board felt there was no merit to it and we were pretty confident that Judge Pajtas would agree," board president Allen Telgenhof said. "We're pretty happy with the decision.

We've always acted in good faith with the township and with everyone, and we're going to continue to do so. The board was vindicated by the decision."

The suit was brought by the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association.

In his decision, Judge Richard M. Pajtas ruled that any issues raised by the plaintiff were not ripe for judicial review.

"There's no need for judicial intervention at this point," Pajtas said.

The lawsuit filed on April 20 stems from opposition to the Marion Township 74-acre site chosen by the school district for constructing a high school. The preservation association states that it is concerned about traffic, noise, pollution and the disappearance of farm land and rural character. The plaintiff asserted that the school district claims it is willing to comply with Marion Township zoning laws, but at the same time is notifying the township that it is immune from the zoning ordinance.

Attorney Jim Olson from Traverse City argued the plaintiff's case before Judge Pajtas Thursday. "The schools say ... 'We're going to comply, but if we don't get what we want we'll go ahead anyway,'" Olson said. He pointed out that the schools sent a letter to the township "asserting immunity to the zoning laws they're supposedly going to cooperate with."

Hemingway marriage certificates on display

By JULIE MUSILEK
Staff writer

The Charlevoix Historical Society's Harsha House Museum, at 103 State Street, will be showcasing for the first time what they consider to be two of the most important documents of its collection...marriage certificates for Ernest Hemingway.

Ernest Hemingway has evolved into a cultural icon of Northern Michigan making this display a unique opportunity for many to share in his life. Charlevoix, and various other Northern Michigan sites of interest, were documented by the author in his short stories and first novel, "The Torrents of Spring."

"Interest in Hemingway has never waned. People come to Northern Michigan to trace his life. The time he passed in this area was very influential on his early fiction," said exhibit developer David Miles.

Last summer in Petoskey, the commonly shared interest was celebrated by many literature lovers in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of his birth.

These pieces to be exhibited were donated by Virginia Hemingway Spayde and are the writer's original Affidavit for License to Marry and the authentic Marriage License.

At about 1:30 p.m. June 28, the Charlevoix fire department responded to a report of smoke in a house at 104 E. Hurlbut Street. Upon their arrival, firefighters found heavy smoke coming from the base of the chimney and filling the upstairs rooms. The outside walls were opened and a small amount of water was used to put out a visible fire. The "Thermal Imaging Camera" was used to look for any hidden fires (at left). It appears that a chimney fire started to ignite surrounding wood. (Photo by Jeremy McBain)

Five retire from Charlevoix schools

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Coming into the 2000-2001 scholastic year the Charlevoix School district will be losing one teacher and five support staff to retirement, taking with them a combined 102 years of experience.

Those retiring are:
• JoEllen Rudolph, who has been an educator since 1972, spent her last eight years in the Charlevoix Elementary school system working with students at the second grade level. Rudolph specialized in teaching students with disabilities offering her expertise and warmth of spirit to the deaf/blind, multi-handicapped, mentally impaired, emotionally impaired and learning disabled.

Although her position in the Charlevoix School system was in a general education setting Rudolph's patience and skills shined.

"I really enjoyed working with the children and the parents. You really get close to the families. I miss everybody already," Rudolph said.

Rudolph is currently cultivating her many other interests and you'll be able to find her working in her garden, singing in community choirs and bird watching.

You'll also find Rudolph's name on bookshelves as she pursues her writing career in children's texts for 7 and 8-year-old children.

• Myrna Boss, a co-worker of Rudolph's at the elementary school has been an active participant in the school system for 20 years. As a teaching assistant Boss took an active role in ensuring students who required extra attention got it. A mother of three, a teaching assistant and now a grandmother, it's time for Boss and her husband, Kenneth, to kick back and spend some afternoons with their grandchildren.

For Herboldsheimer retirement brings extra family time. With this extra time, she plans to travel the state of Michigan and lovingly dote on her grandchildren.

OPINIONS

Stop depending on long-dead animals

It's amazing how much of our world is dependent on long-dead plants and animals.

No, not the bloated deer lying at the side of the road or the pile of brush in your backyard. The dead things we are dependent on are the creatures and plants that passed on millions of years ago and have now become the oil that runs our life.

It seems everything is based on these dead critters today. The vehicles we drive and the economy that pays our checks, is based on animals and plants that died millions of years ago.

And boy are they getting pricey.

It seems almost from the start of 2000, prices for this energy-producing goop started to climb to levels that would have sent us to war only a short time ago.

At last check, the price for a gallon of gas in Charlevoix was right around $1.98 a gallon. Last year we complained when gas prices reached $1.10 a gallon, now this year we will probably start celebrating when they come down to $1.75.

The causes for this rise in price are many. Some say price-gouging, others blame the government and a few wild-eyed ones are probably blaming an alien conspiracy.

But, while coming up with all these reasons why gas and oil prices are so high, Americans continue to willingly shell out excessive amounts of cash all the while dreaming about upgrading their new 5-mile-per-gallon sport utility vehicle and refusing to car-pool to work because they love their "freedom."

It is time to wake up people. We are too dependent on gas and oil in this country and these high prices are proof.

It is time for us as a country to start thinking about fuel-conservation and alternative-energy sources, such as electricity, the sun and water. How about other natural gases, such as methane, which is abundant on cattle farms throughout the United States.

The point is: If we really wanted to end our dependency on high-priced oil, we could. It would take a little hard work and changing some of our thinking, but we could do it.

Maybe this gas increase is the kick-start we needed.

An elegant evening on Lake Charlevoix, all for the arts

Edith Gilbert

'Behind the News'

We just read a story about a fancy New York restaurant charging $250 a person for a Three Star Michelin meal. Ain't nothing compared to the raves we hear from the five lucky couples who were winners of "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" — a fund-raising extravaganza given annually to benefit the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

One of the lucky winners, Henrietta Randolph, wife of a two star general and recent guest at a White House luncheon, exclaimed, "I have never been to a lovelier party!" Her husband "Randy" flew home from Russia a day early in order not to miss the event.

Hosted at the beautiful Boyne City home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stowe on Lake Charlevoix, guests were picked up in shiny antique automobiles and driven through the woods to be greeted by dancers and musicians performing at the entrance.

Jody Adgate, chairman, pulled out all the stops when planning this fantastic event now in its fifteenth year. With cameras flashing and video-taping, two Charlevoix winning couples, the Randolphs and the Unbehauns greeted the other guests over cocktails and hor d'oeuvres provided by Kit Simmons of the Douglas Lake Inn.

Guests were then seated at a magnificent table set with sterling silver flatware, majolica chinaware and not one, but five, crystal wine glasses per person.

The Rowe Inn prepared their usual and outstanding Morel Galette as a first course. The Mackinac Restaurant offered its spring version of Michigan Asparagus Leek soup. Guests adjourned briefly to round tables on the patio overlooking Lake Michigan where they enjoyed their grilled Chilean Sea Bass by Galley Gourmet.

Returning to the dining room they danced, conversed and feasted on the main course, grilled chutney. This was followed by a spinach cashew salad provided by One Water Street. The grand finale to this sumptuous meal was pistachio mousse bombe prepared by Tapawingo.

The seven course meal was perfectly timed by Chefs Chandler Symon, John Sheets from Chandler's and Karen Williams from Galley Gourmet. Not to be outdone, six volunteer waiters, two volunteer wine stewards and a butler served the guests with Air Force precision under the firm tutelage of Nancy Porter. This is a sought-after volunteer job men compete for eagerly every year!

Previous Charlevoix winners will recall that this popular event — formerly called the Five Million Dollar Dinner — was hosted twice at the MacGillivray, once on the Loeb Farm Estate and again at the Adams home on Michigan Avenue. The event usually rotates between Charlevoix, Boyne City, Bay Harbor, Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Walloon every spring.

Remember to mark your calendar and plan to buy a fistful of chances for next year's happening.

Sitting on the beach gazing at Lake Michigan you can imagine our surprise when we saw Thomas Jefferson stroll by.

"Hey, Mr. Jefferson, please stop a minute, we have some questions for you."

"How can I help you, dear ladies?"

"Well, Mr. President we went to the Million Mom March, Betty to Lansing and Marj to Washington and we're kind of perplexed. Is it really true as Clara Pilchak said (in a letter to the editor in the May 31 issue of the Charlevoix Courier), that some elected officials really want to take our guns away?"

"(Big laugh) No, ladies, they just want to protect everyone, including gun owners, from the tragedies that have resulted from easy access to firearms."

"But, didn't you agree to the Second Amendment, our right to bear arms?"

"Of course, but the Second Amendment gives a well regulated militia the right to bear arms to protect citizens. Today you have National Guards in every state. They are well-regulated and trained. It does not mean that sensible gun control legislation is unconstitutional."

"But, didn't you agree to the Sec-

"Every time the NRA or other like-minded groups challenge gun legislation they have failed to make their case. Federal courts have reviewed challenges 36 times and have ruled that any governing body, cities, states, counties, can pass gun control legislation. The Supreme Court has refused to hear these kinds of cases six times. That means they are not fearful anyone's rights are being taken away."

"Thanks for clearing that up, Tom. Mind if we call you Tom? We really want to know how we can protect our children. They're being shot in schools, they're shot in the streets, kids in our country die 12 times more than kids in 25 other industrialized countries combined."

"Yes, George, Abe and F.D.R. and I were discussing this tragic situation. It seems so simple what you Million Mom Marchers want — sensible handgun control. Safety locks so children cannot inadvertently fire guns, gun owners legally responsible for easy access to their guns, background checks and 72 hour waiting periods to prevent criminals from purchasing guns and licensing and registration of handguns. We don't understand how this could prevent any responsible citizen from exercising their freedom."

"Then why, Tom, does anyone object to this?"

"They've been misinformed by some gun owner groups whose mantra is, 'They just want to take our guns away.' You and I know this is not true."

"Tom, you're beginning to fade...please come back...help us find the courage to make our country safer for our children."

(Voice fading) "You can and you will...remember to vote."

Editor:
On June 9, the Charlevoix County Hospice sponsored another successful Benefit Auction, this year's theme being "Travel Down Memory Lane at the Charlevoix County Hospice Auction and Rally with us to ease others' journeys!" A very deep appreciation to all the artists, crafters and businesses in Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties who donated to the auction. Due to the generosity of those who attended and made generous bids, Hospice can continue to provide the high level of services that are needed for those making their final health care decisions. We also can continue to provide grief and bereavement services for all in need.

We are very grateful to all of the people who supported us on that evening.

Thank You

Editor:
Please allow me to thank the wonderful group of volunteers and donors who participated in the very successful American Red Cross Blood Drive in Charlevoix on June 15.

The Red Cross staff collected 113 units of blood at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church. This equates to several hundred possible blood products for the sick and injured.

The donors (and some of their lucky children!) dined on hot fudge, hot caramel sundaes and an exquisite selection of homemade cookies, bars, beautiful chocolate dipped strawberries and even gourmet cheesecake provided by incredibly talented volunteer bakers.

Thank you to all of the volunteers, donors and Red Cross personnel who created the huge success!

Please set aside Sept. 7 as your next opportunity to donate blood at the Charlevoix Community Bloodmobile.

New staff writer joins the Courier

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix resident Julie Musilek has recently joined the staff of the Charlevoix Courier.

Julie Musilek

Musilek, daughter of Lorne and Paula Musilek of Charlevoix, will be the new staff writer for the Courier. She is replacing B. J. Hettler who left for a job as a staff writer with the Petoskey News-Review.

"I think it is going to be nice. The atmosphere is great, you have the ability to be outside and it challenges your mind," she said of her new endeavor.

Musilek is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan and has a double major in French and communications.

"Journalism, to me, is very fluid. It changes every day," she said. Musilek added she will spend the next few weeks establishing her writing style and networking with her readers and sources.

"I am open to any constructive criticism or comments (readers) have to say," she said.

Musilek was born in Farmington Hills and lived in the metro Detroit area before following her parents north to Charlevoix. She has a brother, Brian, who lives in Hartland; a sister, Jean, who lives in Charlevoix and a fiancé, Chris Witthoef, who lives in Charlevoix.

"I think (Charlevoix) is nice. The atmosphere is easy to digest. It's quaint," she said.

While getting settled into her new job is leaving very little time to think about her career in the coming years, Musilek said her future plans are to, "have some babies, a big garden, a wealth of happiness and a huge circulation of the Charlevoix Courier."

Musilek will be reporting on school issues in Charlevoix and city government. She can be contacted by calling the Courier at 547-6558 or e-mailing charlevoixcourier@charlevoix-courier.com.

Boss retires from Ellsworth schools

Ellsworth was stopped abruptly when the school district fired him from his job as the girls' basketball coach right before Christmas break in 1999. While Boss states he really doesn't know why he was fired, he said he does know he had made a few parents mad with his coaching style.

"They asked me to resign, I wouldn't," Boss said. "They said they wanted to go in a different direction."

Boss said this action was a big reason he retired from teaching at Ellsworth at this time.

"I couldn't emotionally stay there and not be coaching. I was going to stay at least two more years," he said.

But, Boss' career did not revolve only around basketball. While making great players on the court, he was also creating smart kids in his classes.

For the last six years of his career, Boss has been a math and science teacher for the seventh and eighth grade, as well as an Earth science teacher in the ninth grade.

"I liked teaching math the best. There is something new all the time," he said.

This year, 100 percent of Boss' seventh grade math class passed the math portion of the Michigan Educational Assessment Test (MEAP).

"They were a really bright class. I just couldn't give them enough," he said.

Now that he is retired, Boss said he will focus on his job as the Charlevoix recreation department director — a position he has had for 26 years — and do a little traveling with his wife of 34 years, Joyce.

Ike Boss

But, Boss will probably always miss his students.

"I am going to miss sponsoring classes, taking kids out for pizza....the camaraderie," said Boss.

Donald Lee Hufford

Donald Lee Hufford, 62, of Marco Island and Charlevoix, died June 27 at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia.

A funeral service was given at 10 a.m. Saturday at the United Methodist Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. David Behling officiated. A burial followed at Greenwood Cemetery in Petoskey.

He was born on March 14, 1938, in Petoskey, the son of Paul F. and Eleanor (Notestine) Hufford. He attended Petoskey High and graduated in 1956.

Don spent most of his life following his love of entrepreneurship.

After a tool and die apprenticeship at Fisher Body, Don and his brother Walt, in 1968, formed Hufford Industries in Charlevoix. During many successful years of business the "Huffy" loader was developed and patented. It provided a more efficient way to load sheet metal into a press.

In 1982, Don started a new company, CPI. The company's main success was the "Spyder" Robotics Arm, which was used to take sheet metal out of one press and into another.

Both the Huffy Loader and the Spyder were used by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler internationally. After selling CPI in 1997, he tried to retire but returned to the business world to start Eclipse Engineering in Farmington Hills and Clipper Construction in Charlevoix.

Don was a firm believer in education. He donated engineering scholarships to promising students and inspired many young lives.

He will be remembered for his unwavering integrity in business and in personal relationships.

Don was a member of the Arnold of Charlevoix.

Although here for a moment, he touched their lives forever.

A memorial service for family and friends will be given at a later date.

The newest craze in cars, Chrysler's PT Cruiser 2001 (pictured above with Pool Director Al Gooch), tops the list of items being auctioned by the Charlevoix Area Community Pool at its annual auction Aug. 6. An anonymous donor provided the car with the cooperation of Feeny Chrysler dealership of Gaylord. The car, described as "part 1930s hot rod and part minivan" will be on display during pool hours. Tickets for the auction to be at the Charlevoix Country Club are still available by calling the pool at 547-0892. (Courtesy photo)

Local children participate in global art exchange

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The Children's Art Exchange, coordinated by the Michigan 4-H working in conjunction with the People's Republic of China, began in 1988 in an effort to help Chinese children communicate with Michigan children through art.

The Art Exchange is the largest part of the Michigan 4-H China Project. Each year various countries are invited by the Szechwan province to participate, and of these, 12-14 countries partake. While this opportunity is announced to all 83 Michigan counties only some respond.

Charlevoix County with its strong 4-H program has taken part in this effort for several years. This year, an outstanding four of the 12 pieces chosen by MSU to be brought to China are the work of four Charlevoix County aspiring artists.

Marguerite Bolt, 6, and Krista Pischner, 8, students of Lori Bolt, at St. Mary's in Charlevoix, submitted their work and were chosen to have their pieces — titled "House and Butterflies" and "Skaters" respectively — shared with Chinese children abroad.

Two other Charlevoix County residents, Allie Danthorpe, 10, and Jasmine Dans, 5, of Concord Academy in Boyne City, were also selected to have their work contributed. Teacher Julie Stoppel of the Academy helped in guiding the girls in their creation of Danthorpe's "Out My Window" and Dans "Sunflower."

Central to this whole event are 20 teaching kits distributed to local leaders and teachers consisting of 10-11 original pieces created by Chinese children, a study and art guide and a map of China. Betsy Knox, the Associate Program Leader for 4-H, referred to the artwork created as "visual letters."

"The idea is that Chinese children and Michigan children don't speak the same language. They can communicate about life and what is important, telling stories through art," said Knox.

Each painting tells a story. Common scenes include depictions of Chinese children on a playground entertaining themselves in a round of hide and seek, a past-time Michigan children can easily relate to, or in some cases engaging in games not so familiar.

These paintings come to life when the children can then visualize what it means to be a child in China. In effect these kids learn about China through art.

Participants were asked to paint representations of important things in their lives. This prerequisite resulted in reflections of all the important "kid stuff" like; family pets, holidays, family members and occasionally world peace.

They are:

• Suzanne M. Erhart has been promoted to the position of vice president of finance. According to Roski, "Suzanne has been instrumental in the development of the current financial infrastructure that is critically important to the future growth of LexaLite."

Since joining the company three years ago, Erhart has been directly responsible for the creation of an advanced costing system, the implementation of LexaLite's Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) System and the current initiative for the implementation of LexaLite's e-business resource. Erhart, who holds a bachelor of arts degree in accounting from Michigan State University, has responsibility for the company's Financial and Information Technology Departments.

• Thomas F. Barnes, has been promoted to the position of vice president of strategic development.

"Tom brings a wealth of experience to this important position," Roski said. "Strategic development is fundamental to the heritage and continuing success of LexaLite. The company has grown rapidly by employing cutting edge technology to provide unique, feature-differentiated products to the market. The company's future growth depends on the continuous development of new products and technologies."

Recently Barnes facilitated the implementation of laser technology and the acquisition of an advanced molding technology, which will be the basis for a new generation of products. In addition, he has been awarded several patents of optical products.

Barnes has a bachelor of science degree in plastics technology from Ferris State University.

• Patricia A. Blanchard, formerly chief administrative officer, has been named vice president of administration.

"(Blanchard) has overall responsibility for the company's administrative, customer service and human resources functions. She has had this responsibility for a number of years and the change in titles is in recognition of the level of professionalism she has demonstrated and the importance of these functions to the organization," Roski said.

New fund announced by Community Foundation

Since the Chicago Club was established as a summer resort association in 1880, its members have enjoyed Charlevoix.

A new Chicago Club Fund, created by club members and established with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, will benefit the Charlevoix area for years to come. Earmarked for educational, benevolent or public projects, the fund was started with gifts from individual members. An advisory committee of Chicago Club representatives will help oversee the fund and make recommendations to the Community Foundation about philanthropic distributions.

Tim Ives, past president of the Chicago Club and chairman of the fund's advisory committee, said members of the summer association are enthusiastic about this new charitable initiative.

"For many of us, Charlevoix is a second home," he said.

"Our families have been coming here for generations and we care a great deal about this special part of Michigan."

Ives said although Chicago Club members have a long tradition of supporting individual organizations, "this is a way for our entire club to invest in the community as a whole and to help address a wide variety of important issues."

Part of the Chicago Club Fund will be placed in permanent endowment, so the principle can continue to grow and yield grant-making income in the future; the balance will be put to immediate use by the community. The new fund is open-ended and will be added to by members through the years.

Information about the community foundation or any of its funds is available by calling the foundation office at (231) 536-2440, or by writing the organization at P.O. Box 718, East Jordan, MI 49727.

Writer was married in Charlevoix County MARRIAGE

Both pieces are physical representations of the nuptials shared between Hemingway and his first wife, Hadley Richardson. Richardson is grandmother to actresses Margaux and Mariel Hemingway.

The couple were wedded in Horton Bay, part of Charlevoix County, on Sept. 3, 1921. Following the ceremony, the pair headed to the Hemingway summer cottage on Walloon Lake, where they passed their honeymoon.

Following a relaxing stint in northern Michigan the couple left for Chicago and Paris where Hemingway's writing career began to blossom.

When asked what he believes this exhibit will bring to the Harsha House, Miles responded, "This exhibit will act as a draw for both the town and the museum."

While visiting the Harsha House be sure to check out their new renovations that Miles says give the establishment a "more museum/spacious feel improving traffic flow." Also, don't miss out on the 200 story 8.5 foot Petoskey stone tower situated across from the museum's working player piano.

The Harsha House is located next door to the Congregational Church and has summer hours from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Any questions about the exhibit or the museum itself can be directed to (231) 547-0373.

The Charlevoix Historical Museum will also be having an informational program, highlighting this exciting addition hosted by Miles, on July 11 at 7:45 p.m. at the Depot.

Southdown gives hospital $200,000 for improvements

Southdown Inc. recently donated $200,000 to the Charlevoix Area Hospital for the hospital's planned expansion and renovation.

Southdown, formerly Medusa Cement Company, pledged the donation with the funds going toward the emergency department's waiting room, a new enlarged nursery for Obstetrics and one Intensive Coronary Care Unit patient room in the new ICCU, said John Laney, Southdown's Charlevoix plant manager.

Garden Club cleans up a 'ugly duckling'

What do you do with a small piece of ground, surrounded by pavement, which has four road signs that is also an entrance to the city? The Charlevoix Area Garden Club asked itself this question and under the leadership of Mary Adams is trying to beautify an ugly duckling.

Stella D'ora lilies, dusty miller, mixtures of perennials and four flats of annuals have been planted in the small area where Bridge Street curves at Michigan Ave. Mary Adams, Amy Laewicz and Audrey Etienne braved traffic to plant the area.

The city installed a sprinkler system and bought compost.

Now with continuing care and weeding by the garden club, time will tell if the ugly duckling has been transformed.

TO YOUR HEALTH

Teach your children to think, learn and cope

Scott Kelly
'A little TLC'

I have worked with teenagers and young adults for the past 15 years and spend a great deal of time trying to assist them as they prepare for their future.

I often think about something one of my professors told me while taking classes to earn my master's degree a few years ago. He commented that our society is changing very rapidly and to illustrate his point he told us that two generations ago, high school seniors could expect to have two different careers during their lifetime. One generation ago, high school seniors could expect to have three or four different jobs or careers during their lifetime. But today, high school seniors can expect to have ten different jobs during their lifetime; however, seven of these ten jobs have yet to be created.

With the added technological changes that continue to change our world and affect our way of life, it is very difficult to predict just what today's young people will need to effectively cope with the future.

In preparing young people to be successful in the future, I have concluded they need lots of TLC. They need to learn how to Think, Learn and Cope with change — my definition of TLC.

In the "Thinking" areas, young people need to know how to effectively solve problems, make decisions and understand how emotions influence one's thought processes.

In the "Learning" area, we need to teach them how to use memory tools, understand the role of mistakes as we learn, and the importance of experiential learning where we learn from the experience of others or from our own history.

Teaching young people how to "Cope" with change, I have always found it important for them to understand the change or grief process, realize that different personalities will accept changes at different rates and also that there are many gray areas where we are faced with many options and not necessarily one "right" answer.

The universal mantra of young people has always been, "There's nothing to do around here."

This statement can be a perfect opportunity to respond with some TLC.

During the summer of 1995, BASES staff worked with a group of Charlevoix County teens to develop a book filled with safe and drug, free things to do in Charlevoix County. One of the key things we learned from that experience involved the teens' lack of awareness of resources.

They did not know where to look for answers to the questions that they had.

So, we introduced them to phone books, libraries, Chamber of Commerce offices, resource directories, lists of activities from other places and encouraged them to talk to people — including their parents.

All of the teens were excited and proud as they came back with lists full of possible activities. They were then given a quick lesson in telephone communication skills and asked to track down each possible activity and verify all of the pertinent details. As a result of their efforts, we produced and distributed 3,000 copies of our book titled, "Getting Connected" to teens throughout Charlevoix County.

And still, 5 years later, the thing I hear the most from teens is, "There is nothing to do around here."

I am truly dumbfounded when this phrase comes from a teen inside the Teen Center in Charlevoix as they are surrounded with a ping pong table, pool tables, computers, thousands of books, Nintendo, Sega, videos, board games, cards, musical instruments, karaoke, air hockey, magazines, couches to sit on and talk with their friends, cable television, snack counter, pop machine and plenty of work projects that always need to be done around the facility.

When this happens now, I just laugh, shake my head and walk back to my office contemplating my next grant project titled, "TLC Program for Kids."

ISLAND NOTES

The computer foot pedal and other questions

Phyllis Moore
'Island Wide Web'

Back when I was in grade school here on the island, trips to the mainland were a once a year occurrence to buy school clothes. Now we travel back and forth several times a year.

Some residents even work on the mainland and come home on the weekends. Some of us even travel all around the world via the Internet. Now that Beaver Island has a local access number, thanks to the Beaver Island Internet Project (BIIP), hundreds of year-round residents go online on a daily basis.

The BIIP is relatively new, having been in existence only about three years. It's a consortium between the Beaver Island Community School, Beaver Island Rural Health Center, Beaver Island District Library and Central Michigan University's Biological Station.

We now have 24 dial up lines and T1 Internet Access. During the off-season it's relatively easy to get online. During the summer months it's a little more difficult to get online as more and more summer residents are joining BIIP.

With the connection to the web though, comes some interesting occurrences for those who work for BIIP.

My husband, Joe, is a trouble-shooter for them and as a result our telephone is constantly ringing with customers who are having problems connecting.

Some of these have kept us chuckling.

"Hello? I just got my new computer and plugged it in but when I click on Explorer I can't get on the Internet...how come? The salesman said it was Internet ready!" Sorry, but you do have to have to be connected to a server of some type.

Lots of people are jumping into the computer age with absolutely no idea of how to use the machine. They know that they want to be able to e-mail friends and family and to surf the Internet but getting the machine ready to do all that is sometimes beyond them.

The difficulties that they run into probably aren't funny to them at the time but it's quite difficult to keep a straight face when the caller states, "I unpacked my computer, plugged it in, and waited over 30 minutes for something to happen. Can you come fix it?"

When asked what happened when she pushed the power switch, she replied, "What power switch?"

Or the customer who couldn't get her "foot pedal" to work. It turned out she had the mouse on the floor and was stepping on it like it was a sewing machine.

Then there was the person who couldn't get documents to print and kept getting the message that the computer "couldn't find printer." So, the customer turned the monitor towards the printer so they could "see" each other and discovered that it still wouldn't print.

When the frequent problems are resolved and customers boot-up and connect they discover a whole new world. Now the majority of Islanders are enjoying traveling the world wide web from visiting a pub in Ireland to chatting with pals all over the world.

Now this can be taken to extremes as Joe and I have discovered. I sit at my desktop working away and he's in the family room on his machine. Now we could just raise our voices a bit and talk, but no, we're part of the cyber-age, so we instant message or e-mail each other across 35 feet or so.

It sure beats spelling out stuff in front of the kids so that they have no idea what we're discussing.

One of the greatest parts of being "connected" is all the nice people you meet. Certainly we've all heard about the "sick" people out there who prey on others, but there are some really nifty souls too. In fact, Joe and I are traveling to Maine in July to meet some Internet friends. I went to Texas last year with these same "cyber pals" and had a great time.

Assuredly neither of us would be going if we hadn't been in contact with them for many years online; we've exchanged cards, gifts, celebrated birthdays and anniversaries and expressed sorrow to each other over the loss of friends and family.

All in all, the Beaver Island Internet Connection has been a fantastic addition to the island in allowing us to keep in touch with the world... if we remember not to step on our "foot pedal" too hard.

Last race of spring finds great weather

A. Nony Mouse

'Yachting notes'

The last race of the Spring Series was sailed in a great sailing breeze enjoyed by twenty-seven competitors.

The HUSSY was first across the finish line at 7:18:20 and first on elapsed time (1:16:06). SUPER-FLUOUS (1:17:07) was a close second while RECKLESS and PALE-FACE LITE also finished in the next minute.

After that it was SWINE FLEW at 1:19:19 followed by H S MOISTURE MISSILE, JUBBLIES, FIRST DATE, ROCK STEADY and GECKO, closing out the top ten. Trailing were CRAZY HORSE, HIGH MAINTENANCE, HABANERO, THUNDERSTRUCK, INDIGO, WHAT'S HER NAME and HOG-TIDE.

The P-26 Fleet loved the good breeze lead by JESSE at 1:24:01. Second and third were ORIGINAL SIN and CYGNUS. MINT JULEP had a first in the first race and did it again in the final race with a corrected time of 1:22:41. KAMIKAZE was second, a minute back, with GOTCHA! just another minute later. M 3 came in a few minutes later.

MI JOY was fastest in the Jib and Main Fleet in both finish and corrected elapsed time (1:24:01). BALD EAGLE nailed a second by two minutes over CHEEMAUN while BLASEN IV trailed by 14:42 on corrected time despite crossing the line just a couple minutes after BALD EAGLE. FLASH was DNS.

The Final Season Standings: Tonight's win was not nearly enough to overtake SUPERFLUOUS, who wins the J-22 Spring Series with only 13 points to HUSSY's 16. SWINE FLEW gets the third flag with 18 points. Then, in order: RECKLESS and GECKO 21, HABANERO 31, PALEFACE LITE 32, ROCK STEADY 36, THUNDERSTRUCK 39, JUBBLIES 40, FIRST DATE 42, H S MOISTURE MISSILE 47, CRAZY HORSE 52, HIGH MAINTENANCE 54 and HOG-TIDE 72.

In the Big A Fleet: KAMIKAZE 8, by only one over GOTCHA with 9. MINT J, with 12, captures third place honors by default.

MI JOY 7, holds on for the win in JAM as FLASH 9, had a slight technical problem and had to drop the day's DNS. Third is BALD EAGLE 13, trailed by APOTHECARY 23. CHEEMAUN and BLASEN IV tie at 25 each.

JESSE led all through the season and ended up with a comfortable 7 over CYGNUS at 14. LOST VEMONTER and ORIGINAL SIN tie at 15.

There is no scheduled race today, but I hear rumors that quite a few boats are going out, both for fun and for practice.

The Big Summer Series starts July 12. The best bet to get a berth for that series is to post a notice on the CYC Board NOW or visit the club Friday evening.

Next week read this column for a lecture as we have recently seen some of the stupidest and most discourteous actions to ever disgrace Lake Charlevoix.

Lasater warns area residents about Gerber lawsuit scam

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater recently warned Charlevoix residents not to fall for a recent scam involving Gerber Products Co.

In the scam, an announcement was printed claiming Gerber lost a class action lawsuit because the firm was marketing baby food with preservatives as "all natural."

This announcement, on letterhead from a South Carolina firm, claims Gerber is now responsible for giving every child born between 1985 and 1997 — or under the age of 12 — a $500 savings bond. The announcement also claims Gerber is not responsible for contacting or advertising the settlement and asks parents to send copies of their child's birth certificate and Social Security card to a Minneapolis, Minn. post office box.

However, a spokesman for Gerber's Fremont home office said the announcement is false. The birth certificates and Social Security cards are being used by those behind the scam to produce fake identifications.

The Gerber spokesman said that Minneapolis postal authorities are working to return all birth certificates and Social Security cards sent to the post office box. The box has officially been closed by the US Post Office.

According to the sheriff, the Gerber spokesman also said the firm is not involved in any settlement involving reimbursements to consumers.

Rumors that have been circulating in the U.S., both in written form and on the internet, are false, the sheriff said.

Lasater added the spokesman has informed him that a settlement was announced in 1996 involving infant formula and pricing issues, but Gerber was not connected with the litigation. The deadline for filing claims under the infant formula settlement expired Jan. 31, 1997.

Recently travelers on US-31 south of Charlevoix ran into a delay when workers closed a lane to traffic. (Photo by Jeremy McBain)

Road construction coming to a close in Charlevoix

Road construction leading into and out of the City of Charlevoix will soon be coming to a close.

Recently residents and visitors traveling on US-31 south of the city, were met with construction delays at the corner of US-31 and M-66 for renovations to the intersection and the construction of a new connection between US-31 and Marion Center Road. Travelers were also delayed near Barnard Road on US-31, when crews closed off one lane of the highway to repair "joints" in the pavement.

But, according to Bill Shreck, MDOT north-region spokesperson, this will all be coming to an end shortly.

Shreck said construction at the corner of US-31 and M-66 was expected to be completed before July 4 or soon after, which is ahead of schedule.

All that will be left of that project after this week will be construction on a new connection between US-31 and Marion Center Road. This is expected to be completed by July 28.

As for the joint work on US-31, Shreck said it was expected to be completed July 3, or soon after.

Repairs to these joints will keep water from getting under the road and cracking it when it freezes and thaws throughout the winter. By keeping the water out, the life of the road is extended, Shreck said.

Work on these two projects was halted over the weekend for the July 4 holiday.

New school foes lose another battle in Marion site fight

LAWSUIT

Olson said he has tried to get the schools to waive immunity, but it has refused.

The schools' attorney, Bill Ewald from Grand Rapids, called the suit premature and based on speculation. He addressed the immunity issue.

"Asserting immunity is saying, 'I have a legal right, but I'm going to the township for compliance,'" Ewald said. "We won't waive a legal right — we don't have to."

Ewald said that the schools are working with Marion Township.

One of the township's requirements is that the school district apply for a special use permit. If the township grants the permit the schools have its permission to build the high school.

"We're arguing that we cannot do the work until a special use permit is granted, and short of that, we can't do anything," Ewald said.

"Basically, we're complying with township ordinances, as we have been."

Judge Pajtas agreed that immunity was not presently an issue.

"The immunity issue raised ... is not ripe for adjudication at this time," he said. "Defendants say they'll wait until they get a special use permit before beginning any site work."

On behalf of the school district, attorney Ewald addressed the issue of the loss of rural character, saying that the school site was close to the business character of M-66.

"The site is existing in a township that has lost to a great extent the agrarian character," Ewald said.

That claim was rebuffed by attorney Olson.

"I disagree with Mr. Ewald's description that the area is not agrarian."

"The township just went through an extensive review of the zoning ordinance, preserving agriculture. We have a serious situation that needs to be brought under wraps," Olson said.

The issues of the state's Environmental Protection Act, water runoff and contamination were also argued before the judge.

"Defendants are not required to undertake soil sampling, runoff studies, etc., some of which has been done anyway," Ewald said.

The school will be an enhancement of the natural surrounding area and no crucial environmental impact or pollution will occur, he continued. The site plan will reduce water flow on the land and Ewald told the court that the vegetation will help filter any contaminants.

But Olson said that under the Michigan Environmental Protection Act, governmental agencies, as is the school district, have a duty to prevent environmental degradation.

"This is a major project that will affect people for a long time," Olson said.

In granting the schools' motion for summary disposition, or dismissal of the case, Judge Pajtas observed that the parties should continue to work through Marion Township for the school district's application for a special use permit.

"It appears that the process is proceeding in due course," Pajtas said.

The township has set two meetings. The planning commission will meet at 7 p.m. today to discuss compliance of the school project with the master plan. The township board will have a public hearing on the special use permit at 7 p.m. on July 10.

The public hearing will continue on July 11 and 12, if necessary. All meetings take place at the Marion Township Hall, on Marion Center Road at Ferry Road.

Little Traverse Conservancy will be hosting an "Aquatic Life and Pollinators" education program at the North Point Nature Preserve in Charlevoix this summer.

This event is scheduled to take place from 1 to 3 p.m. July 13. Aquatic Life and Pollinators is geared toward children between the ages of 6 and 12. Adults are required to chaperone each group that attends. The program will focus on pond life, featuring live aquatic insects from local ponds, as well as exploring life in Lake Michigan.

forests.

North Point is also home to three threatened plant species: Pitcher's Thistle, Lake Huron Tansy and Pumpell's Bromgrass.

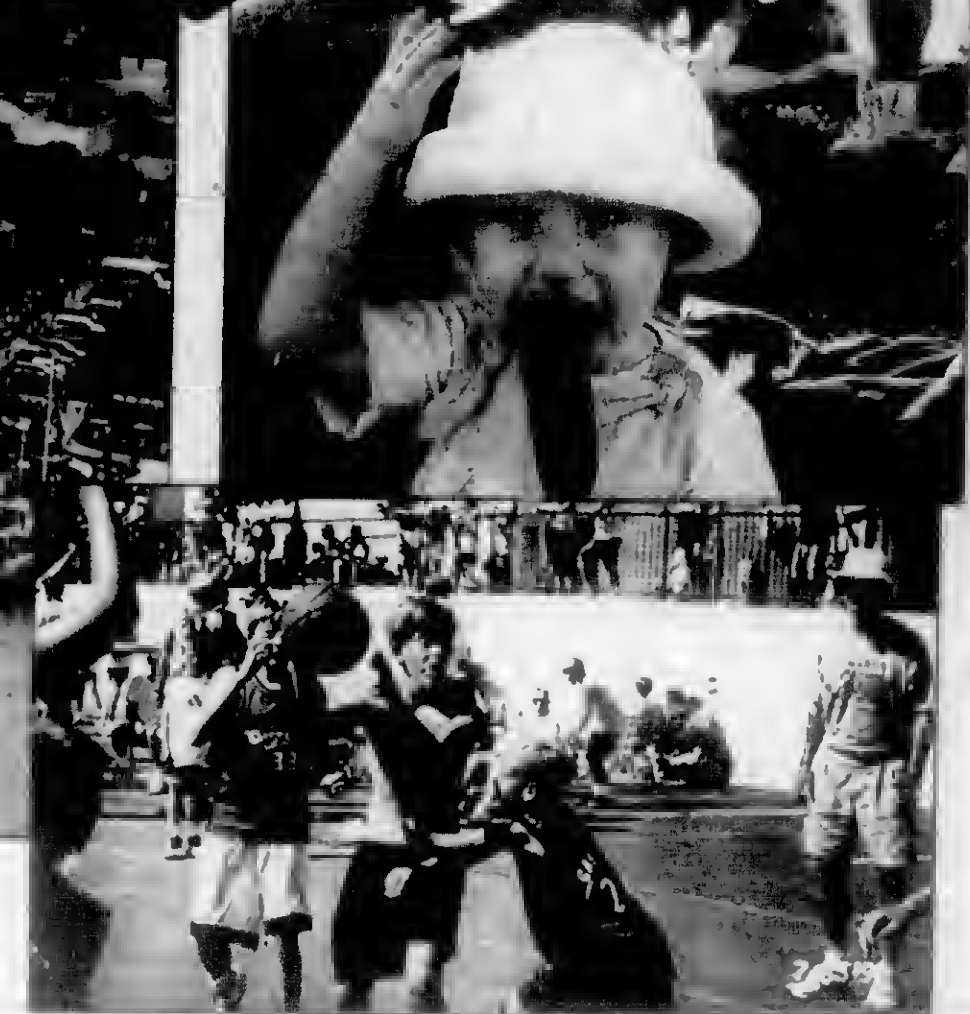

With the help from a grant, the people and businesses of Charlevoix purchased the North Point property.

Clerk leaves court post after 21 years of service

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Charlevoix native Lynn Groves retired June 30 following 21 years of service with the 90th District Court in Charlevoix.

Groves commenced her career in the court system after passing some time in banking. Upon kick-starting her career at the county building, Groves was initially placed as a civil clerk in small claims court.

Following six months as the civil clerk, Groves was moved to the criminal desk in the court room. It was here, at the criminal desk, that Groves spent another six years of dedicated community work. However, solely interacting with judges and files lacked what Groves understood to be her niche.

"Working in the public service I deal with a lot of people. I really enjoy problem solving and interacting with the public," said Groves.

Throughout her career with the district court, Groves has served under three judges. David Fershee, the first of the three, left the court system to go into private practice. He was followed by Harvey Varnum, who chose to retire for health related purposes.

Groves will be leaving her post under the watchful eye of the current judge, Richard May. May handles both Petoskey and Charlevoix District Courts.

New Charlevoix resident Kathy Way, originally of Boyne City, will be taking over in Groves' absence. Way is experienced in legal matters having worked for law offices of Baron and Golski in Boyne City.

Retirement for Groves means family time.

This open space in her day allows for travel with her husband, who has been enjoying retirement for three years from the Medusa Cement Plant — now under the ownership of Southdown Inc. The couple plans to travel around both Michigan and California where their children and two step-grandchildren presently reside.

Groves also has plenty of projects keeping her busy. The first of which includes documentation of her local family history. Groves has collected the courting letters of her grandparents, Archie and Ruth Belding of Clarion, dating back to the early 1900s.

"I get entranced in these letters and find myself participating in a whole other world," said Groves.

Groves plans to assemble this wealth of information into a sort of compilation tribute to her past heritage.

The school board chalked up a loss in its first step to build a new high school in Marion Township, when a new high school was declared inconsistent with the township master plan at a meeting of the Marion Township Planning Commission July 6.

"Our decision is that the project should not be approved, primarily because the goal of rural character retention having not been met and because of the impending traffic problems generated twice a day during the school year. Furthermore, based on a survey administered to the area's residents even those goals the project did meet, did not necessarily further the goals of the master plan, it simply did not violate them," said Marion Township Planning Commission Member John Ochs.

The central issue to be decided at the meeting was whether or not the construction of a new high school, on the 74-acre parcel situated 1.2 miles from M-66, off of Marion Center Road, was consistent with the township's master plan.

"We are essentially giving a recommendation as to whether the project is consistent or inconsistent with the master plan. The school board can override this decision. However, no public building can be constructed until location, character and the extent of the project are approved by the planning commission," said township zoning attorney Jim Young to the commissioners.

Suit filed against state over Cedar Ridge site

Waste Management is going to court with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality in its efforts to expand the Cedar Ridge Recycling and Disposal Facility in Charlevoix County.

On July 5, Waste Management of Michigan, filed suit against the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) following the department's denial to grant an expansion permit for Cedar Ridge solid waste site.

Waste Management wants the court to force the DEQ to grant the company a permit to expand its Cedar Ridge site.

"Our decision was to uphold the county's determination which was made based on consultation with the Attorney General's office. A site map shows there is an adjacent stream that could be negatively affected by expansion," said DEQ's Cadillac district supervisor, Phil Roycraft.

Attorney for Waste Management, Dave Donzal, said the company would rather take care of this matter administratively, but according to the state attorney general, it must file suit in court.

"This is a relatively small expansion and it is the last expansion at the facility. We think this expansion does meet the standards," he said.

Cheboygan man cited in connection with fuel spill

A 65-year-old Cheboygan man was cited in connection with a fuel spill around 6:30 a.m. June 28 that left 100 gallons of diesel fuel lying on US-31 near Waller Road.

The man, Bryant A. Barr, was ticketed by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department for failing to report an accident and not having valid proof of insurance on the Cheboygan Cement Products tank truck he was driving.

Sheriff George T. Lasater said a citizen informed the department June 28 that the truck had spilled the fuel on the ground and the possible identity of the driver. The spill was cleaned up that day.

Upon investigation, Barr admitted to the sheriff's department that he was driving the truck. It was determined Barr's truck had struck a leaf spring from a vehicle that was lying in the road. The spring punctured a saddle fuel tank on the truck.

Barr said he called his company about the incident, but did not notify the police.

The fuel spill was initially responded to by the Charlevoix Township Fire Department, Charlevoix County Road Commission and the City of Charlevoix Department of Public Works.

The matter has been turned over to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality. The MDEQ has said the persons responsible for the spill, will also be responsible for paying for its cleanup.

Charlevoix considers plans for new marina

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Boaters in Round Lake will see a new city marina in the coming future.

According to Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner, the Downtown Development Association will be looking at two plans today to build a new and bigger marina for Charlevoix.

"This is strictly preliminary," Wiesner said, "If the community decides it wants to proceed with some or all of this, it is a doable project. It can be a reality."

He stressed work will not be even started on a new marina for some time. Many factors, such as the Venetian Festival boat parade on Round Lake, will have to be taken into consideration before a final plan is approved.

After discussion by the Downtown Development Association, the plans will go before the Charlevoix Planning Commission and then the Charlevoix City Council, before it can go to the proper state agencies for their input.

"We won't see any change to Round Lake in even the next two years. The best case scenario is 2003," Wiesner said.

The DDA will be looking at two plans today designed by United Design Associates in Cheboygan. The first plan goes further out into the lake than the present, but it also goes a little outside the city's riparian area. The bottom of Round Lake is split up among property owners into riparian areas, meaning the city must keep its docks out of other riparian areas on the lake without permission.

While it may go out of the city's riparian areas, this plan does give the city a maximum of 111 slips. Currently, there are only 34 slips in the city marina, Wiesner said, but the city has been able to fit as many as 70 boats in the current facility.

According to an executive summary in the Preliminary Study Report submitted by Unjited Design, "From the standpoint of less congestion, less cost and easier maneuvering on behalf of the boater, (this plan) is the most cost efficient and functional."

The second plan keeps the city out of other riparian areas and closer to the shore. This plan was drawn up in response to concerns the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality had with the first plan having docks so far out into the lake.

While this plan keeps the docks closer to the shore, it also reduces the number of slips from 111, as was given in the first plan, to 83 total slips.

Both plans will utilize floating docks, which respond to changing water levels easier than the current docks, Wiesner said.

Both plans also work out to costing about $3.6 million. According to Wiesner, some of the funding for this project could come from the Waterway's Commission.

John Winn, of the Waterway's Commission, said Charlevoix is in need of a new marina.

"It's going to mean a lot. We have the second highest demand for a harbor on the Great Lakes," he said. "Obviously, for the economy of the area, it would be huge."

Winn said while the commission has not formally voted on giving Charlevoix funding for this project, he is positive the funding will be there.

"I feel part of my responsibility is to get (state funding) money to this side of the state," he said. All of the funding used by the Waterways Commission comes from a special use tax on fuel bought by boaters in the state.

While looking at building a new docks for boaters in Charlevoix, Wiesner said the on-land portion of the marina is also badly in need of repairs. A study is currently underway to look at options for fixing up the walkway, utilities and some of East Park, he said.

"Sitting wise, we are considering a Bridge Park concept, with activities underground and a nice area above," Wiesner said.

Bridge Park is located just to the south of the bridge, on the east side of the road. It currently has a park area situated on top of the Beaver Island Boat Company and the United States Coast Guard office.

As with these new marina plans, Wiesner stressed any plans for renovations to the land portion of the city marina are only being studied and it will be some time before physical work on this project is started.

Sounds of the islands

The Petoskey High School Steel Drum Band will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday in East Park in Charlevoix. This musical group brings a new sound that usually can only be heard on the islands of Trinidad and Tobago. These high school students practice year-round, but are most active during the summer months. Formed in 1997, they have performed at various festivals and concerts throughout the state and will be performing at Disney World this summer. (Courtesy photo)

Inmates clean up in county

According to Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater, the 2000 Annual Spring Clean-up Program for senior and handicapped citizens and eligible county facilities has been an immense success.

"I am very pleased and the citizens seemed very pleased," he said.

Under the program, a team of four to five prisoners from the county jail was used to clean up various areas of the county under the supervision of Baliff/Transport Officer Earl Muma and his assistants Barry Anderson and Ron Buckner.

The prisoners would rake yards, perform general clean-up and other miscellaneous tasks throughout the spring for area senior and handicapped citizens, as well as county facilities. The program provided 1,347 hours of work in these various areas.

Eleven handicapped residents homes were cleaned under the program, using 53 hours and 81 senior citizen homes were cleaned using 498 hours. Additionally, 16 miscellaneous community projects were completed, using 796 hours.

Community projects were: Raking and painting fences at Jones Cemetery and Lakeside Cemetery; raking, drywall and painting at the Charlevoix Senior Center; raking and general clean-up at Norwood Church; raking and general cleanup at Barnard Cemetery; raking and general clean-up at Barnard Grange; raking and general clean-up at Eveline Township Hall and Cemetery; painting over graffiti in the City of Charlevoix; beach clean-up in the City of East Jordan; raking the beach and picnic area at Elm Point; raking the area at the Walloon Lake Fly Wheelers Festival; working at the Boyne City Football Field, Horton Bay Church, Horton Bay one room school and the Housing Coalition.

Lasater said this is the third year he has had this program and will continue it if there is enough support next year.

How to have fun with the parking patrol

Jeremy McBain

'Just a thought'

Let's call it the "shopper's/work-er's tax."

What I am referring to are the many yellow parking tickets suddenly appearing on vehicle windshields across the city lately. Like the annual flock of city-folks, these little yellow pieces of paper are synonymous to Charlevoix in the summertime.

While some cities are doing away with parking meters and time-allocations on parking spaces to encourage more people to shop in the downtown areas, Charlevoix is embracing this parking tax tactic as more people visit the town.

(I should point out at this point, I have only received one of these little yellow tax notices this year and I paid it right away. So, I am not writing about this subject because I keep getting tickets.)

Visitors who want to spend the afternoon shopping the many quaint shops in town are finding this comes with a cost. It is as if Charlevoix is a toll-town — a place that charges you to come visit it.

Sure, you have some control over paying this fine. You could move your vehicle before the allotted time is up on your meter. But, that would mean having to leave the downtown shop you are visiting — maybe before making a purchase — and trying to find some more change to put in the meter.

If you are not parked at a meter, but near a parking sign listing a parking time-limit, you must still leave the store you are in and then try and find a new place downtown to park. This means shoppers spend time in their cars driving around, rather than in the stores buying things.

To make the parking game just a little more exciting, the parking times on signs differ from place to place and sometimes there isn't even a sign. If there isn't a sign, it is your fault for not knowing the parking ordinance, parking officials will say.

In my hometown, Gladwin, I remember a time when the locals had a debate over the parking meters downtown. The meters were old and the city wanted to upgrade them, but the merchants wanted them taken out.

The merchants argued shoppers should not have to pay to come downtown to shop. At the time, downtown districts were having problems making money, so the more shoppers in the area the better.

The city listened to these merchant's concerns and removed the parking meters.

I think this is a valid argument against the parking meters in Charlevoix and any other city with them. Why would a city want to charge people for coming to its downtown district to shop and thus support the local economy?

Could it be a way to keep merchants from taking up customer parking spaces? I don't think so. Why would any smart downtown merchant want to take up the best parking spaces in front of his or her store, thus hurting their business?

It's simple — parking meters and timed parking are not needed. But, some cities seem to think they are needed and refuse to get rid of this money-making tactic.

So, what can we shoppers and workers in the City of Charlevoix do about this? Not much, other than not drive to town. But, then again, there is an ordinance against bikes downtown, so you will have to walk from home.

If walking sounds unreasonable to you, then I have another idea: Let's have a little fun with these parking ordinances.

This little idea only works on non-meter spots, but I guarantee it will drive the parking patrol batty. The plan is simple: 1) Find out what the time limit is on the parking spot you want. 2) Park as usual. 3) Five minutes before the allotted time is up, get into your vehicle, back it out of the parking spot and then drive it right back into the same parking spot. Technically, this means your time starts all over.

For example: If you are parked in a spot with a two-hour time limit, pull your vehicle out of the parking spot one hour and 55 minutes into the time-limit. Technically, you were not parked in that spot for two hours, therefore — in theory — you should not get a ticket.

The humor comes in watching the face of the parking police as you explain this rational. Remember, be polite as you explain this. It is meant to be a fun little twist on the parking game in Charlevoix, not a ticket to jail for disorderly conduct.

Since many of us who work or visit the downtown area are going to get a parking ticket anyway, why not have a little fun with it.

Festival needs contributions

Editor:

Have you ever noticed what is missing at Venetian Festival? It isn't live entertainment. For eight straight nights, 28 bands will provide a wide variety of music in East Park.

It isn't athletic activities. The Venetian Games include kids and adults in 10 different athletic events.

It isn't kids' events. A teen concert and dance attracts the middle and high school-aged youth, while Kids' Day in the Park provides arts and crafts opportunities for younger children.

It isn't spectator opportunities. The energetic street parade and the dazzling boat parade have thrilled spectators for decades. And the new, interactive craft show in Harbor Park will be fun for all ages.

This year, it certainly won't be fireworks that are missing. So what's missing? The price of admission.

That's because all of the big events and entertainment offered at Venetian Festival are absolutely free to the public. Free to our visitors, but not free to the nonprofit group, Venetian Festival, Inc., that organizes the festival. Venetian Festival became a stand-alone, nonprofit organization one year ago, run by a dedicated board of volunteers.

Now we're asking for you're help. If you've ever enjoyed a concert in the park, the marching bands in the street parade, the Grand Electrical Boat Parade or the fireworks display, please consider being a contributor.

Contributions of $100 or more will also be acknowledged through a new program, the Venetian Pennant program. Commemorative burgee pennants, emblazoned with the Venetian logo, the current year and your sponsorship level will be issued in recognition of the following contributions: Admiral, $3,000; Captain, $1,000; First Mate, $500; Crew, $100.

Gifts of any amount will be greatly appreciated. Please send donations to: Charlevoix Venetian Festival, Inc., P.O. Box 120, Charlevoix, MI 49720. For those who qualify, include an address where your burgee should be sent.

Please take this opportunity to start or continue your family tradition of supporting the Charlevoix Venetian Festival.

School site will cause sprawl

Editor:

Michigan's 540 school districts are increasingly changing the way communities live and develop. Rarely do school boards factor the overall impact their building decisions will have when selecting sites for new schools.

With few exceptions, school location decisions are driven only by the cost of the land. Too often, new school buildings are going up on farm fields or other relatively low-cost outlying lands rather than in the heart of the community.

In doing so, school boards overlook costs of infrastructure, including sewers, water mains, roads and public safety, because they are paid for by other agencies; not with school bond dollars.

As development follows the new school, taxes increase on lands around it and the rural landscape becomes a residential-commercial zone. Once quiet rural areas are shattered by the din of sporting events and heavy traffic. Wildlife and hunting opportunities are lost.

School locations can change the very fiber of a community. Students can no longer walk or bike to school, for classes or other activities.

The school is no longer at the heartbeat of the community.

These are not isolated developments. From 1980 to 1990, 120 schools were closed in Oakland County and 60 new schools built. Fewer than half of the closed buildings were even near to serving their useful life span.

Sprawl followed the new buildings, as parents wanted to be nearer to their schools and fast food and other businesses catering to kids joined in.

One of the most excruciating examples of this is the Charlevoix school district. There, school board members have opted to build a new high school complex in a farming-wildlife area about two miles from the old in-town school, along a scenic, narrow road that winds through rolling hills.

Exasperating the inevitable sprawl that will follow, the board has agreed to make the sewer line that will have to be run from town available for 80 new homes.

Critics claim the present school could be enlarged to meet the community's needs.

This is not a unique case of a school board becoming the spark plug for sprawl. It is happening all over, and will continue until school boards recognize their responsibility to teach our young people appreciation for their natural resources legacy. William R. Rustem

Housing sought for French music students next week

For three days during the Charlevoix Venetian Festival, you'll probably hear 95 people who will pronounce the name of the lakeside town in the correct French way, "Char-le-vuah."

That's because 95 talented young musicians from L'Ecole Nationale de Musique in Pau, France, will be in Charlevoix to perform two nights during Venetian Festival. On July 19, the choir will perform in East Park, and July 20, the French orchestra will take the stage.

The performances by French music students bring more to Charlevoix than just a European flair for music. This is the first step toward building a cultural exchange program in conjunction with Venetian Festival.

Charlevoix High School band director Ralph Rittenhouse and Northwest Academy band director Gary Stutzman are co-chairing the cultural exchange program and their first mission is to find host families for all the French students.

"We've had people offer to house the French students as soon as they hear about what we're doing," Rittenhouse said, "but we still need housing for about half the group. Any host family basically just needs to provide a place for the students to stay. We're going to keep the students busy, with a cook-out at Ferry Beach, music rehearsals, and with all the scheduled Venetian activities."

After Charlevoix plays host to the French musicians, it will be Charlevoix music students' turn to go to France and perform.

"I think for both the high school and the charter school, this will become a wonderful exchange program, which will be a big attraction to Charlevoix music students in the future," Rittenhouse said.

The French music students will arrive in Charlevoix at noon July 18, at the high school band room. Respective host families will meet the students then.

If needed, Rittenhouse can provide shuttle services to get students to their destinations. Rittenhouse and Stutzman will keep the students busy with Venetian activities until their departure July 20.

If anyone is interested in hosting the French musicians, contact Ralph Rittenhouse at 547-7307.

BEACONS

OF BLESSINGS

Although I have seen them far less often as in former years, I am sure that most people remember the signs at railroad crossings that said, "Stop, Look and Listen."

They were meant to caution you to be careful about oncoming trains. You were supposed to come to a complete stop, look both ways for a train that might be approaching and listen for the sound of a locomotive that was coming but wasn't yet in sight. Then, when you were sure that things were safe, you could proceed.

It seems to me that those same instructions can serve us well as we seek to submit our lives to God in prayer.

The first thing we should do is Stop. I would certainly affirm that God hears our prayers in all circumstances. In addition, someone once said that the shortest prayer is, "Help!" which is always uttered in the midst of trouble. However, if we are to pay attention to God in the way He deserves, then we need to Stop - we need to take time out from our "busy schedules" and spend time with our creator.

Henri Nouwen, the well-known writer on the spiritual life, said that we need to learn to "waste time with God." Jesus always took time out with his Father to be renewed and strengthened and directed in the will of God. After they had been out doing what he had told them to do, Jesus told his disciples, "Come with me by yourselves to a quiet place and get some rest." (Mark 6:31)

Then we should Look. There is that old proverb, "He couldn't see the forest for the trees." In other words, when we are caught up in the busyness - and sometimes chaos - of our everyday life, it is hard to see the big picture.

Peter was doing a good job of walking on the water toward Jesus until he noticed the wind and the waves and it was then that he began to sink. We need to look for the hand of God in our life and the world around us so we can follow the path to which He is pointing. If we have come to Jesus as our Savior and Lord, then we can see the kingdom of God (John 3:3). When we Stop, then we should heed the words of John the Baptist when he saw Jesus coming, "Look, the Lamb of God that takes away the sin of the world." (John 1:29).

Finally, we should listen. Stopping and looking will do us little good if we do not turn the ears of our hearts toward God so we receive His guidance. Recall the story of Samuel in the temple when he was a young boy. He was not familiar with the voice of God and thought it was the priest, Eli, when he heard someone calling his name. After having been awakened several times, Eli realized that it must be God calling out to Samuel so he gave him the following advice, "Go and lie down, and if he calls you, say, 'Speak, LORD, for your servant is listening.'" (1 Sam. 3:9) We should come before God with ears ready to hear and a heart ready to obey.

So, if you should see, or otherwise think of, one of those railroad signs, let it serve as a reminder of a good approach to prayer. STOP what you are doing, LOOK to God and LISTEN to His guidance.

Our Father in Heaven will meet you at your stopping place and send you forth with new direction and strength.

Perrie Peacock

Perrie Peacock, 85, a resident of Charlevoix since 1976, died July 1 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

A funeral was given July 6 at the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Michael Dennis officiated and burial was in Union Cemetery in Wakonda, S.D.

Perrie was born on August 23, 1914 the son of James T. and Nellie (Reinoehl) Peacock. In his youth he joined the CCC for a brief time and was assigned to the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Several years later he married Esther Leona Friese, the new school teacher in his western South Dakota community, on March 24, 1940.

The early years of their marriage took them to Huron, S.D. to work the Friese family farm and then to Meckling, S.D. to work a large cattle ranch that provided food for troops during WWII. His knowledge of cattle and horses, his savvy for working with people and a strong work ethic kept him employed in the industry until 1953.

He then began his own farm and dairy business in Clay County and later moved it to Winfred, S.D.

In 1961 Perrie moved his family to Pontiac, where he was employed by Charles Laflin, owner of a Gulf gas station and auto repair business.

He moved to Charlevoix in 1976 and helped establish a local flower shop with his son, Expressions Unlimited, and worked here until 1992.

Perrie was an active member of the First Baptist Church and the Charlevoix Lodge 226, F&AM. He is survived by his wife, Esther; three children, Merrill LaRae of Ketchikan, Alaska, Sharon Kaye Wright and Roger Lee (Mary Fran Vallier) Peacock, all of Savannah, Ga.; five married grandsons, James (Kathleen) Peacock of Oceanside, Calif., Leon (Grace) Peacock of Whittier Island, Wash., Michael (Nancy) Cuddington of Whitmore Lake, Christopher (Shelly) Cuddington of Savannah, Ga. and Richard (Michelle) Schue of Pinckney; six great-grandchildren, Rebecca, Sarah, Erin and Shance, Christopher and Grant; one great-grandchild, Khaylei; a brother Lawrence (Betty Jo) Peacock of Wood, S.D.; two sisters, Joyce Elsassar of Fairfield, Calif. and Addie Wilson of Irigoin, Ore.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Charlevoix Area Hospital or to the First Baptist Church of Charlevoix. Envelopes for contributions are available at the Winchester Funeral Home. A Masonic service was also conducted by the Charlevoix Lodge 226, F&AM.

School supporters lose one SCHOOL

Section 10 of the Michigan Planning Act says, a public municipality, in this case the school board, can override the commission's decision when it comes to site plan use being in compliance with the master plan, allowing for a separation of power.

According to School Board President Allen Telgenhof, the school board will be scheduling a special school board meeting to overturn this decision of the planning commission in the near future. A special school board meeting has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, but discussion about this action by the Marion Township Planning Commission is not on the agenda at this time.

The July 6 planning commission meeting opened at the Marion Township Hall at 7 p.m. and public comment was heard until 8:30 p.m.

Russ and Sue Bolt, Marion Township residents, opened the public discussion forum reciting letters the pair composed.

"This is about the master plan, the blue print for the growth of the township. Area residents are concerned about protecting these natural resources. Marion Center Road has been designated as a scenic corridor, how are we to maintain its scenic character with 400 plus cars parked in a lot? The master plan was established to discourage sprawl in this agricultural area. It is a land use plan so that all residents are guaranteed a safe water supply, and so that farmland remains protected. Nature cannot speak for itself," said Russ Bolt.

Gordon VanWieren, attorney for the schools, refuted the claim that the building construction was not in accordance with the master plan, citing several township benefits that would result.

"56.5 percent of the population of Marion Township are of school age. So, half of the area's families will benefit while the rest of the community will benefit from those school-sponsored activities. The construction will also be in compliance with the rural character of the landscape as the existing buffers will remain unchanged, no flood lighting will be installed, and slopes will remain undeveloped. The ravine resting on the site will be preserved and no trees will be removed. Our plan is also in compliance with future land use plans in that we will foster the establishment of open space zoning and discourage fragmentation. The property itself is not economically viable for agricultural purposes," said VanWieren.

After public comment was brought to a close the board began hashing out what the goals of the township were as far as development as stated in their master plan. They then continued by discussing whether or not the school construction acts in accordance with those established goals.

These goals in brief include: rural character retention, growth management, sprawl maintenance, open space, agricultural preservation, groundwater contamination issue and transportation.

While the school construction did meet approximately half of these goals as outlined in the master plan, the Marion Township Planning Commission then moved to assign more weight to those goals of "greater importance."

After three hours of deliberation the commission reached a 5 to 2 vote in favor of the project being inconsistent with the master plan of the township.

As the public filed out of the hall, High School principal Garry Grundman said in response, "We presented our plans, now we'll go to the township."

This is however one small step in the tangled web of this issue. According to Superintendent of Schools John Sturrock, the next step will be applying with the Township for a special land use permit.

Township hears debate over special use permit

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

A four-hour host of comments were heard Monday from both sides of the school issue as Marion Township considers a special land use permit.

In lieu of the complexity of the issue before the board, township zoning attorney Jim Young advised the group in saying, "You have been presented with a lot of written material that deserves your consideration."

Due to the length of the meeting, the township board decided to have another meeting Tuesday night. The results of that meeting were not known before press-time.

At the Monday meeting, concerns were raised as to the safety of both Marion Center and Veenstra roads, from where the proposed project would be accessed.

"Due to the location of the school young people will be unable to ride bikes to class. We're going to see a dramatic increase in traffic and accidents," said Marion Township resident Sue Bolt.

Addressing these road related concerns was engineer for the road commission, James Vanek.

Vanek cited four factors taken into account in their evaluation of road conditions all of which he found the proposed driveway site to meet.

These factors include: Visibility elements like obstructions from trees, the physical topography of the road itself, site distance and traffic volumes.

When asked by township board member JoAnn Jones, why there would be only one driveway, Vanek replied, "The entrance is adequate for vehicles coming in and out. To avoid traffic back ups there has been planned the incorporation of passing and decel lanes which will minimize congestion."

Many also raised concern as to sewer extensions leading to issues of sprawl compromising the rural character of the area.

Special use permit for school may be decided

SPECIAL USE

"Right now your master plan does not allow you to approve the project. You've decided to manage growth and preserve the area's rural character. Over time agriculture will begin to take a second seat and sprawl will result from this premature development," said land planner Gordon Hayward.

Gordon VanWieren Jr., attorney for the school board refuted this claim stating, "Zoning in this area is agricultural, however a school is permitted under the zoning ordinance. The sewer will then not be extended into the township without the approval of the board. The sewer extension is eight-tenths of a mile, costing $500,000, for which the board of education has budgeted a construction fund. Marion Township will not be paying for the sewer."

Goals in the Marion Township Zoning Ordinance include: Conserving the unique features of the area, protecting productive agricultural soils and conserving blocks of land for farming, creating projects promoting open space, minimizing the impact on environmental resources and preserving the rural character.

While some, like Marion township resident Ann Marie Conway, hold a closed campus like that of the proposed project to be a unique opportunity for the kids to interact with their natural setting, others like Robert and Sue Mossman, owners of an adjacent horse breeding farm, are concerned that building at this site will disrupt and potentially dismantle the rural character of Marion Township.

It is now the township board's decision to make as to whether granting the school board a special use permit is in the general public interest.

Obituaries

Wesley Simmerman

Wesley Simmerman of Charlevoix passed away on July 3 at 9:45 p.m., after a courageous battle with multiple myeloma (bone cancer).

He was born on May 6, 1918 in Boyne City to Goldie and Willet Simmerman.

On Jan. 20, 1940 he married Agnes Kovar of Charlevoix in Detroit where they lived until moving to Charlevoix in 1973.

It wasn't until after 22 years of marriage that Wes and Agnes had their first and only child, Susan. When out with his daughter, Wes never seemed to mind it when people mistook him for a grandfather. Above all, Wes was a devoted husband and loving father who always made his family his top priority.

After his mother's death in 1982, Wes provided his step father, Roy Huston, with constant care and companionship until Roy's death in 1998. In regards to his family, Wes was the living embodiment of 1 Corinthians 13:8 ... Love always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. Love never fails.

Beyond family, the greatest joys of Wes's life included his love of cars, gardening and conversation. He enjoyed everything about cars including driving, repainting, washing and waxing them, and learning about new models. He was often called upon by family and friends to share his automobile knowledge and opinions when they were in the market for a new one. He even carried a list in his wallet of the 20 cars that he had owned during his lifetime.

Despite saying each year was the last one he'd have a garden, each spring and summer, Wes planted and cared for an impressive vegetable garden. To insure a good harvest, each morning he'd rise eager to ward off weeds, insects or frost.

Never one at a loss for words, and not one who could withstand much silence, Wes could start and keep a conversation going with anyone — often striking up conversations with people in parking lots about their cars.

Wes couldn't sit still for any prolonged period of time. He had a strong work ethic, and lots of energy which always kept him on the go driving somewhere, caring for a family member or pet, fixing something, or in rare quieter moments watching the weather, or reading the news.

Wes is survived by his wife of 60 plus years, Agnes, his daughter Susan and son-in-law Julius Koenigsnecht.

The funeral was July 7, at Winchester Funeral Home. The Charlevoix ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Celia M. Hastings and burial was in Saint Mary's Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions be made to the Charlevoix County Humane Society.

100 years of service in Charlevoix

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

For 100 years, boaters in the Charlevoix area have known they have a savior if something goes wrong.

In 1900, the United States Lifesaving Service set up shop in Charlevoix near the shores of Lake Michigan and the banks of the channel to Round Lake. Charlevoix was perfect for the Lifesaving Service, as it had an inlet that was sheltered and was near the islands of Lake Michigan.

Men kept watch over the lakes around Charlevoix for any ship in distress, using watch towers and walking the beaches.

Now, the Lifesaving Service is called the United States Coast Guard, after it merged with the Department of Treasury in 1915 under the newly formed Department of Transportation. Instead of walking the beaches as in the past, Coast Guard crews monitor the airwaves for distress calls and patrol the waters around Charlevoix in boats with highly sophisticated equipment.

"With the advances in technology with Global Positioning Systems and VHF radios, our boats have a longer range and are able to stay out at sea longer. Because of this, our stations are a lot further apart than before. We also have an air station in Traverse City with helicopters, which were unheard of in 1900," said Coast Guard Station Charlevoix Chief Jim Shull.

The station averages two calls a day during the month of July for various marine problems, he added.

According to Shull the most frequent call to the station is for disabled boats looking for someone to tow them to shore. Generally, in that type of incident, the Coast Guard will make a call to any boats in the area to tow the disabled boat in or let a commercial boating company handle it.

While there are many differences in technology with today's Coast Guard as compared to its Lifesaving Service past in Charlevoix, there are also just as many within the make-up of the organization.

In the past, the crew was recruited from the community by the station keeper, who was in turn chosen by the Lifesaving Service.

"Today we have people from all over the United States," said Shull. "We have guys just starting out in their careers and others in the middle of their careers."

In keeping with this tradition of change, the location of the station was also moved. Instead of being on the beach, Coast Guard Station Charlevoix was moved further inland in the 1960s to its present position between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

But, throughout all these changes to the original Lifesaving Service, it has remained in Charlevoix.

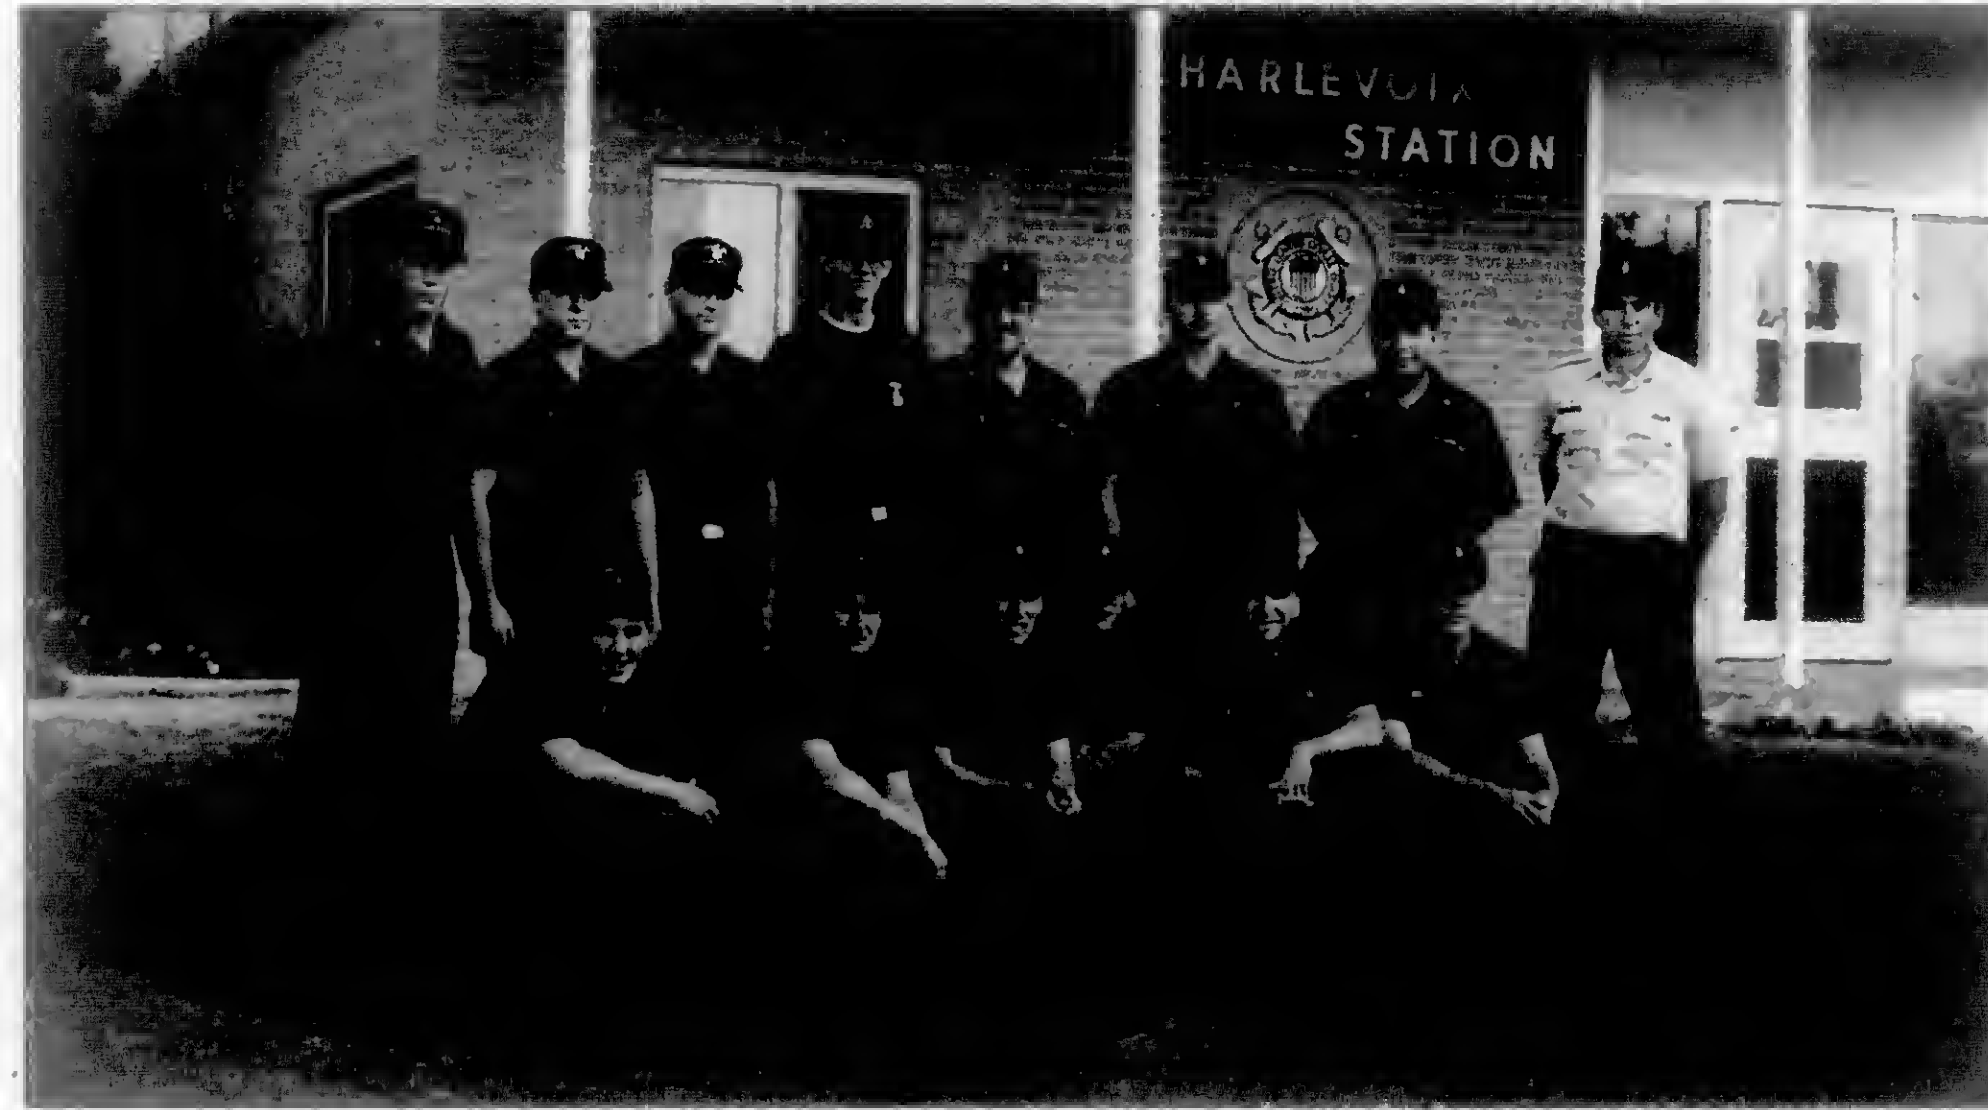

To honor its 100 years in Charlevoix, the community and the station will be hosting several events Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Starting at 6 p.m. Friday, the Coast Guard will have a reunion picnic for all past and present members at Depot Beach. On Saturday, the station will have an open house from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The celebrations will conclude Sunday, with presentations in East Park on the Coast Guard in Charlevoix from 12 to 9 p.m. and lifesaving demonstrations in Round Lake around 4 p.m.

The end of the day will bring a city proclamation given to the Coast Guard and a remembrance ceremony.

For more information on these events call the station at 547-2565.

Charlevoix resident adds life to business websites

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Charlevoix is delving deeper into the virtual age as the area Chamber of Commerce further morphs its homepage (www.charlevoix.org) making the site more user-friendly and informative.

Site designer Laurie Lesser Hodgson began building internet sites four years ago. Lesser Hodgson earned her degree in art and has a love for computers.

"Until the Internet there was no way to nicely combine the two," said Lesser Hodgson.

Lesser Hodgson's first big project was with the chamber, where she took the format of the Community Visitor's Guide and transformed it into a web site.

Since her launch into cyberspace she has expanded her operation and now proudly hails her professional position as serving, "internet and graphic design for Charlevoix, Beaver Island, northern Michigan and the world."

The basic chamber site generally provides the nuts and bolts of the chamber itself.

"Ours is a combination of a Chan-ber site, a convention and visitors site and a relocation site," said Lesser Hodgson. This page is a comprehensive information source providing chamber, community and visitor information.

The chamber site operates using what is called "searchable database online software," created by Office Software, which is said to be cutting edge— ahead of the typical site one would find while browsing the web. Updating information is as easy as a click of the mouse.

While this site has been in operation for some time, changes have been made recently to better serve Charlevoix Chamber members, visitors and residents.

These changes include the initiation of a database drive calendar and membership directory and various links neatly packaging area attractions like, Venetian festival happenings, the Charlevoix library and virtual tours.

For example, before partaking in Venetian festivities this year, go to either the chamber site and click on Venetian or direct your search right to the site itself at Venetianfestival.com. You will find a schedule of events, details about both music and musicians, Venetian games scheduling and photos.

The virtual tour addition or, as Lesser Hodgson referred to it, "an envelope tour," is the latest and greatest addition. On your home computer you now have the capability to tour downtown beaches or walk the channel and then into Whitneys, Grey, Gable's or the Weathervane where anyone can check out their dinner ambience.

While inside these virtual depictions of local sites, the user has the option of revolving 360 degrees, giving them the capability of looking around and walking down the street.

These tours are considered to be a member to member benefit of the chamber and are cost-efficient ways of reaching many. Lesser Hodgson said. All that is needed to develop one of these tours is filming of whatever you would like to have displayed.

"Most are real estate tours. Charlevoix is one of the first virtual cities in Michigan," said Lesser Hodgson.

The Chamber site receives many hits per day making it a wonderful way to publicize whatever Charlevoix attraction you wish to draw users into, she said.

SPORTS

Use some courtesy when out on the water this year

A. Nony Mouse
'Yachting notes'

The Spring Series is over and the Summer Series starts today. It is a good time to pass along some observations and, perhaps, express some alarm.

This year, SLOBS (Selfish Louts On Boats, Stupid) seem to be multiplying as fast as Zebra Mussels.

This is passing strange, as most of the natives of Charlevoix and beloved guests, while in their cars, are reaching new highs in the level of grace they extend to others — possible exceptions may be the growing number of semi-conscious pedestrians. Thank YOU, for leaving an opening at that intersection so that others — and I — could make that turn through traffic. Thank YOU, for bearing left as you come down the North Hill, to leave the right lane for those turning on Park Avenue — and for stopping for some sleep walkers at the intersections.

Did all the SLOBS suddenly leave cars and head for the water?

Seen: A very large powerboat dragging its butt at high speed over near Pine Point throwing BIG wash. It seemed to go out of its way to pass close aboard an aluminum outboard with two older gentlemen fishing, beer in one hand, rod in the other. Then they almost capsized; one fell to the bottom of the boat.

Seen: Multiple cases of SLOBS dashing through the kids sailing classes off Depot Beach ruining the fun and training while creating an urge to kill.

Seen: Hot rod amateur sea captains doing circles around a couple sailboats in the racing fleets and a pontoon boat going right through a marked swim area.

I could go on and on but this will suffice. Whether on the water or on the road please remember and remind others — Courtesy is a Class Act!

Treasure Hunters to again concentrate on Lake Charlevoix

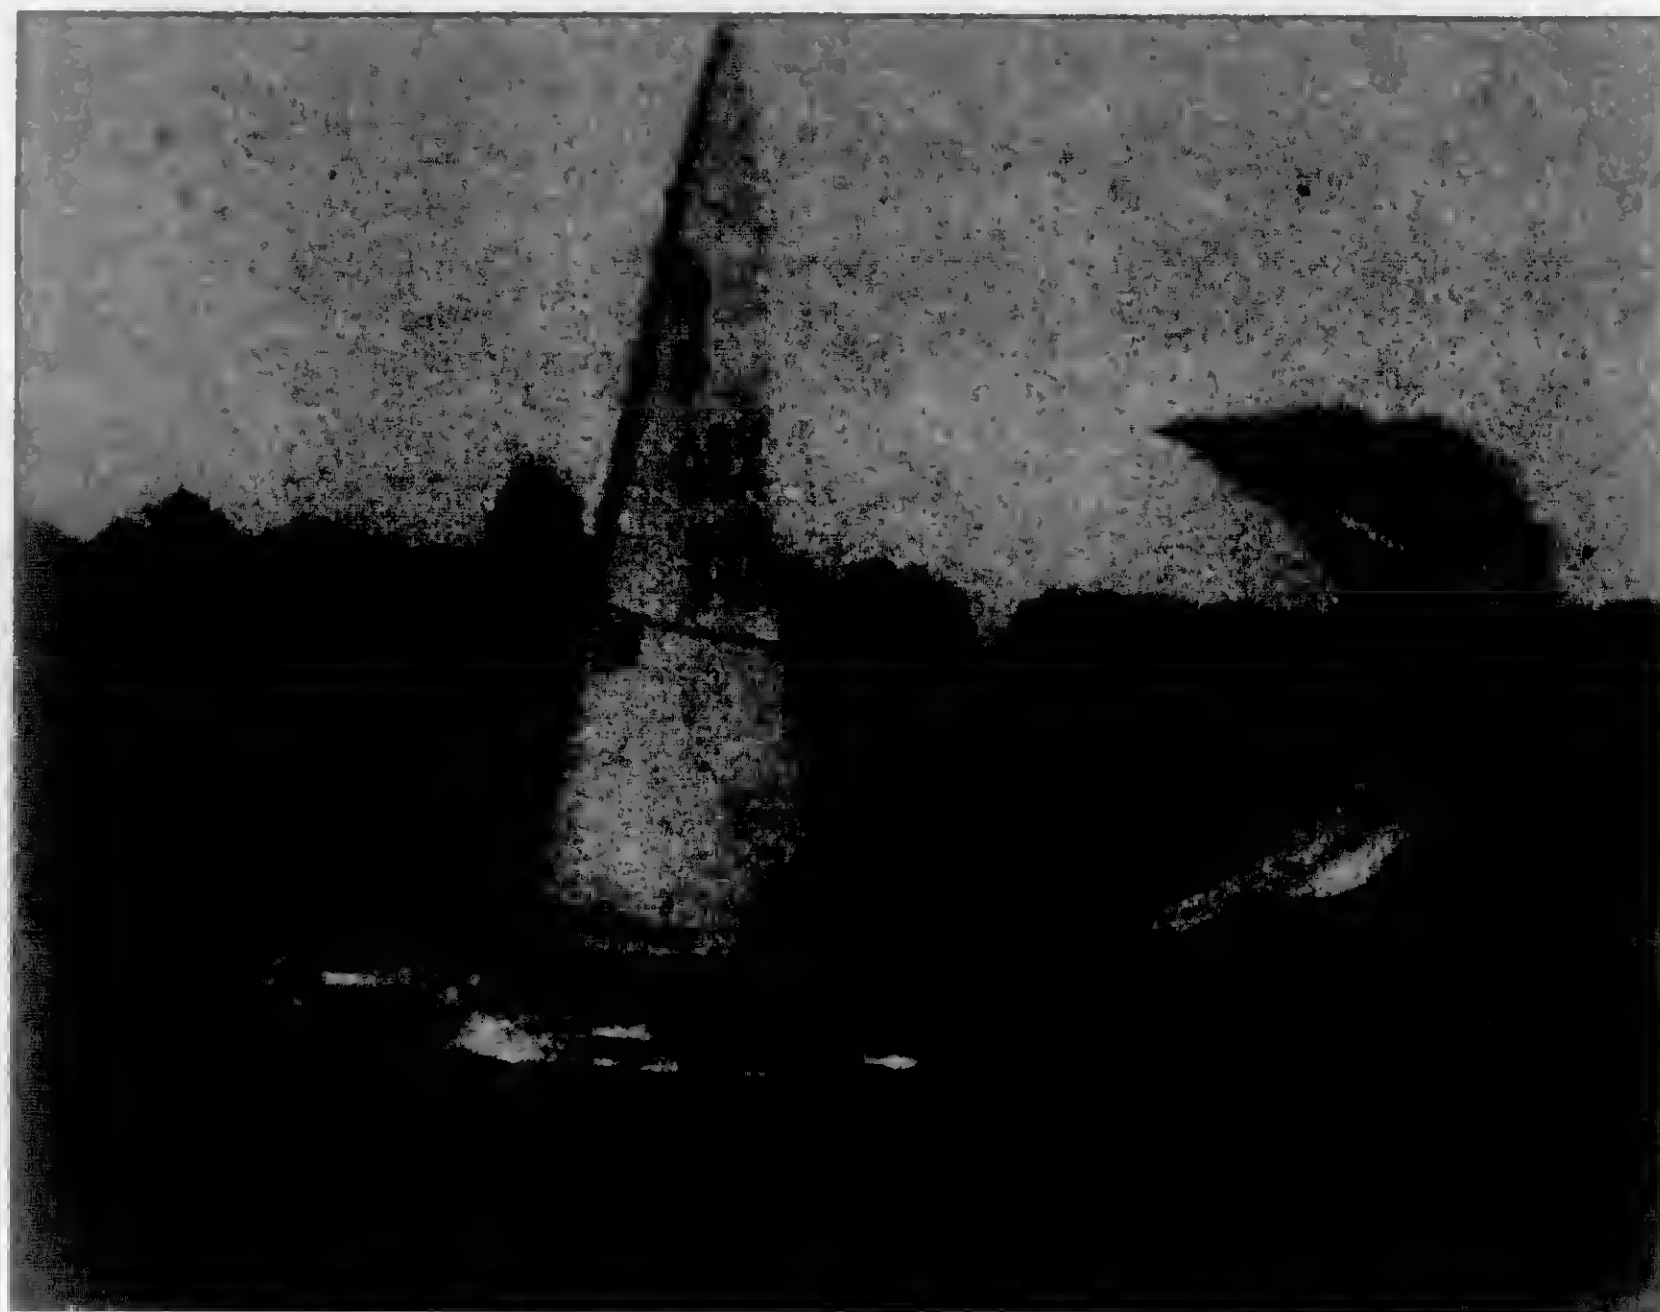

On August 27, the Charlevoix Yacht Club's finest treasure hunters, pirates and buccaneers will scour the local lakes in search of fame and fortune.

Members and non-members alike must register no later than August 18, to get the special early fee of $15 per boat plus $10 per person on board — Sustaining Members are considered supercargo, not mere persons. Three Classes offer an equal opportunity to all: A) power (over 8 knots), B) sail with power (8 knots or less) and C) pure sail.

Register by mail, CYC, c/o 144 C&O Club Drive, Charlevoix or at the club any Friday evening.

We need boat name, fee, class desired, names of the skipper and of those expected to be on board. Pick-up sailing instructions between 12:30 and 1 p.m. and start in the Lake at 2:30 p.m.

Rumor has it that a great feast will be available after the event and gold lies at the end of the RAINBOW, but where is she? Join us; bring along someone with reasonable local knowledge and another who knows everything about everything else!

The Charlevoix Yacht Club would also like to honor the Men and Women of the United States Coast Guard at both Station Charlevoix and the Acacia. We wish to express our appreciation for their presence here for the past one hundred years and to express the hope that we may long continue to have both their protection and their good company.

Yachting Notes is submitted each week during the "warm" months by the Charlevoix Yacht Club. To contact the club, see its website at www.charlevoixyachtclub.org or call 547-9170.

Celebrate July with Michigan blueberries

July is National Blueberry Month and Michigan is the nation's leader in cultivated blueberry production, according to Michigan Department of Agriculture Director Dan Wyant.

Blueberries, native to North America, are one of the easiest fruits to prepare or preserve because they require no peeling, pitting, coring or cutting.

"Michigan farmers produce about one-third of the blueberries eaten in the country," Wyant said. "In 1998, the state produced 49 million pounds, or 16,400 acres, of blueberries — a crop valued at over $30 million. These berries are increasingly recognized for antioxidants and other health benefits."

While Michigan blueberries can be found in each region of the state, Allegan, Berrien, Muskegon, Ottawa and Van Buren counties comprise the state's primary blueberry growing region. Michigan harvest season usually begins in mid-July and ends in late September. Consumers are encouraged to select Michigan-produced blueberries this season as Michigan's farm fresh blueberries come straight from the world's best fields.

looks and great taste. They have a contemporary nutrition profile that is fat-free, sodium-free and a good source of both fiber and vitamin C. Fresh blueberries will give you five grams of fiber—more than most fruits and vegetables—and 15 percent of your daily vitamin C, with only 80 calories in a one-cup serving.

For more information on the state's Select Michigan program, a list of blueberry recipes and a directory of most Michigan farm markets and U-Pick blueberry operations, check MDA's Select Michigan searchable database at www.mda.state.mi.us/selectmi.

Please contact the local farm market or U-Pick operation for specific ripening dates. For more information on Michigan blueberries, visit the Michigan Blueberry Growers Association at www.blueberries.com.

A booth will be set up in downtown Charlevoix July 20 and all day July 21 and July 22, where the pins may be purchased. Waste Management sues over expansion

Waste Management previously received a negative recommendation from Charlevoix County regarding its proposed enlargement of its Cedar Ridge site. The company took the matter to the DEQ, who agreed with the county.

According to Larry Sullivan, of the Charlevoix County Planning Department, "There is no environmental contamination we are aware of. The philosophy at work is when the 40 acre site originally chosen is filled, the good area having been consumed, we would draw the line at that 40 acres and stick to it. Now Waste Management is suing the DEQ for denying a construction permit to extend the landfill."

According to John Ozoga, Senior Environmental Engineer for the DEQ, the quality of the upkeep of the landfill has deteriorated due to inadequate soil cover of the landfill.

"There is too much refuse exposed and that is not acceptable," said Ozoga.

According to Ozoga, another maior issue for landfills shaped like pyramids, like that of Cedar Ridge, is the possibility of contaminating runoff. With a fresh water stream located in close proximity this poses a major issue.

However Ozoga was also firm in stating that the water at this site is clean.

Ozoga also cited there have been numerous complaints of odor problems due to methane gas coming off the fill and traveling one mile downwind toward Ironton. The bacteria in the landfill itself is cooking the waste, breaking down the garbage, giving off more gas.

Ozoga noted, "The site is filling up and they are running out of space so a proposed piping project was planned and sent out May 16. This piping would run over the top of the landfill sucking gas out and running it to solar flares to burn."

Ozoga also pointed out a poorly executed project, in access road construction surrounding the site which points to a litter issue. Glass waste made from silicon was used for a road base source however, when the work was monitored it was noted that the job had been executed without careful attention.

Ten percent of the material used was plastic and litter.

Donzal said these issues are "operational deficiencies" that are normal to find during an inspection.

"The company treats them seriously, but they are routine," he said.

Donzal added, Waste Management engineers have looked at these issues and have submitted a letter to the DEQ stating how the company will make the appropriate changes.

He said the DEQ has agreed with Waste Management's proposed improvements to the site.

Courier Editor Jeremy McBain contributed to this report.

County has plan for waste

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

There is a plan for solid waste in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix City Council approved the Charlevoix County Solid Waste Plan at its July 3 meeting. Reevaluation of each county's plan is a required procedure and acts as a look ahead at how Waste Management is to handle solid waste in the next 10 years.

This process is to occur every five years. There was a slight delay this time around, due to solid waste legislation.

In creating a new plan, a 14 member Solid Waste Committee was appointed by the County Board, each member representing various interests.

Early this year, during the Solid Waste Committee's process of creating a comprehensive waste plan, a public hearing was given whereby, comments of those citizens who took a vested interest in the outcome of the plan could have their concerns addressed.

According to Larry Sullivan, of the County Planning Department, these comments were included in the final stages of planning.

Following two years of deliberation by the committee a plan has been developed. However, this plan must be approved at various levels before going into effect.

At one level there resides the Department of Environmental Quality who must approve the plan.

"The DEQ did address some problems; it is likely that the state should approve the plan or it may offer a modified approval. I don't see any reason for the plan to be rejected," Sullivan said.

The forty acre site at Cedar Ridge, where the present landfill lies, is close to being full. In the past 20 years, neighboring counties have been permitted to dispose of their solid waste at this site, filling available space at a more rapid pace than would have been expected. Costs of operating such a facility, as that of Cedar Ridge, are lower where waste intake is greater, Sullivan said.

The premise behind allowing disposal of waste from other counties is that upon filling our facility we would have the opportunity to outsource whatever waste we may collect.

The original agreement as to what was to be done once the site had reached capacity stipulated that the area was not to be expanded beyond the original land allotment and the aforementioned out-sourcing would compensate.

The new plan follows in the original train of thought allowing for waste disposal anywhere in the state open to accepting Charlevoix County waste. Areas of possible use include: Lee, Presque Isle, Bay and Claire counties.

Beyond simply waste disposal, the plan includes provisions for a countywide recycling program.

The County Board Committee approved the plan's request for mileage and, the issue of recycling/composting will be part of the August primary ballot. This recycling program is to be implemented in areas where there are holes in recycling opportunities, including both the city of Charlevoix and Boyne City.

If passed this plan would be in working order for the next ten years. The outcome affects all residents of Charlevoix County for a decade to come and merits careful thought.

HOW TO KILL A BUSINESS ... in ten easy steps

1. Don't Advertise
Just pretend everybody knows what you have to offer.
2. Don't Advertise
Tell yourself you just don't have time to spend thinking about promoting your business.
3. Don't Advertise
Just assume everybody knows what you sell.
4. Don't Advertise
Convince yourself that you've been in business so long customers will automatically come to you.
5. Don't Advertise
Forget that there are new potential customers who would do business with you if they were reminded.
6. Don't Advertise
Forget that you have competition trying to attract your customers away from you.
7. Don't Advertise
Tell yourself it costs too much to advertise and that you don't get enough out of it.
8. Don't Advertise
Overlook the fact that advertising is an investment in selling ... not an expense.
9. Don't Advertise
Be sure not to provide an adequate advertising budget for your business.
10. Don't Advertise
Forget that you have to keep reminding your established customers that you appreciate their business.

Get some use out of your old 'clunker'

Michigan residents can turn their "lemons"—used cars, trucks, motorcycles, and boats—into lemonade this summer for people who are suffering from kidney disease.

By donating these "lemons" to the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan, car owners help raise money to help fight kidney disease, have their unwanted vehicle towed away free-of-charge, and may be eligible to receive a tax deduction.

A majority of the proceeds from the donation helps fund programs and services for kidney patients in local communities.

You can donate a car, truck, motorcycle or boat through the Kidney Cars Program and join the fight against kidney disease. Vehicles must have their titles. For more information, please call 800-488-CARS (2277).

The National Kidney Foundation of Michigan benefits from the donation of each vehicle. In Michigan alone, there are more than 8,700 patients on dialysis and more than 1,700 awaiting life saving kidney transplants.

Through programs in research, patient services, organ donation, professional education and public information, the Foundation brings help and hope to thousands of Michigan residents.

Birthdays were celebrated on a grand scale in the past

Marilyn Boss

'Days gone by'

When I think of childhood memories, I remember the birthday parties my mother had for us.

We lived on Hurlbut Street and she was busy at the time helping my dad with the bookwork for his oil and gas delivery business. My mom made time to have parties for us, even though she kept busy answering phone orders and doing the countless duties connected with being a homemaker.

I remember my mom baking her big white cake with almond frosting. It was very moist and delicious. We always looked forward to the days that she baked our special birthday cake.

When Dale and I had our children, we would give parties for them each year. The one stipulation we had, was that we would invite all of the children in the class. Dale, his brother Ike, my sister Sally, and I would decorate the yard with balloons and hang suckers from the tree branches.

Dale got some 5 inch bright red cellophane from the dairy. They used the cellophane to wrap around the tops of the milk bottles after they were pasteurized and sealed. The red was for homogenized whole milk, the green was put on whipping cream, and the yellow was for the skim bottles. It came in big rolls. We used the red to wrap around our white rail fence. The whole yard looked very festive.

John Lucas, our neighbor across the street, was a potato chip distributor. He happened to drive down the road as one of the children's birthday parties was in progress. He stopped his truck and gave every child a bag of chips. We never forgot his generosity.

My sister, Sally, and Dale's brother, Ike, would dress up like clowns. They would help us run the party. We had a fishing booth, where the children held a pole. When they held it over the top of the booth, a prize was put on the hook, which they reeled in. We also had a big pile of sand, with hundreds of pennies hidden inside. The children searched for the pennies, which they could keep. We had races with ankles tied together, and of course, ice cream and cake. When it was time to go home, Dale would take the kids who lived on the south side of the bridge, and I would take those who lived on the north side.

With seven children, it seemed that we were always having birthday parties.

On the day of our daughter Diane's sixth birthday, she became sick. All of the invitations had been sent out and the party preparations were all in order. We took her to Dr. Martin, who diagnosed her with having pneumonia. When the doctor found out that this was her birthday, he postponed her

When our first two children were toddlers, Dale built our little red and white playhouse, which had a set of stairs going to the porch roof. Many pictures were taken over the years of the birthday guests on the roof.

When we built our A-frame in 1964, where we live today, the playhouse was the first important item of business. We moved it on a pair of wooden skids across the yard and up the hill, with a truck. It has been used by our children and grandchildren through the years.

Dale and I have always enjoyed having children around the house. We are fortunate that several of our children live in Charlevoix. Between our children and grandchildren, our house is still full of activity.

I think that this is what keeps us young at heart.

School gets permit for Marion site

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix school board jumped a major hurdle when a landmark decision was passed by the Marion Township Board July 11, ruling unanimously to adopt a special use permit for the site of the new high school complex.

However, battle lines are still drawn meaning this decision does not mean scheduling of ground breaking ceremonies will take place any time soon.

"It was a surprise that they would vote a special use permit in, especially after the planning commission voted against it. It was also surprising that they found excuses to get around the master plan and the zoning ordinance," said Paul Richards, a member of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association, a group opposed to the new school on Marion Center Road.

Master plan decision may be overturned

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix school board may soon vote to overturn the Marion Township Planning Commission's July 5 decision against the new high school site.

The school board meeting is at 5:30 p.m. July 26. It will be at the Middle School cafeteria and will follow the Marion Township Planning Commission's site plan evaluation scheduled for 7 p.m. July 25 at the Marion Township Hall.

The township planning commission's 5-2 decision on July 5 stated the proposed site of a new high school, off of Marion Center Road, does not act in accordance with Marion Township's master plan.

According to statute, the school board is allowed to overturn the commission's decision.

"The planning commission is an advisory board that looks at public entities. They look at how the proposed change fits with the master plan. Their decision was that the project is not consistent, but this decision isn't binding," said Charlevoix Schools Superintendent John Sturrock.

It's Venetian Fest time

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

No one should walk away from the City of Charlevoix during Venetian Festival saturated in boredom, so the Charlevoix Courier has configured a list that can keep you and your cohorts busy.

"With the new board residing over the festivities, headed by Venetian President Dan Barron, whose leadership has brought so much energy to the festival, and as only our second year as a non-profit organization we are building a really big festival. Opening night was huge — 1,500 people filled the park," said Venetian board of directors member Laurie Lonsbury.

"Today, the sun beckons residents and visitors to area beaches like Michigan Beach off of Park Avenue in downtown or Depot Beach off of Mercer Avenue. Both are great places for kids and parents to spend their afternoon while grandparents win big in East Park. Bingo in the park for seniors will be going on from 1 to 4 p.m. Then, at 4 p.m. parents can register your little swimmers between the ages of 8-14, for a swim championship at the community pool.

And from 6-10:30 p.m. East Park will be transformed into the Mecca of music. Rhythms of Venetian Music Festival will be showcasing the symphonic tunes of French musicians from l'Ecole Nationale de Musique. Following the school's performance, jump back a couple of decades with the 50s, 60s and 70s music of Tommy Vale and the Torpedoes.

Headlining the evening is "one of the strongest voices in Detroit," musician Jill Jack.

Venetian Queen to be crowned Friday night

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The 70th Annual Venetian Festival festivities are in full swing which means, Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the band shell at East Park one lucky Charlevoix lady will be crowned festival queen.

"We want to promote the young people of this community. We hope that some day these girls will come back and enrich the community," said event coordinator, Diana Phillips, of the competition's goals.

Reigning Venetian Queen, Kelli Skiba, has attended numerous parades and feels she has seen the important role both within Charlevoix and the other Michigan city's.

Included in a set of criteria the girls must meet to be eligible to participate is: an age bracket from 16-22 that the girls must fall within, they must have attended Charlevoix High School or have their primary residence in Charlevoix and are without a spouse or children.

Phillips explained funding for the Miss Charlevoix Venetian Scholarship Competition used to come from the area Chamber of Commerce, but competition expansions have necessitated further funding, which means the girls must hit the pavement in search of sponsors.

Each sponsor pays a fee of $150 supplying sashes and crowns. According to Phillips, the crowns are quite elaborate and are manufactured by the same tiara company that fabricates crowns for the Miss America and Miss USA pageants.

Those who have met these and other requirements, moving on to participant status for the Venetian millennium crowning are: Shauna Barrett, 18, Lindsey Carland, 18, Tiffany Fisher, 17, Jessica Halverson, 17, Tiffany Himebauch, 19, Shannon Martin, 18, Jill Ramsey, 19 and Tanya Wyniawski, 17.

The girls will be judged by three out-of-town judges who have had no prior interaction with the participants.

The competition begins at noon Thursday, at the Edgewater Inn, with a panel interview between judges and contestants, this portion of the process will run until 4 p.m. During this time span the candidates are required to present two speeches, one characterized as informative, based on community specific issues and the other, reflective, a more personal expression. This year's informative speech topic is a discussion of the evolution of the Charlevoix Venetian Festival.

Thursday evening, following the panel interview, the girls will have an opportunity to relax at a family picnic.

On Friday afternoon the group and the judges will convene at the Charlevoix Country Club where each judge will conduct a five minute interview with each prospective queen, followed by lunch.

According to Phillips, Hugh Mason will tabulate the final numbers and the results will be publicly announced at Friday's coronation.

This year's scholarship prize money totals $4,500 and will be properly allocated after the candidates have fulfilled the obligations for their reigning year. The winning candidates, accompanied by Dale Boss, are expected to participate in parades, such as the Cherry Festival parade and those in both Lansing and Frankenmuth.

The Venetian Queen will take home a $2,500 scholarship, the first runner-up will walk away with $1,200, the second runner-up will receive a $600 scholarship and the committee has also allowed for a $200 award given to that candidate who has best displayed their, "Academic Achievement and Extracurricular Excellence."

Phillips described the Venetian Queen coronation ceremony as a scholarship competition, not a beauty pageant.

Skiba added, "The process of competition has been an amazing asset to me. Not many people have the opportunity to be challenged through interviewing and public speaking engagements like the competition requires. I feel this competition experience prepared me for my future job search. It is a prestigious title with which to be awarded, one which I worked very hard for."

When asked what the reign of Venetian Queen entails Skiba commented, "My role was as a spokesperson for the area, a mentor for others my age and a representative for Charlevoix."

As a University of Michigan student, Venetian Queen and soon to be international pupil to the London School of Economics, Skiba's shoes will be difficult to fill, but whoever may be crowned, they too will be expected to act as a Charlevoix ambassador.

A few tips for Venetian Festival visitors

Jeremy McBain
'Just a thought'

While I normally only write one column a month, I felt since it was Venetian Festival week this is one of those special times for special columns.

So, this special column goes out to all those visitors to the Charlevoix Venetian Festival.

First of all, welcome to Charlevoix. If this is your first time, glad to have you here and remember to enjoy yourself. If this is one of your many times at the festival, thanks for coming back.

Having been here in Charlevoix for almost eight months now, and this being my first Venetian Festival, I can understand some of the overwhelming feelings many visitors have when in Charlevoix. There is so much to see and do in Charlevoix this week that sometimes you feel like you are spending all your time running.

After observing some Venetian visitors in action early this week and the weeks leading up to this festival, I have come up with a few suggestions that will help keep all of us safe during the festival week. While keeping us safe, it will also avoid confrontations that I noticed popping up on occasion in town this week.

"Please use care when crossing the street. You are not using care when you do not use the crosswalks, walk when the "Do Not Walk" sign is on, jump out in the street between parked cars and walk in a Venetian daze without paying attention to your surroundings.

For example: The other day I watched a woman crossing the street. While she was using the crosswalk — like she should — the sign said "Do Not Walk." To make matters worse, she was walking in front of a firefighter who was racing to the scene of an accident. The firefighter had to wait for this woman to cross the intersection before he could get to the accident. He was very patient, and only honked his horn once at the woman, who responded by waving at him. It turns out the accident he was going to — but was held up by this careless pedestrian — involved injuries to a small child.

"Please leave any nasty attitudes you have at home. This festival is a happy time for everyone involved and does not need someone with a sour attitude that is grating to those around them. For example: While walking down the street the other day, I watched a couple of Coast Guardsmen pass a man walking in the opposite direction of them. These Coast Guardsmen politely said, "Hello," to which the man simply stared at them. After the Guardsmen passed, the man started ranting about his hatred of the Coast Guard. Why? I do not know, perhaps he doesn't like knowing these men will save him if a boat he is on sinks in Lake Michigan and he is drowning. What I do know about him was that his anger was very annoying.

"Please clean up after yourself. Charlevoix is called "The Beautiful" for its breathtaking views, close proximity to lakes and clean environment. It is not a haven for boaters and picnickers who want to throw their empty pop cans and garbage bags on the ground. For example: While walking down by the beach the other day, I noticed piles of garbage near a garbage bin. Why the garbage was not thrown in the bin, I do not know. Perhaps these litter-bugs were too tired to walk that extra two feet.

"Please have a good time, but do so responsibly. Being a newsman, I must cover both the good and the bad events that happen in a community. The worst thing to cover is a tragic death caused by a drunk driver. There is no excuse for drinking and driving and I simply do not condone it. You will be punished by the local law enforcement and your stupid act will be in this newspaper for all to see. For example: See our On the Record section on page 2.

With these little tidbits of advice from an editor who is relatively new to town, I think the visitors and locals will get along just fine. After all, the Venetian Festival is a fun-filled week that leaves people happy and feeling good about life. Have a good week.

Enjoy the models at Crooked Tree Arts Center

Edith Gilbert
'Behind the News'

Attention all men! There are models galore at the Crooked Tree Arts Center for you to enjoy. No, not girl models, but fantastic boat models, airplane models and car models built by Detroit's top retired machinists, metallurgists, industrial designers, aeronautical engineers, and industrial sculptors — men who now pursue their hobby "up north."

Included in the exhibit is the work of men like Arnold Saviano, who was on the design team for the B-25 during World War II. He has brought Miss America X back to life through his one-tenth size scale mahogany model of the 1931-32 Gar Wood racing craft that Wood raced to victory on the Detroit River. Four-thousand hours of work went into the completed model.

Russell Dwyer built a model of an English Thames River tug from scratch, which he ran at the Hessel Wooden Boat Show alongside of a full size tug. He controls the progress of the tug with the same type of radio control device that he used for his model airplanes. The Hessel audience cheered loudly when he sounded the steam driven whistle as he passed by the viewing stand.

John Whitmore served as chief electrician on a destroyer escort during World War II and built a model 1 inch to 48 inch scale, which he launched last year on Spring Lake. During the 1950s he worked on the Redstone and Jupiter missiles for Chrysler.

Donald Kopka was a member of the Chrysler design team that gave the 1957 Desoto its long swept back look and high tail fins. In 1964 he joined the Ford Motor Company and later became vice president of design. He designed the Mustang and Cougar in 1967. When Ford purchased the Ghia Company in Turin, Italy, Kopka became president of the Ghia Company. The original Ford Aerostar Van of the 1980s reflects the Italian design.

William Reddig attended Stevens Institute of Engineering during his service with the Navy in World War II. While working for the American Motor Company he added a luggage rack as an integral part of the shape of the roof of an earlier station wagon design. The public loved it and subsequently business thrived! Reddig's humorous tongue-in-cheek drawings have appeared worldwide.

Arthur Michel is an industrial sculptor who created one-fourth scale models in clay for both Packard and Chrysler. Robert Veryzer's coupe design for Chevrolet's Corvair went into production in 1960. It was described as "pure design without a single unnecessary line to get in the way."

Mathew Fortney is showing his lobster sail-boat that he designed along with a whaling schooner. Cliff Biddick entered his late father's model of an ore carrier named John Ericsson that was 390' long with a 48' beam. Then there is the late Julius Gilbert's model of his custom built 45' Burger. This cabin cruiser was a familiar sight on Lake Charlevoix during the 1960s.

In addition to the model boats and cars, numerous radio controlled airplane models are well represented in the show.

Dr. William Millar is an active member of the Petoskey Academy of Miniature Air Craft. During the winter, the club flies on weekend afternoons on Crooked Lake. The planes are fitted with skis in place of wheels when they land on the snow-covered ice. Millar's model is the K.C. Clipper designed in 1930 for free flight with an engine.

Scott La Blanc entered his unfinished Ryan PT-21 model to illustrate the wing structure that cannot be seen in the finished state. Donald Caird's planes are scale models of a 1930 Travel Air Be-Plane 2000 and a scale model of the 1960 Woodie Pusher. Dr. Thomas Rea, also a member of the Petoskey Flying Club, has entered his red bi-plane and his blue and yellow Cobra.

Judy Landis of Harbor Springs is the Exhibit Chairperson who conceived the idea of this show that is worthy of the Smithsonian. It will run through July 27.

Landis also serves on the board of the Crooked Tree Arts Center, that covers both Charlevoix and Emmet counties with headquarters in Petoskey.

Correction to program

Editor:

Due to a most regretful error, the Up North Big Band was not listed in the Venetian Festival program as one of the prime time performances. The Up North Big Band, comprised of 17 adults from the Charlevoix area, will be playing Friday in East Park, just prior to the Venetian Queen Coronation.

The band has been performing in northern Michigan for the last three years, playing swing and Big Band music. They have been a popular attraction at past Venetian Festivals, and are sure to draw large crowds of all ages for their Friday night performance.

Control development now

Editor:

The Charlevoix School Board states that it wishes to be a good neighbor and to honor the Marion Township zoning which prioritizes protecting the rural, agricultural character of Marion Township.

Great! School systems take far less sewage capacity than many would think. According to city offices, the equivalent of between 7 and 9 home sites' capacity is needed for the school. A sewer system of the magnitude explored by the city and school would never be cost effective for a small group (approx. 9) of homes and may not be needed at all.

The septic could and should be placed on site. In this way, the leap frog growth of hook-ins by industrial parks, fast food franchises, housing developments, etc., could be avoided. If the school builds an unnecessarily large system, it is subsidizing the very growth the township wishes to avoid. Housing developments, the industrial park and franchises are dependent on the school funded sewer. Without the sewer, other large development is not cost effective.

Before a system that will explode development in Marion Township is built, the citizens of Marion should agree that is what they want.

There is time. Down the road, if Marion Township chooses to zone for an industrial park or malls the sewer can be paid for by the industrial complex and private interests and not the school taxpayers. (The school is not under obligation to supply sewer capacity for the 80 homes. It must grant only an easement when a sewer is constructed, according to Superintendent Dr. John Sturock.)

The township can delay the explosive development of its farmland by understanding that the sewer is the wolf in sheep's clothing that will destroy the agricultural and rural character of Marion Township.

Article amend

Editor:

I'd like to amend an article which appeared on the Scrapbook

Letters to the editor

page of the Courier of June 21, about the beginning of lifeguard protection on Charlevoix beaches. I was named as the chairman of the original committee, but I was not the originator of the project.

Credit for that must go to Fran Martin, who — as I recall — first recognized the need for lifeguards and got a committee together to implement the plan and had the first meeting at her house.

In the scrapbooks which I sent to the Charlevoix Historical Society last year, there should be a small picture taken of that first meeting. At that time Fran and I were both reporting for newspapers and news services and I sometimes acted as her legs when it was not easy for her to get out, and that must have been how I got to be chairman of that committee.

However it happened, Fran must be acknowledged as the person who pushed the lifeguard project and would be gratified by its continuing success. Anyone who knew her will remember her devotion to many community causes and activities.

Township trashed master plan, zoning ordinances

Editor:

The Marion Township Board approved a special use permit for a new high school. They completely ignored their planning commission's recommendation that the school did not fit the Marion Township Master Plan nor the zoning standards of the township.

The driving force behind this sell-out is the proposed sewer, and the 80 house sewer hook-up that was part of the property sale. A sewer that will be financed using tax revenue and proposed to be given to the city.

It doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out what comes next. Two Marion Township farmers have received overtures from the city regarding selling their property for developing an industrial park. Then comes Waste Management, 7-Eleven, fast food enterprises and finally a thousand new homes.

Who will benefit from all this? Not Marion Township residents. All they will see is sprawl and increase of taxes a hundred fold.

Thanks Marion Township Board for being so shortsighted, insensitive and for trashing the Master Plan and Zoning Ordinances. They were designed to maintain the Marion Township's rural character and protect its singular natural beauty.

BEACONS

By MARK HOFSTRA

"I have set my bow in the clouds, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and the earth. When I bring clouds over the earth and the bow is seen in the clouds, I will remember my covenant between me and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy all flesh." (Genesis 9:13-15)

Did you see that beautiful rainbow last week Wednesday night? Was it for you? Could it be that you are among the many of us who from time to time feel as though the raging waters of life are rising up to drown us? Maybe last Wednesday you needed a sign; something to hold on to with the promise of not letting life's waters overwhelm you. And so God put His rainbow in the sky for you.

I know that rainbow was for me and about 25 other high school students and sponsors at a youth group sponsor's house on Marion Center Road. We were meeting around a camp fire and talking about some of the challenging times of life. We were talking about God's care for us and promise of help in time of need. Then God placed his rainbow in the sky for us to say, "Yes! I will not let you be destroyed but am with you and lovingly help you."

Some would say, "That is just coincidence."

We now know that rainbows simply come as a product of rain, sunlight and clouds. Tell that to those of us who not only noticed the rainbow but found it placed in the only part of the sky that was visible to us. The rest of the sky was blocked by house, hill and tree and so God placed it where we would see it.

We'll tell you. That rainbow was put there by God for us. Could it be He put it there for you too?

Turn to God's Word again in the Bible. Talk to Him again and again in prayer through the ups and downs of life. Ask Jesus to take you by the hand and pull you from the raging waters of life (see Matthew chapter 14 in the Bible).

Discover anew that God has in fact put that rainbow in the sky for you.

Obituaries

Lucille Osborne

Lucille Osborne, 96, of Williamsburg, Iowa, died July 11 at her daughter's home in Indianapolis, Ind., after a brief illness.

She was born January 6, 1904, on Beaver Island to Francis and Mary Ann (Boyle) Gillespie.

Following graduation from high school and normal training in Mount Pleasant, at age 17 she became the teacher of the one-room school on High Island. Some of her first students, who were Native Americans or from the island's colony of the religious sect of the House of David, were older than she was.

In the summer of 1928, while working in Chicago, she met and married LeRoy Osborne. After living a brief time in Plymouth, Ind., and following the birth of twin girls and a worsening of the Great Depression, she and her new family moved in 1929 to Williamsburg, Iowa, where two more children were born.

She was a full-time homemaker until the start of World War II. She then went to work in an automobile dealership replacing the parts man who had been drafted into the army. At war's end, she returned to teaching until age 70 — first in one-room schools in rural Iowa County and then in the elementary school in Parnell, Iowa.

With the passing of her husband and her children gone from home, for 20 years, until age 76, she drove each summer to New Jersey to work at Camp Marcella, an educational and recreational facility for blind and visually impaired children.

There, as had been the case throughout her life, she could be counted on to take on any job that needed to be done, to teach ceramics and crafts, cook and scrape dishes, lend an understanding ear, manage the entire dining service, do the laundry, or supervise a cottage full of children.

After retiring, not much slowed by the loss of an arm and two broken hips, she continued to live on her own in her home in Williamsburg until February of this year. In June of the preceding year, Wellmark Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Iowa recognized her as their first "Iowa Ageless Hero Against the Odds."

She is survived by a son, Sam, and his wife Elizabeth of West Branch, Iowa; a daughter, Kay, and her husband Jerry Kakac of Indianapolis, Ind.; nine grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, numerous nieces and nephews, friends and neighbors, and many students who touched her and were touched by her life.

She was preceded in death by her husband, daughters Mary and Helen, grandson David Kakac, brothers John of Arizona, Peter, Patrick, Gerard, Jewell and Norman Gillespie of Beaver Island, sisters Consuella Left and Grace Cole of Beaver Island, Delores Pishner and Elvira Supernaw of Charlevoix.

Services were July 15, at St. Mary's Catholic Church and burial was at St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery in Williamsburg, Iowa.

Elizabeth Dawn Nugent

Elizabeth Dawn Nugent, 36, of Traverse City, died July 15 at her home.

A funeral service will be at 11 a.m., Thursday at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix. The Rev. Patrick Cawley of Holy Cross Catholic Church on Beaver Island will officiate.

Liz was born on June 2, 1964 in Ludington, the daughter of Bobby Lee and Elizabeth Grace (Palmer) Nugent. She spent most of her life in the Traverse City area and attended Traverse City Central Senior High Graduating in 1982. For the last 22 years she has worked for Northwest Michigan Council of Governments where she was head secretary.

Liz was a member of the Kingsley Post of the Fraternal Order of Eagles #1085. Survivors include a daughter, Katrina Nicole Egeler, at home; one sister, Karen Nugent Worm, of Traverse City; one brother, Art Nugent, of Traverse City; one nephew, Joshua; two nieces, Ivy and Emilie; aunts and uncles; special friend, Robert Lefler, of Grawn; former husband, Timothy H. Egeler, of Traverse City and her family at Northwest Michigan Council of Governments who loved her dearly.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Katrina Nicole Egeler College Fund, Northwest Michigan Council of Governments, P.O. Box 506, Traverse City, MI 49685.

Envelopes are available at the Winchester Funeral Home where friends may call from 10 a.m. until the time of service Thursday.

Venetian Festival receives more city funding for 2000

By JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

At the City Council meeting July 3, Charlevoix Venetian Festival Inc. was granted their request for $15,000 in additional contribution from the City of Charlevoix for the 2000 Venetian Festival.

"We are absolutely thrilled about the 2000 festival and are looking to both continue and enhance quality standards. Every year our goal is to make the festival better, not bigger. We would like to increase the quality while maintaining an appropriate scale," said Venetian Festival President Daniel Barron.

The Venetian Festival is now an eight day event, whereas the festival spanned only three days in the past.

More days equate to the need for more cash. But, with a $160,000 Venetian budget some are asking where is the money coming from and what exactly is it going towards?

The festival has little revenue generating opportunities, Barron responded. Charlevoix Venetian Festival Inc. has thus turned to the deep pockets of corporate sponsors, like Pepsi, who will be providing a big chunk of this year's funding.

Aside from national corporate sponsors, there are fourteen businesses locally who have donated $3,000-$5,000 dollars each. The planning committee then continues on campaigning to raise additional funding from local residents or any generous individual who believes in the cause, Barron said.

All those who partake in the festivities must also be aware that there is little to no charge for all planned events, said Venetian Festival Spokesperson Laurie Lounsberry.

The music festival alone that will be featuring 28 bands filling East Park with their melodies is costing $40,000, she said. There will be three bands featured each night, jamming from 6-10:30 p.m.

These entertainers and bands span from local to international origin. The Cultural Exchange Program has arranged for a 40 person chorus and 50 person orchestra from the National Academy of Music in Pau, France to perform for two evenings July 18 and 19. They will be headlining the trio of bands to perform that night.

The music features, combined with the fireworks display, maintain a tab of $100,000, Barron said.

"We are fired up to provide this service to the community. We deliver a cost effective Venetian program, (and are) planning the event on a volunteer basis," he said.

The volunteer aspect of the Venetian Festival sets the event apart from other would be similar festivals, like Traverse City's Cherry Festival where a percentage of their revenue garnered pays for staff services, Barron added.

Five injured in auto accident Monday

Five people were injured in a two vehicle accident around 10 a.m. Monday at the intersection of US-31 and Boyne City/Charlevoix Road.

The accident involved a 1993 Mercury Topaz driven by Gail Miller, 23, of Charlevoix and a 1992 Chevrolet pickup driven by Michael Louiselle, 33.

Miller was stopped at the stop sign on Boyne City/Charlevoix Road, when she noticed a vehicle in the northbound turn lane of US-31 indicated a right turn. Miller pulled out into the intersection and her vehicle was struck by Louiselle, who was traveling north on US-31.

Louiselle was transported to Northern Michigan Hospital, treated and released. Miller and her passengers; Justin Duncan, 26, Dakota Miller, 1, and Christopher Bryant, 4, were transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital and treated for chest pain from their seat belts and the impact and lacerations caused by glass from the shattered window. They were all released from the hospital that day.

It has been determined that all subjects involved in the accident had been wearing seatbelts.

YOUR HEALTH

A good diet and exercise can fight obesity

Reed K. Freidinger
'To your health'

Obesity is a medical condition of excess stored body fat. Technically, obesity is defined as weight 20 percent greater than ideal body weight using weight-height tables or a body mass index over 25.

For example, a woman 5 feet 4 inches has a desirable weight of a 136 pounds and a man 5 feet 10 inches has a desirable weight of 165 pounds.

In the United States 35 percent of the women and 32 percent of the men are obese. Obese individuals have a greater risk of developing diabetes, hypertension, heart disorders, stroke, arthritis and some forms of cancer.

30 to 50 percent of our weight is genetically determined. Thinness is a biological gift. Doctors have been too hard on obese individuals. Studying the genetics of obesity in mice has revealed at least 5 obesity genes. A mouse with this gene has a great survival benefit. In the United States an obesity gene is a liability because of the abundance of food.

A calorie is a measure of energy value of food. When more calories are eaten than burned up with exercise the body stores this energy as fat. Fat is important because it is a source of energy when the body lacks food. Fat also provides insulation and protection for internal organs.

The foundation of weight loss is exercise. Calorie restriction alone will not produce long term weight loss. Studies show that obese individuals must exercise at least 30 minutes five times weekly for long term successful weight loss.

Because the leg muscles are approximately four times the size of arms, leg exercises such as walking, cycling, cross country skiing, swimming and jogging are recommended. Next, it is wise to see a dietitian for a nutritionally balanced reduced calorie diet.

I often find that obese individuals forget about the calories in healthy foods like apples and oranges and forget to count the calories in fluids they drink. A can of pop has 140 calories of sugar. A pound of fat is 3,500 calories. Drinking a can of Coke a day accounts for 14-and-a-half pounds of weight per year.

The problem with fad diets, like the Atkins Diet or liquid diets is that these cannot be followed the rest of our lives, thus the weight returns when the diet ends.

But, Weight Watchers is an excellent program to achieve sustainable weight loss for the rest of your life. It combines group therapy and sustainable diet and exercise. Writing down everything you eat and the times, places, and activities, emotions and precipitating events that trigger eating are very helpful. After one to two weeks the diary may reveal a pattern of activities or negative emotions that lead to overeating. Once these eating clues are identified, techniques can be developed and practiced to prevent unwanted eating.

The current prescription weight loss medications are far less than ideal. The long term effects of these drugs are unknown. Meridia elevates the serotonin in our brains which reduces appetites by increasing our sense of fullness. Xenical is a fat blocker which decreases the fat absorption in our intestines by 30 percent. A side effect is diarrhea. Surgery is rarely an option and is the treatment of last resort.

The future of obesity treatment is very promising. Science already knows that fat cells produce leptin which goes to the brain and reduces our appetite. Some individuals have a genetic abnormality and produce very little leptin. Soon we may be giving leptin as a weight loss therapy. Additional genetic discoveries will also increase our understanding of obesity resulting in effective new therapies.

In closing, I would remind you that weight loss is a marathon not a sprint. The ultimate goal of weight loss is to keep the pounds off on a long term basis. Exercise is the foundation of all successful programs.

Charlevoix teens try their hands at feature movies

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

They may just be Charlevoix's answer to the independent movie phenomenon.

Several Charlevoix teenagers have recently finished a year-and-a-half worth of work on their own feature length movie, that was directed, produced, paid for and acted by them.

"This is kind of our prep course in movie making," said producer and actor for the movie, Nate Bartlett, 17.

According to director and actor C. J. Winnell, 19, the movie, called Die Soft, started out as a spoof of the Die Hard movies, but soon took on a life of its own. The movie follows the adventures of "Coast Guard Eel" Don McClean as he transports a precious jewel across the United States.

Winnell said it is full of the type of humor seen in the classic-comedy film "Airplane."

"Die Soft actually started out as a serious movie. But, we came up with something (funny) for every scene. It may be a very serious scene and we can still come up with something funny," Winnell said.

The movie will be showing to the public at 2 p.m. Sunday at Cinema III in Charlevoix. To promote the movie, and to film a scene for their next project, the group will have a "float" in the Venetian Festival parade at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

Charlevoix teen Ben Macks plays the lead character, while fellow Charlevoix teens Nate Dean and Katie Ronig are cast as McClean's boss Admiral Hopper and his wife, Sara.

"There are at least 25 other actors and people who have helped in the movie," Bartlett said.

Among these people included Charlevoix notables, such as Police Chief Dennis Halverson, the Charlevoix Dive Team, the Coast Guard helicopter out of Traverse City, the Coast Guard Cutter Acacia and a special appearance by a "real actor," Bartlett said.

While making and starring in the movie, Winnell said the teens also paid for much of the movie themselves.

"Donors paid for about a tenth and we all spent money out of our own pocket," Winnell said. "I haven't tallied it up, but it is a lot."

While this is their first experience in feature length movie making, these Charlevoix teens are already experienced with working with the camera. The close-knit group have teamed up together on several class projects to produce "short" movies.

"I started out when I was really young. I remember seeing a movie and saying, 'I want to make that.' From then on I was doing that kind of stuff," Winnell said. "This is my life. I can't not do it."

Bartlett said he started making movies as a hobby with his friends and for class projects.

"I wouldn't mind pursuing (movie making as a career.) Right now, it is something on the side," Bartlett said.

This isn't the last movie Charlevoix can expect to see from these young movie-makers.

They are already working on their next project, "12 Hours," a comedy about a hospital emergency room.

Venetian painting to be auctioned Friday

When word leaked out on the streets of Charlevoix about the first-ever original Venetian Festival pastel oil painting, created by Carrie Wakulat, silent bids started to pour into Venetian headquarters.

The painting, a rendition of the boat parade on Round Lake, is being reproduced as Venetian Festival 2000 posters, which will be on sale in East Park during the evenings of Venetian Festival this week.

But, it's the original artwork that has art collectors vying for the opportunity to hang it on their walls. Silent bids will be accepted throughout Venetian week. The highest silent bid will be the opening bid for the live auction, which will take place Friday after the Venetian Queen Coronation at approximately 8:45 p.m. in East Park. Bill Vogel, "The Captain" of 106 KHQ radio station, will conduct the auction. Names of bidders will be withheld during the silent bidding, then bidders can step forward during the live auction.

The artist is a Charlevoix native, daughter of Richard and Patricia Wakulat. She graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in fine arts and currently lives in Ann Arbor, where she is employed by Steam Advertising.

The picture was framed by Northern Art of Petoskey.

This is not Wakulat's first time to donate her artistic skills to the Venetian Festival. In 1996, she created the winning design in the T-shirt contest, which was featured on the official Venetian T-shirt.

Anyone wanting to place a silent bid for the art may call Anne Golski at 547-6765 or stop by the Venetian Festival booth in East Park, which will be open from 6 to 10:30 p.m. every night of the festival.

Golski will also offer to handle a bid by proxy, in the event that someone cannot attend the live auction.

The Venetian oil pastel painting is on display at the "Venetian Showcase Window" of Trademark Clothiers in downtown Charlevoix. You can also see a copy of the artwork in the inside back cover of the Venetian Festival program.

Class and Court of 1965

All students, teachers and friends of this class are invited to stop by and say, "Hello." The Class of 1965 is noted for a time when all its girls entered the 1964 Venetian Queen pageant, as pictured above. School another step closer to construction

"I suppose it could lead to court, but I don't know how much good it would do, I can see a judge sending it back saying amend your zoning ordinance. I do tend to think it illegal to use bond money for a sewer to be used for infrastructure hook-ups, like an 80 home site or an industrial park."

In response to Richards' claims, superintendent of schools John Sturock replied, "He is looking for some way to stop the project; we have been working very hard to make sure that all steps in the process are in legal compliance. He's manufacturing information for a lawsuit. We are working with the city to pay for utility improvements at the site."

The special use permit was a necessary document for the school board to receive from the township in order for the new school project, at the 74.8-acre site off of Marion Center Road, to commence.

"Under sections 15 and 19 of the township zoning ordinance there exists a stipulation whereby specific projects can be pursued and other undertakings can be carried out contingent upon the issuing of a special use permit. Building a school in an A agricultural zone requires a special use permit," said school board president, Allen Telgenhof.

Township zoning attorney, Jim Young, commenced the meeting by passing out to board members, a drafted decision based on comments heard during deliberations at the township board assembly on July 10.

From this draft, board members made modifications including both additions and subtractions of the document drafted.

In order for the special use permit application to be accepted by the Marion Township Board, four standards had to be met.

These four standards the project must adhere to include:

The project reflecting the general public interest, causing little damage or issue with neighboring property owners, upholding a standard in terms of public facilities and services and not resulting in environmental impact.

Young explained the complex decision before the board in stating, "If any four of these standards are not met the special use permit must be denied. Each standard also has a number of factors that must be weighted in order to evaluate whether the project meets the standard. Each factor may not be met but overall does the project support the standard?"

Young continued saying, "If you found these standards are met, then by law you must issue the special use permit. Even if it is approved, it may be approved with conditions." Young explained that the board's ability to impose conditions functioned as good planning tools in order to meet the project's criticisms and concerns. These conditions must fulfill two criteria: They must be specific and they must further the standards of the ordinance.

The board then drafted a set of four conditions all agreed upon. These are as follows:

- The ordinance approval will not be effective until the site plan approval and state and federal permits have been issued.

- The special use permit only approves the facility shown in the application and supporting documents. Anything further would require proper zoning approval by the township.

- "A vegetation buffer made up of no less than three foot evergreen or spruce trees along the eastern side of the site, this buffer must be continuous trees in no less than five years," said Board Chairman, Jerry Dohm.

- No artificial lighting will be allowed on the athletic fields.

After the final draft of the conditions and standards of the permit was approved a round of applause was heard from some while others filed out of the township hall with heads hung low.

"This is another stage in the process; they also have to go through site plan approval, where there are many issues to be addressed, and sewer approval or they could get an on-site septic. Until then they'll have to go through the steps," said attorney Jim Olson for the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association, who recently sued the school over the site.

Olson continued, stating "This decision does not surprise us, the way in which the matter unfolded indicated to us where the board was leading a long time ago. The township missed a critical opportunity to take charge of township planning and address future problems. They refused to look at the sewer impacts and passed over the sprawl concerns voiced in their master plan. Clearly indicating an unduly narrow decision probably in violation of Michigan zoning law."

In response to the board's decision, attorney for the school board, Gordon VanWieren said, "We are working with the board of education and are very pleased with the decision. We are looking forward to partnering with Marion Township."

Yachters kicked off summer series last week

A. Nony Mouse
'Yachting notes'

Thirty-seven entrants in the first race of the CYC Summer Series were greeted with a modest sailing breeze; sufficiently light to cause the race committee to shorten the course after sailing four of the five-leg course. The highlight had to be the photo finish of SWINE FLEW and SUPERFLUOUS for third place honors in the J-22 Fleet. (See the finish line photo, note the white spinnaker crosses the line before the red 'chute or either hull.)

The first-to-finish and first on elapsed time again went to that fleet as HUSSY crossed the line at 7:42:46 in 1:38:06. TOO RECKLESS, SWINE FLEW, SUPERFLUOUS and ROCK STEADY rounded out the top five of the 16 finishers. H S MOISTURE MISSILE, GECKO, PALEFACE LITE, SCURRY and THUNDERSTRUCK were fifth through tenth. Trailing were JUBBLIES, FIRST DATE, HIGH MAINTENANCE, WHATS HER NAME, CRAZY HORSE and HOGTIDE.

FLASH, first across in the Jib and Main Fleet, easily saved her time of 1:49:49 against APOTHECARY while CHEEMAUN & HIGH SEAS followed.

In the Big Boats GOTCHA! (1:51:58) saved her time over SLAPSHOT with KAMIKAZE a close third. MINT JULEP and BLASEN IV lagged well back.

MI-JOY took just over three minutes longer but walked away from BABE, J HAWK, SAFFRON and BALD EAGLE.

The P-26 Fleet had a great three boat finish with LESSE (1:58:14) nosing out LOST VERMONT and ORIGINAL SIN just back a bit. Further back were TIRELESS and CYGNUS while SANDPIPER retired.

Results of the CYC LaBlance Cup Round Trip Race to St. James.

On July 8 a nice turnout of 18 sail yachts started out on the twenty-six nautical mile reach to St. James, Beaver Island. A good breeze and moderate seas discouraged the powerboats that were planning to rendezvous overnight with the sailors but also gave those windjammers a great sleigh ride.

TRITONS TRIDENT, the big trimaran, crossed the finish line first at 1:18 but, in the mono-hulls, SWINE FLEW was first to finish at 2:01:03 and her corrected elapsed time of 2:12:42 gave her First Overall and First in Class (Division 2). WHITE LIGHTNING, ORIGINAL SIN, JESSE and SPAR WARS II rounded out that division.

In the big boats of Division 1, KAMAKAZE was first across (2:06) with a corrected time of 2:15:17, 3 minutes better than NIGHT MOVES. MINT JULEP & SLAPSHOT corrected third and fourth with BLASEN IV and TRITONS TRIDENT well back.

The JAM Fleets of Division 3 and 4 were led by FLASH crossing at 2:01:40, just seconds behind SWINE FLEW, but unable to save her time. Division 3: MI-JOY, WINDSWEEP, FLASH and ECLIPSE. Division 4: OUR THYME II, APOTHECARY and LOUP DE LA MER. All yachts in all fleets finished before 3:00.

Sunday was a different story and certainly changed the standings! While TRITONS TRIDENT again screamed across at 1:18. FLASH (2:02) and MI JOY (2:05), both Div. 3, showed that spinnakers were not needed as they were first and second and first on corrected time, ECLIPSE and WINDSWEEP trailed. Division 4's OUR THYME II had Sunday's best corrected time. APOTHECARY and LOUP DE LA MER were well behind.

NIGHT MOVES captured Div. 1 by seconds over TRITONS TRIDENT with SLAPSHOT, KAMAKAZE, MINT JULEP and BLASEN IV trailing. In Div. 2 ORIGINAL SIN corrected 10 minutes better than SWINE FLEW who crossed the line 9 minutes earlier. Then it was WHITE LIGHTNING, SPAR WARS II and JESSE.

The LaBlance Cup is awarded to the two yachts having the best corrected round trip time in the Spinnaker Fleets and in the Jib and Main Fleets.

Congratulations to ORIGINAL SIN and to OUR THYME II!

Junior golf announces final events

The popular Charlevoix Junior Golf program has announced its final events as the program winds down.

The program championships will be today at the Charlevoix Country Club where winners will emerge in the Advanced, Intermediate, Beginners and Little Linkers' flights. There will also be a pizza party immediately following the tournament.

Starting at 8 a.m. Thursday at the Municipal Golf Course, juniors and other area youth will tee it up at the Venetian Cup for Junior Golfers.

The event is an "All Comers" tournament open to those not in the Junior program, as well as the regular membership players and is awarded in memory of former Municipal Course Manager Keith Carey.

At 9 a.m. on July 26, the traditional Awards Day and Visiting Pro Clinic will take place at the Belvedere Club Course.

Winners of the various skill testing and tournament events will be recognized. But the real highlight of the program will be golf professional Rick Kent, who will bring his trick shot exhibition, clinic and assortment of magic tricks to the junior golfers and families, program mentors and area golf boosters. His exhibition will begin at 10 a.m.

Friends of the Library book-sale was a success

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

A library book-sale on July 8 sponsored by the volunteer organization Friends of the Library reveals some of the work being done to improve its level of community involvement at the Charlevoix Public Library.

"We want the community to feel this is their library. We encourage people to attend poetry readings and host community forums or book clubs at the facility. We also welcome any improvement suggestions offered by community residents," said volunteer worker MaryAnn Chew.

Friends of the Library, headed by President Don Heise, is a volunteer organization. The group was brought together about one year ago, and according to Chew, has since initiated several programs of community importance.

The book-sale was organized by Charlevoix residents and Friends of the Library members: MaryAnn Chew, Betty Henne and Doris Lundteigen. According to Chew, the event owes its success to those who donated both the books themselves and their time including "super workers" Maxine Bergman, Kay Heise and JoeEllen Rudolph.

The afternoon of educational promotion was in the library basement where, prior to opening it up to the public, volunteer workers Bill Henne, Vince Chew, Don Heise and Howard Horton worked hard to spruce things up.

All of the books they were able to sell were accumulated through the generosity of community text donations.

After the books are donated, the Friends of the Library sort through and categorize the texts by genre, shelving them in such a way as to be very user-friendly, Chew explained.

The library earned $2,000 in profits by selling hard cover books for one dollar, soft bound books for twenty-five cents and those books in greater demand at a little higher cost. This gain will go toward improving the children's section of the facility updating furniture, toys and texts.

Things went so well, the "Friends of the Library" plan to sustain the sale as long as the donations keep pouring in.

Also, if you're headed to the beach this summer and are looking for easy reading material or simply don't like to spend money on magazines, the library does accept donations of various prints and offers them free of charge to the public at its entrance.

And while thumbing through the magazines look out for other recent ornamental improvements like a beautifully hand painted door, soon to be matched by a book donation bin painted by a local artist.

For further information of upcoming events sponsored by Friends of the Library visit the Charlevoix Public Library at 109 Clinton, near downtown Charlevoix, or phone the Heises at 547-0899, Henne at 547-9587 or Chew at 547-4157.

Five Charlevoix girls to compete in pageant

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Five Charlevoix girls will be partaking in the eighth annual Miss Northwest pageant to be at the Charlevoix Middle School July 27.

Participants from Charlevoix include: Sally Haselschwardt, 12, Jessica Jenkins, 12, Jamie Left, 15, Erika Loucks, 15 and Nickole Perron, 10.

According to pageant director

Jeanne Wynkoop, Miss Northwest is open to talented young ladies from all over the surrounding area, showcasing 16 girls this year.

The girls are then split into three categories: "preteen" girls ages 8-12, "teen" contenders ages 13-15, and "miss" contestants ages 16 and up.

"The preteen age group may seem unfair to the younger girls, but this year we have a little 8-year-old that will give them a run for their money," said Wynkoop.

Wynkoop explained the girls are required to compete in a variety of events where their performance is critiqued by a panel of three out-of-town judges. This year's judges include one member from Indian River and two Traverse City residents.

Wynkoop explained the pageant agenda as follows: prior to public access being permitted, an afternoon interview between contestants and judges takes place. Then, at 7 p.m., the public element of the pageant display gets underway with the girls modeling outfits of their choice. After this initial modeling session, individuals are asked to perform their special talent for a period of time spanning two minutes and 50 seconds. Evening gown or party dress modeling, contingent upon the contestants age, then follows.

When the current participants have completed each activity, the three reigning queens, Lacey Hartzell, Nichole Spicer and Tonya Wyniawskij perform. Charlevoix resident, Tonya Wyniawskij is the reigning queen in the "miss" category.

"We have some great talent this year," Wynkoop added.

All three of the current queens are singers and will be presenting their skills both at the pageant and in East Park Sunday of the Venetian Festival.

As these reigning queens give up their crown they will be presented with an 8-by-10 photo taken from the night she won.

As the festivities come to a close a group of auditors add the performance scores and the Miss Northwest queens of 2000 are chosen that evening. Three queens and three runners up are selected.

Recipients of queen status accept a crown, banner, trophy and flowers. Scholarship money totaling $2,900 is then divided amongst each of the crowned queens and the runners up. Each runner up is presented with a $300 savings bond, "preteen" and "teen" queens are awarded $500 savings bonds, the "miss" queen receives a $1,000 bond.

All-stars place third in tourney

The Charlevoix 9 and 10-year-old Little League All-stars placed third in the district tournament in Boyne City July 6 and 7.

Charlevoix was 1-2 in the round-robin event.

On July 6, Charlevoix beat Gaylord 16-15 from behind. Gaylord led 14-7 heading into the bottom of the fifth when Charlevoix exploded for eight runs, keyed by Jeremy Yaldo's bases-loaded triple. Woody Nitchman picked up the win in his Little League pitching debut. Dustin Dibble scored three runs and Curtis Schaibly reached base all five times at the plate, three by base hit and two by walk.

Boyer City, the eventual district champion, beat Charlevoix 15-5 in the second game of the tournament. Charlevoix could only manage four hits, by Dibble, Yaldo, Schaibly and Ethan Towlesley.

In the tournament final, the Charlevoix hitters ran into a buzzsaw as East Jordan's hurler allowed only two hits and struck out ten on route to a 14-3 win. J. D. Spiegl singled and walked for Charlevoix and Towlesley had the only other Charlevoix hit.

Other team members were: Mitch Crandall, Trevor Cole, Alex Molter, Scott Silberhom, Skippy Skippergosh and Ty Telgenhof. The team was coached by Bob Molter and assistants Larry Skippergosh and Allen Telgenhof.

Drost land donated to Charlevoix conservancy

The Charlevoix County Land Conservancy recently announced the addition of the Drost Nature Preserve to the St. Clair Lake-Six Mile Lake Natural Area in South Arm Township.

The land was given by longtime Charlevoix residents, Willard and Shirley Drost. This addition to the natural area is the tenth acquisition in the 200 acre "Chain of Lakes" Natural Area.

"This is an important piece of the patchwork quilt of preserves that make up the natural area. It is a magical place, abundant with game and birds. In the evening the air buzzes and hums with the sound of frogs and water fowl and the song of the Red Winged Blackbird and the Yellow Throat. Deer feed silently at the edge of the wood. It's a wonderful, rich and joyous symphony of life," said JoAnne Beemon, director of the Charlevoix County Land Conservancy.

The Drost Preserve was donated in memory of Bobby E. Alford, son of long time Drost family friends. In recent years the Drosts summered in their home in South Arm Township where Willard Drost, in the last days of his battle with cancer, enjoyed the beauty of the lowlands of the "Chain of Lakes."

"Willard loved to watch the deer come out of the thicket. He used to say that any day he expected a moose to appear! We've watched the natural area grow and Willard really appreciated what the Natural Area Committee accomplished. We talked about this and I know he would be happy to see this piece of land he loved so much in the Charlevoix Conservancy," said Shirley Drost.

For more information about the Drost Preserve and the Charlevoix County Land Conservancy, call the conservancy office at 237-9335.

EVENTS IN BRIEF

About these coming events...

As a courtesy to readers, announcements of local coming events of broad general interest that arrive by the 10 a.m., Monday deadline are published in this section of the newspaper on a one-time, first-come, first-served basis. Because there is no guarantee of placement, readers should not rely on this free service as their only means of reaching the public.

Water the trees, please

The Shade Tree Commission of Charlevoix would like to remind you to water your trees. As you drive through Charlevoix, you can't help but notice that some of our trees, especially those planted in the past year or two, are thirsty.

This past year has been very dry. A quick glance at the lake levels confirm this. But what about our trees? They are suffering, too. The signs are more subtle but are surely there.

The commission urges everyone to water all of their trees this summer and if possible, mulch around them to help the soil retain moisture. If you have a newly planted tree, these steps are especially important.

The City of Charlevoix has planted hundreds of new trees along our streets over the past few years and we are their caretakers. Please give them enough water this season. They will reward you with years of shade and majestic beauty.

Smoke house training

The City of Charlevoix Volunteer Firefighters Association will be hosting a "Smoke House" training to the public from 6 to 8 p.m. on Friday and two sessions from 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. on Saturday. This will take place behind the Charlevoix City Hall. The "Smoke House" is a trailer style training facility to teach the public on how to exit their homes in case of a fire. Admission is free to all.

ACACIA open to public

On Saturday and Sunday the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter ACACIA will be present at the annual Charlevoix Venetian Festival. The ACACIA will be on hand for the festivities and will be open to the public for tours from 9 to 11:15 a.m. and from 1:30 to 4:15 p.m..

Tag day

The annual Countywide Tag Day for benefit of Grandvue Medical Facility, will be on Friday. It is sponsored by the Grandvue Auxiliary. The income will be used for purchase of a new "Uplift" system - to transfer residents from place to place. Anyone wishing to make donations can mail them to Treasurer, Jean Korhase, 526 N. Lake St., Boyne City, MI 49712. Phone: 582-1682.

Singles to meet

The Casual Singles Group will be meeting on Friday at City Park Grill in Petoskey. Between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Please call Terri (231) 548-5390 if interested in attending by Thursday.

Rummage sale donations

Kiwanis of Charlevoix is looking for treasures for their rummage sale. Do you have items you would like to donate? To have your items picked up contact Bill at 547-3592 or Ed 547-2474. Proceeds from the rummage sale will fund the Young Children Priority One Project.

Class of 1974

The Charlevoix High School class of 1974 will be having their first annual picnic on Sunday at Ferry Beach, (Pavilion 2) starting at 10 a.m. All classmates are welcome to attend.

Pastoral visit

His Grace Bishop Nicholas of Detroit will make a pastoral visit to Northern Michigan on Sunday July 23. He will be celebrating a Divine Liturgy at 10 a.m. at Old Settler's Park in Glen Arbor. A lamb and chicken roast will follow the liturgy at the Glen Arbor Yacht Club in Glen Arbor. For more information, please call (231) 932-6868.

Tour the Earl Young homes

The Charlevoix Public Library is delighted to announce a very special afternoon excursion. At 1 p.m. on July 26, Virginia Olsen, daughter of Earl Young, will conduct a trolley car tour of the houses designed by her father. Olsens' talk will focus on the exteriors of the homes and Mr. Young's unique architectural philosophy.

Tickets for the tour are $10. Spaces on the trolley are limited. Tickets may be purchased at the Library on a first-come first-serve basis. Tickets can be purchased after July 19. All of the money generated by this tour will go to the Library building fund.

SCRAPBOOK

First Charlevoix lighthouse keeper saw many changes

BY GEOFFREY D. REYNOLDS

With the centennial celebrations of the U.S. Coast Guard this week it was only fitting that I speak to the other service that not only preceded that military branch, but eventually became one of its main functions: lighthouse keeping.

And believe it or not it was a man by the name of Ripley who started it all.

In May of 1880, after many years of hazardous marine navigation into our harbor, the citizens of Charlevoix saw to it that a white light, in the form of a lantern suspended on a ladder, was placed on the south pier at the entrance to Charlevoix harbor to aid vessels in finding our fair harbor.

Later that year, in December, cautionary flags were added to both piers. These were primitive storm signals still seen today on our lighthouse in the form of cards. But Charlevoix would have to wait almost five more years before a real lighthouse, built of wood, painted red, with a red light, a bell suspended beneath, and a keeper, Wright

Ripley, were secured.

Wright Ripley relocated to Charlevoix, early in October 1885, after a two year term at the Point Aux Barques (near Port Austin) light on Lake Huron and would never accept another transfer. He arrived on the propeller Lawrence with his wife, three sons, Mrs. Ripley's mother Mrs. Kimball, Miss Edith Kimball and all of their household goods. The family promptly moved into the newly leased Ely home while they waited for their permanent home, the house formerly occupied by W. P. Brown, and located at 103 Main Street (Park Avenue).

The house was later purchased by the government in 1908 and eventually sold as surplus when lighthouse keepers were outmoded by automated lights. The site is now devoid of the historic structure and known as Hoffman Park.

As for the family, many of these family members and others to come lived and passed away in Charlevoix, even after Ripley's eventual departure to southwest Michigan during his retirement years. During Ripley's time at the Charlevoix light, he witnessed the adding of a catwalk, the first rebuilding of the lighthouse in 1914 and the relocation of the light from the north to the south pier in 1911. During this time he also became true member of the community through civic service and social participation in the community.

Ripley retired from 38 years of service at the Charlevoix light and total of 42 years with the U.S. Lighthouse Service on November 1, 1923. A few weeks later he relocated to the Grand Rapids/Holland area where his son, Eugene, had moved to work for the phone company.

Eventually he was returned for interment, alongside members of his family that did not leave Charlevoix, in the family plot in Brookside Cemetery.

According to newspaper articles and available government records, Ripley's successors included: Carl J. Grann, Captain William H. Shields, Everitt C. Sterritt, George E. Hutzler, Angus H. Phillips and Peter O. Gallagher.

How To Kill A BUSINESS ... in ten easy steps

1. Don't Advertise
Just pretend everybody knows what you have to offer.
2. Don't Advertise
Tell yourself you just don't have time to spend thinking about promoting your business.
3. Don't Advertise
Just assume everybody knows what you sell.
4. Don't Advertise
Convince yourself that you've been in business so long customers will automatically come to you.
5. Don't Advertise
Forget that there are new potential customers who would do business with you if they were reminded.
6. Don't Advertise
Forget that you have competition trying to attract your customers away from you.
7. Don't Advertise
Tell yourself it costs too much to advertise and that you don't get enough out of it.
8. Don't Advertise
Overlook the fact that advertising is an investment in selling ... not an expense.
9. Don't Advertise
Be sure not to provide an adequate advertising budget for your business.
10. Don't Advertise
Forget that you have to keep reminding your established customers that you appreciate their business.

Planning commission decision to be discussed

PLANNING

Due to the heated nature of the present state of affairs, the school board having been granted their special use permit and the role many Marion township residents feel the master plan plays in binding the township as a whole, the outcome of this upcoming meeting is of great importance in the progression of the issue.

"The master plan is the work of many people who have been here longer than I have; it is a blueprint for Township resident and member of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association (CANRPA), Dr. Robert Mossman at the July 5 planning commission meeting. CANRPA is opposed to the new high school site.

"People wrote the master plan to manage development in Marion Township; they are bound to put a sewer in or give the land back. This sewer will bring development with it that is not consistent with the master plan," added CANRPA member, Paul Richards.

But Telgenhof responded, "In each instance the board has said 'let's do what's right. We want to work with the township. We want to hear concerns and try to minimize the impact of the school as best we can. Who benefits from this delay? It's just costing tax payers more money and it means there is one more group of kids that won't be able to benefit from the space."

Anchorage area expanded for Saturday

Venetian Festival started as a nautical festival, with boats circling Round Lake, lit by twinkling candles.

Seventy years later, the festival still maintains its nautical flavor, attracting boaters from all over the Great Lakes.

In the interest of serving boaters, the Venetian Festival has requested, and has been granted, an expanded anchorage area in Round Lake.

The Coast Guard Station in Charlevoix worked with Venetian officials to establish the expanded area. The anchorage area on the north side of Round Lake will be expanded to the south and west to accommodate boats.

What will be different this year is that the north side anchorage area will be the only anchorage area available on Saturday.

After hosting a forum with boaters who participate in the boat parade, the festival board decided to keep the parade route free of anchored boats.

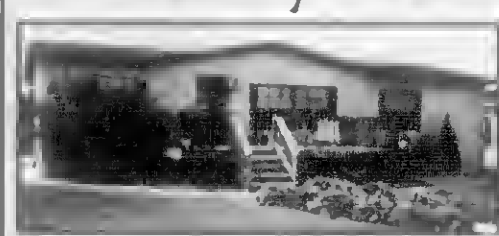

"By establishing this expanded anchorage area and making it known ahead of time, we think everyone will benefit, both the visiting boaters and boaters in the parade," said Venetian board president Dan Barron.

Visitors are encouraged to flag down one of the Venetian Ambassador boats, which will be cruising Round Lake all day Saturday to assist visitors. The Ambassador boats will also offer rides to the shore for anchored boaters.

Look for boats bearing a large banner that identifies them as Venetian Ambassadors.

Opinions mixed on marina expansion

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Preliminary plans for a new city marina in Charlevoix have met their first opposition recently.

According to Jerry Puhl, president of Water and Air Team Charlevoix (Watch), the environmental group voted 100 percent to oppose the plans at a recent annual meeting.

"We are against this. We will fight it and do whatever we can to keep this from happening," he said.

Puhl said the marina plans will destroy the pristine waters of Round Lake by greatly increasing boat traffic and congestion in the lake. He added it would also make it harder to get through downtown Charlevoix, because the bridge would have to be up for longer periods of time to accommodate more boats coming and going in Round Lake.

"With this amount of boats, it is going to ruin the whole effect (of Round Lake)," Puhl said. "WATCH isn't out to stop growth, but we are here to protect what makes Charlevoix unique. A development of this size would make it to be a potential Hong Kong harbor."

Puhl added the city may get more support out of WATCH if the plan were greatly scaled down.

"This is just way too massive," he said.

While WATCH voices its opposition to the plan, many boaters and merchants in the city are voicing their support.

"It's a fabulous idea...fabulous. The waiting lists (for a boat slip at the city marina) can sometimes be pretty long and it is such a beautiful port," said boater Joel Smither of Grand Haven.

Boater Mark Osterhaven, of Holland, agreed.

Reactions over this year's Venetian Festival mixed

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The 70th Annual Venetian Festival seemed to go off without a hitch, but extending a festival from three days to eight days can have both positive and negative repercussions.

"The Venetian Board is thrilled things went so smoothly. The comments I've received have been very positive. We tried to provide an array of programs for every age and interest and came away with beautiful memories, wonderful new friendships and great ideas for next year," said Venetian Board President Dan Barron.

However, Barron's positive outlook on Venetian festivities that began July 16 was not shared by all as some local vendors greeted the five day extension with open arms, others closed their doors and went into hiding until peace was restored to Charlevoix.

"I've seen a lot of Venetians; they are fun but they're a hassle. The festival is stressful; I would like to see Venetian abolished. We were not really busy...Friday and Saturday we had small sales. I sent my staff home early so they would not have to fight the traffic," said Jeryl Murdick, owner of Murdick's Fudge on Bridge Street.

Others welcomed this year's changes as revenue generating opportunities, especially the added entertainment.

One such added attraction was musical offerings for teens like July 20's Rayder Jam Session featuring The Mural Project and Jeswick.

"I thought the Venetian Planning Board did a great job. Thursday night concerts targeting younger age groups in Bridge Park rather than in East Park evened out the flow of shopper traffic," said Debbie Angermuller, manager of Harbor Wear. The store weathered its first Venetian Festival this year.

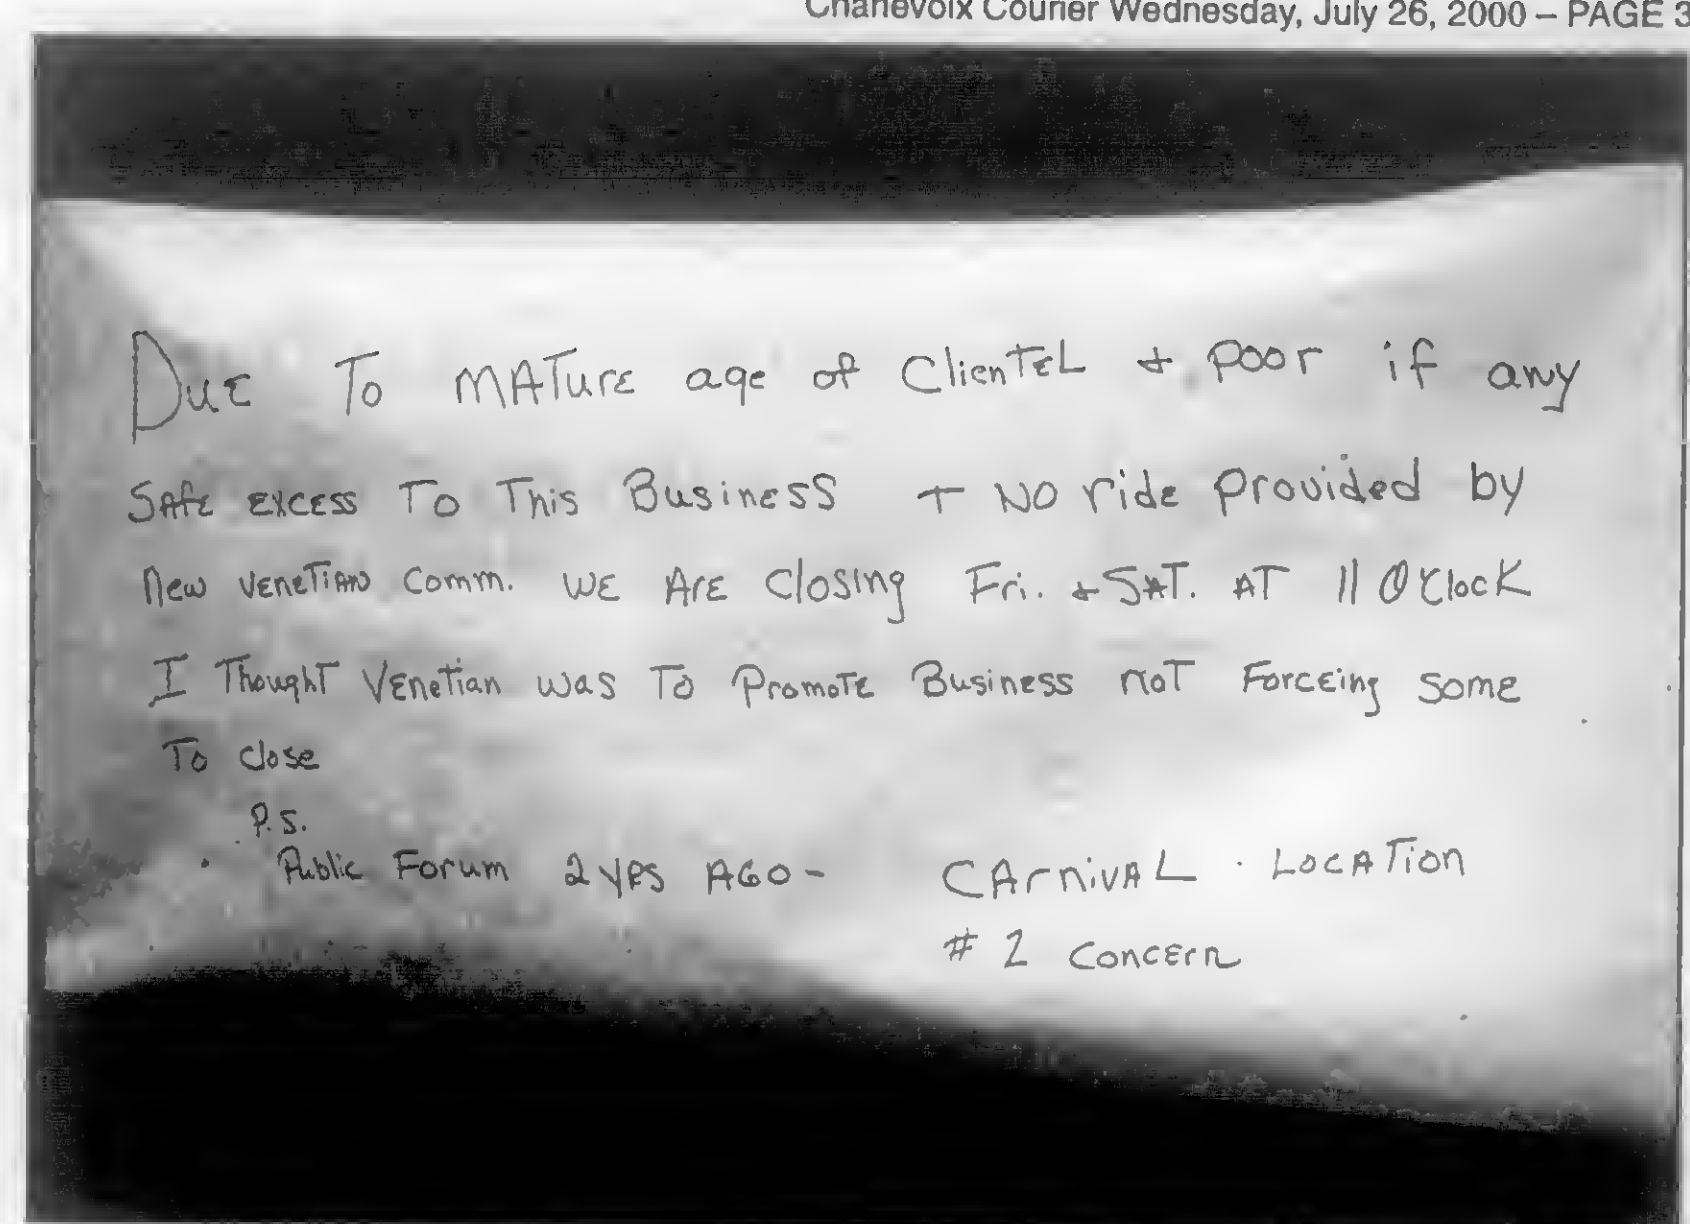

Jackie Mabec, owner of numerous Charlevoix retail stores, an area resident and mom, said, "We did very well this Venetian and my kids had a ball. I heard good responses from customers and feel very up about the outcome and I haven't in a while."

The board's efforts to include children in the fun was demonstrated at Kids' Day July 20 in East Park. However, one staple of the kids oriented portion of Venetian Festival which has come under public scrutiny is the carnival.

While an ardent supporter of the festival as a whole, stating it was the best in 30 years, Charlevoix native Birdie Whitley is anti-carnival. Whitley claims she had to close her doors as the carnival would not allow for her senior clientele to safely arrive for their hair appointments.

Whitley's claim, along with complaints from local food venues, is that the carnival does not promote local eateries and shops. She hopes to see the site moved to a safer location, like the Middle School off of Clinton Street, still within walking distance but set far enough away from town so as not to interfere with local commerce.

Even though there were some complaints such as this, many of the festival's events were very well attended, such as the parade

Reactions were mixed among area businesses to this year's Venetian Festival, as portrayed on this sign seen in the window of Birdie Whitley's beauty salon on Mason Street last week. (Photo by Jeremy McBain)

Ann Arbor man and family saved from sinking sailboat

Three people were rescued from a sinking sailboat July 17 in the waters of Lake Charlevoix off Ferry Beach.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department responded to a call from Gene Hopkins', of Ann Arbor, that his sailboat was taking on water. Hopkins, his wife and daughter, were rescued from the partially submerged boat by Marine Deputy Eric Koch of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

The U.S. Coast Guard towed the disabled vessel back to Ferry Beach.

The cause of the sinking is unknown at this time.

Waste Management should trash lawsuit

Why is it some corporations just can't take no for an answer?

Currently the trash company Waste Management is suing the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality over its Cedar Ridge landfill in Charlevoix County. Basically, the landfill is full and Waste Management wants to expand it, but the Department of Environmental Quality said, "no."

But, the Department of Environmental Quality was not the first to say no to this corporation over its Cedar Ridge plans.

When the idea of expanding the landfill was first thought up, it met strong opposition from citizens in the community. Those citizens took their complaints to a county meeting over the plan and Charlevoix County said no to the plan.

The county said the plan would not fit with its Solid Waste plan.

The plan then went to the Department of Environmental Quality, who had a public hearing over it.

Again, there was public opposition to it. Added to this, the county had already nixed the plan, so the Department of

EDITORIAL

Environmental Quality decided to support the county and its citizens' opinions.

But, Waste Management filed a lawsuit against the Department of Environmental Quality demanding that the landfill expansion be granted.

Waste Management sees dollar signs in this expansion and not the opposition from the community, county or state to this project. Thus, the company will waste its own money on a lawsuit and the taxpayers' money will be wasted defending the Department of Environmental Quality against it.

Waste Management should drop this lawsuit against the Department of Environmental Quality.

It is clear the community, county and state do not think this expansion is right for the area, thus Waste Management should be good corporate citizens and abide by the ruling.

But, most of the time counting on a corporation such as Waste Management to do the right thing when it sees dollar signs, amounts to nothing more than a daydream.

Californians experience the unique smell of Titan Arum

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

It didn't make the national news, but it did appear on the front page of the Orange County Register in California.

Only rarely is a plant given so much attention unless it is a serious pest of some kind, but the Orange County Register did not err in noting the blooming of a Titan Arum plant in the Fullerton California Arboretum. The plant is native to Sumatra and was not grown outside that land until the 1890s. The first one to bloom in the United States was at the Brooklyn Botanical Garden in 1937 and it has bloomed in captivity only a handful of times since then.

Why should anyone be concerned with the blooming of a plant? This plant is different.

It grows from a below-ground tuber that may weigh as much as 160 pounds. It produces a single umbrella shaped leaf forty feet in circumference at the top of a ten to twelve foot stalk. It probably blooms every other year in its native habitat. When you look at the flower you can see why. The flower looks somewhat like a calla lily and is related to it, but differs in being as much as nine feet tall. The vase-shaped part of the flower is pale green on the outside and red to purple on the inside. The stalk in the center is nearly white. Seeing the flower is not the most impressive event for the visitor — smelling it is.

When the Titan Arum first bloomed at Kew Gardens in London in 1891, a young lady was given the task of recording with drawings, the progress of flowering. According to the reports of the time, the stench was so bad that she, "suffered prolonged martyrdom that terminated in illness."

Needless to say the plant has attracted attention wherever it bloomed.

Thirty-four thousand people are reported to have visited one bloom during the two days it was available for viewing. There is no record of how long each one of them stayed.

Just what does this flower smell like? The translation of its Sumatran name is Corpse Flower and it lives up to its name.

Why would a plant produce a gigantic flower that smelled like a rotting corpse? A friend of mine suggests it reveals God's good sense of humor.

I like to think it demonstrates that carrion beetles and flies have a good sense of smell. Plants cannot move and need to attract insects of some kind to carry pollen from one flower to another. In tropical parts of the world, bees, which prefer sweet smelling flowers are not as common as carrion-loving flies and beetles.

Finally, the blooming of the Titan Arum in Brooklyn Botanical Garden — actually in the Bronx — helps to reveal clearly how opportunistic politicians were, even in 1937. The Borough President at the time issued the following statement. "Amorphophallus titanum" — its Latin name — is the world's largest flower. The only place in the Western Hemisphere where this giant has bloomed is the Bronx. I therefore feel it proper that the Titan Arum should adopt it as its official flower.

I, therefore, proclaim that the Titan Arum is the official flower of the Bronx as its tremendous size shall be symbolic of the largest and fastest growing borough of the City of New York. There are sweeter smelling flowers, but none as large and distinctive."

I am certain present-day residents of the Bronx are pleased that the Borough President's wishes were not carried out.

If peonies are the official flower of Charlevoix, I suppose we should be glad for that choice. There are few sweeter smelling flowers.

Congratulations on Venetian Festival

Editor:
Congratulations are due to the Venetian Festival Committee for an outstanding event this past week. We have attended nearly every Venetian Festival during the past 40 years. This year's event was the best organized, smoothly run and most entertaining of them all.

Not the least of the committee's accomplishments was the prudent planning for the safety of everyone.

The Venetian Festival Committee has earned the thanks of every visitor and resident of Charlevoix. We hope that future festivals will be able to match the standards set by the current committee.

Board!

I have another check, just like my first check, on the way, and I still feel as if I have gotten a terrific bargain. Here's hoping the rest of the community supports your efforts as well, in order that we might have an equal or even better show next year.

Thank you...Thank you...Thank you.

Vote for recycling

Editor:
The Charlevoix County Recycling Committee was appointed by the Charlevoix County Commissioners on December 8, 1999. We held our first meeting January 12, 2000, and began to discuss our goals.

Charlevoix County needs county-wide, convenient and cost-effective recycling. Our nine members have met every two weeks since that time to try and prepare contracts for ordering bins, hauling of recyclables, and destination of recyclables for Board signatures.

Here is a brief overview of what has been accomplished:

•There will be six county drop-off sites for recyclables. You should never have to drive far to get one.

•We will begin by recycling small-necked one and two plastic, tin and aluminum. The Amway led voucher campaign would have the public believe otherwise. Giving the public money to private elitist and sectarian schools would unfairly exempt those operations from laws written to protect the public and our precious children — the state school code.

The voucher would exempt private schools from public meetings, proper notice and a clear record as called for in school code Section 1201. Private schools are exempt from providing auxiliary services: crossing guards, health services, speech therapy and social services, Section 1296.

Public schools must let private school students ride their buses, private schools do not have to provide the same service to the public school children, Section 1321.

Religious academies and private schools are not prohibited from hitting students and disen to Emmet County Transfer/Recycling Center.

•The county will purchase the recycling bins and fund the program until — and here is where you come in — the funds from a voted .15 recycling millage begin in January.

We need to pass this millage in order to start Charlevoix's recycling program.

Vouchers not fair

Editor:
A sense of fairness is the root of all justice and civil rights.

The Amway led voucher campaign would have the public believe otherwise. Giving the public money to private elitist and sectarian schools would unfairly exempt those operations from laws written to protect the public and our precious children — the state school code.

The voucher would exempt private schools from public meetings, proper notice and a clear record as called for in school code Section 1201.

Private schools are exempt from providing auxiliary services: crossing guards, health services, speech therapy and social services, Section 1296.

Public schools must let private school students ride their buses, private schools do not have to provide the same service to the public school children, Section 1321.

Religious academies and private schools are not prohibited from hitting students and dispensing other harsh punishments, yet public schools are, Section 1312.

Private and religious schools have no specified hours or days of instruction. Public schools will see increases in the instruction minimums over the next 10 years; privates won't, Section 1284.

Pregnant students can be barred or expelled from private schools, but not public schools, Section 1301.

There are no state statutes mandating private and religious schools comply with a written sexual harassment policy; public schools must adhere to the law, Section 1300.

Dick and Betsy DeVos — having a large stake in the outcome of their personal campaign for public money for private and religious schools — are hoping to frame the campaign for vouchers as a "civil rights" issue.

It's not a "Civil Right" to have one's private choices paid by the tax-paying public. It's not "justice" or fairness for vouchers to fund a private industry, when vouched private schools won't play by the same rules or abide by lawful safeguards for children.

Knights of Columbus to offer Life Line Screening

On Aug. 1, the Knights of Columbus will offer area residents the opportunity to spend a few minutes doing something that could quite possibly save their lives.

Life Line Screening will offer three primary health screenings to detect the risk of stroke and vascular disease. These tests include a Carotid Artery Screening Test, Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm test and an Ankle Brachial Index.

On that day, a bone density screening will also be offered for women for the early detection of osteoporosis.

These fast, painless and low cost tests use ultrasound technology and are conducted by a registered Ultrasound Technologist. A board certified physician reviews the results of each test to ensure accuracy of the results before the findings are mailed to each individual.

Individuals whose screening suggests further evaluation are encouraged to seek appropriate follow-up care with their own physician.

Anyone interested in these tests must register at least 24 hours in advance. Please call (800) 407-4557 to schedule an appointment for the tests.

The tests offered are $35 each. The Knights of Columbus is located at 15144 Bells Bay Road in Charlevoix.

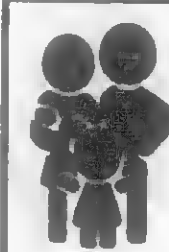

Also available at the screening site will be free information on the identification and control of risk factors, how to recognize the warning signs and symptoms of stroke and other vascular diseases, as well as helpful information regarding osteoporosis.

Rainbow anniversary

Seventeen years ago a ministry began and a community came together to help those in need. The Rainbow Shoppe was created by 10 local churches to help provide good clothing, as well as other items, to people at a reasonable price. The money received would then be donated to other non-profit organizations in the community. As of 1999, the Rainbow Shoppe has donated half a million dollars. The Rainbow Shoppe marked its 17 years by hosting a celebration for the public, volunteers and staff June 20.

Charlevoix Garden Club to host Garden Walk Thursday

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club will be hosting its second annual Garden Walk, showcasing five local gardens and a standard flower show, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday.

Ticket prices for the event are $10 per person for the tour and $75 per person to indulge in both the tour and a Secret Garden Luncheon.

A limited number of tickets are available for the luncheon and tour combination, however, the Garden Walk itself has a much greater capacity.

Tickets are available for purchase locally at Don's IGA, Touch of Spring, the Apple Tree, Bridge Street Books; Compass Interior's of Bay Harbor; Busy Bridge in East Jordan; the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce and Country Now and Then in Boyne City.

According to the Club's Chairman, Mary Adams, three of the five gardens included in the tour belong to non-garden club community members the organization has asked to be opened for public enjoyment. This year, the gardens available for viewing are the Reicker garden, the May garden, the Jerome garden, the Porter garden and the Blossom garden.

"While the gardens are beautiful, because of their design and/or location, none of the gardens are recommended for the handicapped or walking disabled. The terrain and location may be difficult without good walking shoes. We don't want anyone to be disappointed," said Garden Club President Kathy Johnson.

This year's garden tour theme is "Fairies." While discovering the beautiful growth these area residents have cultivated, tour participants will be welcomed by hand crafted fairies nestled in amongst the vegetation.

"They are too cute for words," said Johnson of the fairies.

According to Johnson, these fairies are the product of Garden Club members getting together and crafting the mystical physical representations of this year's theme. They also carry the memory of the late first vice president of the Garden Club, Barbara Starns, who was instrumental in the crafting of the fairies.

The standard flower show, from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. in the depot at Depot Beach, is part of the tour itself but is also free to all who wish to partake. There will also be refreshments served in the depot.

The title of the show, Fairytale Flora, follows in the theme with the gardens. Five classes will be displayed in the show, Hansel and Gretel, Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, the Nightingale and Thumbelina.

Proceeds from the sale of the fairies, other crafts and tickets for the tour itself have in the past gone to other organizations, but according to Adams this year's profit will go toward beautifying the City of Charlevoix through improvements made to local gardens maintained by the club, including the addition of much needed sprinkling systems and other supplies.

Area residents can do the Garden Club tour daily when visiting local landscapes maintained by the club including: The Bergmann Center Therapy Garden, the Charlevoix High School Courtyard Garden, the Memorial Garden located on Dixon where it intersects Chicago, the new Meditation Garden at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, the Pere Charlevoix Garden at the west end of Dixon, the Petoskey-Charlevoix Garden at the intersection of US 31 and Michigan Avenue and the Post Office Garden.

According to Adams, the Bergmann Center Therapy Garden brings much joy to those who have the opportunity to plant and harvest its bounty.

"We have raised garden beds so the residents can tend to the garden at a comfortable height. This really makes a nice addition to community life," said Adams.

All of these community landscape enhancements have recently been recognized by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, who awarded the Charlevoix Area Garden Club the national Exxon grand prize for Civic Beautification. The group was given $1,000, that according to Johnson, they plan to use for further community beautification projects.

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club, established in 1939, is a member of the National Council of State Garden Clubs Incorporated and the Federal Garden Clubs of Michigan. Since 1939, membership has blossomed to 85 volunteer workers.

BEACONS

By MORRIS COLE

First Presbyterian Church of Bay Shore

I do not think that happiness is receiving "rave reviews" for one of my sermons, nor receiving recognition from the peers of my denomination or a fifty thousand dollar check. It is not the vanquishing of a rival, nor my name at the top of a column, nor a house with a pool.

To me, happiness is a baby's plaintive cry at night. It is the laughter of that same child discovering the good things in the world; like the feel of freshly mowed grass under his bare baby feet. It is the release of a captured smile — which I caused — on the face of my grandson when I secretly know that, inside, he is agonizing over a recent failed attempt at one of life's challenges. It is the feeling I get from fixing a recalcitrant motor and hearing it "purr." It is a warm shower after a dirty, sweaty job. It is the gentle, reassuring touch of Louise's hand when trouble darkens our days.

Happiness to me is a word of praise for work well done, or an enriching hour with a friend, time gained in the race of life. It is a family like mine — at a picnic at the beach or gathered around the piano singing gospel hymns at the top of our lungs.

Sometimes, it has surfaced in the most unlikely places; working with Brian (my son) on building a backyard gazebo.

Anatole Fance once spoke about the domestic hearth and said of it: "This is the only real happiness."

This has been the lesson of my life. Our family is a unit in an adventure of living, and an experiment in love. It has never failed.

I have no patent or copyright on these thoughts.

They are as old as the world itself. They are as new as the sunrise. They belong to people everywhere...especially you.

Child prodigy featured during Venetian Festival

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer*"He is amazing with color and composition."*Sandy Pierce, Mother of Dylan

Most 14-year-old boys spend their summers playing on the beach or sports fields, not traveling the country creating works of art.

However, a Charlevoix business recently hosted one such prodigy.

The Wyland Gallery of Charlevoix welcomed Dylan Scott Pierce, a 14-year-old world renowned artist specializing in wildlife painting for a week long stay during the Venetian Festival.

Dylan explained his special talent first revealed itself at age 2 when he began sketching dinosaurs and animals. Following these years of early development Dylan's sketches have taken on lives all their own.

Many Wyland shoppers over the past week experienced the genius of this young artist in action; like the lion he was diligently depicting Wednesday, poised to pounce. Dylan was using shading to indicate muscle definition and integrated multiple variations of vivid colors to give his piece depth.

"He's amazing with color and composition," said Sandy Pierce, the artist's mother.

At age 11, Dylan displayed his talents in his first structured art class. Sandy says the teacher believed his work to be of college level.

Because he is touring most of the year, Dylan's mom home schools him. He says his favorite subject is science.

"I think I like science, because I like animals so much," said Dylan.

Dylan works almost year-round, however kids will be kids, and his eyes lit up as he explained a mountain biking excursion he took recently and an afternoon hike up Mt. McSaubia.

Sandy said their permanent residence is in Destin, Fla. and that this was their first time in Michigan.

"The view of the fresh water lakes from the top of Mt. McSaubia was breathtaking," she said.

If you were unable to catch a glimpse of the artist's work during his stay in Charlevoix and are planning to attend the first Bay Harbor Summer Art Fair, August 5-6, Dylan will be stationed at booth 77.

Dylan Scott Pierce, 14, is known throughout the world for his paintings. His work is currently on display at the Wyland Gallery in downtown Charlevoix. (Photo by Julie Musilek)

City manager addresses industrial park questions

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

According to Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner, the city could be in big economic trouble if it doesn't find a site for a new industrial park.

"I think it is critical to keep our job base to have land for (existing industry) to expand on," Wiesner said. "There is a lot of industries that I can think of that when they need to expand, they don't have room on their existing sites."

Currently, the city has about 55 acres of land on the north side of town for an industrial park, with 18 different businesses providing 425 total jobs. But, that land is completely filled up with industries, leaving no more room for new industries or the expansion of current ones, Wiesner said.

To give more room for these businesses, the city has been actively looking for land for a new industrial park since 1995. The city would need at least 40 acres of land for a new industrial park that would give current and new industries in the city a reasonable piece of land to expand on, he said.

The search has included property in the various townships surrounding the town, including a few parcels in Marion Township.

Wiesner said the water lines being run out to the new school does make it more attractive as an area for a new industrial park. But, he stressed the city has not found any land in Marion Township and is thus not talking seriously with any land-owners about purchasing land at this time.

"We have so many other projects that we are working on right now, we are overloaded....," Wiesner said.

Given the choice, Wiesner said he doesn't think the city even wants to be in the business of finding land for an industrial park, because it saps staff time away for other projects.

"But, I think the city has taken a lead to maintain the economy in this area. We felt it was left to us to do it," he said.

He added, looking out for the area's economic future is especially important at this time, now that the closing of Big Rock nuclear power plant looms on the horizon, taking almost 200 jobs with it.

But, while city employees may be too busy to pursue a new industrial site to its fullest right now and the city has not found any land, questions still surround the issue.

One such question asks: If the city finds land, will it annex this land? According to Wiesner this is not likely.

"I just don't think it would be practical to pursue it," he said. "We have looked at annexation when the property is immediately (next to the city), but I never thought of annexation in a remote parcel," Wiesner said. He added, he does not see any sites available that are adjacent to the city to even consider annexation.

More than likely, when the city does find some land for an industrial park it will look at a tax sharing agreement with the township that land lies in, he said.

Wiesner added it is also important to note a northern Michigan industrial park does not contain large smoke stacks and gritty buildings that the term "industrial" usually conjures in the imagination.

"With the north-side industrial park, many people don't even know it is there. It is in a beautiful woodside setting, with landscaping, no smokestacks and no problem with discharge into our sanitary sewer. It doesn't even have a very large draw on our water system," Wiesner said. "It is a very attractive, non-polluting, job producing site that is an asset to the community."

ISLAND NOTES

Be very careful when doing good deeds

Phyllis
Moore

'Island
Life'

Recently, my dad tried to do a good deed which back-fired.

Now this is a mild-mannered man in his 70s, always willing to help people out and doesn't know the word no. He buys high and sells low. A typical all-around nice guy so I guess I'm going to keep him, especially as it's so hard to break in a new one.

The day started out as usual, feeding his ducks and various other critters. Some friends were leaving the island via the plane and asked if he'd pick up their truck and park it back in their yard until Wednesday when they'd be returning to the island on the ferry. As I said, the man doesn't know how to say no, and that's how the trouble began.

If this were the late 1700's or the 1800's, he'd have been hung as a horse thief, at the minimum had his ears cut off or something just as drastic.

At the appointed time, the friends left on the plane and my dad, along with Mom drove out to Welke's airport to collect the truck. Now their friends' truck is bright red and has a camper on the back so when dad and mom arrived at the airport, dad got into the truck and drove it to their friends' home where he parked it, placed the keys over the visor and went home thinking what a good deed he'd done for his friends.

However, unknown to my dad was the fact that the truck he'd appropriated wasn't the one belonging to their friends but a vehicle purchased by one of the pilots and owner of the airport.

The pilot, when he went to drive home, couldn't find his truck anywhere. He hunted high and low thinking that some employee was playing a trick on him and had hidden it. After a fruitless search of the entire airport Paul gave up and called the law — the Beaver Island Deputy Sheriff.

The deputy took down all the pertinent information and started a search around the island's haunts. After all, this is an island, how far can you go with a stolen vehicle?

Eventually the law officer noticed that there was a red truck in a private driveway that looked like the stolen one. He checked it out and sure enough, it was the one owned by the pilot. The deputy, being aware of the friendship between the owners of the drive way and my parents, called my dad to tell him that he'd taken the wrong truck.

My dad, however, wasn't home so the deputy left a message on the answering machine to please return his call. Several hours later dad telephoned the deputy to see what was up.

After being informed of the mix-up, my dad decided he should call the person who owned the truck and apologize. However, he got the names confused and called a relative of the pilots' (whose truck wasn't missing) it wasn't until the next day that dad discovered that it was his nephew's truck instead.

Now there is a man who has a message on his answering machine about his truck being stolen accidentally and is scratching his head wondering what's going on.

I asked the deputy if he had any comments to make about this offense. He stated, tongue-in-cheek, "The case is still pending so I can't make any statements at this time."

However, as my parents drove past the deputy's home the following day the deputy shook his fist at them and hollered, "Felony Auto Thief!"

As for my family, we're all glad we're in the year 2000 where you get a chance to explain how you happened to drive off in another person's vehicle and not lose your ears or your life.

In the future, please, Dad....be careful of those good deed days.

Butterflies keep their color at new business

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The beauty of butterflies has been preserved for time at the Butterfly Art Company on Bridge Street.

The business, owned by Timothy Talbot of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., uses over 80 different species of real butterflies to make colorful artwork for homes and offices. The butterflies come from all over the world and were raised on butterfly farms.

The butterflies are not killed for the artwork and are only used after they expire from natural causes. A butterfly's life span is only about 14 days, with the exception of the Monarch butterfly, which can live up to three months, Talbot said.

After the butterflies die and are collected, they are prepared for mounting in the clear acrylic cases, that can be custom designed to suit the needs of the buyer. Once mounted, their beauty will remain basically forever, Talbot added.

"The main idea behind the store is to promote enhanced knowledge to the general public at how fragile the butterfly is and how we need to protect its environment. Butterflies are raised in the same environment we get prescription drugs from," he said.

Each purchase at the Butterfly Art Company comes with an explanation on basic care and maintenance of the butterfly art, as well as a species identification sheet, which will help the buyer in identifying the various butterflies in their new artwork.

The Butterfly Art Company opened for its first year of business in April. The Charlevoix store is Talbot's pilot store.

Talbot opened this business after he stepped down from his position with a health care company, to get a break from the high stress and high paced work environment of a corporation.

"This is a little more relaxing and a lot more enjoyable," he said.

Using a large butterfly case in his house as inspiration, Talbot wrote up a business plan and started looking for store fronts in northern Michigan last year.

Talbot said he chose northern Michigan because he used to come up here when he was a child and throughout college.

"This is one of the greatest places in the United States. The sunsets are equal to Key West," he said.

The Butterfly Art Company is located at 216 Bridge Street. It is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day, but stays open until 10 p.m. in July.

The business is seasonal and is open from May until October. Talbot does offer an internet web site at www.butterflyartco.com for customers.

Renovations to start soon on Veteran's Park

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Veteran's Park located across from Oleson's market at Bridge and Antrim streets will soon be getting a long awaited major face lift.

"The city planning commission went over the plans with us two years ago and at that time we had approved the changes. When the commission went out and got bids for the project they found them to be double what they had estimated so they had to put the project to the side. I was recently informed by the city manager that these changes we had planned so long ago would be a reality in the near future," said Charles Butcher, commander of American Legion Post 226 and senior vice commander of VFW post 1153.

The plan is going out for bid in the near future, said John Martin, Charlevoix street superintendent.

According to Butcher, the changes planned consist of making the park more accessible from various directions and improving the natural landscape.

"We approve of what the city is doing, it is going to be a very nice park," added Butcher.

Blueprints for the project include: Simplifying the steps coming down from the 7-11 store on the corner of Bridge Street and Belvedere Avenue, improving foot paths once on "the tenuous side" and installing steps on all approaches to the center of the park by making one handicapped accessible. Plans have also been made to improve the centerpiece monument and the flagpole.

According to Butcher, landscaping improvements began last year when the commission initiated pruning extensions to keep the trees in better shape and improve grass growth under the trees.

"There are seven remaining maple trees in the park, dedicated to the men from Charlevoix who died in World War I. There were originally eight, but throughout the passing years, one fell to the wayside and died. These new improvements include replacing this eighth maple," said Butcher.

According to Butcher, the American Legion deeded the property where Veteran's Park lies today to the city when they could no longer maintain it.

"The city is doing a better job now than ever before," he said.

"It's a plan the DDA has been involved in for many years. The conceptual changes were initially developed by the area veterans. We used these suggestions in the planning process," said City Manager Michael Wiesner.

Overall, the park is going to be more user friendly with more easily traversed paths with low level lighting to brighten things up.

Second race finds near-perfect winds

A. Nony Mouse

'Yachting notes'

With the exception of a significant wind shift just before the start, the evening was near perfect for the second race of the Summer Series.

That shift not only skewed the starting line but also left the legs very different from the normal. (The "normal" course always starts directly, or close to directly, to windward and, therefore, involves tacking to the first mark.) While the breeze was a bit light, the lack of a lot of beating to windward provided a comfortable and fast trip around a full six-leg course. Spinnaker viewing was simply great as they were flying on all but two of those legs.

Once again, the J-22 Fleet captured two firsts as TOO RECKLESS was first to finish at 7:26 and first on elapsed time of 1:23:12. In the next two minutes, SWINE FLEW and GECKO captured second and third in the fleet, respectively. HUSSY, FIRST DATE, PALEFACE LITE, SUPER-FLUOUS, ROCK STEADY, WHAT'S HER NAME and H S MOISTURE MISSILE rounded out the top ten. THUNDER-STRUCK, HANER, HIGH MAINTENANCE, JUBBLIES, SCURY and HOG-TIDE trailed.

GOTCHA! (second at 1:27:31) was first across the line in the big boats of Division 1 at 7:37 followed by SLAPSHOT (third at 1:29:06) but they failed to save their times over KAMIKAZE (first at 1:27:05). FLASH was welcomed to the spinnaker competition with a fourth place. MINT JULEP was close behind with a big lead over BLASEN IV.

TIRELESS must have rolled on bare rims as she crossed the line at 7:46, up with boats of Division 1 and three minutes ahead of ORIGINAL SIN and another minute ahead of third place LOST VERMONT. CYGNUS, SANDPIPER and JESSE were fourth through sixth in the P-26 Fleet.

CHEEMAUN led the two boat Jib and Main "Fleet" across at 7:48 followed by APOTHECARY almost six minutes later.

Spinnaker Division 2 saw all corrected time positions unchanged from actual elapsed time. First went to MI-JOY at 7:51, by three minutes over BALD EAGLE with M 3 a couple minutes back in third. J HAWK was close behind but well ahead of SAFFRON. BABE suffered a DSQ.

Junior golfers to be in contest

The climax to the Charlevoix Junior Golf season has been announced with two special events for junior players and the many mentors that volunteered to help administer the successful season.

Juniors 10 and older will have their opportunity to determine their techniques and skills on July 30 at the programs' first Pitch, Putt and Drive Contest to be at the Belvedere Club Golf Course.

Those 12 and older are to report at 5:30 p.m. prior to their round on the course, with 10-11-year-olds checking in at 6 p.m. Assistant Golf Professional Marty Joy will be coordinating the event along with the mentors and administrators of the junior golf program.

The special program to recognize the mentors from the Junior program is a nine hole scramble hosted by the Charlevoix Country Club.

It will be at 10 a.m. July 31 to be followed by a luncheon and discussion of this year's Junior program.

Those desiring more information may call Dean Davenport at 547-6433.

Changes to Venetian this year cause disagreement

VENETIAN

"We have the great fortune of having two premier master pyrotechnicians of the finest fireworks display company on the continent come to Charlevoix, Frankie Lofredo and Ronnie Greco. It is unbelievable for a town our size to host these legends in the fireworks industry who shoot in New York City, Detroit and the acclaimed "Thunder Over Louisville." They have developed a true love for Charlevoix and they brought their families with them. They said they were more excited about our display than any other in the last few years. The multi-colored rings throughout the shell that lit up the sky were used for the first time in North America right here in Charlevoix.

"We were thrilled with the turnout Friday across Lake Charlevoix from parks to private parties. We received rave reviews from Oyster Bay to Ferry Beach across the Lakes," said Barron proudly.

According to Barron, the boat parade, which follows in the nautical theme of the festival, was not any bigger this year but the caliber of the entrants was enhanced.

Further changes and additions included a Courtyard Craft Fair option for those not interested in being spun around at the fair. Thirty-five crafters set up in Harbor Park located by the Chamber.

While the festival has come to a close, some Venetian themed events continue, such as a boat raffle sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Raffle tickets are still available at the Chamber office. The auction date is set for August 17 in East Park. The proceeds will benefit the Venetian board for next year's festivities, which are already in the making.

"Ideas are floating around to make the festival bigger and better. I would like to see a greater variety of music. We are working to improve Venetian every year," said Venetian Board Member Laurie Lounsberry.

"(There was) no major hitch throughout the week. There were relatively minor issues to resolve. We are still engaged on the learning curve and are focused on refining the festival to make it better for the future," added Barron.

Vogel's teammate was Julie Musilek from the Charlevoix Courier. They faced a team combining the skills of TV 7&4 and the Traverse City Record Eagle. Happily, the Charlevoix team beat the Traverse City team. (Photo by Julie Musilek)

A physician cannot typically order an Ultrasound evaluation on someone who has no warning signs of vascular disease. However, over 50% of people who suffer a stroke show no symptoms before the attack, and therefore are unaware of the potential problem. We provide non-invasive painless screenings that can identify vascular disease which can be used as valuable information for your personal physician to help you avoid a stroke. Life Line Screening is the nation's leading provider of health screening services.

Charlevoix sheriff concerned about low water

Sheriff George T. Lasater advises that the Sheriff's Marine Patrol is concerned for the safety of the boating public on lakes in Charlevoix County, especially Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan due to the low water conditions.

The Sheriff's office is requesting that marinas, boat launching sites and parks in Charlevoix County please alert not only local boaters but our guests who use these waters and may not have knowledge of the low water levels and safety issues involved.

The sheriff's concerns include:

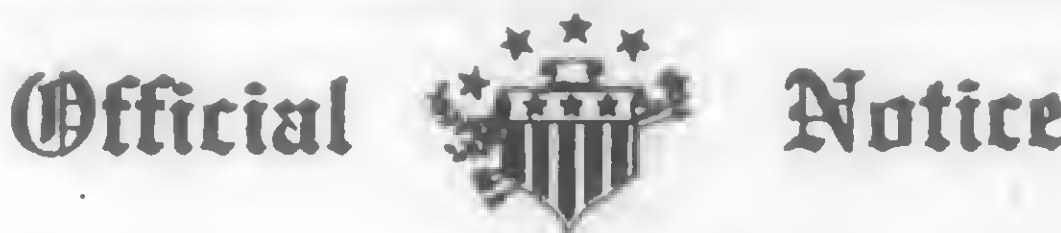

- Low water exposes large boulders, sand bars and submerged logs.
- Swim areas where we had extended safe swim areas. Now, one section of a local park has only five feet of safe swim area adjacent to an approximate 20 foot drop off. The expected activity of this low water is:

- Increased accidents.
- Increased grounding of boats on sand bars.
- Water-skiers coming too close to shore, where in the past it was safe and now is shallow and which could cause skiers to be injured.

- Neck injuries due to diving off docks and floating platforms.
- Dock extensions - where in the past it was navigable and now extends 100-200 feet further into the lake and at night cannot be seen.

This year's gathering will be at 6 p.m. on August 2, in the United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, 202 State Street in Charlevoix.

It will be a catered meal costing $5 for adults, $3 for children and $15 for families

Camp provides activities for disabled residents

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The seventeenth annual summer session of Spirit Camp came to a close Friday, with a wrap-up celebration at the Petoskey State Park commemorating two weeks of activities.

The camp is a program designed to benefit disabled participants started by camp administrator and special education teacher at the Petoskey High School, George Armstrong and his wife and director of the camp, Linda Armstrong.

The couple hosts participants who return year after year, session after session.

"We have had the opportunity to watch many of these individuals grow up," they said.

"I was just 22 when I came to the area and was made aware of the Coalition of Advocates for the Impaired which has since been changed to the RICC. Audrey McMullen indicated that there were really no available resources for people with developmental disabilities. There was a need identified and we've been trying to fill that void ever since," said George.

"It is not a camp in the traditional sense of the word but rather a way for the participants to partake in community activities that would otherwise not be feasible. There is a year-round demand but with our available resources we have been unable to figure out how to fill the gap."

This summer, the Armstrong's planned and organized two weeks filled with afternoon field trips for 25 lucky recipients. Trips on the docket for this year's campers included: Educational excursions—like that taken to East Jordan's Ravenhill Discovery Center, arts and crafts at the Pottery Lodge and a very special program at the McCune Arts Center and outdoor fun—like miniature golf, fishing, canoeing at Big Bear and boat rides.

According to the Armstrong's, Spirit Camp is not a profit making venture, but rather a way to help these individuals get out and take advantage of the community.

The couple attempted to make the camp an all-volunteer effort, but found that a more stable environment was needed for efficiency purposes. This year's group includes eight paid staff "counselors," two of which are Petoskey teachers.

"They are not in it for the money these counselors are here because they want to be," added Linda.

The couple also highlighted the importance of the assistance received from Americorps who they equated with the Peace Corps.

"What the Peace Corps does abroad Americorps does in the US," said Linda.

workshop, also lent a helping hand by bringing in five participants and providing their own staff who stayed the day.

The couple does have expenses that are provided for through tuition from those who can afford it and donations like those offered by the Christ Child Society, Charlevoix and Petoskey Community Foundations, the Petoskey Jaycee's, individual donations and the Knights of Columbus.

Persons who cannot afford to partake in this opportunity are admitted through the generosity of the aforementioned foundations and individuals.

"George and Linda are uncanonized saints," said participant parent, W. L. McCullough M.D. of Petoskey in reference to the couple's valiant efforts in organizing and maintaining Spirit Camp.

St. Mary's participates in Detroit project

A team of young people and adults from St. Mary's parish in Charlevoix spent a week of their summer vacation reaching out to persons in need in the inner city of Detroit.

The team participated in a project called Young Neighbors in Action (YNIA). YNIA involves 1,800-2,000 participants providing service to poor children and families all across the United States.

This is the third missionary trip to the inner city of Detroit for the youth from St. Mary's.

In the previous two years they have worked in a soup kitchen and have spent time remodeling an old convent that is now being used for the homeless and those who work with the homeless.

This year, the team did a variety of work.

They worked primarily in the southwest portion of Detroit. They were involved in graffiti removal, landscaping, fixing up a home that will be used for the homeless, worked with the homeless in a soup kitchen, and worked with Alzheimer patients.

They also went door-to-door in a very poor neighborhood, distributed literature and talking with people about illegal toxic dumping and other environmental issues.

When the team was finished with their work sites in the evening, they spent time learning and trying to get a better understanding of the needs of the poor and homeless.

Young Neighbors is an eye-opening experience for all who participate.

The youth return to their communities with a better understanding of the needs and concerns of the poor. They also better understand their call to "feed the hungry, clothe the naked, and shelter the homeless."

As many of the youth stated, they did not realize how fortunate they were and how they took things for granted.

The team this year consisted of Melissa McDonough, Tasha Morrison, Don Priest, Kelly Sullivan, Jennifer Scharenbroch, Mike Castiglione, Dani Flowers, Tony Shearer, Shawna Flowers, Jean McDonough and Patty Furtaw.

EVENTS IN BRIEF

About these coming events...

As a courtesy to readers, announcements of local coming events of broad general interest that arrive by the 10 a.m. Monday deadline are published in this section of the newspaper on a one-time, first-come, first served basis. Because there is no guarantee of placement, readers should not rely on this free service as their only means of reaching the public.

Water the trees

The Shade Tree Commission of Charlevoix would like to remind you to water the trees, as you drive through Charlevoix, you can't help but notice that some of our trees, especially those planted in the past year or two, are thirsty.

This past year has been very dry. A quick glance at the lake levels confirm this. But what about our trees? They are suffering, too. The signs are more subtle but are surely there.

We urge everyone to water all of their trees this summer and if possible, mulch around them to help the soil retain moisture. If you have a newly planted tree, these steps are especially important.

The City of Charlevoix has planted hundreds of new trees along our streets over the past few years and we are their caretakers. Please give them enough water this season. They will reward you with years of shade and majestic beauty.

City marina plans opposed by environmental group

MARINA

"I love the facility, but every day there is a waiting list. If they have more slips, they will be filled," he said.

Boater Jack VanLoon, of Grand Haven, added, "It's a wonderful place. We enjoy it here and if they can provide more space for more people to enjoy it, then do it."

As for the businesses in town, Kris Rasmussen, Downtown Coordinator for the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, said so far she has heard pretty positive comments about the plans.

"From what I see, it looks beneficial to the downtown," she said.

Two preliminary plans for a new marina were recently presented to the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority. Plan A, proposed building a marina that would hold about 111 boats, while Plan B would hold about 83.

Both plans would cost around $3.5 million, of which, most could come from grants from the state Waterways Commission, said John Winn, Charlevoix resident and member of the commission.

"The money there is available. It is just a matter of going after and getting it," Winn said.

Winn reiterated the benefit a new marina would be to downtown Charlevoix.

"The average boater spends about $400 a day in the community. They are also captive to downtown because they are on foot," he said.

Winn added a new marina will also triple the city's marina revenue.

According to Charlevoix Harbor Master Hal Evans, just the slips in the current marina generate about $120-140,000 a year in revenue for the city. There are currently 17 physical piers, which make up about 34 docks.

Each boat is charged by how long they are, but for a boat that is 15 feet and under, it is about $15 a day. Larger boats are charged more, Evans said.

He added, the average size of a boat in the marina is about 35 feet.

Winn added it would also be of great benefit to the city to look beyond just the marina with this project. He suggested the city look at also rebuilding East Park in connection with this marina project, also using grant money from the Waterways Commission.

"This is really a one shot opportunity to look at the park in its entirety," Winn said.

City Manager Mike Wiesner agreed.

"I don't think this project can just be the docks. It's (all) got to be one project," he said.

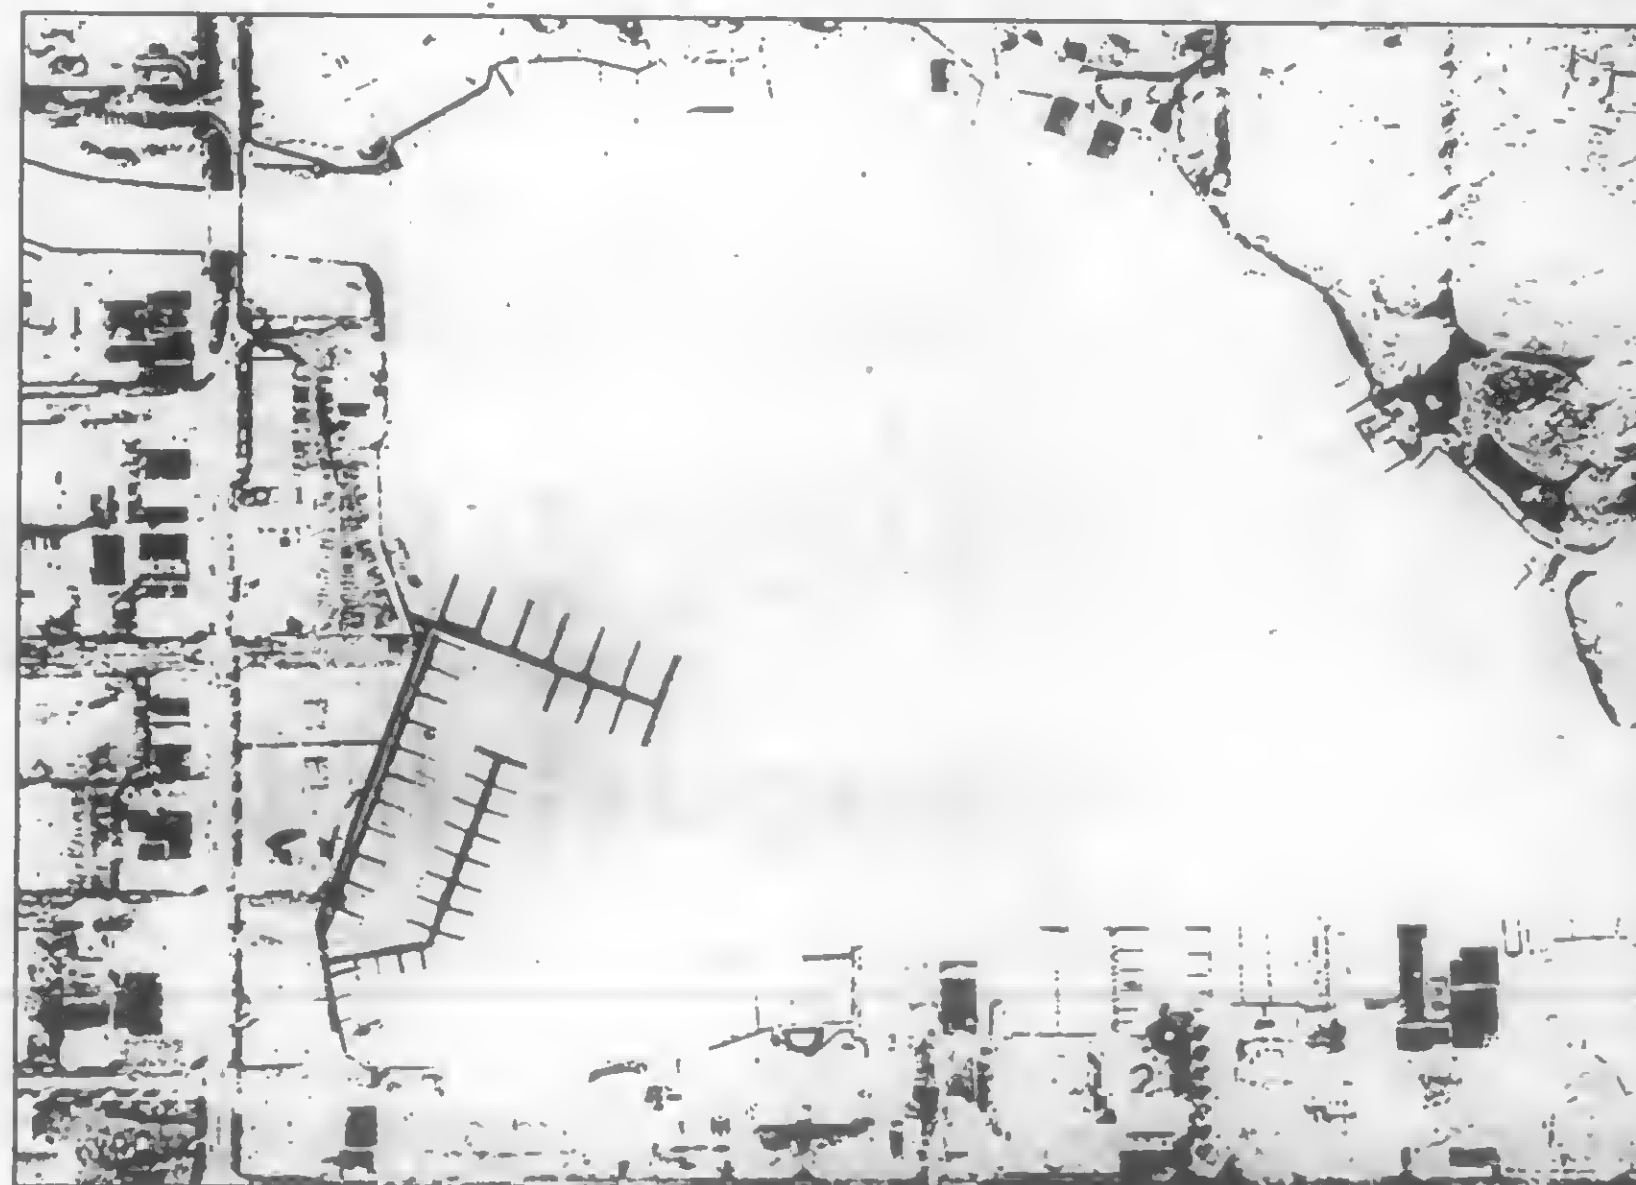

Plans for a new marina are still in the studying phases. According to Wiesner, because of all the permits the city must get and the approvals needed from the community, the city will not see any work started on this project for at least three years.

The DDA is considering whether it should ask the public for its input on just the two new marina plans or present the public a plan that also includes renovations to East Park.

A public hearing has not been scheduled as of press-time.

Be prepared for the heat as you enjoy this summer

Heat can affect everyone. It is most likely to affect young children, elderly people, people with health problems. It is important for everyone to be prepared for heat emergencies.

A heat wave is a prolonged period of excessive heat and humidity. The National Weather Service steps up its procedures to alert the public during these periods of excessive heat. Heat waves can result in three main heat emergencies; heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke "also referred to as sunstroke."

Heat cramps are muscular pains and spasms due to heavy exertion. They usually involve the abdominal muscles or legs. It is generally thought that the loss of water from heavy sweating causes the cramps. To treat heat cramps, get the person to a cooler place and have him or her rest in a comfortable position. Lightly stretch the affected muscle and replenish fluids. Give the person a half glass of cool water every 15 minutes. Do not give liquids with alcohol or caffeine as they can make conditions worse.

Heat exhaustion typically occurs when people exercise heavily or work in a warm humid place where body fluids are lost through heavy sweating. Blood flow to the skin increases, causing blood flow to decrease to the vital organs. This results in a form of mild shock. The skin will be cool and moist and could appear to be either pale or flushed. The victim may have a headache and/or be suffering from nausea. There may also be some dizziness.

It is important to treat the victim promptly so that the condition will not intensify and become heat stroke. Begin treatment by getting the person out of the heat and to a cooler place. Remove or loosen tight clothing and apply cool, wet cloths, such as towels or sheets.

If the person is conscious, give them cool water to drink, a half glass every 15 minutes, and make sure the person drinks slowly. Let the victim rest in a comfortable position, and watch carefully for changes in his or her condition.

Heat stroke is the most serious heat emergency and is life threatening.

The victim's temperature control system, which produces sweating to cool the body, stops working. The body temperature can rise so high that brain damage and death may result if the body is not cooled quickly.

Here are some signs that a person is having a heat stroke: Hot, red skin; changes in consciousness; rapid, weak pulse and rapid, shallow breathing. Body temperature can be very high - sometimes as high as 105 degrees Fahrenheit. If the person was sweating from heavy work or exercise, skin may be wet; otherwise, it will feel dry.

A person suffering from heat stroke needs help fast. Call 911 and move the person to a cooler place immediately. Immerse the victim in a cool bath or wrap wet sheets around the body and fan it. Watch for signals of breathing problems. Keep the person lying down and continue to cool the body any way you can. If the victim refuses water, is vomiting, or there are changes in the level of consciousness, do not give anything to eat or drink.

High school one step closer to construction

By JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix school board stepped one pace closer to ground breaking ceremonies July 25 when the Marion Township Planning Commission unanimously granted site plan approval for the proposed locale for a new high school.

"There was more screening needed before we approved the plan. We had to publicly rehear drainage issues that were then also approved in light of recent changes that were made. Our ordinance has eight standards that they were able to meet with a few modifications. These modifications take the form of four conditions listed at the end of the decision," said Tim Matchett, chairman of the Marion Township Planning Commission.

"We all had concerns about assorted issues but after talking to various experts on both sides of the issue everyone came to an agreeable compromise," he added.

According to School Board President Allen Teigenhof, the site plan approval is effective immediately.

Community mourning loss of great citizen

Charlevoix Courier Wednesday, August 2, 2000 - PAGE 3

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Charlevoix lost a driving force in the community, a loving father and husband and a man who truly loved life when Raymond V. Wood, passed away July 22.

Wood was born in Algonac and moved to Berkley at age three. He played on the Berkley High School basketball team and in the city basketball league.

He showed off his adventurous spirit early on. The summer following Wood's junior year in high school he and a buddy decided they wanted to check out what the rest of Michigan was all about by hitchhiking around the state.

So, that's just what the pair did. One Monday morning Wood and his companion, armed with $9 and rolled up blankets, teeming with youthful vigor, set out to explore the unknown. Their first stop was St. Ignace then on to Sault Ste. Marie and back southwest to Grand Rapids. The spirited friends were back home in bed by Saturday night.

According to Wood's daughter Linda Judy of Petoskey, this unique perspective on life was carried with him through adolescence and into adulthood.

"Dad was so happy he was almost naive. He never looked at the gloomy side of life. I wish I could put on his rose colored glasses," said Judy.

Following graduation from Berkley High School, Wood further revealed his need for adventure, becoming a pilot. And, according to his wife, Nancy, he maintained his childhood friendships throughout his life and never missed a Berkley class reunion.

Wood trained at Western State Teachers College, currently Western Michigan University to attain his lofty aspiration of becoming a pilot. He was a self-made man paying his own way through school as both a caddy and a dishwasher.

According to Nancy and his daughter, Wood's parents were part of a legacy of seamen, his father passed his work day out on the water supporting eight children — money was tight.

"He (Wood) chose air instead of the sea; he didn't want to be on boats, it was a hard life," said Judy. Just as he was finishing up his studies at Western, World War II began rearing its threatening head.

Nine credits short of graduation this mobile adventurer moved on to South Bend, Ind. where he completed his training in a flight instructor's program. In South Bend, Wood was initially a student but also became an instructor. Here, he was hired to train army pilots for the war effort.

In 1943, after a two-week run of rotten weather and a lack of students in South Bend, Wood found his flight training landed him at Thunderbird Field in Phoenix, Ariz. It was at Thunderbird Field where he spent about two years offering his talents as a flight instructor in service to his country.

At this time, Thunderbird was the largest basic flight training facility in the country. Wood's role was to train U.S. Army Air Corps Cadets, future "Thunderbird Pilots," flying basics.

His need for flight and search for sunshine relocated him to Dallas, Texas, where he served as a commercial airline pilot with Braniff Airlines. Wood once told Stephen Brede, a former Petoskey News-Review staff writer, Braniff Airlines signed him up but, shortly thereafter had "to turn me loose."

Braniff caught word of Uncle Sam's agenda to draft Wood. He was called to defend his country at the air transport command in WW II serving as a flight officer in the U.S. Air Force.

Ray had met his lady of choice, Nancy, while in Phoenix and the couple were married at the student chapel at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas. The couple couldn't pursue the typical honeymoon romance as Ray was shipped out the following day for duty.

Following the war, Ray returned to Arizona where he moved from the clouds to the land, pursuing a career in construction. Ray started building homes for Nancy's stepfather, a real estate developer in Phoenix.

He and his wife eventually made their way back to Michigan where his construction pursuits earned him the title of the second largest carpentry contractor in the Detroit area. Wood's work, like his many aspirations, included large projects like churches and schools.

In May of 1951, the couple starting to weave their roots in northern Michigan's soil. After weekend drives around the lake shore, while the couple enjoyed majestic views of the fresh water and surrounding landscape, the two decided to buy property in Charlevoix.

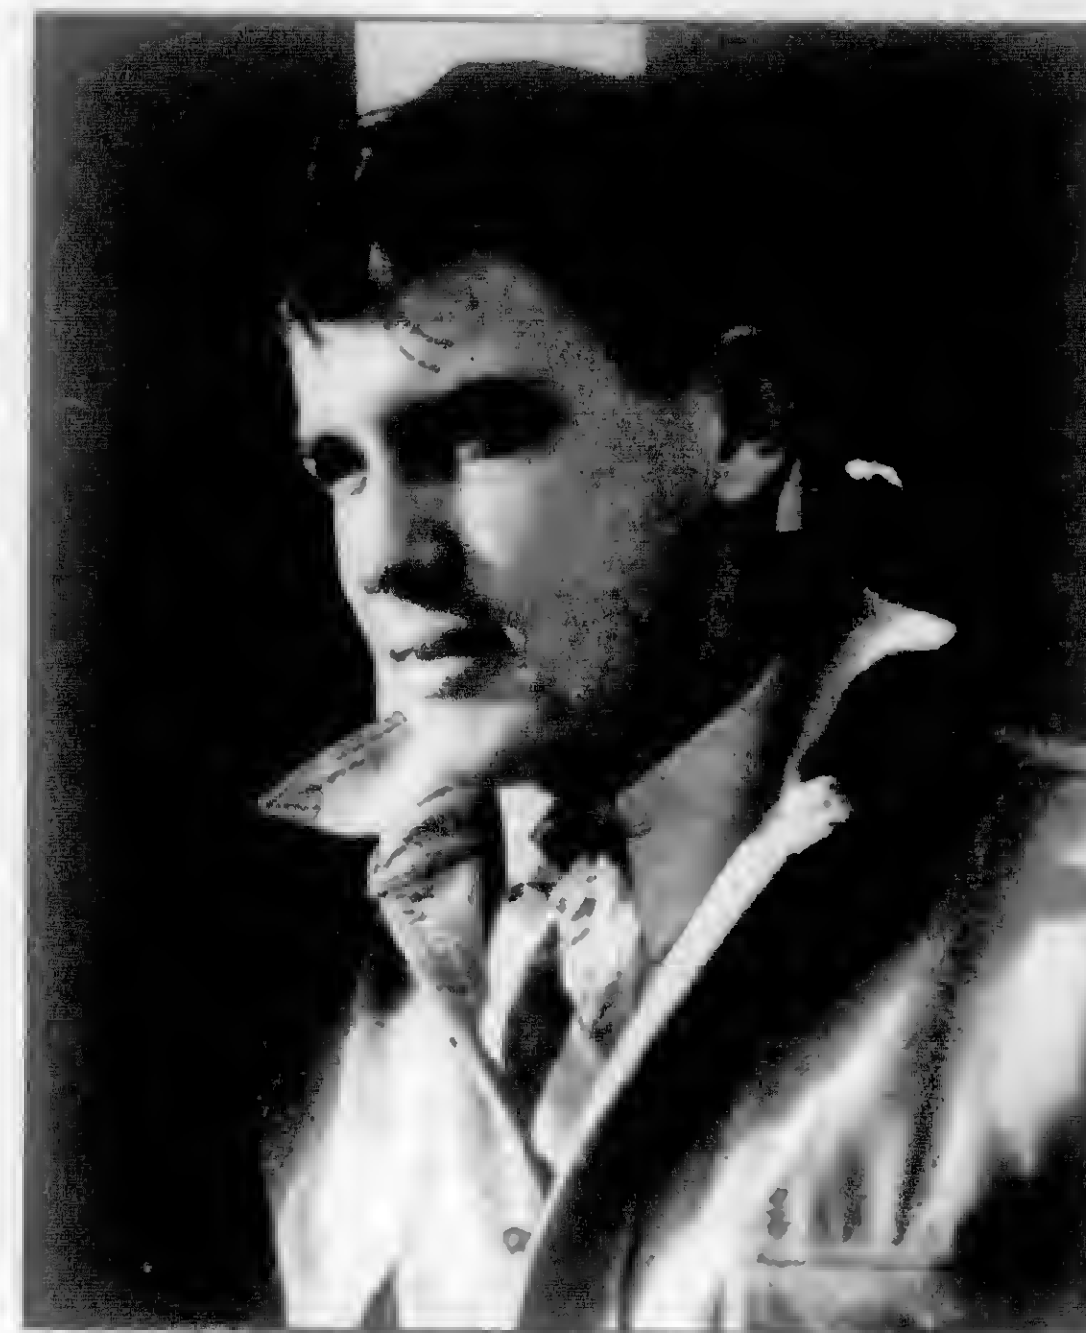

Wood told Brede of his Charlevoix find, "It was this little town you come down into, surrounded all around by water."

Wood also purchased property at Nine Mile Point and once operated a summer accommodations business. The couple spent 35 years maintaining and renting cottages and the business was a charter member of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce until they sold the property.

According to Nancy it was at this property site that Wood further revealed his generous spirit.

"He was a giver; there was a time when he came across people who didn't have a place to live. So Ray gave them a cottage," said Nancy.

In 1951, work and entrepreneurial options weren't waiting around every Charlevoix corner. So, the couple's choice to set up a permanent dwelling in Charlevoix posed difficult financial ramifications. Rather than sacrificing the family's love of Charlevoix, Wood commuted to Detroit and drove north to

Charlevoix every weekend for 14.5 years to be with his family.

Wood was finally able to be a resident of Charlevoix on a permanent basis when he was contracted to carry out a carpentry project in Cheboygan. He started up and operated a successful construction business in the city until his retirement in 1992.

Once he settled in the city his efforts in community affairs were endless. Wood was a loyal member of numerous civic groups and was an active participant in local government. He was a member of the Rotary Club, the Lions Club and the American Legion. At one time Wood was appointed to fill a vacant spot on the City Council where he sat for 11 years.

"(Wood) was a Lions Club member for almost 40 years. During his time with the Lions he filled just about every office. He was always there, helping out and participating. This is important because back in those days, when we were just starting out, we had about a third of the membership we have now," said Lions Club member Bruce Reid.

$500 reward offered for info on boat theft Sat.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is looking for the person responsible for the theft of a 21-foot Sea Ray boat taken from a local marina Saturday.

The boat was found around 5 a.m. Saturday morning running full throttle and lodged against a dock at Ferry Beach. An investigation revealed the boat was taken from the local marina around 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

In case the driver or passengers of the stolen vessel were in distress, the U.S. Coast Guard vessel and helicopter, along with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office Marine Patrol and divers from the Charlevoix Fire Department, East Jordan Fire Department and the Charlevoix County Dive Team conducted an extensive search of the area.

The driver of the stolen boat was not located.

OPINIONS

Editor's picks for the primary election

Once again, Charlevoix voters will be going to the polls Aug. 8 to cast their ballots for their favorite political candidates.

While voting on the primary picks for township superintendent and county sheriff, as well as many other open seats, voters will also be deciding the fate of two county-wide proposals.

One of the proposals is a tax increase of .15 mills for a county-wide recycling program and the other is a tax increase of .4 mills for funding for existing senior citizen programs and the implementation of new programs.

Here are some suggested positions as taken by the editor of the Charlevoix Courier.

For the recycling proposal, the Courier suggests a yes vote.

This program will help pay for the transportation of recyclable materials out of the county to recycling centers, as well as provide bids throughout the county for residents to deposit these materials in.

At only .15 mills, or $15 a year for a home with a taxable value of $100,000, this proposal provides a great benefit to the future of this community at low cost.

While some people say recycling programs are not cost effective and the market is saturated with recyclable materials, they are not taking into account the future.

Landfills throughout the county are filling up and we are quickly running out of room for trash. Recycling helps to help alleviate this problem by reusing some items, instead of throwing them out to take up room in a landfill.

You may not see the benefits of recycling now, but your children and your children's children will.

As for the senior proposal, the Courier gives it a reluctant yes vote.

The reluctance comes from the uncertainty this proposal gives to the Charlevoix Senior Center, which the funding from this tax will not support.

Center Chairman Earl Muma, while supporting the proposal, rightly worries that this tax increase will cause the center to lose some of its funding from townships. Seniors that use the center will be adversely affected if even a little of the funding is cut.

But, the proposal does help an estimated 17 percent of the population in Charlevoix County who are senior citizens. This includes people who may not use the senior center or may not have the ability to get to the senior center.

The proposal will allow for weekly caregiver respite services, eliminate current waiting lists, train nurse's aids to provide in-home care and provide in-home medication management by a registered nurse, among others.

The proposal seems to be of benefit to a greater portion of the community, therefore it gets the Courier's support.

Charley's brings in talent from overseas for summer

Edith Gilbert

'Behind the news'

Anyone who eats out nowadays has to practice the same resignation that we exercise while we wait for the bridge to go up or down!

Everyone knows that there's no shortage of "Now Hiring" and "Help Wanted" signs all over town. Charley's Restaurant owner, Helen Kuhn, tells me she advertised all last year in local papers and received no replies! None. Then she read an article in the Petoskey News-Review about another local restaurant that imports help from overseas.

She checked the New York Headquarters Internet at www.ciee.org that helps place students in a foreign exchange program during the summer and this year they have welcomed five delightful young people from France, Russia, Lithuania, Slovakia and the Czech Republic. They all speak some English and will be here from June through October.

Yana is from Czechoslovakia and a graduate of international politics. She loves to read in our library. She has a job and boyfriend waiting for her when she returns to home. Maud loves McDonald's, and is a third year law student from France. Suzanna a political science major, is from Slovakia — a sweet-natured, polite and hard-working girl, Katrina from Moscow is a linguistics major, and Thomas, who loves classical music and studies economics and law is from Lithuania.

These young people can't believe a town like Charlevoix exists, especially after seeing U.S. movies! The first thing they discovered were the computers in our Charlevoix library and they are daily sending reassuring messages home to their anxious parents.

"Yes, Charlevoix is a safe place — nothing like Miami! We go cherry picking, we listen to the band concerts in the park, we are perfecting our English."

Kuhn fortunately found a furnished house for rent on Park Avenue within walking distance from town and the four girls are happily ensconced therein. The neighbors say the girls are quiet and good tenants. She also found a private home for the single male student. Although none of the students knew each other before coming to the states, they all get along very well.

At the restaurant they have been assigned kitchen jobs such as food preparation, cleaning and dish washing. Having such reliable help gives stability to a place like Charley's.

"Due to lack of kitchen help last summer we had to turn customers away. A restaurant can't give good service without enough good help. I wish we could have gotten better response to our ads for local help, but it's been a blessing that we are able to depend on four faithful and loyal local girls Ann, Angie, Kim and Vel as waitresses," says Kuhn.

If you wonder why there are

"Help Wanted" signs all over the country today, there are two good reasons. One is because yesterday's teenage baby boomers, who used to work during the summer, have grown up and are today's consumers. Secondly, with the booming economy, instead of sending their kids off to work, more parents are sending their kids to soccer camps, music camps and computer camps!

For these reasons, employers are turning to student exchange programs such as the Work and Travel USA Program sponsored by the council on International Educational Exchange based in New York City.

Maud tells me it was fun watching the fireworks during the Venetian Festival and the group is planning to go down the Jordan River on their day off. They like working with the present manager, Carl Johnson, because he is easy to get along with and jokes all the time.

"We plan to show our visitors a bit of Michigan before they leave," says Kuhn. "We'll show them Mackinac Island and take them shopping."

Here are five young people who will have an entirely new impression of our country, thanks to this educational popular exchange program.

of Natural Resources and the United States Coast Guard for a job well done.

All members of the United States Coast Guard have again conscientiously performed many tasks, well above and beyond the call of duty. We are proud that the United States Coast Guard calls Charlevoix "home."

We wish to commend our friends at Zambelli Internationale for their world class expertise and year long dedication in producing the most incredible fireworks displays ever exhibited in northern Michigan. The majesty of the fireworks displays have, in many quarters, inspired a renewed level of community pride.

We also wish to thank the many, many individuals and organizations who provided financial support for the festival. Your generosity and goodwill have enabled us to rekindle the splendor of Venetian Festivals from days of yore.

The Venetian corps of volunteers are the backbone of the festival. The festival could not have been a resounding success without the financial support, hard work and dedication of the mayor, city council, city manager, department heads, staff and each and every employee of the city. The commitment of the City of Charlevoix to the Venetian Festival exemplifies the finest qualities of a small town community.

I also extend my personal gratitude to each and every member of the Venetian Board. Your personal and professional sacrifice has produced a proud and wonderful yield for our town.

Continuing on a personal note, I wish to thank my wife and girls, as well as my law partner and business family, for their enormous personal sacrifice. Final kudos go to the Man upstairs for smiling down on Charlevoix.

The 2000 Venetian Festival has rewarded the Venetian Board with beautiful memories, wonderful new friendships and great ideas for next year. We hope that you have experienced the same and we look forward to another sensational Festival in 2001.

No to recycle tax

Editor:
If good intentions could solve problems, we would be living in Nirvana.

Unfortunately for the idealists, we live in a world where we are confronted by reality. Recycling is a commendable concept, but sadly, it is also a waste in itself and a costly burden to taxpayers.

Studies have proven that with the exception of aluminum containers, more time, money and energy are wasted in recycling than is saved.

Pick up and transportation costs per ton of recycled material typically exceeds five times the cost of that for trash.

Processing recyclables into clean, useful raw material consumes more energy and the time and fuel consumed by people delivering recyclables to designated container areas must be added to the cost versus benefit equation.

In addition, the market for many recyclables has been saturated, leading to extremely low prices for the materials. Recycling simply cannot pay for itself.

The program may make some people feel good about trying to help the environment, but in reality, they are only helping the trucking industry, bin manufacturers and oil companies.

I, for one, am not willing to pay a recycling tax for that privilege. Are you? Think and vote.

Clarification of comments

Editor:
If all that I said had been printed my comments about the location of the carnival would have clarified what aspect of Venetian I most dislike.

We closed early "so my employees could do whatever they saw fit." I don't recall mentioning traffic. In the past we have closed early on Saturday only. Because of the two nights of fireworks we closed early both nights.

I said "large volume of small sales" meaning most sales were small amounts of fudge, caramel corn etc. Our overall sales were better than past years.

"Tuesday was our second busiest day" of the extended Venetian. The expanded schedule of activities and entertainment in the parks is a welcome move to a more cultural event.

Editor's Note: The story in question appeared on page 2 of last week's Charlevoix Courier.

Murdick was quoted in the story, about this year's Venetian Festival. According to the writer of that story, Julie Musilek, the quoted comments made by Murdick which appeared in the story are supported by Musilek's recollection of the interview and notes made during the interview.

Due to space constraints, we did edit out Murdick's comment, "Tuesday was our second busiest day."

We stand by the quoted comments made by Murdick as reported from the interview. Murdick does have the right to further clarify her printed comments after speaking with members of the press and we welcomed her letter.

Vote Stroud

Editor:
To the voters of Charlevoix Township:

The people in Charlevoix Township are fortunate to have three excellent candidates running for township supervisor. We know all three personally and consider each one a friend. However, Oscar Stroud is the incumbent and has our vote for many reasons — the main one being loyalty to a dedicated public servant.

Along with the township board, many accomplishments have been made under Oscar's leadership. Some of the major projects include:

- Building a new township hall
- Developing an excellent fire department (Our rating is now 6, which is the best in the area and is reflected in our lower insurance rates.)
- Black topping and improving roads
- Creating a water system
- Building soccer fields
- Constructing championship-quality tennis courts
- Making available picnic grounds with a covered shelter
- Building a BMX track
- Starting the skate board facilities
- Initiating the process to establish Fishermen's Island State Park
- Providing leadership for North Point recreation area complete with hiking trails and a viewing deck.

Oscar and his board have been very aware of the recreational need of the youth in our community and have been ahead of their time in meeting these needs.

If Oscar wants one more term in office to complete some infrastructure projects and to assure a smooth transition for the next administration, we feel he not only deserves to be elected, but also deserves a hearty "thank you" from the voters.

Thank you three times

Editor:
Thank you! Thank you! Thank you!

Thank you number one to Dr. John Spencer from the Oleson Foundation in Traverse City for helping the Charlevoix Senior Center secure a grant for an elevator and completion of the lower area of the center facility at 06906 Norwood Road.

Thank you number two to the selection committee from the Charlevoix Community Foundation for the grant toward an outside door and ramp exit from the lower area of the center.

These additions to the center will make this soon to be completed area of the building accessible to everyone! We are already planning for the computer laboratory, wood carvers, craft group, and line dancing to meet there. You will be hearing about fund-raisers to match these grants so that we can begin these projects soon.

Thank you number three to Oleson's Food Store for permitting the center to put their Venetian booth on the corner of their parking lot when the center's usual spot was unavailable. The baked goods, snacks and craft items sold will help pay for the center's liability insurance for the entire year.

The board is arrogant

Editor,
How do you spell total arrogance? Charlevoix Board of Education! On July 26 the Charlevoix Board of Education voted to override a decision by the Marion Township Planning Commission which was that the school project as a whole was not consistent with the township's master plan.

Since when does the school board know more about Marion Township, than the Marion Township Planning Commission? This follows the school board's pattern of disregard for basic democratic principles.

First the school site was not on the millage ballot, then there were no hearings on the site, and when asked by 1,200 petitioning residents to put the site to a referendum (vote) the school board refused. Do you get the feeling that the Charlevoix School Board would do well in Bosnia, Cuba or Russia?

New marina will destroy Round Lake

Editor:
According to your article of July 26, I see that that raw greed for more money for the City of Charlevoix coffers is driving them to expand the marina. Not one word in the article about how this will benefit the citizens of Charlevoix, just more money for the merchants and the city.

I have been visiting Charlevoix since 1965 and continue to be shocked at the transformation of the community into junk stores and hawking merchants. The reference to Hong Kong is astute and correct.

Why destroy the ambience of Round Lake for the "boaters" and their money? Kudos to the Water and Air Team Charlevoix group for their sensible and correct opposition. Where do I send my donation?

Robert Tidmore

Marina will bring congestion

Editor:
Whoa! It's a given that boaters from Grand Haven and Holland are in favor of an expansion of the Charlevoix marina. It's also a given that downtown businesses, in the short run, would benefit from more, captive, visitors who are on foot.

But, the rest of Charlevoix should think about how long the bridge would have to be up for the increased boat traffic. What would Round Lake look like, with our marina a destination for more boats? (Can you say "Congestion?") Do Charlevoixians want EVERY summer day finding our streets and sidewalks packed, like special events days, such as Art Fair or Venetian Festival?

Think about what makes "Charlevoix the Beautiful." It is n't more people clogging the waterways, streets, sidewalks and restaurants on a regular basis.

BEACONS

By REV. DUANE NELSON
Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene

Do you notice how fast the world and our lives move? It hardly gives us a chance to think, especially about our relationship with God. Often it is a tragedy or funeral which prompts any thoughts of God. Maybe we would have more of a reason to consider our relationship with God if we could see how real, relevant, and reliable He and the Bible are. Over the next three weeks, we will look at each aspect.

The first aspect to consider is how real God is. Do you believe that God is real? Do you believe that He is active in our world? These questions are even echoed in a passage of scripture in the Psalms, "My soul thirsts for God, for the living God. When can I go and meet with God? My tears have been my food day and night, while men say to me all day long, 'Where is your God?'" (42:2-3, NIV). How real is God?

For years, people have spent precious time researching the reality of God. Many books have been written to prove His reality. Archeologists have uncovered very convincing evidence that the God of the Bible is real. Both men and women have set out on expeditions to find the authenticity of God. There's not a single piece of physical evidence, whether it be Jesus' shroud or an icebound Noah's ark, which demands our hearts to be convinced that God is very real. The realness of God is found not in the physical but the relational.

Let me tell you a story of a young man to illustrate what I mean. He grew up in a single-parent home with not a lot of contact with his father. Though his parents were once married, they divorced early in his life. His mother was not the most stable person. She struggled with mental illness to the degree that she was hospitalized about five times during her life of 42 years.

Alcohol also became a strong factor in her life. She liked the cheap stuff and would cry often in a drunken state.

Being the oldest child in the family, this young man was given much responsibility and much freedom. He enjoyed both, especially the freedom. His freedom led him to a life of immorality.

It is staggering to even think how deeply a 12-13 year old can get in immorality. Yet without stability and discipline in the home, anything could have happened.

The only experience he had with church or religion was when a church picked him up for Sunday school. Though they always showed up at his door, he was not so considerate with his attendance. When he did go, he was always taken home before the regular church services with the rowdy bunch. During a special evening service, he was given an opportunity to ask God through His Son Jesus Christ to forgive him of every sin he ever did. He knew how horrible his life of immorality must have been to God but still, somehow, believed that God would forgive him and help him change.

When he prayed and asked for forgiveness, a relationship with God began. He sensed for the first time in his life that God was real. Without any direction from the church or Bible-bashing from other individuals, he went home changed, different and clean. He removed every item in his home and changed friendships which brought about his life of immorality. One simple prayer, the beginnings of a relationship AND a changed life all proved that God was real. It is a matter of a relationship with God through His Son Jesus Christ which makes God real.

There is a short epilog to the reality of God in this young man's life. About six months after God became real to him, his mother ended her life with a butcher knife and a swig of Drain-O. No telling what would have happened if God wasn't real for him during this tragedy.

By the way, I know that realness of God, because I am that young man. When I began my relationship with Him, the reality also began and still continues in my life today.

If God is real for me, I know He can be for you.

Water heaters to be fixed due to settlement

Charlevoix Courier Wednesday, August 2, 2000 - PAGE 9

A Grand Rapids class action suit has been settled in federal court with the major water heater manufacturers relating to dip tube failures that need to be fixed.

Some water heaters manufactured between August 1993 and February 1997 included a weak cold water supply pipe called a dip tube that can flake apart causing a lack of hot water and faucets to plug with white particles. Until Nov. 22, 1999, each manufacturer had been replacing failed dip tubes under factory warranty, but all that has changed.

Now it is under the control of the federal court, who has taken over payment to contractors through a court settlement.

In west Michigan, GFI Services has been appointed by the federal court administrator to replace dip tubes at no expense to the water heater owner. Even if the suspect dip tube has not failed, the homeowner is entitled to a free dip tube replacement, providing the heater falls into the correct serial number range.

If a homeowner is experiencing hot water problems and the heater was manufactured between August 1993 and February 1997, relief is at hand.

By contacting GFI Services at (616) 241-4400 or writing to 2600

Village Drive South East, Grand Rapids, MI, 49506, the people at GFI can assist in filing the necessary forms required by the federal court.

Keith Sikkema, owner of GFI Services, has been doing warranty repairs for most of the water heater manufacturers in West Michigan. He has replaced some 1800 dip tubes prior to the Federal Court settlement and several hundred more since the settlement was announced.

"The Federal Court requires an application to be filed with the appointed Federal administrator. Our office has these forms and can assist in filling them out. The sooner they are filed, the sooner we can make the repairs," Sikkema said.

Forms can also be obtained from the appointed Federal administrator, Crawford & Company by calling 1-800-329-0561.

YOUR HEALTH

Think before you pick the material for your fillings

John Merrill
'To your health'

There are a few people who have never had a cavity and never will. However, the vast majority of us have had some experience with dental decay.

Simply stated, tooth decay is a form of bacterial infection. Enough germs with enough food will produce acid to dissolve away our tooth enamel.

Once the "bugs" and weakened tooth structure are cleaned out of the affected tooth, the remaining hole needs to be patched.

You now have a choice to make. Typical materials available are gold, porcelain, various forms of composite and dental amalgam. (Silver fillings or silver-mercury fillings.)

Silver-mercury fillings are far and away the most commonly used material.

There is evidence that silver-mercury material dates back to the Ming Dynasty in China. It was first developed in England in 1812. It arrived in America in 1833. In 1844, it was banned by the American Society of Dental Surgeons.

"Silver fillings" became very popular and in 1859 the American Dental Society was founded and strongly supported dental amalgam. This is understandable. Gold was expensive and it required great skill to restore teeth. The only other alternative with a decayed tooth was to remove it.

Today, 141-years later, over 90 percent of dentists, dental schools and state boards support the use of silver-mercury fillings.

But, did you know?
•The average amalgam filling contains 1,000 milligrams of mercury.

•One filling releases on average 30 micro grams of mercury per day.

•All other sources combine to expose us to 2.6 micro grams of mercury per day

•The amount of mercury in our blood, brain and kidney's correlate with the size and number of amalgam fillings in our teeth.

•Silver-mercury fillings are banned in Sweden, Germany and Japan.

•It is illegal to place amalgam fillings in children and pregnant women in Canada.

Despite these facts it is considered unethical for an American dentist to recommend removal of amalgam fillings solely based on mercury toxicity and your risks to its exposure.

Talk to your dentist. You have many healthy alternatives. Make informed decisions on your health care.

The people of northern Michigan are blessed to have many fine, capable and conscientious dentists to serve them.

It is your body; it should be your choice!

John Merrill DDS is a dentist in Charlevoix. He can be reached by calling 547-9141 or visiting his office at 06483 M-66 Highway North, across from Kmart in Charlevoix.

Computer gives nurses more time with patients

Taking care of hospital patients and updating their charts using a computer at the nurses station down the hall often poses problems for today's nurses, but not anymore.

Charlevoix Area Hospital has instituted a new system that allows nurses to provide bedside care to patients and to work at a computer — without leaving the patient's room.

A new personal computer allows nurses to work anywhere within the patient areas because the computers use a wireless radio link, said Dave Priest, registered nurse and director of information services at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

This is a technology that many hospitals are using now, with both patients and staff benefiting from the increased access available.

"Our clinical staff can work at the patient's bedside entering physician orders and they may view patient information, scan records, enter information regarding the patient's care, all while staying with the patient," Priest said. "This is important in continuing quality patient care, especially in the Intensive Coronary Unit, the emergency department and surgery."

The system communicates over a secure radio signal. Should the hospital lose electrical power, the portable units will operate without an interruption, because they each have their own battery and the wireless network runs on a separate generator.

Charlevoix Area Hospital purchased 15 of the wireless personal computers. The nursing staff, who have been trained on their use and have been using them every day, are enthusiastic about the new computer system, added Priest.

"The staff is using them and we can see the advantages to the new system," said Bernadette Cole, registered nurse and nursing supervisor.

Summer brings cars, more parking tickets

By JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

There have been complaints heard throughout the streets of Charlevoix aimed at parking violations and parking violators alike this summer.

Some Charlevoix residents are having difficulty adjusting to parking restrictions in effect from Memorial Day through Labor Day while the remaining months are meter free, while others may be just too cheap to feed the meter.

Regardless, the parking ticket issue is creating some howls from shoppers and store owners in downtown Charlevoix who feel they are inconvenienced by the meters.

"Downtown workers should not have to pay the meters. If you are working alone, you don't have the opportunity to run out every two hours and pay the parking meter," said Regina Brown of the Charlevoix Shirt Company.

Neighboring store employee, Laura Maltese of Cotton Harbor shared Brown's sentiments stating, "Parking is horrendous. I think store workers should be given a permit to stick on their car. We've resorted to writing notes to (the meter reader) pleading with him not to ticket our vehicles."

Barb Bassett of American Spoon

Foods suggested alleviating this tension by starting up a meter-free employee parking lot for Charlevoix stores.

Currently the parking rules in Charlevoix state: those parking their vehicle in metered locations from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Saturday must provide adequate change to supply the required amount of time that they will be parked at this location. If you fail to meet the meter requirement, a $2 ticket can result if paid within 24 hours.

Also look out for signs like those seen on Mason Street stating, "two hour parking 6 a.m.-6 p.m." If ignored these also carry a $2 penalty. If parked in a prohibited area, like a fire lane, a $10 fine can result. There are no restrictions on Sundays and holidays.

Beware the price of the ticket rises the longer it remains unpaid. After 24 hours each $2 ticket rises to a $10 fine — after 72 hours these tickets are $20. When fined for parking in restricted zones, if unpaid $10 fines within 24 hours will rise to a $20 fine.

According to City Treasurer Rick Brandi, money generated from parking tickets helps fund many areas of the city budget.

"We do a comparison of what goes in and goes out and came up with a budgeted number of $18,700 in revenue, $9,400 in expenses including salary for the meter enforcement worker and incidentals like meter repairs. The remaining $9,300 is then contributed to the general fund. The general fund is used for police and fire protection, recreation, ambulances and health welfare. The money generated helps all those areas," said Brandi.

Currently, there is only one person reading meters in Charlevoix, with the exception of special events.

Charlevoix Police Chief Dennis Halverson, "One person is exclusively designated as the parking violations worker, but any officer can write parking violations tickets. On busy days that require more attention, like Venetian Festival, other officers will help out."

This summer Andy Granath, fresh out of Charlevoix High School, is patrolling the streets in search of parking restriction violators.

While Granath is not an official Charlevoix police officer, Halverson explained Granath was sworn in with limited enforcement capability. "This restricts them to city ordinance violations. They have no broad arrest powers," Halverson said.

Halverson stressed the city is not giving parking tickets to generate revenue.

"From the standpoint of the city, our number one overall priority isn't to generate revenue, it's to create parking turnover. This turnover results in easier access to downtown stores. When meters are not up people park in front of stores eight hours a day, five days a week, adversely affecting the customer base," said Halverson.

Writer discovers the joys of sailing aboard 'Sunshine'

Julie Musilek
Staff writer

Before setting out for an afternoon sail across Charlevoix's glistening fresh, blue waters, First Mate Blair Thomas introduced his ten fellow sailors to the 45-foot cutter-rigged ketch, Sunshine.

Having never braved Lake Michigan, Round Lake or Lake Charlevoix powered only by the sheer force of wind, this seasoned-sailor's jargon left me skeptical. But with the outrageous price of gas this summer, using the wind to get out on the water is a welcomed alternative for me.

Ketch refers to a two masted sailboat in which the mizzen mast (rear, smaller) is located behind the steering column. Cutter-rigged is a descriptive term used to identify those vessels who have two sails up front.

All points clarified, 20-year-old licensed captain Nicole Dawson lead us through Round Lake and out into the serene surroundings of Lake Charlevoix.

Once out on Lake Charlevoix, it was time to raise the sails and let the warm afternoon wind carry us. Nicole offered the group the opportunity to be sailor's for a day, helping to raise the sails, take the helm or simply kick back and enjoy the ride. The Anderson sisters of Illinois anxiously volunteered, scampering over to man their stations and flex their sailor's muscles.

While out on Lake Charlevoix we watched the sun dance off of the waves reflecting light across the broad expanse of water appearing like diamonds resting on the crests of the waves.

Blair passed out sodas provided by the crew while Nicole filled me in as to how a 20-year-old girl has already accomplished so much. Relaxing on a cushion on the bow while Madeline Anderson steered our course, Nicole explained that after graduating from high school she and father, Gary, Sunshine's owner, sailed down the Mississippi and to the Caribbean where she learned she was born to sail. After returning from the trip she took the U.S. Coast Guard test to receive her captain's license and passed with flying colors.

Nicole is a University of Michigan student during the fall and winter and a summer sailor. According to Nicole she and her father bought the Sunshine in Maryland, where the boat was built, and sailed it up. The pair had every intention of stopping in Elk Rapids and setting up shop but were sidetracked in "Charlevoix the Beautiful" where they have since passed the last four summers.

Nicole's first mate for the past two years, Blair, added, "Becoming a licensed captain is not easy to do regardless of your age or gender."

Sailing excursion shows passengers lake's beauty

SAILING

After talking with Nicole our one hour tour looping around some of Lake Charlevoix had concluded. We had just enough time to drop our sails and catch the bridge, heading through the Pine River Channel waving to our fellow water lovers and out onto Lake Michigan.

As we reached the end of the pier Nicole and Blair waved at a fisherman who has almost become part of the tour.

To my surprise Lake Michigan was much calmer than Lake Charlevoix. Nicole explained the wind and the waves are directly linked, dictating the moods of the water.

We were busy soaking in the rays when typical Michigan weather took a turn. As we headed back to the dock Sunshine's passengers dashed around the deck while being washed by nature's shower. Blair referred to the unexpected rain as "liquid sunshine."

After passing hour two discovering Lake Michigan, soaked to the bone, our leisurely afternoon sail had come to a close. We landed at City Dock 32 from where the tours both depart and arrive. Stepping off the vessel all I could think was when I'll have time to check out a sunset cruise.

You too can catch a Sunshine Charter tour. The tours run from mid-June through Labor Day. Departure times are 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., 3 p.m.-5 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.-sunset. Tickets can be purchased 15 minutes prior to departure or by reservation at the kiosk across from Charlevoix city dock 32.

For more information call 547-0266.

Board votes to overturn planning commission

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix school board overturned the Marion Township Planning Commission's July 6 decision that deemed the new high school inconsistent with the Marion Township Land Use Plan at its July 26 meeting.

"This was the appropriate thing to do. I understand what they (Marion Township Planning Commission) were saying in their decision. That was the issue and the first discussion of the issue and as time went on it became clearer that the project did meet the goals of the master plan," said Charlevoix schools superintendent John Sturrock.

Paul Richards, a member of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation — a group against the school location, said, "Here is a school board overriding Marion Township's Planning Commission. It's just a continuation of their arrogance as was also seen in their refusal to recognize a petition of 1,200 people and the fact that they did not have any hearings held on the matter of the site. Their attitude is, we can do whatever we want."

Richard Tunison said, during the public comment portion of the meeting, "My point is simple, no matter how you choose to determine this compliance issue, you have a good opportunity to show that you are good neighbors."

According to the school board's unanimous decision, their proposed project does meet each individual goal and would provide a facility that would act as a beneficial addition to Marion Township.

"(This project) will help to meet the needs of Marion Township area residents," said School Board President Allen Telgenhof.

School Board Member Larry Levensgood addressed the Marion Township Planning Commission directly.

"Marion Township did a good job developing their master plan. Their master plan was not designed to service one specific project. This was not anticipated and I believe their goals are commendable. Good for them in trying to achieve their goals. I hope to see their efforts continue," said Levensgood.

This decision followed site plan approval awarded to the school board by the Marion township Planning Commission for a proposed project of a new high school on July 25.

"Schedule wise we haven't suffered a lot. This is about the time we wanted to be turning dirt. Our equipment is now on site, the grass is being cut and they're staking the building out. It's just a matter of getting through the rest of the design process," said Sturrock.

Commission OKs school site plan

School Steering Committee Member Bill Trubilowicz said, "I am excited we made it through and met all the requirements. The school worked hard to address issues and make it easier for township folks to approve of the project so that the project could be seen as something we can all be proud of."

This campus will give our students safety and the staff the ability to integrate a curriculum we could otherwise not offer if we were jammed into an urban site. We are ready to move some dirt."

Paul Richards, member of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation which is against the school site, said, "The site plan approval didn't mean that much as they still haven't taken up the critical issue of the sewer. (The sewer) hasn't been approved. They have no permission to build a sewer. Tied into the building of a sewer is an easement for an 80 house development. This situation has a funny smell to it; I can't see using taxpayers money for private development."

Three standards which required that the submitted site plan be modified were, drainage provisions, compliance with statutes and screening and buffering.

The storm water drainage concern voiced by many neighboring property owners was a standard the site plan did not initially meet. However, Charlevoix Public Schools brought an amended drainage plan to the table on the night of July 25 that had been approved by the soil erosion officer. The commission found that this newly submitted drainage plan did meet the standard but, the board still needs to receive a NPDES permit for surface-water runoff.

Beyond the township's special use permit condition which required additional screening along the eastern edge of the site, the Planning Commission implemented a condition making necessary additional plantings of 30 evergreen trees between the parking lot and Marion Center Road, lessening the visual impact of the parking lot and the school building.

In terms of the board complying with all necessary statutes, the Planning Commission made their approval conditional upon this compliance. Meaning that permit violations are to be equated with violations of the site plan approval.

The standards referred to by Matchett that the site plan was required to meet are as follows:

•Organization of elements — The site plan must act in compliance with the surrounding topography.

•Preservation of natural features and natural landscape preservation — Natural features should be preserved wherever possible.

•Drainage provisions — Special attention must be paid so as to ensure storm water runoff will not negatively affect neighboring property and is properly handled to alleviate threats of pollution.

•Soil preservation — The proposed development should not result in erosion or sedimentation issues.

•Screening and buffering — Screening and buffering, in the form of landscaping, may be ordered by the planning commission to ensure compatibility with adjoining property.

•Emergency vehicle accessibility — The way in which the structures are to be built must permit practical means of emergency vehicle access.

•Pedestrian and Vehicular Circulation — Efficient and safe entry and exits must be provided for in the site plan.

•Compliance with applicable County, State and Federal statutes — The site plan must conform to the appropriate statutes. The school board must be granted numerous permits to meet this standard, including: county soil erosion, the state fire Marshal, road commission and health department and an NPDES surface water run-off permit.

Spend a night in the new jail for charity

Now you can spend a night in the Charlevoix jail, for charity, next week.

Sheriff George T. Lasater announced recently the department will be having a fund raiser on Aug. 11 to show local citizens the new jail.

The concept would be for a $35 per person donation to the K-9 Program and the Sheriff's Volunteer Auxiliary, the participants would receive a tour of the new facility, have a meal in one of the cells and also be afforded the opportunity to spend the night in the cell. In addition, you would receive a mug shot (photo) to take home, along with a t-shirt signifying that you spent time in the Charlevoix County Jail.

Both the K-9 program and the volunteer auxiliary are not funded by tax dollars. They are operated exclusively from donations, and this would be a great opportunity to support both of these programs.

If you decide to spend the night in the cell, the door will not be locked and you may leave any time. There will be separate cells for males and females. The meal served will be basically what the inmates will be eating for their meal.

In order to plan ahead, the sheriff would like to have a list of citizens who are interested in the fund-raiser. If interested, please contact Sheriff George T. Lasater, Under-sheriff Don Schneider or Debra Storm at 547-4461.

Symphony raised $42K for hospital and students

Charlevoix Area Hospital received a donation of more than $42,000 from its development council members who organized the second annual "Symphony on the Green" concert on July 14 at the Charlevoix County Club.

"Symphony on the Green" featured the Traverse Symphony Orchestra and Aviram Reichert, the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition bronze medalist. Proceeds from the concert will go to the Charlevoix Area Hospital and to provide a string program to students in Charlevoix and northern Antrim counties.

Mary Adams, Chris Unbehaun and Mike Bergeon, co-chairs of the "Symphony on the Green" event and members of the hospital's Development Council community relations committee, recently reported that this year's event was even more successful than last year's inaugural concert at Bay Harbor.

"The weather was beautiful, absolutely perfect and the country club thought of everything, the service was fabulous, the dinner was wonderful," said Adams. "We couldn't be more pleased."

This symphony fund-raiser was sponsored by area businesses.

Voters to decide on recycling millage Aug. 8

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

It's election time and a proposed tax increase of .15 Mills ($.15 per thousand dollars of taxable value), which would generate revenue for the implementation of recycling programs, will be decided on by voters county wide.

This proposed tax increase claims it would raise an estimated $175,014 for the County when first levied in 2000. For homeowners whose home is valued at $50,000 this would cost $7.50 per year. For those whose

"There are a number of reasons why this is important."

Larry Levensgood,
Recycling committee member home is valued at $80,000 it would cost $12 per year and the cost for those whose home is valued at $100,000 would be $15 per year.

A recycling program has been on the minds of area residents for some time.

A couple of years back, a survey was conducted by the Charlevoix County Planning Commission throughout Charlevoix County to measure county support for recycling programs. According to the Charlevoix County Recycling Committee results from this survey revealed community support for recycling programs did exist and individuals were willing to pay up to $3 per month for curbside pick-up or $2 for drop-off.

According to Charlevoix County Recycling Committee member Larry Levensgood the proposal would, "Allow us to really formalize a county recycling program, go into cooperation with Emmet County and allow existing programs to continue."

For some time Charlevoix has had a recycling station in Glen's Market where shoppers insert empty aluminum, plastic and glass beverage containers with deposit sur-charges. Beyond soda and beer containers with deposits and scattered private programs, there are few area recycling outlets.

Wood was involved throughout community WOOD

Wood was also part of the Airport Commission and a founding member of Charlevoix's Soaring Club and Flying Club.

"I would see (Wood) at the airport all the time, he practically lived there," said Don Seelye an early student of Wood's.

"I came to Charlevoix in 1989 and (Wood) was the primary flight instructor for both clubs, the Charlevoix Flying Club and the Charlevoix Soaring Club. He and several other members started it way back, years before I was here. I took instruction from him and got my private flying license from him in 1990. He loved to fly and he took great interest in all of his students; every one seemed special to him. He was a very nice person himself, I am still flying," said another of Wood's former student, Tony Weigman.

Seelye said, "In 1967 I trained with (Wood), but he was certainly giving lessons before that. The most interesting thing as you learn to fly is you have to learn to do stalls. It was nerve wracking. So (Wood) decided we needed to do more unusual stuff — so these stalls would seem less scary. (Wood) took me up in another plane and did inverted flight (upside down). That made the stalls more tolerable. I was also the first student he sent to Sault Saint Marie to do my check ride (to get license) with Sandy Sanderson an old war buddy of (Wood's). In the 1960s, 1970s and early 1980s, there were a lot of social activities among flyers — we would have dinner, tell lots of jokes and lies. He was a real good guy. I'm gonna miss him a lot."

The Rotarians are currently working on a scholarship commemorating Wood's contributions to Charlevoix.

Health Awareness Program to be offered to residents

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Charlevoix resident Kitty Rammacher, with the help of other area volunteers in conjunction with the Charlevoix Area Hospital, have put together a Health Awareness Program.

"It seems I've been summering here for 40 years and have found everything is geared towards those with money. There are no programs offered for those at the grass roots level," said Rammacher. "I'm diabetic and want to help with the chronic disease program so people who live here all year can use the hospital and the hospital can serve its community."

According to Rammacher, the program's mission, "is to provide updated information and activities to all who are interested in improving their health or for anyone interested in staying healthy."

The program is aimed at those looking to manage stress or other ailments such as: diabetes, cardiac disease or hypertension and anyone looking for ways to live healthy.

Its health management strategies include events like: hands-on teaching clinics, a stretching class, cooking demonstrations by an area chef, a dietitian-led grocery store tour and special guest speakers presenting herb cooking ideas.

"We have already initiated 'Walking for Health,' which takes place July 8 through August 26 on Saturdays at 11 a.m. The group starts at the Charlevoix Area Hospital and walks a half-mile along Lake Michigan," said Rammacher.

Rammacher explained that instructors are on hand for the duration of these walks. Participants are encouraged to keep their own pace and longer routes will be available.

Another physical activity, sponsored by the Health Awareness Program and scheduled to take place in the fall, is low impact aerobics. These low impact classes will be at Harbor Health and Fitness from September 5 through May 2001 on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The workout will begin at 4:30 p.m. and conclude after a half-hour session. This class requires a fee of $25 per month.

The group will also be publishing a community Health Awareness Recipe Book and hosting a free Corn Roast from 4-7:30 p.m., August 11 at Depot Beach.

Rammacher explained that while some events are free of charge, like the Corn Roast, others will cost a small fee.

"It's time to take an interest in our own health in this community," added Rammacher.

What can island kids do?

Phyllis Moore

'Island life'

I went "uptown" recently for the first time all summer to hear the Island Band play at the Shamrock on Saturday night. It's sort of an annual thing as both my son and husband are in the band.

While they were setting up all their equipment I was standing at the front window watching the people on the street outside and thinking how different it is here from when we were kids in the summer.

Saturday night there was a group of local kids riding bikes around the boat dock and in and out of traffic. What was wrong with this picture? No helmets for one thing — evidently it isn't cool — and no watching for cars. The kids were darting in and out not giving a thought to being hit by a 4,000 pound vehicle.

There really isn't a "kids" place here on a Saturday night. The island offers all sorts of things for the adults, but not much for those under 21.

Back in the 60's we had the Rustic Villa Grill. It was a great place with a dance floor, juke box, pool tables and short order food. I remember listening to Gene McDaniels sing "Hundred Pounds of Clay," doing the "Bristol Stomp" with the Dovells, twisting with Chubby Checker and all the other great music we had. Learning new dances from the "summer" kids. All the kids hung out there in the summer evenings.

Stanley Floyd would drive through town and pick up kids who'd just had their Saturday night baths and bring them to the Grill for ice cream cones. He'd only let you order chocolate! Moms would complain about the messy kids he returned, but they enjoyed his game just as much as their off-spring.

We had Harbor Hills Miniature Golf Course run by A.J. and Mable Roy. We could play a game AND buy an ice cream cone. If we'd just gotten our allowance, perhaps even a banana split.

Walking out on the Yacht Dock and James' Dock and looking at all the boats tied up there. Sitting on the swings at the playground and talking with friends and meeting new ones.

We had old-fashioned beach parties with guitars and sitting around singing...all ages were included. No beer, just soda pop and maybe s'mores or perhaps even hot dogs. We actually would go into the water.

We did family things on Sunday afternoons. Going to the ball diamond to watch the games and driving around the island with a stop at Iron Ore Bay for a quick swim and if we were really lucky, a second swim at Donegal Bay.

Yes, we did ride our bikes. Not these fancy sort of bikes the kids have now, we had "real" bikes with balloon tires and coaster brakes. These new ones have skinny little seats that are the equivalent to sitting on a 1x2 and hand brakes that you have to pray the cable doesn't break when you squeeze it. The new bikes also have you riding it with your head down and your tail-end up in the air...not comfortable.

I've only seen one lemonade stand this summer. The Nackerman grandkids had one set up next to the Post Office for a week or so. It was nostalgic to see and I'm sure they had quite a few sales.

The Rustic Villa Grill was sold and moved across the harbor where it now houses an art gallery, Harbor Hills Miniature Golf Course is no more. James' Dock is long gone. We do have Daddy Frank's for ice cream, but no "hang out" for the kids to gather at.

Living on Beaver Island is terrific, don't get me wrong, but we need to stop for a bit and think of the kids.

We have restaurants and hang-outs for the adults who come here and "play" but nothing for their children to build memories on. It would be so nice if another Grill or Harbor Hills made an appearance...those were the best memories of summer.

Boy breaks his arm in weekend accident

An 8-year-old boy was injured in a weekend personal watercraft accident on Lake Charlevoix.

Stephen Mastracci of Auburn Hills sustained a left arm fracture in the mishap, according to Marine Deputy David Beyer.

The child was riding an overloaded rental jet ski when a wave caused several individuals to fall off. The jet ski was being operated by Anna Visger of Mentor, Ohio at the time of the accident.

The accident remains under investigation by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office.

Proposal will create funding for recycling

RECYCLE

"We are going through a major change in solid waste disposal because the landfill (Cedar Ridge) is filling up and we are transferring our solid waste. Landfills to which we are making this transfer are expecting us to have a recycling program to reduce volumes of waste. So, there are a number of reasons why this is important," said Levensgood.

Levensgood explained the current status of recycling programs as being the effort of municipalities. Four sites in Charlevoix County have already implemented recycling programs, these include: Beaver Island, Boyne Valley, East Jordan and Melrose Township. Two new sites would be added to those already in operation. These sites would be located in Boyne City and the City of Charlevoix. If the millage is passed, the county would take on the responsibility of the recycling programs at each of the six sites.

"For example, East Jordan has a recycling program but individuals are not permitted to recycle there if they don't live in East Jordan. If passed, the tax increase would provide county funded recycling programs whereby anyone in surrounding townships would be able to recycle at the facility," said Levensgood.

Items that would be accepted for recycling purposes include: newspapers, glossy magazines, number 1 and number 2 plastics (small necked bottles), clear glass, tin, aluminum and cardboard — at designated sites.

Levensgood also pointed to homeowner's benefits that would result from the increase.

"The homeowner should benefit by recycling in terms of monthly savings from reduced garbage bills. Those who are currently recycling and have to drive to Petoskey to drop off their recyclables will save from not having to do that," said Levensgood.

Other local residents do not share Levensgood's enthusiasm and disagree that the recycling millage will benefit the community based on their perspective of the proposed programs not being economically viable.

"My outlook is, if the program paid for itself that's fine, but it's a waste of time and money. In the long-run the energy isn't saved. The purpose of the program isn't met. I've done research over the internet to see if it was economical and found in other places it had turned into quite a mess," said Charlevoix resident John Pidek Sr.

This issue will be part of the voter's ballot for the primary election to take place August 8.

Senior millage will help improve service

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Included in the Aug. 8 primary election ballot will be a county wide proposal aimed at providing funds for the operation of existing senior citizen programs and the implementation of additional programs for the Commission on Aging.

According to Susan Bergmann, Director of the Commission on Aging, these additional funds would allow for the expansion of existing services including: weekly caregiver respite or homemaking instead of biweekly—eliminating current waiting lists, training for nurses aides to provide in-home care and in-home medication management by an RN.

Charlevoix Senior Center Chairman, Earl Muma said, "The millage is to provide more services to the elderly in Charlevoix County, which I have not a thing against. The center (Charlevoix Senior Center) won't derive money from the millage but other services would be made available through the center. We would derive help in terms of those other services that would be provided. I still have to rely on donations to come in to run the center so I asked Ron Grunch, who said we would receive no funds to run the center (operational funding). We rely on city and township donations. I wonder what they are going to say when we want support to run the center. My concern is if those funds (township and city donations) dry up we will see this center dry up."

If voted in, the proposed senior citizen millage (anyone over 60) would permit a Charlevoix County property tax increase of .4 mill ($.40 per thousand dollars of taxable value). For homeowners whose home is valued at $50,000 this would cost $20 per year. For those whose home is valued at $75,000 it would cost $30 per year and the cost for those whose home is valued at $100,000 would be $40 per year.

Documented in a pamphlet provided by the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging are statistics revealing: 17 percent of the counties population is made up of individuals ages 65 and up, Charlevoix County has a slightly higher proportion of impoverished elderly and the Charlevoix Commission on Aging is the only COA in the district that does not have a millage for support of senior services.

"I have all the respect in the world for these opportunities the proposal would provide, but we need an avenue to provide funding to help this center run. My cooks for the past many years are working for minimum wage. Only one cook is paid while the rest are volunteer. We need a janitor but we can't pay for that service. This facility has been running for 17 or 18 years, we are growing and expanding at a rapid rate. It would be nice if the centers themselves would derive operating costs from the proposal.

"I'm all for it but I want to know where the cities and townships will be in terms of supporting the center," said Muma.

Pool gearing up for annual auction Sunday

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

"I want to make it a memorable evening."

Scott MacKenzie,
Auction coordinator

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool's eleventh annual auction will give participants a chance to bid on hundreds of unique donations made by area businesses and citizens.

The auction starts with silent bidding at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Charlevoix Country Club. A dinner will be given at 7 p.m. and the live auction will start at 8 p.m.

According to Auction Coordinator Scott MacKenzie, the auction already has around 175 to 180 items to bid on and there were still more items coming in as of Monday.

"If someone wants to participate, they still can add items," MacKenzie said.

MacKenzie said this year he is trying to make the auction a little more lively and fun by adding some of the more unique items to the live auction portion of the evening.

"I want to make it a memorable evening," he said.

For example; Interior Motives in downtown Charlevoix donated two grills with hoods designed like football helmets for the University of Michigan and the Michigan State University. MacKenzie said he will be auctioning these two items off at the same time, and the person who makes the highest bid on one of two grills will get a university flag from one of the two schools.

Plus, participants at the auction may also get a chance to be an auctioneer themselves.

Each table at the auction will pick an auctioneer. The person chosen as the auctioneer will auction the centerpiece on his or her table to their fellow table-mates.

"That will be total chaos and bedlam," MacKenzie said.

Some of the other items donated to this year's auction include: 12 luxury box seats at the new tiger stadium Aug. 12 to see the Detroit Tigers take on the Oakland Athletics, ownership of a time-share to Sudendorf at Schuss Mountain, a trip to Beaver Island for bird hunting, one week in Acapulco, Mexico, cypress adirondack furniture, a cruise on the SS Southdown Challenger for four people, a PT Cruiser, a 1978 Cadillac Seville and four box seats to see the Detroit Red Wings.

Also for the first time at a pool auction, participants can place bids over the phone.

According to MacKenzie, a special phone line will be in service allowing people to call in during the live auction and place bids on items. However, the bugs in this plan were not worked out by Monday.

proxy bidder at the auction, usually one of the local ministers, who bids on the item for the missing person, MacKenzie said.

The pool auction is the main fund-raising event for the Charlevoix Area Community Pool. All proceeds from the evening will be used to fund the pool.

"This pool is one of four in the county where there are no public funds that go to this pool," MacKenzie said. "Without this auction and the generosity of donors, this pool wouldn't work. I don't know how to express that the people of the pool understand how hard it is (for local donors) to continue to give and give, but they appreciate the generosity."

Last year's auction raised about $60,000 for the pool.

Reservations for the auction are going fast. There are about 200 reservations available and 140 have been sold already, MacKenzie added.

Reservations to the auction are $50 per person. To reserve your spot at the event, call the pool at 547-0982 at Scott MacKenzie at (231) 582-0486.

Race leaves tight standings

A. Nony Mouse

'Yachting notes'

Some say a major shortcoming of the typical CYC Summer Series is a shortage of decent breezes and our third race certainly had very light air.

I disagree with that thinking. Light air is a condition to be expected and some skippers seem to handle it with few problems. I believe that the ability to do well throughout a series of varying wind conditions is a valid challenge and, thus, the Summer Series is an excellent test of skill because of, not despite, a higher percentage of fluky breezes.

This is especially true of the one-design classes where all the contestants are sailing yachts that have basically similar light-air characteristics. Nights like this do create problems; high blood pressure, excess frustration levels and widespread language extremes!

Just for fun, look back at the overall order of finish based on elapsed (as corrected) times. The fastest seven were in the J-22 Fleet. First to finish was HUSSY at 7:49, sailing the course in 1:35 and followed by SWINE FLEW, H S MOISTURE MISSILE, FIRST DATE, HABANERO, TOO RECKLESS and ROCK STEADY. Division two's winner MI-JOY (1:46:53) led J-22s SUPERFLUOUS and CRAZY HORSE with Division one's new top gun, FLASH next in at 1:51:14. Seconds later J-22s PALEFACE LITE, WHAT'S HER NAME and JUBBLIES lead Division two's BABE (1:52:53). P-26 winner CYGNUS was in at 1:54:10.

The other J-22 finishers, in order, GECKO, HIGH MAINTENANCE, HOG-TIDE, SCURRY and THUNDERSTRUCK. In Division one, trailing FLASH —

KAMIKAZE, GOTCHA!, SLAPSHOT and BLASEN IV. In Division two, trailing MI-JOY and BABE were M 3, BALD EAGLE, J HAWK and SAFFRON. Behind CYGNUS in the P-26 Fleet were LOST VERMONT, TIRELESS, SANDPIPER, JESSE and ORIGINAL SIN.

The Jib and Main Fleet found the lack of spinnakers made it a slow race, as CHEEMAUN (2:02:28) didn't cross until after 8:30. APOTHECARY was a couple minutes back with HIGH SEAS trailing.

Quick recap assuming no drops:

Division 1: GOTCHA and KAMIKAZE tied at 6, SLAPSHOT 9, FLASH 12, MINT JULEP 15 and BLASEN IV 16.

Division 2: MI JOY 3, BALD EAGLE 11, BABE 11, J HAWK 12, M 3 13 and SAFFRON 15.

P-26: LOST VERMONT 7, TIRELESS 8, CYGNUS 10, ORIGINAL SIN 11, JESSE 12 and SANDPIPER 16.

JAM: CHEEMAUN 4, APOTHECARY 5 and HIGH SEAS 10.

J-22: HUSSY 6, SWINE FLEW 7, RECKLESS 9, SUPERFLUOUS and MOISTURE MISSILE 19, ROCK STEADY 20, FIRST DATE 21, GECKO 23, PALEFACE LITE 24, WHAT'S HER NAME 34, HABANERO 35, JUBBLIES 37, THUNDERSTRUCK 38, SCURRY and HIGH MAINTENANCE 40, CRAZY HORSE 42 and HOG-TIDE 47.

Next week, halfway through the Summer Series, we'll throw in one of the two drops allowed. Expect to see some major changes in standings as the boats with just one bad race toss it out.

Coming up — Aug. 13 "The CYC Slave Race," Aug. 19 "The Duke Memorial Race" (to Northport) and, Aug. 27 "The Fantastic CYC On-the-Water Treasure Hunt!"

Yachting Notes is submitted each week during the summer months by the Charlevoix Yacht Club. To contact the club, see its website at www.charlevoixyachtclub.org or call 547-9170.

Old-timers win trophy after 19-9 win July 23

The local Old-timers scored early and often July 23 at the fortieth annual Venetian Festival softball tournament to beat the Belvies Youth Corps 19-9.

The names of Joe Left and Jeff Bunting were inscribed on the area's oldest circulating Hall of Fame trophy. Carlo D'Angelo and Jimmy Orr were named most valuable players.

Manager Dave Novotny was the winning pitcher. Norman "Boogie" Carlson made the defensive play of the season at first base, using his bass net, and both Jeff Hilligan and Jerry Pennington hit long home runs into Lake Charlevoix.

Results for the Venetian Games

In only the second year, the Venetian Games drew record participation with Games Commissioner Dean Davenport reporting over 1,500 participants.

The popular Jeff Drenth Road Race drew 452 entries with the 3-on-3 basketball and Venetian Cup Regatta each having over 250 participants. Junior golf alone had 130 youngsters at the Carey Cup Venetian Tournament. Co-ed volleyball had more teams as did tennis. New competition in the form of cottage croquet added another 36 participants. The impressive point is nearly 95 percent are local sport enthusiasts and not out-of-towners," Davenport said.

The soccer tournament had so many teams that a second night was needed to complete the schedule. Winners that emerged included Remax as the adult flight champions with Mike Ricks, Ryan Vogelheim, John Boss and Kevin Boss winning medals. Girls high school winners were Jayme Murray, Abby Schaperkotter and Lindsey Carland playing on the Fembots team.

Loaded to Heavy Wagon Safely Pass Through Small Space

People stood almost breathless Wednesday forenoon and watched a team of horses, hitched to a heavy wagon, emerge from the alley between Block's grocery and the Sanitary Engineering Co.'s stores, and safely pass a large Packard auto parked on one side of the entrance and a beautiful Pierce-Arrow car on the other.

The team had evidently been left standing at the rear of the stores, and becoming impatient, started out without their driver. Between the parked cars there was just space enough for the heavy wagon to pass, and they made it without harm to either of the cars.

Talk about sagacity, human or otherwise, these horses displayed an ability that might be copied with effect by many auto drivers in traveling our thoroughfares.

The Inn Ready For Big Season

Place Was Never More Attractive Than Now

Charlevoix Summer Hotels Ready to Receive Heavy Reservations and Private Homes Are All Taken

Indications for a banner year among Charlevoix summer hotels and private residences for rent were never brighter than at the present time. Hotels that have opened or are about to open report heavy reservations covering the entire season, and private homes for rent are almost at a premium.

The Inn, under the management of A.I. Creamer, opened Tuesday morning with a number of guests and every train and boat is bringing hundreds to Charlevoix with the result that before the middle of the month all hostilities will be filled to capacity.

"Charlevoix the Beautiful" extends the hand of welcome to the throngs who spend the summer months here, and the city itself has never presented a cleaner and more hospitable aspect than at the present time.

The secret of the tourist proposition is hospitality. Charlevoix has every advantage to make it the ideal tourist town known all over the country. It has beauty, climate and accommodations unexcelled, and some of the best people in the world live in Charlevoix county. However the fact remains, that unless our people make themselves acquainted with our summer visitors, the latter will not fully appreciate the beauty or charm of our beautiful city.

Make the tourist feel at home. Tell the newcomers that Charlevoix is a good place to live in, to invest in and a fine place for a permanent resident. The way to get people in-

Temporary Bridge to be Opened Soon

Traffic likely will be traveling over the new temporary bridge in two or three weeks, according to the superintendents on the job: Michael Bauer and Gene Fewell.

Major job yet remaining to be done is to bring the temporary span across from Sturgeon Bay, lift it into place and rig its pontoon and machinery.

This span, which is 123 feet long will be put together on a scow which was taken across the lake Saturday. Towed back, it will be lifted to the pile supports at either side of the channel.

This bridge will be somewhat of a novelty, a swing bridge carried on a pontoon. At its northeast corner will be a pivot about which it will swing. The north end will rest on a circular track and rollers.

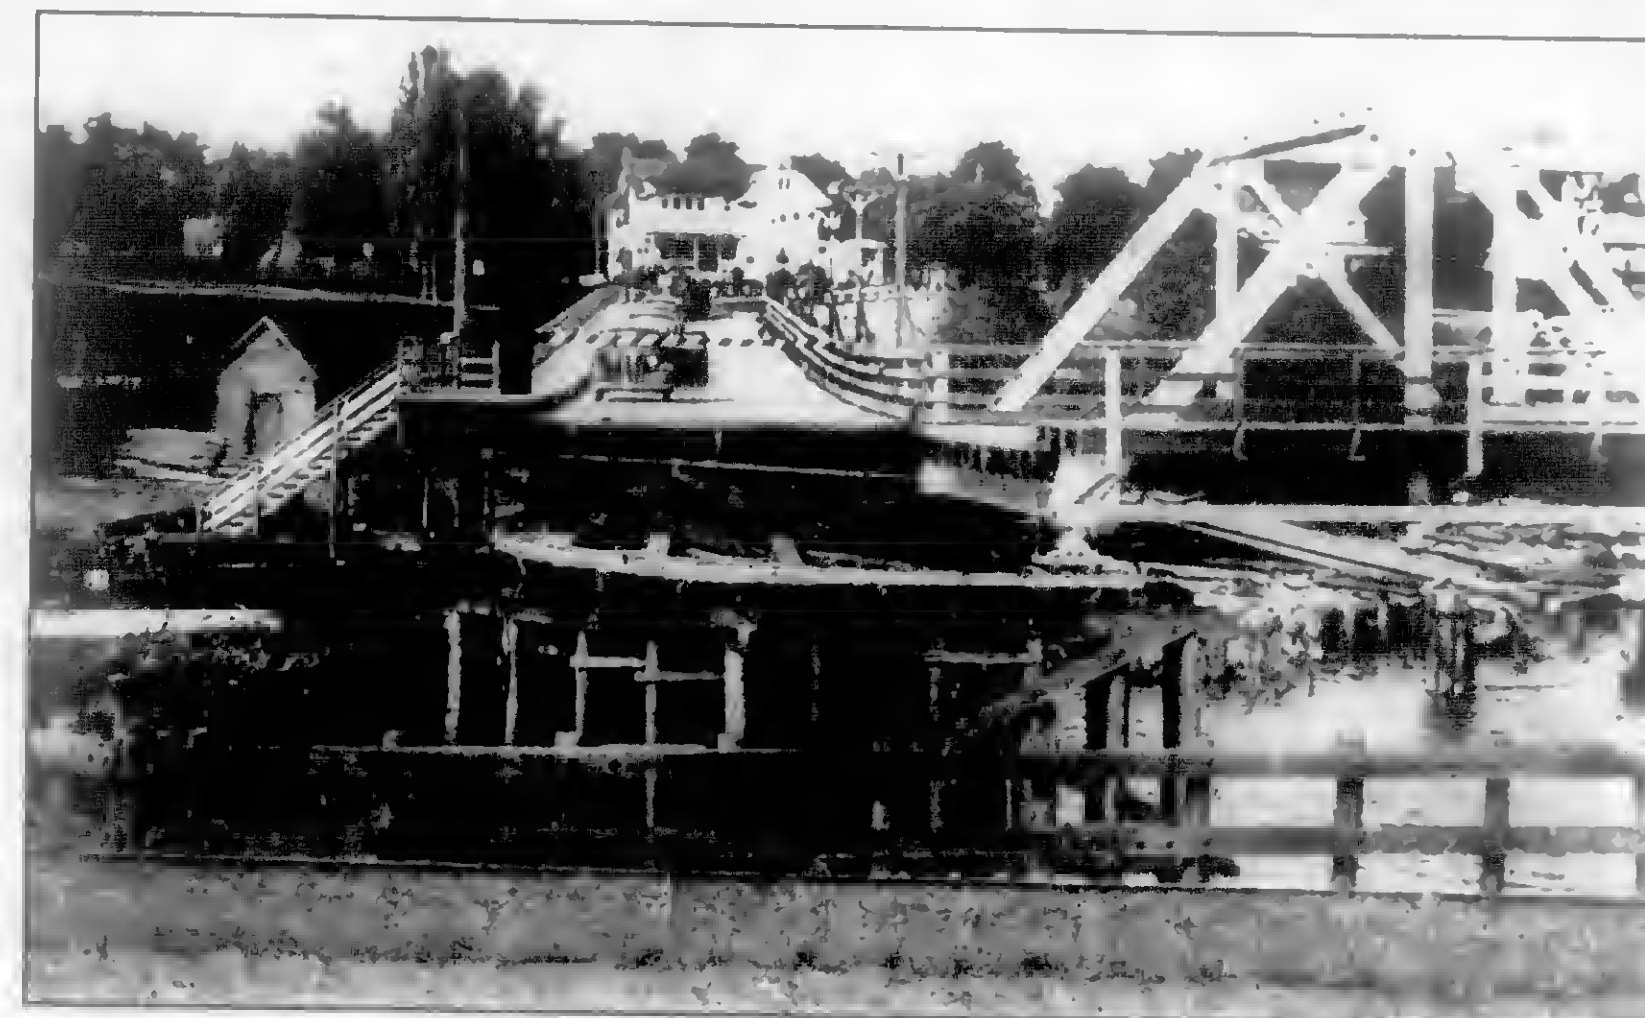

Carrying the south end will be the big new pontoon now floating in Round Lake. When the bridge is in place for traffic, water will be pumped into the pontoon's tanks so that the span will settle firmly on the south piling supports.

When the bridge is to be opened, water will be pumped out until the south end is free. Then an electric winch mounted in the bridge and below the pavement will pull on a steel cable anchored to a clump of piling in Round Lake. When it is to be closed, the winch will pull on another cable anchored on shore west of the bridge.

The trestle and fill are about completed. No surface is to be put on the four inch planking. It is likely that the dirt and gravel fill at each end will be oil treated for dust.

Once the new route is open, work will start on the old bridge at once.

Cruise ship may port in Charlevoix

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Great Lakes Cruises is scheduled to add Charlevoix to its list of port cities, bringing in the ship, "Arcadia" in June and October of 2001.

The Arcadia, not to be confused with the Coast Guard's "Acacia," is 359-feet-5 inches in length, 53-feet-6 inches wide with a draft of 18 feet. The ship will house 225 passengers during its excursions across the Great Lakes.

According to Kris Rasmussen of

"If the Coast Guard ship or the Beaver Island are out, we can use that space, but there isn't any dock that can accommodate the ship otherwise."

Hal Evans,
Charlevoix Harbor Master

the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, the chamber is working in conjunction with the city to organize the Arcadia's arrival and they hope to see the cruise ship docked in Round Lake.

"Our preference is to put the ship alongside somewhere (dock rather than anchor). A lot depends on water levels in 2001. Hopefully we will get a good snow this winter that will bring water levels up," said Christopher Wright of Great Lakes Cruises.

Charlevoix Harbor Master Hal Evans said, "If the Coast Guard ship or the Beaver Island are out we can use that space, but there isn't any dock that can accommodate the ship otherwise."

Rasmussen said, "We will continue working with the Harbor Master. After we meet again with Great Lakes Cruises we will finalize our plans."

Group threatens lawsuit, again

BY JULIE MUSILEK

The saga between two factions, the school board and the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association, continues as the school board was threatened by a second lawsuit filed by the group July 31.

This situation is still pending further action on the part of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association. The complaint was filed at the County Clerk's office July 31, but the school board has yet to be officially served with the suit.

"(After reviewing the settlement) The school board came to the consensus that we are not interested in pursuing the settlement — we are going forward. So, I guess we will go to court and they will try to stop us. They are not threatening something we were not ready for," said School Board President Allen Telgenhof.

Charlevoix Schools Superintendent John Sturock received a fax from school board attorney Gordon VanWeiren, consisting of a letter written by Jim Olson, representing the interests of the Charlevoix Area Natural Resources Preservation Association, July 31 at 1:30 p.m.

Charlevoix native shares his musical experiences

BY JULIE MUSILEK
Staff Writer

Charlevoix native Kevin Gallagher will be showing off his musical talent Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the band-shell at East Park, playing trumpet while sitting in with the Rivertown Jazz Band.

Gallagher recently returned to Charlevoix from Europe, where he has spent the last 16 years pursuing his passion for music, both performing and composing. According to Gallagher, he's back in town to enjoy some vacation time, attend his twenty-fifth Charlevoix High School class reunion — which was last week at the Knights of Columbus — and visit with his sister and mother, both still living in Charlevoix.

During Gallagher's formative years in town, the concert in the park series wasn't even in a conceptual stage of development. Now residents and visitors of Charlevoix are entertained by the melodic tunes emanating from East Park every Tuesday and Thursday through Labor Day.

"The concerts in the park series wasn't here when I was growing up. That is a real improvement and the concerts are a great cultural opportunity. I believe it is very important to get young people involved and to educate our youth musically," said Gallagher.

This will be Gallagher's second session with the Rivertown Jazz Band, the first was five years ago during his last visit to Charlevoix.

Gallagher speaks candidly of his deep respect for educators and remembered fondly his local music teachers, Gary Stutzman, Clarence Odmak and Evelyn Wujcik who are still inspirations in his work.

"I had the privilege of having many unique teachers. They took their time and showed a genuine interest in their students. A good teacher is really one in a million. I think this is because there exists a lack of respect for the profession. In most cases our children are spending more time with educators than with their own parents. The teacher's role is crucial," he

"This vacation is a time of reflection for me. I get a feeling of family whenever I am in this town."

Kevin Gallagher,
Former Charlevoix resident

said.

Gallagher spent his senior year in high school at the Interlochen School of Music and then went on to pursue his musical interests further at Central Michigan University. After one year at CMU, Gallagher felt he was ready to move on, so he returned to northern Michigan and went on the road with the "Young Americans."

Gallagher couldn't keep his feet planted for long and soon found himself in Los Angeles at the Dick Grove School of Music. He spent two full years in California doing some studio work but was ready to see and do even more.

According to Gallagher, his need to groove carried him from the west coast to Europe where he toured various hot spots showcasing his skills with "a top 40 band" in Norway, Sweden and the Netherlands — where the band was based.

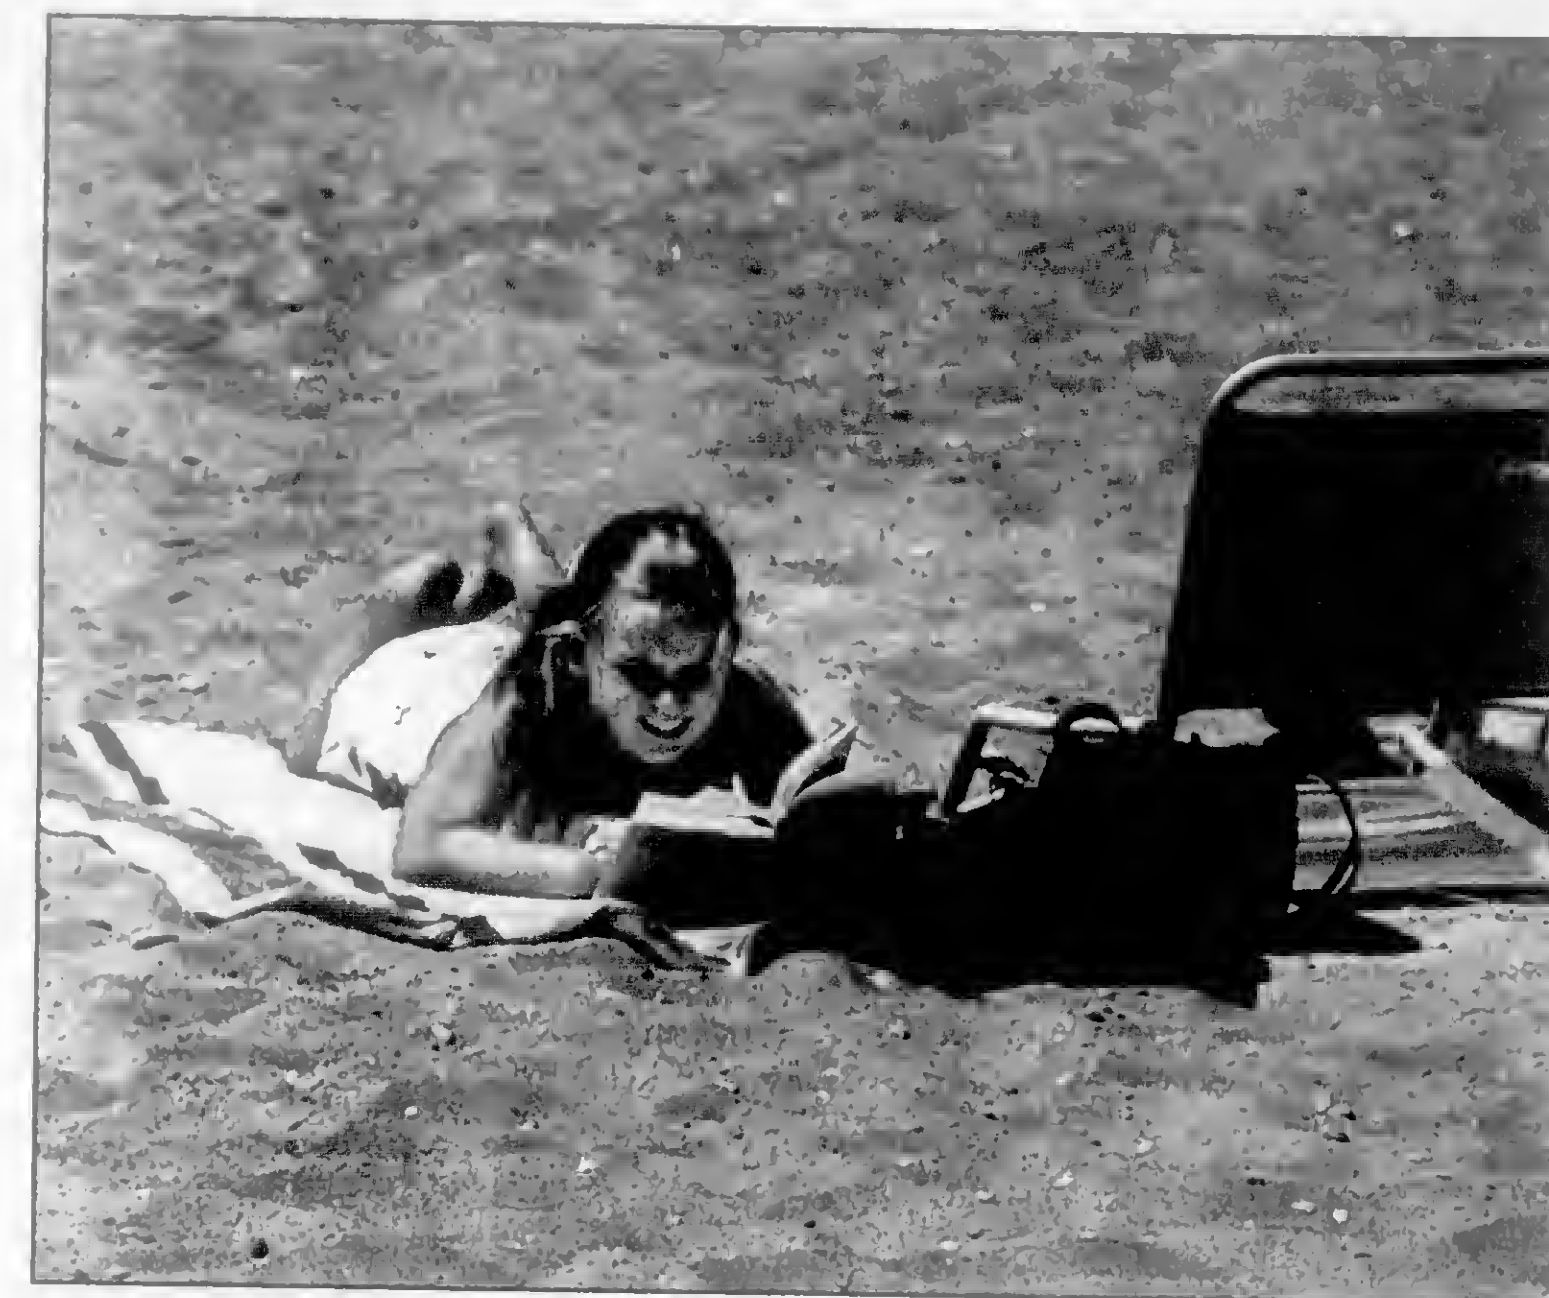

After visiting all of these places, meeting so many new faces and attempting various musical genres, Gallagher claims he specializes in no particular style but loves to play it all.

"I do a little classical, pop and old-style jazz, which is what we will be playing in the park," said Gallagher.

Everybody knows that in most cases musicians are categorized along with other starving artists but Gallagher's busy schedule allows him to do what he loves while living comfortably in Europe.

"Money has less and less value to me over the years. I am blessed to have known what I wanted to be early on and to have become that person," said Gallagher.

OPINIONS

An editor's mind after eight months of work

Jeremy McBain
'Just a thought'

It's time to celebrate at the Charlevoix Courier.

Next week marks my eighth month as the editor of this newspaper. I have learned many things since I came onboard here, both good and bad, and will continue to learn more throughout my career as an editor.

Don't worry, this isn't a "good-bye" column. I am not going anywhere anytime in the near future. I just thought I would share with my readers some of the thoughts I have been storing up — some of which have ticked me off or made me smile.

*First of all, I have noticed there are a lot of really kind people in this town who are always willing to help out each other and always willing to improve the city.

In today's "modern" society, that seems to be a rarity. Most people in big cities are too busy chatting online, driving to the office, making the "sweet" business deal and trying to win in the rat-race, that they do not have time for a little kindness.

But, that is not true here. I have never seen a community with more charitable organizations, fund-raisers and just people willing to stop what they're doing to help out another.

*On coverage note, sometimes people are confused about exactly what we are doing or thinking when going about our job. They may think we are doing something wrong, when we think we are not. At times like this, it is best just to politely ask us about our thoughts or actions, so we can explain what we are doing.

Most recently was a fund-raising event that we sent a photographer to cover. I will not mention the name of the event, because I do not want to embarrass anyone or hurt their feelings.

The fund-raiser was going great and people were having a good time. This created great photo-opportunities for the photographer.

In order to give the readers a feel for the event, the photographer took some pictures of the audience. What the photographer didn't know was a person sitting in the audience had been the subject of an immense amount of media coverage in the past.

There was some concern that we were taking a picture of this person, just because of who they are.

Folks, if it doesn't pertain to the story at hand we will not take pictures of it. What did pertain to this story was the reaction to the event by the audience, regardless of who was there.

We have a simple philosophy at the Courier of treating everyone the same, regardless of how famous they are, how much money they make or what they did in the past. Newspapers that do ogle over a person's status, wealth or personal life just because they are famous are looked down on by us as "check-out counter junk."

*On a positive note, I think the environment surrounding this community is outstanding. It would be rare to see a place more lovely than this.

Most people in this community realize this and work hard to preserve the beauty for future generations.

When I worked in the Detroit area, one of the things I noticed was a general lack of respect of the environment by people. Sure the environment was important to some, but most people ranked it below economic development. This meant a job-producing strip mall was more important than a beautiful babbling brook running through a property.

But, in Charlevoix, there are many groups who work to preserve the beauty of the environment and work with industry to keep the land as pristine as possible, while creating jobs.

They are doing a great job and I wish there were more people like them.

*However, there are still some very mean and grumpy people out there.

To be honest, most of the people that visit the Courier office are the nicest people you could ever happen across. But, there are others who are so filled with anger, they can't help but get a little on you.

Why is it some people feel a need to take out all of their anger on me just because I am the editor of the local paper or I wrote some editorial they disagree with? I am just doing my job the best I can and when I write an editorial against something you believe in, it is not to be taken personally.

Here is a little tip for anyone wanting to complain to me about coverage; I am a lot more responsive to people who come into the office and treat me with respect.

Overall, these last eight months have been a great experience for me. I have made some mistakes, but had many successes and there have been just as many good times as bad.

I look forward to continuing to give this community a great newspaper and increasing my knowledge of Charlevoix and its people.

Town fathers thought ahead with tree planting

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

The two remarkable old prints of early Charlevoix, one from 1878 and the other dated 1889, show what our town looked like to one of the gulls flying over Lake Michigan.

Both aerial views show the oldest parts of town and include at the edges part of the north side and the open country to the south. The earlier view shows the wooden buildings and dirt streets, looking like those in old western movies — the first brick building was not constructed until 1880.

What is of greatest interest about the prints to this botanist, is that the first shows very few trees and the second records orderly rows of what are almost surely young maple trees along nearly all the major streets.

More than 150 young trees are depicted. State, Main (now Park), Clinton, Mason, Antrim and much of East Dixon streets are lined on both sides. There are two possible explanations for this amazing beautification program. One is that the artist who prepared the 1889 lithograph drew in orderly rows of trees as a way of presenting the community in the best possible light; the other is that the very earliest founders of Charlevoix thought it important to restore the trees that had been removed and mostly turned to charcoal for iron smelters or steam to operate the boats that passed by. Some of the early written history suggests that removing large stumps was a part of the civilizing of the valley.

In an effort to find out which of the possible explanations was the correct one, I have examined early photographs from Bob Miles' Charlevoix book and the historical society files and I have looked at the early minutes of the meetings of what became the city council.

Charlevoix was incorporated and elected its first officers in 1879. Almost exactly a year later on April 3, 1880, the minutes record a request from Trustee J. Milo Eaton that the committee on streets, headed by A. E. Mason, consider "setting out shade trees of uniform size and at a uniform distance from the sides of the street, to be paid for out of the village treasury or otherwise." One week later the committee reported, suggesting that "Trees, when set, be of uniform size of 2-3 inches in diameter," and that "The line and grade of streets be ascertained before setting trees."

I can find no further mention of purchasing or setting of trees in the official record, although several ordinances prohibiting tying horses or other animals to trees were discussed and passed between 1879 and 1884.

Miles' book shows panoramic photographs of the valley taken in 1890 from the top of the Upright home at State and Hurlbut streets. All the photos show the orderly rows of trees envisioned by the founders ten years earlier. Judging from their size some of them are close to 10 years old, meaning that planting began shortly after the trustees suggested it.

The younger trees shown are very close to the 2-3 inches in diameter that the street committee had proposed. I conclude that the planting of trees along all the city streets was an extremely important part of the city's mission. Aerial photographs from the 1940's show the same orderly rows of much larger trees.

I have only looked carefully at the trees in Charlevoix since 1953, but I am pretty well convinced that a considerable number of those early maples are still with us more than a hundred years later. Apparently Mrs. Mason, Dixon and Eaton, among others, were able to see far into the future of Charlevoix.

The city still plants young trees of about 2-3 inches in diameter along our streets and ask that the adjacent property owners take care of them — the ordinance about not tying animals to them is still in force. With some luck and care, many of the trees we plant now will probably beautify Charlevoix until 2100 or beyond.

WATCH report

Dear Editor:

At WATCH's (Water and Air Team Charlevoix) Annual Meeting on July 19 the following report was presented on our activities regarding the Southdown cement plant in Charlevoix. I would like to share this with the general public so they are aware of the environmental issues regarding plant operation.

Kiln Dust Piles

Over the past 1 1/2 years WATCH has been involved in meetings with the MDEQ regarding the best solution for the problem of kiln dust piles at Southdown. Currently there are nine piles of kiln dust with an estimated size of 2,000,000 tons. Three of the nine kiln dust piles (piles number 4, 5 and 8) are located close to Lake Michigan. In 1994, the MDEQ detected ground water with a very high pH level seeping into Lake Michigan from these kiln dust piles. This ground water had elevated levels of heavy metals including arsenic, lead, copper and mercury. Southdown has agreed to cover number 4, 5 and 8 with a clay like liner to prevent water from mixing with the dust. The caps should curtail the leaching of contaminated ground water into Lake Michigan.

In reading the article, there were two errors that I wish to have noted, they are as follows:

*The Monarch Butterfly has a life span of around eight months, not three as stated in the article.

*Many butterflies are raised in the tropical regions of the world where several ingredients used in the formulation of some prescription drugs are also found, not necessarily the same environment that all prescription drugs come from.

I appreciate your noting these corrections, as it is important that the general public have complete and accurate information.

contained on site (as well they should). This is what can occur when heavy industry is located in a community. (Cedar Ridge Landfill located in fronton could be another potential disaster.)

A public hearing with the MDEQ on this oil spill issue is expected in the fall. The final clean up plan for the spill site will be discussed at that hearing.

Annual Meeting with Corporate Representative

For the past four years WATCH has had a meeting in Charlevoix with a representative from Southdown's corporate headquarters in Houston, Texas. These meetings have provided us with an opportunity to review with the plant manager and the corporate representative all of the environmental issues at the plant. The next meeting is planned for October.

Hopefully, this report will give everyone a picture of the continuing effort WATCH puts into monitoring the operation at Southdown. We welcome any comments or suggestions in our efforts to protect the Charlevoix environment which we all treasure.

President of WATCH

Breastfeeding benefits

Editor:

National breast-feeding week was Aug. 1-7. This is an excellent time to address the advantages, dispel the myths and talk about how our community can support women and families who choose to breast-feed.

Women have been told for 50 years that fake milk — formula — is "as good as" or "better" than breast-milk. Unfortunately, most of this information has come from health care professionals at large. The result has been that we have missed an entire generation of breast-feeding — only 30 percent or less breastfed in the 1960s. As a result, we are "retraining" our daughters, sisters and ourselves to do something that is so natural and essential for maternal and infant health. It is a rare instance that a mom "doesn't make enough milk" or "can't" breast-feed.

Babies are healthier on breast-milk and have fewer infections — respiratory and ear, fewer allergies and a reduced incidence of many adult illnesses — Crohns disease,

Charlevoix Area Hospital raises $3.4 million of needed $6 million

While Charlevoix Area Hospital announced its $6 million building renovation and expansion project in May, in just two months it has secured donations and commitments totaling more than $3.4 million.

Donations from individuals, support from the medical staff, special events, businesses and professional donations, contributions from the hospital employees and several other types of donations have already raised more than $1,300,000. Foundations and grants comprise nearly half of the funds raised for the hospital to date, totaling $1,275,000.

"Donations like these provide us with a strong foundation for our building project," said hospital president Bill Jackson. "Our goal is to raise $5 million in three years, with another $1 million being committed by the hospital from its general fund."

Anticipating northern Michigan's growth over the next two years, Charlevoix Area Hospital will be undergoing its largest building program in 30 years. The project will include: Doubling the size of the Emergency Department, building a new state-of-the-art Intensive Coronary unit, doubling the size of the obstetrical and family birthing facility (Single Room Birthing Center) from four to eight Labor, Delivery, Recovery and Post-partum rooms and will allow for the addition of a third floor to accommodate medical patient rooms.

"We're off to a good start," said Jackson. "We've raised half of the $5 million necessary and now we need the community to come forward and help us."

To help meet the financial challenge of the project — and to meet community needs into the future — more than 60 community leaders have banded together to form the Charlevoix Area Hospital Development Council.

Members of the council are now focusing their efforts on increasing the community's participation in the fund-raising effort.

"We never know when one of our family will need the emergency services or intensive care, we only know the numbers of people receiving those services is steadily increasing," said Development Council co-chair Chuck Unbehaun. "Such as the first weekend in July when 140 patients were seen by the Emergency Department."

One of my favorite verses of scripture is Isaiah 53:5, "But he was pierced for our transgressions; he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was upon him, and by his wounds we are healed."
